LOCAL.

Oysters.—Mr. John Snider, who is usually ahead in such things, received some very fine oysters last Saturday.

Warm Weather.—Last Sunday & Monday of the present week were as warm as any days of last August. The nights cool.

Wines.—Mr. Theo. F. Klutz announces that he has pure N. C. Wines that he can recommend for communion purposes.

New Hotel at Concord.—Messrs. Dawson & Irwin have opened a first class hotel in the centre of Concord and promise to give satisfaction to their patrons or make no charge.

Distressing Accident.—We learn that on Sunday evening a little son of J. P. Silliman, a worthy citizen of this County, fell from a barn loft, running a prong of a pitch fork through the region of the heart causing death almost instantly.

Bishop Atkinson will (D. V.) preach in St. Luke's Church on Monday night Oct. 6th and administer Confirmation. He will also preach and confirm on Tuesday morning Oct. 7th.

On Sunday morning next the Rector of St. Luke's Church proposes preaching on the subject "Confirmation" the only means of obtaining the seven fold gifts of the Holy Spirit.

F. J. M.

Mr. Shavers Sale has been going on every day this week, and as a good sign of the times, property has sold well. There are cash. A vast deal of property has passed under the hammer and the end not yet reached.

Sudden Death.—Mrs. Fullinwider, wife of John Fullinwider, died suddenly at her home in the country last Saturday evening of congestive chill. Mr. Fullinwider was in town Saturday evening and knew nothing of the death of his wife until he reached home.

Fifteen Thousand.—The Hillsboro Record says it is expected that fifteen thousand persons will be here at the Fair next week. We haven't any idea what the exact number will be, but we feel confident that a great number will be in attendance. Everybody is coming.

Roanoke and Tar River Fair.—This Fair begins at Weldon, N. C., Oct. 28th, and lasts four days. We are glad to learn that the prospect of a grand success is very flattering. Mr. Jordan Stone, the courteous and efficient Secretary, will please accept our thanks for a complimentary ticket.

New Steam Gin, Mill, & Co.—Messrs. Gowan and Klutz are having erected in the North West part of this city, building, for the purpose of starting a steam gin and mill both gris and saw. Their gin, mills and other machinery will be of the most approved patrons. Success to the enterprise.

Singers Sewing Machine.—An office has been fitted up on Main street to be used as a sales-room for this popular and really valuable machine. The Singer Machine has reached a much larger annual sale than any other. Purchasers should call at the sales-room and see these Machines now ready for exhibition. See Ad.

Mr. Blunt the Artist.—We are glad to see, is again at his old stand, ready to produce Photographs for those who want them. Mr. B's. Pictures are always superb. We have never had an Artist here who gave such universal satisfaction as he; and we would advise those wanting pictures to call soon, as we learn Mr. Blunt's stay is limited to one month.

The New Firm.—Messrs. Klutz, Rendleman & Graham, the gentlemen referred to by us two weeks ago, as making arrangements to open a first class Mercantile business on main, street one door below Klutz's drug store,—have just received a brand new stock and are now ready for business. Read their card and go to see them.

Hop at Meroney's Hall.—The young gentlemen of this city are making preparations for a hop at Meroney's Hall on Wednesday night of Fair week for the accommodation and amusement of the young folks who visit our fair. They may have a hop on Friday night of Fair week also; but certainly on Wednesday night. A very delightful time may be expected.

Always Acceptable.—We would remind our friends who are in arrears for subscription or advertising, that we would be glad to have them call and settle up. This is the season of the year that we are in most need of funds. Our claims are generally small but in the aggregate amount to a very handsome sum. We are very indulgent, but moneys due us are always acceptable.

Fine Tobacco.—Brown & Bro., of Mocksville, N. C., have undoubtedly a competent manager at the head of their extensive Tobacco Factory. We have acquired a quantity of many grades of tobacco,—have tried all grades—but we have seldom or never seen a better article than that we have from their Factory just now. Mr. C. E. Richards, manager, will please accept our thanks for the sample sent us, and those merchants who may desire to inspect it, are invited to call.

New Goods for the Fair.—Our Merchants who have not already received their fall stock of goods are receiving them, and all will by Fair week be well supplied with a new stock. So that every variety of goods can be bought here in Salisbury at very low prices, and in fact, at prices lower than are to be obtained in any town in Western Carolina. When you come to the Fair next week, do not fail to call upon our Merchants and be convinced of what we say.

Quick Work.—The large two-story brick stores east side of main between Innis & Council streets are about completed. It is but little more than six weeks since Dr. Hall began work on them, but one of them was turned over to Messrs. Klutz & Co., the present occupants, last Wednesday and the other will soon be ready for use. Considering the size of these stores, we think it rather quick work. If we had a few more men of Dr. Hall's energy and enterprise Salisbury would grow much more rapidly.

"Hop"—Our young gentlemen are preparing to have a "Hop" at Meroney's Hall, Wednesday evening, the 5th; and another, Friday evening, the 10th.

We instinctively turned to "Webster's Unabridged" to see what it says about "Hop," and here it is:

1. "To move by successive leaps or sudden starts; to jump once, or by successive hops, alighting on one foot; to skip, as birds do; to spring.

The painted birds, companions of the spring.

Hopping from spray to spray.

2. "To walk lame; to halt.

3. "To dance"—that's just what they're after.

