orge H. Pendleton on the Ohio Election Why the Democracy Rejoice.

Hon. Geo. H. Pendleton, the gifted able and eloquent son of Ohio, recently appeared and took part in a meeting call-ed at Cincinnati to rejoice over the clec-tion of the veteran Democrat, William Atlen, as Governor, and the redemption of the State from the hands of the Credit Mobilier scamps and scoundrels by whom it has been ruled for some years. The discontinued meeting was large, and composed of reiessions, who welcomed Mr. Pendleton in the most cordial and enthusiastic manner are held responsible. on his taking the stand .- His speech was marked by a bountiful supply of that com-mon sense for which Mr. Pendleton is so celebrated, and some of his points made evidence of intentional fraud. are both apposite and telling. The following extract is good reading. He said :

We rejoice to-night, my fellow citizens, and must pay for it. because we believe that the people of Ohio have done a patriotic duty, and have done it so wisely and so well that its results will insure to the benefit of the whole country. [Cheers.] We rejoice because the people of Ohio have set the seal of their condemnation upon fraud cor-ruption and the general demoralization of our public affairs. [Ories of "Good" and delivery. loud applause.] We rejoice because the City lets people of Obio have rebuked that general want of high toned integrity which has manfested itself in salary bills. Credit Mobillier and other corruptions. We rehereof joice because the people of Ohio have said that they lost confidence in and will not trust the destiny of our State to a party which is founded in unsound principles [Applause.] We rejoice because the peo ple of Ohio have said they have confidence in and will trust the destiny of the State to the party which we believe to be sound in principle and whose crowning glory it has always been to maintain purity in legislation and honesty in administration. not exceeding four ounces 2 cents ; over four [Great applause.] Above all, my frieude, we rejoice that this triumph has been se cured to us in the person of an able, eminent, honest and distinguished statesman, whose sagacity judgement and patriotism will be exerted to enable us to use power so that, while serving the country, we will insure and extend the success of the Democratic party. [Cheers.] And whom shall we congratulate ? To whom shall we give thanks ? Gentlemen than $20. we can give thanks to, and congratulate
