LOCAL.

JUNE 10.

The Schedule on the N. C. Railroad has again been changed.

Dr. Susan Dimock, a native of N. C., was lost on the wrecked steamer Schiller.

Mr. R. J. West is erecting a handsome residence on the corner of Innis and Grand streets.

This section of the country has been visited by most refreshing and copious showers during the last week.

Wonder if judgment day is not close at hand, one might suppose so from the way people are judging.

The wheat crops herabouts bids fair to turn out well. Winter oats are fine. Spring oats are rather poor and do not promise much. Other crops are looking moderately well.

Locks Township has held its primary meeting, and expressed its preference by a decided vote, for Hon. B. Craig, and John S. Henderson, Esq., as candidates for the Convention.

Cologne.—Mr. Taylor is acquiring quite a reputation among the ladies for the fine cologne he is making. They now go to Ennis's Drug Store and ask for Taylor's cologne, and such a smile as he puts on.

Prof. W. H. Neave, the prince of musicians in Salisbury again, and is welcomed to his old stamping ground by hosts of friends and admirers. Prof. Neave is one of the first musicians in the United States.

The Salisbury Silver Cornet Band, confessedly the best in the State—left for Trinity yesterday morning, where they are engaged to furnish the music for the commencement exercises. They also have an engagement for the Davidson College Commencement.

Jas. Mallard, Esq., the ubiquitous peripatetic of that excellent paper, the Statesville Landmark, was in town on Monday night, en route to Tintinny commencement. Where the girls are, that will Jeems be.

A new novel "A Question of Honor," by our talented author Christina Reid (Miss Frances C. Fisher, of Salisbury) will soon be issued from the press of D. Appleton & Co. New York. Like all Miss Fisher's books, we feel sure that it will be well worth reading.

Mr. Rufus Miller, formerly of Rowan, but for years past a resident of Illinois, has returned to his native land. Mr. Miller is a practical mill-wright of many years experience. His business here now is to overhaul and put in first-class order the Steam Mills of our townsmen Mr. Alex W. Klutz.

James A. Robinson, Esq., assistant Local of the Oxford Torch Light, one of our sprightliest and most valued exchanges, got married the other day. We have never met Robinson, but he is associated in business with W. A. Davis one of the cleverest newspaper men in the State, and we know there must be something in him. Success to you gentlemen.

Prof. W. H. Neave, well known to our citizens as an able and skillful musician, has we are glad to say, returned to our city with the purpose of locating again permanently we hope. Prof. Neave has for several years past been engaged in teaching bands in the West, and as a successful and competent instructor he has but few if any superiors. Should he determine to locate here, it will afford a fine opportunity to those bands in the State needing a teacher to secure one of thorough efficiency.

Groceries.—Bingham & Co. of this city, have the largest stock of groceries, brought here in many years. They buy in quantities to suit purchasers, whether wholesale or retail. They have many of their articles enumerated in their advertisements in this paper, and the quantity is not exaggerated there, since we have been through their stock. Hundreds of articles are not enumerated. It is sufficient to say that their stock is complete, and that whatever you want can be had there, whether in large or small quantities.

Smith, Waggoner & Co., Illusionists, Spectacles and shifting-artificers. Daily free exhibition at the Sheriff's office! Moses captured a magic lantern, and all his paraphernalia the other day, levied on to satisfy a debt, and now it is in his hands in glory departed. We suggest to the Sheriff and deputy Smith that they give free exhibitions of their wonderful transformations of pictures. We'll furnish the light, and so speak some of our native orators would do the talking, if their constituents insisted upon it.

Personal.—We are sorry to learn that Mr. John Martin, has given up his school in this place, and will return to Va., soon. We will not only miss him in our social gatherings, where he was a most acceptable member, but in the school where he taught; keeping the best order and taking better care of the property than any other teacher that has ever occupied it. Mr. Martin is a thorough scholar and a perfect gentleman, and is capable of conducting a much larger, and a school of higher grade than the one he has been teaching here. Mr. Martin has many warm friends who are sorry to see him leave, and wish him much success in life.

