The tobacco worm not only intests the plant from which its name is derived, but is very destructive to the potato and to-mato plants. The labor of "worming" tobacco is best known by those who cultivate the plant, but our maket gardeners and others who grow the tomato extensively, seldom made it a business to kill the worms but suffer them to prey on their plants and arrive at maturity, and continue to propagate and multiply their species adinfinitum. We have somewhere seen it stated that a preparation of cobalt, a poisonous mineral, often used to destroy house flies, may be employed to kill the large moth or miller, the parent of the potato or tobacco worm. One of these female it sects called "horn blower," will lay several hundred eggs, each becoming a destructive worm, and repulsive looking insects may be prevented by killing the parent. These large millers are seen just in the dusk of the evening flying around sweet scented honey suckle, the Jamestown weed, and any other large honey producing blossoms, gathering honey just like the humming bird, which it very much resembles while on the wing.

The cobalt is prepared as follows : I should be pulverized in a mortar perfectly fine, and three or four ounces of this may be place in a pint bottle, to which should be added a mixture of honey and water ; two or three drops of liquid is to be plac ed in the freshly opened blossoms of the Jamestown weed, as the most convenient. This being repeated occasionally in the afternoon, during the season of the moth. every one which partakes of the substance readily dies. The Jamestown weed attracts the fly by its large bell-shaped flowers, and it is a plant the work delights to feed on mond Whig writes:

Among the local incidents of the past young lady from North Carolina seated they have settled their bill, and ordered them in a wagon in the market space, with chickens and butter for sale. Her beauty excelled any seen in these parts for a long time. She was accompanied by her mother and little brother, and was modest in appearance, with a countenance that indicated a good and true heart within. Her beauty attracted many of our young evidence of intentional fraud. One of them became so enamored with and makes use of it, whether he has ordered her that he actually bought all of her marketing and sold it for the same he paid for it, considering that the sight of her had amply repaid him for any loss he might sustain. This beautiful young a lady did not wear a two story chignon, with the little appendage on the top of the head called a "bounet" nor was she attired in twenty-two yards of dry-goods, doubled and trebled with the usual "tuck-up" behind, but she wore a plain and tidy dress, consisting of about eight yards of calico, made in the plain and neat style of the olden time. Lucky will be the man who succeeds in captivating such a young lady for a wife.

THE PIOUS GENERAL HOWARD On Tuesday last the saintly Howard, feeling some qualms of fear, betook him self to the office of the Inspector General of the Army at the War Department a Washington, and meekly requested of an officer attached to that branch of the could be tried upon should the Depart ment see fit to order a court martial. He was informed that he could be tried for neglect of duty in allowing his subordinates to misapply money belonging to the Freedman's Bureau or under the 39th article of war for embezzlement. In the conversation which insued with the officer upon his troubles, it was suggested to him that he had the privilege of demanding a court of inquiry, or, inasmuch as the charges had become a matter of public notoriety, it might be to his advantage to request an investigation by a military court. Howard replied that with the feel ing entertained towards him by many officers of the army, he did not think he ters. could get justice, and hence thus far had declined to ask for a trial by such a
