

COME TO GRIEF.

We learn from the Hickory Press that one Deputy Marshall Deaver of the U. S. Revenue, has at last come to grief. He has been "weeding a wide row" in the mountains; destroying distilleries, arresting people without warrant, and perpetrating other gross outrages. He is a great scamp, and all good people will rejoice to learn that the Grand Jury of McDowell have found a true bill against him for an assault with intent to kill. Such scamps should be driven out of the country; but unfortunately, it seems that they suit Grant as officers better than any others, or else he is greatly imposed on. If a man has been guilty of stealing, making counterfeit money, or of forgery he is at once taken up and set as a spy over honest people. But this sort of thing must soon play out. There are some things that the people cannot and will not endure. Let the friends of good government, of right and justice, of all parties speak out against such appointees.

Ex-President Jefferson Davis recently made a speech in Virginia in response to a call, which has set all the Radical saints, boot-licks, and slanderers to howling treason! Now, we care nothing for the bitterness of these envious loyal rascals. But many of the policy, penny-wise, self-righteous gentry of the South have joined in with them in this ghoul-like howl of rebel and treason. They want Mr. Davis to eat dirt and all the South to follow suit, while the robbers of our country's liberty are heaping upon us insults and forging manacles with which to bind and still further humiliate us. Oh, it is horrible to speak of remaining true to principle. It is treason to declare that the cause for which our best and bravest died and died in just. Well, we hope the day may never come when our people will sink so low as to cease to love and defend with their tongues at least the sacred cause of liberty and justice for which the brave Southern boys fought and died.

Mr. Davis has the right to speak, and we rejoice that he has the spirit to do so.

SENATE RESOLUTION.—That adopted by the Virginia Conservative Convention, and which the Petersburg Index and Appeal keeps at the head of its editorial columns, in regard to the treatment of independents and bolters. That resolution proposes to treat bolters from the Conservative organization, or opponents of Conservative nominees, "in all respects as Radicals."—Raleigh News.

That resolution may do very well in Virginia, but it would be a very foolish resolution for any body of assumed representatives to pass in North Carolina. There may yet be a Conservative party in Virginia, we hope there is a party there that has for its object the general welfare and not the spoils of office, but there is no such party in North Carolina. The want of harmony in the Legislature, or among the so-called leaders, on the question of electing a U. S. Senator, and its action with respect to the public printing, last winter, effectually squelched the mighty Conservative party in this State. And upon the whole, we do not believe the State will be damaged by it. New issues are already upon us that will require men to take sides, not merely on partisan grounds, but from considerations of far greater import. In the struggles that are to ensue the farmers, the mechanics, the working-people, will be found combining together irrespective of old party lines, against the mere politicians, the time-servers, money-sharks, rings and monopolies. This is the only salvation of the State. We have had Radical rule and we have had Conservative rule, and we are to-day at sea, with the farming and mechanical interests languishing—crushed beneath monstrous debts and grinding taxes, without public schools and without organization as a party. Who will say that it is better, under the circumstances, to hold on to this faction and exhaust all our strength in trying to re-organize it? We don't think any sane man who is acquainted with the real condition of affairs, will so say. It matters not, however, whether the politicians will insist upon it or not, the people—the working masses—will not be apt to heed them. There has been too much trucking to party—too ready a support given to nominees possessing no other qualification except their wide-mouthed partisanship. The people have begun to realize the evil results of this sort of thing, and they, in our judgment, have wisely resolved to check the evils. That they, (the working people) have the matter entirely within their power no one can doubt. That they will take the matter in hand and carry it into execution will be fully demonstrated in due time. Those who are of a different opinion will be satisfied by waiting.

THE AMERICAN FARMER FOR SEPT. is received, containing a large amount of useful material, adapted to the season. The ground covered by its contents is wide and varied, both the practical and the scientific aspects of agriculture being kept in view. The publishers offer extra inducements to new subscribers for 74. Published by Samuel Sands & Son, Baltimore, Md., at $1.50 a year or $1 in clubs of five or more. Specimen numbers will be sent free.

A PROFITABLE INDUSTRY.

