Grows into the great sun, Noiselessly as the spring time Her crown of verdure wears, And all the trees on all the hills Open their thousand leaves So, without sound of music, Or voice of them that wept. Silently down from the mountain's crown The great procession swept.

Perchance the bald old eagle, On gray Beth-poor's height, Out of his rocky eyric. Looked on the wondrous sight; Perchance the lion, stalking, Still shuns that hallowed spot. For beast and birds have seen and heard That which man knoweth not.

But when the warrior dieth, His comrades in the war. With arms reversed and muffled drum. Follow the funeral car; They show the banners taken, They tell his battles won.

And after him lead his masterless steed, While peals the minute gun.

Amid the noblest of the land Men lay the sage to rest. nd give the bard an honored place With costly marble dressed, In the great minister transept, Where lights glories fall And the sweet choir sings, and the organ Along the emblazoned wall.

This was the bravest warrier That ever buckled sword, This the most gifted poet That ever breathed a word, And never earth's philosopher Traced with his golden pen, On the deathless page, truths half so sage As he wrote down for men.

And had he not high honor-The hillside for his pail— To he in state while angels wait ith stars for tapers tall, And the dark rock-pines like tossing Over his bier to wave,

And God's own hand, in that lonely land, To lay in the grave. In that deep grave without a name. Whence his uncoffined clay Shall break again, most wondrous thought, Before the Judgment Day. And stand with glory wapped around On the hills he never tred. And speak of the strife that won our life With the incarnate Son of God.

O, levely tomb in Moab's land ! O, dark Beth-poor's hill! Speak to these curious hearts of our, And teach them to be still, God has his mysteries of grace. Ways that we cannot tell; He hides the deep like the secret sleep Ofhim he loved so well.

NEWSPAPER LAWS.

We receive so many inquires as to the laws governing the circulation of newspapers, that we find it necessary to publish the following summary, which will cover all the questions that have been addressed to us; 1. Subscribers are considered wishing to continue their subscription. 2. If subscribers ordering the discontinance of their periodicals may continue to send them until all arrearages are paid.

3. If subscribers neglect or refuse to take their periodicals from the office to which they are directed, they are held responsible till they have settled their bill, and ordered them 4. If subscribers move to other places without informing the publishers, and the papers are sent to the former direction, they are held responsible. 5. The courts have decided that refusing to take papers from the office, or removing and leaving them uncalled for, is prima facie evidence of intentional fraud.

6. Any person who receives a newspaper and makes use of it, whether he has ordered it or not, is held in law, to be a subscriber and must pay for it.

There is reason to believe that England will shortly have another Royal marriage. The visit of the Duke of Edinburg to the Hanoverian ex royal family at Gmundem is believed on the continent to be connected with the duke's betrothal to one of the ex-king's daughters. He has two, both of them, it is said, under twenty-one, and both very pretty. Their father is reported to be one of the richest men in Europe, so that there ought to be no difficulty about the dowry, which will be especially gratifying to Mr. Lowe, at this season of discontent.

Prospectus for 1873.—Sixth Year. THE ALDINE.

An Illustrated Monthly Journal, universally admited to be the Handsomest Periodical in the World. A Representative and Champion of American Taste.

Not for Sale in Book or News Stores. THE ALDINE, while issued with all the regularity, has none of the temporary or timely interest characteristic of ordinary periodicals. It is an elegent miscellany of pure, light, and graceful literature; and a collection of pictuers, Sloats'. Howe's and the Weed muchines, and find the rarest specimens of artistic skill, in black the American far superior to them all. and whit. Although each succeeding number affords a fresh pleasure to its friends, the real value and beauty of THE ALDINE will be most appreciated after it has been bound up at the close of the year. While other publinations may claim superior cheapness, as compared 34th district - Iredell, Wilkes, and Al. with rivals of a similar class, THE ALDINE is a unique and original conception-alone and unapproached-absolutely without competition in price or character. Every subscriber to THE ALDINE, who pays in advance for the year 1873, will receive, without additional charge, a pair of beautiful oil chromos, after J. J. Hill, the eminent English painter. The pictures entitled, "The Village Belle," and "Crossing the Moor," are 14 x 20 inches-are printed from 25 different plates, requiring 25 impressions and tints to perfect each picture. The same chromos are sold for $30 per pair, in the art stores. As it is the determination of its conductors to keep  $THE\ AL$ DINE out of the reach of competition in every department, the chromos will be found correspondingly ahead of any that can be offered by other periodicals. Every subscriber will receive a certificate, over the signature of the publishers, guaranteeing that the chromos delivered shall be equal to the samples furnished the agent, or the money will be refunded. (For illustrations of these chromos, see November issue of THE ALDINE.)

The Literary Department will continue under the care of MR. RICHARD HENRY STODDARD, assisted by the best writers and poets of the day, who will strive to have the literature of THE ALDINF always in keeping with its artistic attractions,

TERMS. $5 per annum, in advance with Oil Chromos Free. THE ALDINE will, hereafter, be obtainable only by subscription. There will be no reduced or club rate; cash for subscriptions must be sent to the publishers direct, or handed to the local agent, without responsibility to the publishers, except in cases where the certificate is given,
