> A proper regard for the public wish for decency, even if it were not desirable to promote party ends, should be sufficient to restrain the action of conventions in this particular. We do not believe in nominating men on the ground of availability, but on the ground of merit and acceptability as well. We want pure, high-toned, live men, not drones, political bummers and tricksters. And we really think that unless more regard is paid to this matter in the future, it would be better to leave it intirely with the people. It is utterly impossible for any party in North Carolina, to carry the past Legislature, back-pay grabbers, the bond theives, and the Rail Road swindlers to victory. The people have had a surfeit of these things and it is about time the so-called leaders were finding it out.

By the bursting of immense reservoirs Massachuesetts the towns of Williamsburg, Leeds and Haydenville were flooded with water and over a hundred lives lost and more than a million dollars worth of property destroyed. The rush of water was so rapid and unexpected as to render it impossible for many persons to get out of the way.

We want to see old-fashioned democracy revived, we want the primitive princiles of the party re-established. That is to say, we want a party, where no man desires office, where each shall ask his neighbor to be a congressman, or legislator, or postmaster, or constable, rather than be such an officer himself; when elections shall occur without costing money, and when public service shall be accepted rather as a duty than an honor or personal benefit, and when none but honest men can possibly handle public money. Can we not have any such party until the millenium.-Reporter

PAIN-KILLER! THE GREAT

THE PRESS CONVENTION.

Although there was little business of metical kind perfected at the recent Press Convention, still we think much good will result to the fraternity from the indussions and interchange of views enloyed by the gathering. A better feeling will prevail and the tone of the Press be elevated. Many subjects were discussed without being definitely settled or disposed of, yet good has resulted and the members will be enabled to understand one another better than heretofore. Beides, the meeting was of that pleasant and agreeable kind always to be observad by the union of members of any partielar profession. We shall have occasion to refer to this subject again of signal CANDIDATE FOR CONLO GRESS.

We notice that Mecklenburg, Gaberrus and other counties of the 6th congressional district, through their county Conventions, have instructed their delegates to gates. wole for the Hon. Thos. S.