EDITORS WATCHMAN:—For some time past I have been impressed with the fact that the cultivation of onions for the seed for planting purposes, such as are familiarly known as little onions, might be made a profitable industry in this section, and now I am glad to be able to report a most successful venture in their cultivation. Last Spring I sold to Mr. William Howard of this place, and who is by the way one of our most enterprising and progressive citizens, one pound of Yellow or Strasburg Onion seed, for $3, which he sowed in his garden between the regular rows of cabbages, thus losing no ground at all, the whole occupying three small beds four and a half by fifteen feet. The crop required no cultivation except careful weeding, and the result was 5 1/2 bushels of beautiful and very marketable little onions, for which I paid him 8 cents per quart, amounting in all to $16.72, being the handsome profit of $13.72. Mr. Howard deserves great credit for thus successfully and practically demonstrating the feasibility of this culture. I trust that more of our people will turn their attention to it next year. These onions for planting are usually worth in Philadelphia from $3.75 to $5 per bushel, often commanding the latter figure. Nor is there any danger of over-stocking the market, as the trade from Richmond to Atlanta might be supplied from this point, with a very little exertion. Our people ought to pay more attention to this kind of farming, requiring so little labor or capital and yielding such handsome profits, and it is in the hope of stimulating them to do so, that this hurried communication is written.

THEO. F. KLUTTZ.

EDITORS WATCHMAN:—If it would not be asking too much of you please allow the following article a small space in your invaluable columns. And as justice to a fellow prisoner, I trust you will grant my request. I have just heard from a respectable gentleman, that one Mr. Ennis, reporter for the "Raleigh News," caused to be published in that paper, some weeks past, an article. Stating that I told him, that I had a natural propensity for taking fine horses, and that I could not resist the temptation. In reply to that report, I wish to say, that it is notoriously false, and that I can prove it such, by a gentleman whose character dare not be impeached, who was present and heard every word which passed between Mr. Ennis and myself. I think Mr. Ennis, circulated the report in order to prejudice the minds of those who might give room in their senatorial cavity for such a horse lie, for in default it is such, (could I express it by any other name, I should be pleased to do so). Mr. Reporter, God demands justice of you, to a fellow prisoner, justice and humanity to man, requires the same, if you would render unto Caesar the things which are due him. Confess, and correct your error for John.

Very Respectfully,
J. A. KETCHY,
County Jail, Aug. 29th, 1873.

THE RURAL CAROLINIAN.

The September number of the RURAL CAROLINIAN, so universally acknowledged to be the leading Agricultural Journal of the South, and, we think, the best on this Continent, has come to hand. This number, which closes the fourth volume of its publication, contains a complete and comprehensive index to the entire volume. It is gratifying indeed to note the evidences of improvement each succeeding issue presents. The number now before us is replete with both interesting and practical information for the agriculturist and the home circle, showing great care on the part of the Editor, Colonel D. H. Jacques, in its selection and preparation. The RURAL numbers among its contributors some of the most intelligent as well as practical planters of the South, whose contributions have aided materially in the improvement and advancement of a agricultural pursuits in the Southern and Southwestern States the past four years. The next number will commence a new volume, (the fifth), and we again urge such of our readers as have not already done so, to send in their names at once. We can assure them they will never have occasion to regret it, as oftentimes the information contained in a single number will more than repay the price of a year's subscription which is only Two Dollars. The publishers are WALKER, EVANS & COGSWELL and WM. L. DAGGETT, at Charleston, S. C. All business communications should be addressed WALKER, EVANS & COGSWELL, Charleston, S. C.

GEN. D. H. HILL.

On Thursday last Gen. Hill left Charlotte for Poplar Tent, Cabarrus county, where he was to address a Grange of the Patrons of Husbandry. The Observer says Gen. Hill lately addressed another Grange at Sharon, in Mecklenburg, which attracted by more than a thousand people. Extraordinary interest is being manifested in the success of these meetings throughout the country, and the farmers confidently expect great benefit to result from an organization which was formed for the purpose of shielding them from the combined impositions of demagogues and monopolists. If Gen. Hill enlist the banner of the Patrons of Husbandry they will have acquired a powerful ally and will sweep things before them in the west.—Sentinel.

