COUNTY CONVEN TION.

Attention is called to the proceedings of the County Convention of Davie, which appear in this paper. It will be seen that the people of Davie claim the right to anggest the Senator for this District, and have, therefore, renominated Capt, Chas. Price. We can not undertake to say what view our Convention will take of the matter; but we hope it will so act as to pre serve harmony and good feeling between the good people of Davie and Rowan .-The other selectious, made by the Davie Convention are splendid. The gentlemen put in nomination for Clerk and other county officers, are among the best men in the county, and they will be elected.

The townships throughout the county have generally held meetings and appointed delegates ; and the only objection we have heard allege is, that these Township meetings have been very thinly attended, yet, in in same instances, the delegates have been instructed whom to vote for at the county Convention. This objection may give trouble, if there is not a full and untrammeled delegation from all parts of the county of such men as can not be carried in the interest of any particular influence or clique. In order to secure harmony the utmost liberty must be allowed, every Democratic voter and every interest. There must not be the slighest semblance of packing or unfairness. In the first place it may be well to enquire what the framers of the Constitution meant by the use of the words "first regular elec the first election held under the Constitution shall terminate at the same time as if they had been elected, at the first ensuing regular election."

They unquestionably referred to the "regular election" which the law provided should be held on the first Tuesday in August, 1868. irregular election, held at the time the Consitution was adopted. We quote as fol-

Full validity is given to this section of the Revised Code by Section 24, Article IV. of the new Constitution.

That this is what is meant has been decided by the Supreme Court of the State in constraing Section 26, Article VI, and Section 32, Article IV. and discharging the duties imposed upon said Court by said sections. for office. The fact is no particular in The Judges of the Supreme Court, at June term 1668, in the execution of the duty preday in August 1868.

From the quotations already made it must be tolerably clear that by the words "regular election," the Constitution means the periodical, biennial elections, which have been year 1856, and which are retained and continued by the new Constitution. If any doubts still remain they will be removed by persual of Section 29, Article 11. From that section this is not only clear, but it is also clear that the first "regular election," after the adoption of the Constitution, is to take place "on the first Thursday in August. in the year one thousand eight hundred and
