Wake has the largest deposit of black lead known in this country. The Raleigh News says : "The vein was first opened at Camp Mangum Spring, about three and half miles west of this city, and has been discovered to be about three and a half feet thick, and has been traced over fourteen miles in a northerly direction. Its depth has not yet been ascertained The probabilities are that the vein extends a to a far greater distance than the limit gives about to its length. Mr. P. Murray of New York, is the owner of a large number of acres of the land near this city on which the deposit is found, and is now working three pits near old Camp Mangum. The lead has been pronounced by Prof. Kerr, our State Geologist, to be meandium quality. It is not such as would do for the manufacture of pencils, &c., but for paints, lubrications and moulding pur will poses it is of the best quality and very valuable. Mr. Murray is shipping daily a large number of barrels of it to his factory at the North, and it is estimated that to he has excavated some twenty thousand tons of it.