TERRIBLE HURRICANE.—A terrible hurricane visited the Southern part of Hickory Township, last week, prostrating trees and fences and doing serious damage to the corn crop. An immense volume of water fell, spilling the creeks and carrying off mills and forges.—Hickory Press.

FRANK P. BLAIR ON THE SITUATION.

The venerable Francis P. Blair, Sr., being interviewed by a Herald correspondent, expresses the following political opinions: "So long as the people are immersed in business and are content with the cause of things they get used to it, and do not mind the Democracy had a voice in the administration of affairs that I do not wonder its enemies sometimes say that it is dead. What is there to give life to a party if it depends upon money and office-holders, or greed for gain and power? It takes expectation to make excitement, to arouse the masses to united effort. As I told you in the first part of our conversation, I have great confidence in the restoration of the old Democratic principles. I think I see evidences of dissatisfaction cropping out in the Republican party that is fatal to a third term for Grant, if his party is rash enough to put him again in nomination. There are thousands quite as anxious to hold office as those now provided for, and that is an element of weakness in any party long in power. There will certainly be antagonism. Selfishness is superior to patriotism, and though the Greeley movement did not succeed, within the next three years there will be such a falling off from the Republican ranks as to make the defeat of the party certain. Grant will have no inducements to hold out for his re-election. Those in office will expect to be retained, and if there is not enough vitality in the fortunate officials to exact that promise, then, indeed, may it be said our country is governed by one man. But I have confidence in the people more than in the politicians."

WELL SAID!

The Marion (S. C.) Star, speaking of Ex-President Davis, says:

This distinguished gentleman recently delivered a speech before the Southern Historical Convention. The Radical papers, of course, abuse him; and even Democratic editors are not "complimentary" in their remarks. We cannot see that Mr. Davis committed any heinous crime in paying his tribute to Southern gallantry and to Southern women (God bless them).

Mr. Davis may be imprudent, yet, when invited to do so, he certainly has the right to speak.

We are not of the "generous" many who impudently reproach misfortune. Jeff. Davis! The name recalls much. It reminds us of the burning sun of Mexico fought under the burning sun of Mexico with Davis at their head, lost lustre to Senatorial fame; it reminds us that Southern valor once challenged the admiration of the world.

FAIRS FOR 1873.

Those interested ought to save the following for future reference:

North Carolina Agricultural Society, Raleigh. The Thirtieth Annual Fair will commence on the 13th day of October and continue six days.

Fair of the Carolinas, Charlotte. The Third Annual Fair will commence on the 25th day of November and continue five days.

Cape Fear Agricultural Society, Wilmington. The Fifth Annual Fair will commence on the 11th day of November and continue four days.

Central Agricultural Society of North Carolina, Henderson, N. C. The next Fair will commence on the 7th day of October and continue three days.

Roanoke and Tar River Agricultural Society, Weldon, N. C. The next Fair will commence on the 28th of October and continue four days.

Western North Carolina Agricultural and Mechanical Fair Association, Salisbury, N. C. The Third Annual Fair will commence on the 7th of October and continue four days.

Virginia North Carolina Agricultural Society, Norfolk, Va. The Second Annual Fair will commence October 7th and continue four days.

Virginia State Agricultural Society, Richmond, Va. The Thirtieth Exhibition will commence on the 28th of September and continue four days.

South Carolina State Agricultural and Mechanical Society, Columbia, S. C. The Third Annual Fair will commence on the 4th of November and continue four days.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 23.—Night.—The proceedings of the Military Commission over the Modoc prisoners, Captain Jack, Schonchin, Black Jim, Boston Charley, Barcho alias One Eyed Jim, and Slouck alias Cok, Modoc, are as follows: Charge, 1st. Murder in violation of the laws of war. Charge, 2d. Assault with intent to kill in violation of the laws of war. The prisoners are guilty on all the charges and sentences and the Commission does, therefore, sentence them: Captain Jack, Schonchin, Black Jim, Boston Charley, Barcho alias One Eyed Jim, and Slouck alias Cok, the Modoc Indian captives, to be hanged by the neck until they are dead, at such time and place as the proper authority may direct, two-thirds of the members of the Commission concurring therein.

The President approves of these sentences and orders that in the same the cases be carried into execution by proper military authority under the orders of the Secretary of War on the 3d day of October, 1873.