Yadkin business firms in Charlotte have failed, McMurray & Davis, one of the largest wholesale houses in the city, and Knapman & Rothchild, wholesale dealers in Millinery &c., also an extensive concern. This from the Observer. That's the way they do it in Charlotte, brag, blow and bust.

A New York business man said to us the other day that the merchants of Salisbury are a class, were on a better footing financially than almost any other in the State or indeed in the South. All they lack is a little more energy and good-abilities.

FRANKLIN TOWNSHIP.

A primary meeting for Franklin Township will be held at Franklin Academy on Saturday the 19th inst., at 10 o'clock P. M. for the purpose of appointing delegates to the County Convention. All voters of the Township are requested to attend.

By order of the Executive Committee.

Pic-Nic.—The picnic gotten up and participated in by the Sunday school of the First Presbyterian church, on Wednesday last was one of the largest, as well as one of the most pleasant affairs of the kind ever witnessed here.

At nine A. M. the procession composed of twenty-five vehicles crowded with childhood and youth, with a proper sprinkling of older heads moved down Innis St. from the Church, and it was a beautiful sight. At Dun's Mountain all enjoyed themselves. A bountiful dinner was spread under the overhanging branches of the forest trees at the foot of the Mountain, and all were amply satisfied with the feast of good things. About 180 persons were on the grounds, and all of them say they'd like to have it over again.

SAD DEATH.

We feel deeply pained in having to announce to our readers, the sad and sudden death of one of our best citizens, Mr. Tobias Peeler, of Gold Hill township, which occurred on Sunday evening last. Mr. Peeler had been to Salisbury, to bring up Rev. Mr. Shuford, and on his way home the mule which he was driving took fright, and ran away, and Mr. P. either jumped from the buggy, or was thrown violently out. The mule ran to the house, without the buggy, and with torn and flying harness, which at once aroused the fears of the family, who started out in quest of Mr. Peeler, and only a few hundred yards from his own gate they found him lying upon the ground, stunned, senseless, bleeding and dying. All that tender care and medical skill could do for him was done, but without avail, and about midnight he breathed his last. Mr. Peeler was a successful teacher, and upright man, and an humble christian.

LOCKE TOWNSHIP MEETING.

On Saturday 5th inst. The people of Locke Township met. Pursuant to a call from the Executive Committee, and by acclamation J. B. Gibson Esq., was called to the chair, and W. F. Watson, and Dr. R. L. Cowan were requested to act as Secretaries.—The Chairman explained the object of the meeting, which was the electing of Delegates to a County Convention to be held in Salisbury, on the 1st, Saturday in July. The Chairman appointed all as Delegates who may be present in Salisbury on said 1st, Saturday in July.

We then went into an election of Delegates represent Rowan County in Convention to be held in the city of Raleigh Sept. 5th. The result was that we vote for the Hon. Burton Craig, and John S. Henderson Esq., and we stand instructed to go for them until we see they are not the choice of the mass.

J. B. GIBSON, Chairman.

W. F. WATSON, Secretary.

Dr. R. L. COWAN, Secretaries.

People present.—J. F. E. Brown, R. S. Cowan, George Albright, J. A. Fisher, John Lingie, C. H. McKinnie, Roland Engchart, H. Bluester, Col. Morgan, P. C. Goodman, T. F. Watson, H. Goodman, W. F. Watson, E. Harris, T. J. Sumner, Richard Gardner, T. C. Watson, J. B. Gibson, W. A. Brandon, W. C. Brandon.

