Prospectus for 1873 .- Sixth Year. THE ALDINE, An Illustrated Monthly Journal, univer-sally admited to be the Handsomest Periodical in the World. A Rep. resentative and Champion of American Taste.

Not for Sale in Book or News Stores. THE ALDINE, while issued with all the regularity, has none of the temporary or timely interest characteristic of ordinary periodicale, It is an elegent miscellany of pure, light, and graceful literature; and a collection of picture, the rarest specimens of artistic skill, in black and whit. Although each succeeding number affords a fresh pleasure to its friends, the real vaine and beauty of THE ALDINE will be most appreciated after it has been bound up at most appreciated and in has occar bound up at the close of the year. While other publications may claim superior cheapness, as compared with rivals of a similar class, THE ALDINE is a unique and original conception-slone and unapproached-absolutely without compatition in price or character. The possessor of a complete volume connot duplicate the quantity of fine paper and engravings in any other shape or number of volumes for ten times its cost; and then, there are the chromos, besides!

ART DEPARTMENT.

Notwithstanding the increase in the price of subscription last Fall, when THE ALDINF assumed its present noble proportions and rep-resentative character, the edition was more than doubled during the past year; proving that the American public appreciate, and will support, a sincere effort in the cause of Art. The publishers, anxious to justify the ready confidence thus demonstrated, have exerted themselves to the utmost to develop and improve the work ; and the plans for the coming year, as unfolded by the monthly issues, will astopish and delight even the most singuine friends of THE LDINE.

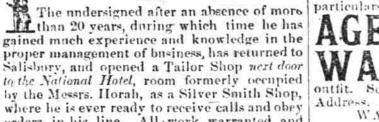

The publishers are authorized to anisotrop designs from many of the most eminent artists of America.

In addition, THE ALPINE will reproduce examples of the best foreign masters, selected with a view to the highest artistic success and greatest general interest; avoiding such as have become familiar, through photographe, er copast of any kind.

The quarterly tinted plates for 1872, will reproduce four of John S. Davis inimitable child. sketches, appropriate to the four seasons. These plates, appearing in the issues for January, April, July, and October, would be alcur with the price of a year's subscription. The popular feature of a copiously illustrated

"Christmas" number will be continued. To possess such a valuable epitome of thean world, at a cost so triffing, will command the subscriptions of thousands in every section of the country ; but, as the usefulness and attractions of THE ALDINE can be enlianced, in proportion to the numerical increased its supporters, the publishers propose to make "assurance dop Visiting, Party and Wedding Cards ; ble sure," by the following unparalleled offer a Premium Chromos For 1873. Every subscriber to THE ALDINE, who pays in advance for the year 1873, will receive, College and School without additional charge, a pair of beautiful oil chromos, after J. J. Hill, the eminent English painter. The pictures entitled, "The Village Belle," and "Crossing the Moer," are 14 1 CIBCULARS 20 inches-are printed from 25 different plates, requiring 25 impressions and tints to perfect each picture. The same chromos are sold for $30 per pair, in the art stores. As it is the determination of its conductors to keep THE AL-DINE out of the reach of competition in every department, the chromos will be found corner pondingly ahead of any that can be offered by other periodicals. Every subscriber will receive a certificate, over the signature of the publishers, guaranteeing that the chromos delivered shall be equal to the samples furnished the agent, or the money will be refunded. The distribution of pictures of this grade, free to the subscribers to a five dollar periodical, will mark an e-poch in the history of Art; and, considering the inprecedented cheapness of the price of THE ALDINE itself, the marvel falls little short of BELS a miracle, even to those best acquainted with the achievements of inventive genius and limproved mechanical appliances. For illustraions of these chromos see November issue of THE ALDINE.)

From the St. Louis Democrat. A SIMPLE STORY.

The Simple story of John Heffernan teaches us that honesty and patience are sure to be rewarded, more forcibly than that great moral lesson could be impressed on our minds by a didatical disc urse.

John Heffernan was a poor boy when he entered the establishment of Messrs. Goldsticks & Moneybags, but he brought with him a certificate from Sunday School teacher, saying that he was an honest lid, who could learn more verses and forget them quicker than any other boy in the following rates per quarter ; class. His employers were obliged to test his honesty in various ways, but he stood the test nobly.

When Mr. Moneybags saw him pick up a pin from the floor he was sweeping, he thought that John might be guilty of photographs, types, cuttings, roots, seeds, taking things, and dropped a ten cent &c., on one package to one address, prepaid. shinplaster in the same place ; but John not exceeding four ounces 2 cents ; over four lionestly swept it out without noticing it, and brushed it into a corner, where he could pick it up at his leisure, Then Mr. Moneybags overpaid him his weekly stipend by $1, and waited to see what the boy would do. At the dead hour of night the Moneybags household was aroused by the furious ringing of the bell. The old cents. gentleman put on his dressing gown and descended to the door, where he found John Heffernan, with a tear in his eye than $20. and a dollar bill in his right hand. John declared that he could not rest in his vir- ter. tuous couch, after discovering the mistake, until it was rectified.

"Why didn't you keep it ?" asked Mr Moneybags. "I would not have known that I had overpaid you."

"Keep it ?" exclaimed John, "Little do you know of the precepts that were instilled into my youthful breast by my sainted grandmother. But I confess the temptation was a strong one. I was savmother, and accumulated the sum of fifteen cents. - With this dollar I could have completed the purchase, and I admit that I looked at it with longing eyes. But We have had thirty year's experience in the honesty triumphed over temptation, and business, and warrant every gin perfect. Gins The Great Democratic Journal.

"Keep the dollar for your honesty," said the benevolent old gentleman. "Buy lars, may be had by addressing. your Bible and be happy. I would ask you to marry my daughter, and would take you into partnership in the usual N. C. way, but it happens that my daughters are all sons, and you must excuse me for the present."