The War Department has issued a general order enforcing the above sentences to be executed by the commanding General at Fort Klamath.

The Secretary of the Treasury directs the payment of interest due September 1, amounting to about $5,000,000 on the 25th of August, without rebate.

How IS THIS FOR HAY?—A friend informs us that Mr. J. H. Dalton, of Northern Ireland, has cut and cured within the last four weeks one hundred and seventy five two horse loads of hay. Mr. D. is one of our pioneer tobacco raisers, and has raised and manufactured more of the weed than any other ten men in the country, but the above that what "he knows about making hay" is worth something.—Statesville Intelligencer.

GENERAL GRANT ON HIS THIRD TERM.

The New York Herald continues to give reports of interviews with politicians and editorial persons on the matter of a third term for General Grant and the general subject of Caesarism. The most important views thus given are of course those of General Grant himself, who is represented as replying to a question, asked jokingly, "Why don't you silence this scoundrel by announcing your intention to retire to private life at the end of the term?" "You forget the fate of Cato! Will it not be time enough to refuse when the refusal is at my disposal?" This answer may be interpreted to mean what upon the face it seems to signify, or a disposition to evade the question, according to the opinions which different persons entertain of General Grant's republicanism and patriotism.

KENTUCKY LEGISLATURE—Its Political Complexion.

Returns have been received from all the Senatorial districts of Kentucky, and from all the Legislative districts but eight, giving the results of the recent election. The next Senate will be composed of thirty-two Democrats and six Republicans. Of the six Legislative districts not yet heard from, it is probable that three will return the Democratic and three the Republican candidates. Upon this assumption the House will be composed of eighty Democrats and twenty Republicans. The last Senate was composed of thirty-four Democrats and four Republicans—the House of eighty-one Democrats and nineteen Republicans.—This gives, as far as heard from, a Republican gain of two in the Senate and one in the House. Of the twenty Senators whose term expired with the last Legislature, but one was re-elected. Of the one hundred members of the last House of Representatives, but fifteen were re-elected.

The Raleigh News says:—On Monday afternoon a serious and possibly fatal accident occurred at Cary, six miles west of this city, in the Machine shops of Frank Page, two young men, were at work at the single cutting machine, when the drum, over which the band runs, employed with great violence. One piece struck Louis Lake just over the left shoulder blade and fractured one of two ribs, besides, it is feared, inflicting severe internal injuries. The other piece struck Willis Page on the left leg, fracturing both bones. An engine was at once dispatched to this city for medical assistance, and Drs. E. Burke Hayward and W. Roster went to the assistance of the suffering men, and did all that science could suggest to alleviate their pains. The condition of Louis Page is looked upon as very critical, and a fatal result is apprehended. Willis Page at last accounts, though suffering a good deal with his leg, was getting along as well as could be expected under the circumstances.

Andersonville, Texas, was visited by a preacher the other day for the first time, and the inhabitants would have gone to his horse race if his entertainment if he had not stopped them.

MARRIED.

IN MEMORIAM.

EDITORS OF THE WATCHMAN:—The Telegraph of this morning brought the sad news of the death of the HON. DANIEL MOREAU BARRINGER, which occurred at the Greenbrier White Sulphur Springs on the 1st September. In the death of Col. Barringer the State has sustained a loss, which will not soon be repaired, connected with the principles for which they struggled, yet he hoped the children who succeeded them would grow up to maintain and perpetuate them, and redeem all that we had lost.

THE RAILROAD WAR.—His Honor, Judge Moor, appointed on Thursday last R. A. Sprigg, Jr., Receiver of A. T. & O. Railroad. He was the nominee of the McDowell party.

Regardless of the appointment, the other side met at Statesville on the 29th to elect a Board of Directors, claiming that the last election was illegal. The result of the meeting was the election of Messrs. John Davidson, C. A. Carlton and M. A. White, from Irredell county; and T. J. Moore, D. A. Caldwell, H. P. Helper and Wm. Johnston, from Mecklenburg. The new Board then elected Col. Wm. Johnston, President, E. F. Morrison, Treasurer.

At this meeting 4,640 shares were represented, being a majority of the stock. South. Home.

