LOVE'S YOUNG DREAM.

Goat Island abounds in romantic walks, shady retreats, cool resting places, and picturesque scenes, which afford every opportunity for low converse, sweet whispered nothings, or serious talk, as the are: case may be, and from 10 a. m. until carly twilight the woods are full of lovers, mar- cents. ried and single, who flirt, build air castles, read Tennyson, Joaquin Miller and Swinburne to each other, stopping at frequent intervals to take long, lingering glances into each other's eyes, glances which convey more affection in a minute than the lips could atter in a week. Most of man and woman kind ' have been there" at some period of their lives, and right there let me propound a question: Why, in the name of all the fond hopes never realized, and the tender emotions of the human heart, does there come but one period in life-just preceding or immediately after marriage-in which we indulge in these soul-thrilling glances? I put the same question to a poet and philosopher once, and while he freely admitted that the love he bore his wife after twenty years of married life was no more to be compared to his early love than a glowing anthracite flame to a fire fly's spark, yet he had never been able to realize that peculiar bliss and cestacy of mind experienced du | The only Reliable Gift Distribution in the ring his courting days, and the only time his wife had ever given him one of those soul-searching glances was ten years after marriage, and was occasioned by a denial on his part that he had devouced the last half of a custurd pie, and a desire on her part to look in his eyes to see if he was prevarienting. And now, when I see these young people around me enjoying ! the spring-time of life, I mentally quote the old couplet.

Prospectus for 1873. -Sixth Year. THE ALDINE,

An Illustrated Mouthly Journal, universally admired to be the Handsomest Periodical in the World. A Representative and Champion of American Taste.

Not for Sale in Book or News Stores. THE ALDINE, while issued with all the regularity, has none of the temporary or timely interest characteristic of ordinary periodicals. It is an elegent miscellany of pure, light, and graceful literature; and a collection of pictors, the rarest specimens of artistic skill, in black and whit. Although each succeeding number affords a fresh pleasure to its friends, the real value and beauty of THE ALDINE will be most appreciated after it has been bound up at the close of the year. While other publications may claim superior cheapness, as compared may claim superior cheapness, as compared with rivals of a similar class, THE ALDINE is a unique and original conception-siege and unapproached—absolutely without competition in price or character. The possessor of a complete volume connot duplicate the quantity of fine paper and engravings in any other shape or number of volumes for ten times its cost; and then, there are the chromos, besides?

ART DEPARTMENT. Notwithstanding the increase in the price of subscription last Fall, when THE ALDING assumed its present noble proportions and representative character, the edition was more than doubled during the past year; proving that the American public appreciate, and will support, a sincere effort in the cause of Art. The publishers, anxious to justify the ready confidence thus demonstrated, have exerted themselves to the utmost to develop and improve the work; and the plans for the coming year, as unfulded by the monthly issues, will astonish and delight

The publishers are authorized to announce designs from many of the most eminent artists

even the most sanguine friends of THE

In addition, THE ALDINE will reproduce examples of the best foreign masters, selected with a view to the highest artistic success, and greatest general interest; avoiding such as have become familiar, through photographs, or copies of any burd The quarterly tinted plates for 1872, will reproduce four of John S. Davis' inimitable child-sketches, appropriate to the four scasons. These plates, appearing in the issues for January, April, July, and October, would be alone worth the price of a year's aubscription. "The popular feature of a copiously illustrated "Christmas" number will be continued. To possess such a valuable epitome of theart world, at a cost so trilling, will command the subscriptions of thousands in every section of the country; but, as the usefulness and attraction of THE ALDINE can be enhanced, in propa-

The pidures entitled, "The Vilage Betle," and "Crossing the Moor," are 14 1 20 inches—are printed from 25 different plats, requiring 25 impressions and tints to perfect each picture. The same chromos are sold for $30 per pair, in the agt stores. As it is the determination of its conductors to keep THE AL-DINE out of the reach of competition in every department, the chromos will be found come pondingly ahead of any that can be offered by other periodicals.