The Great Show at Last.—There seems little occasion to apprehend that the announced arrival, on next Tuesday October 7th, of Mr. L. B. Lent—hitherto famous the world over as proprietor of the best circus in it—with this combination of gigantic shows, will prove a passing sensation. Everybody has marked the eventful date of this memorable first visit on the calendar, and the staple topic of conversation in town and country is this new and colossal candidate for Southern popular favor, which has cost the great manager the enormous sum of a million of dollars, and includes more rare wild beasts and living animal curiosities, and far finer horses, than have ever before been presented in one exhibition, besides the celebrated permanent circus organization, whose superior merit is not only universally recognized, but certified to by seven successive years of establishment in the city of New York. In these shoddy days of humbug and exaggeration, Mr. Lent is exceptionally and fortunately strong in the reputation of having been for forty years thoroughly and invariably legitimate, with nothing of the charlatan about him. Deserved prosperity affords him the amplest means for organizing an exhibition without equal, and such a one may be expected from him here; for what he promises, the public has the very best assurance for believing he will perform.

Dishonesty.—The man or woman who conceals old worthless pieces of iron in a cake of Beeswax for the purpose of making it bring more in the market than it is worth, commits two crimes: He sells the cake as pure Beeswax, knowing it not to be such. That is the same as telling a lie. He pockets the funds of the transaction, and thus takes what does not justly belong to him. That is the same as stealing. Thus, he is guilty of lying and stealing.

These are graver offenses, probably, than the man or woman thought they were committing when he or she made up the cake of wax recently sold to Messrs. Sullivan & Gowan; and if it should go back on him or her, as the case may be, it would be very damaging.

Some two or three years ago, a cotton packer in one of our Southern States, packed a large stone in the middle of a bale and sent it to market. It escaped the notice of the American merchant, who bought it; but was found by the English manufacturer in England, where the bale was opened to be made into cloth. The manufacturer closed up the bag and returned it across the ocean to the American merchant from whom he bought it. On its return, the American merchant immediately discovered by the marks he had put on it, from whom he got it; and he accordingly sent it right back to the manufacturer, who was compelled to bear all the expenses as well as all the shame and the disgrace of his dishonesty.

With this example before them, they who pack products for the market should remember that dishonesty is very dan gerous. "Honesty is the best policy," is an old maxim which well applies in such cases; and without a higher motive for just dealings, every man would profit by a strict observance of it.

For Loss of Appetite—Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Depression of Spirits & General Debility in their various forms, FERRIS' PREPARED ELIXIR OF CALIBAYA made by CASWELL, Druggists & Co., New York, and sold by all Druggists, is the best tonic & stimulant tonic for patients recovering from fever or other sickness. It has no equal. If taken during the season it prevents fever, and ague and other intermittent fevers.

"Fooling."—Of all the apparently harmless things that young people indulge in, "fooling" most nearly approaches crime. How often has it resulted in the death of parties engaged in it. For instance, two boys are pranking, or "fooling," with each other, and one picks up a gun which he believes to be empty, and pointing at the other, tells him to look out, he goes to shoot, pulls the trigger and down drops his companion. This has happened a thousand times, and continues to occur almost every week in some part of our country. But this is only one way in which "fooling" brings grief, trouble, and death. There are ten thousand ways in which it has been found brutal and dangerous; and hence the old saw, "no good comes of fooling."

We commend the above to the consideration of the young'uns who built a fence across Fisher street last Saturday night. That was fooling in more senses than one. They must have had a happy time of it in carrying off Mr. Knox's heavy sticks of firewood, 35 or 40 yards, tipping at that. It was a warm night, and when they got through with it they must have felt funny in their wet shirts. After they had finished the job they probably laid around an hour or two, to see the fun, and didn't see it. The foolers were fooled.

But suppose some one had rode hastily through that street on an errand of pressing business that night,—going for a Doctor, for instance, or the Doctor going to a patient,—and his horse had stumbled over that fence, and killed the rider! It is by no means far fetched to suppose such an occurrence. That street is one of the most travelled in the town, both by night and day; and no one would be looking for any obstruction in it. In such an event it might be consoling to the fence-builders to say—"we were only 'fooling,' and didn't mean a bit of harm;" but as they could not repair the mischief done, there would be no consolation or relief to those whose lives and fortunes were bound up in the life their "fooling" had destroyed.

We learn that our Mayor has this case of "fooling" under consideration, and that if his "little birds" do not fall in duty, the foolers will "see the fun" some days after they expected to see it, and in another scene.

Positive and Permanent Cures! Read the following.

CLAYTON, N. C. Aug. 15, 1873. THEO. F. KLUTZ, Esq. Salisbury, N. C.

Dear Sir:—I bought last fall from Wade, Boykin & Co., Baltimore, 1 dozen bottles of your "Klutz's Chill Cure." I sold it to those having chills, and as this is a prevalent sickness in many sections. I was anxious to find a specific for Chills, Fevers and Ague &c. I looked carefully after the results of each bottle, some of which was used in long-standing cases, and allow me to say that every bottle effected a cure. I am now selling it and warranting a cure or no pay. This "Klutz's Chill Cure" saves many a Doctor's bill of $5, $10, or $20. I enclose the pay for 4 dozen more, as the last dozen is all gone, every bottle warranted, and not in a single case has the benefit of the warrant been applied for. Very Respectfully Yours, H. J. RYALS.