HON. A. H. STEPHENS.—The Monroe Advertiser says: Whilst passing through Atlanta last week, we accidentally met that great and good man, Hon. A. H. Stephens. The venerable gentleman seems to be improving in health and is very cheerful. A few moments conversation with Mr. Stephens convinced us that he was looking forward to the new movement of the Patrons of Husbandry, with much interest and anxiety, and we do not speak unadvisedly, when we say that he expects incalculable good will result to the people from the movement.

The cast-off garments of dead officials are sought eagerly before the odor of death is out of them. The seekers might at least wait until the official apparel has been fumigated. It was Prince Hal, afterwards Henry V., who sat by his dying father's bedside, fingered longingly the circle of authority, as it lay upon the pillow, and finally placed the "polished perturbation" on his head. He afterwards, it is true, washed out his offence with modest tears, which is a sign of contrition not often shown by office-seekers. A multitude of applicants asked for the place of warden of the Illinois penitentiary before that functionary, who died of injuries received at Lemont, was fairly cold in his grave, and to avoid scandal the prison commissioners have been obliged to elect one of their number to the office, although it was less lucrative than their own.—Missouri Democrat.

AT MOUNTAIN RAILROAD.

A three rail passenger road has been constructed from the base to the summit of the Rigi, one of the highest mountains in Switzerland, by which cars are taken by steam power up and down several times every day. This road is not by a zigzag course, but as direct as most railroads on the level, and is a most wonderful piece of engineering. The trips, it is said, are made with great regularity, with many hundred passengers every day during this summer season.

Pr. F. Bay, of Kernersville N. C. advertises a recipe for making corn third more grain without extra labor or expense. The recipe has been sent to us and we have not tried it we can only say that it is exceedingly simple and worth a trial. Prof. Bay is personally known to us as a Christian gentleman, incapable, we think, of deception, and we cordially recommend him to the confidence of those who may be interested in the method he has discovered.—Christian Advocate.

WATER SPOUT.—The good people in the neighborhood of Fair View (Watauga County) were much alarmed last Tuesday morning at the appearance of a genuine water spout; described by a correspondent as "about the size of a large tree, making a noise distinctly audible for 6 miles. It fell upon a bed of solid rock, making an indentation about as large as a small house. The streams for several miles around were swollen to an extent never before known."—Hickory Press.

UNDEVELOPED VIGOR.

The feeble and debilitated usually fancy they are in a more hopeless condition than they really are. The resources of nature are not easily exhausted. Even when strength and appetite fall, when the eyes are heavy and listless, the complexion pallid, and nerves tremulous, the body attenuated, and the mind depressed, there is generally a reserve of latent power behind such palpable evidences of weakness. Various modes of treatment are resorted to by physicians in the hope of developing and rendering available this store of sleeping vitality, but the surest, and indeed the only thoroughly safe and reliable means of weakening the dormant energies of the system is a course of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. Electricity, shower baths, the flesh brush, sea bathing, &c., may be well enough in their way, as auxiliaries, but they do not reach the source of the evil. All physical debility proceeds either from a derangement of the functions of the assimilating, recreative and vital organs, or from a sluggish constitution. In either case, and also in cases where both causes exist, the Bitters will invariably produce an immediate and salutary change in the condition of the patient, and eventually effect a complete cure. None of the dangerous alkaloids, too often administered as tonics can be otherwise than deleterious under such circumstances, and to give mercury is positively criminal. The direct effect of the great specific will be manifested in an improved appetite a more cheerful frame of mind, a gradual return of strength, an increase of flesh, and a healthier complexion. Meanwhile, however, the constitution, if hurt at all, will have been roused and renovated, the subtle elements of invigoration contained in the Bitters.

PROFITS NORTH AND SOUTH.

While New England mill owners are complaining of small profits, and some millions are having hard times to struggle along, the cotton mills of the South pay dividends. The Augusta, Ga., cotton mill average over twenty per cent. a year; one at Columbus, Ga., pays twenty per cent.; and the mills of Alabama are doing equally well. There is no reason why the South should not manufacture the products of the South. It is a pleasanter country for mechanics than New England, and as Southern manufacturers make larger profits, they can afford to give better pay.—Richmond Whig.