Ruinous.—We are informed that the amount of surplus money paid into our Post Office by persons sending North special orders for articles, over and above what is required to pay orders drawn on this office, is nearly a thousand dollars a week. A weekly drain then of nearly one thousand dollars is inflicted upon Rowan by her c. w. people. This much money is sent out of the county and to the North, and goes toward building up Northern cities and Northern manufacturers. It don't pass through the hands of our merchants, so that nobody here is the least benefited by this exchange. But the thousand dollars that passes out of the county through the Post Office, (laid out for P. O. orders) is probably not the half or fourth of the aggregate that goes out each week, for bills of exchange or checks are used in cases of large amounts. The amounts saved by this system of trade is too trifling to talk about, and when we take into account the great damage that must result not only to the mercantile interest, but to our section in particular, we are surprised that good and sensible men are engaged in it. The people of a country that don't have merchants and markets of their own convenient and among them, are mere jehowars of wood and drawers of water for foreigners. They built up cities and sections and work for men whose prosperity they can in no way enjoy. The policy therefore of sending off for articles that our people can make is most ruinous.

Grass and Clover Again.—At our solicitation Mr. M. L. HOKANS weighed the crop of clover and grass on his lot, referred to week before last, and we give the following result:

Size of lot, 1 1/2 acres.
Total quantity of hay, 8,830 lbs.
Clover and orchard grass, nicely cured as this was, is worth $1 per 100 lbs. This one cutting, therefore, is worth $88.30. Deduct cost of sowing, $6.70 and we have a clean balance of $81.60. Add to this the second or Fall crop, which will not probably be so large, and we have an annual result of about $150.
Every farmer can make his own remarks on this subject. It is certainly worthy of their attention. If a little pains taking to raise hay on upland, free from weeds, briars, willows, &c., is so well rewarded, why may we not have fat cattle, and butter and milk in great abundance. Rich feed, as every body knows, makes rich milk and fine butter. There is nothing better for this than clover. A few of our farmers above town are providing this by an annual cutting of the ground given to clover. It makes fat cows, hogs, horses, sheep, &c. It requires manure and nice labor to get it well set in the soil, but if properly treated, it never fails to pay back a handsome profit. What pays better than Squire Holme's lot, for instance?

We had the pleasure of a Call from Mr. Morris of the Tobacco Leaf, and Mr. Mallard, of the Statesville Landmark this week. They both gave good reports of their papers.

Foundry.—We dropped in at the Foundry and workshops of Messrs. Meroney Bros., a few days ago, and were somewhat surprised at the extent of the shops and the amount and character of the work there done. Mr. Trexler, a skillful and experienced machinist, is at the head of the foundry, and while we were there he was engaged in converting the liquid metal into almost every conceivable implement, from a plough point to a horse power. Every description of casting is here done with promptness and in such a way as to give entire satisfaction.

At the machine shop, blinds, sash, doors, and in fact every sort of carpenter's work are made and done in the most approved style. Mr. Lee White stands at the head of this department in connection with the foundry and these shops is a grist mill, which we were told was capable of grinding from 75 to 100 bushels of grain daily. A large number of hands are here employed, and aside from the fact that it gives employment to a large number of persons it is such an enterprise as should be maintained by the people in this section. The quality of the work turned out is as good as can be done anywhere, and the prices are as reasonable. The celebrated Farmers' Plough is made here and any part of it can be repaired here. Meroney Bros. deserve much credit for the energy and enterprise they have displayed in the establishment of these shops. They will prove of great benefit to the people and should be liberally patronized.

CHURCH NOTICES.

St. John's LUTHERAN Church. Sermon by the Pastor, Rev. J. G. Neffler. Text 18th chap. Luke, part 18th verse.—"And they all with one consent began to make excuses." The minister showed that the excuses made by them were nothing but deceptive courtesies which the master understood, and that these guests preferred to attend to their business of money making or anything else to being present at the Supper. Jesus Christ has provided and freely offers the richest and most abundant blessings. All excuses which men make for not accepting them are vain and wicked.

Unless we attend to the Religious duties of the church in preference to secular affairs, unless we go when invited we may never be permitted to taste of the Supper of the Lord. God is angry with men who will not accept of his salvation and he forever saps, and when forever miserably they will see that no part of the blame attaches to him, but that it all belongs to themselves.

AT THE FIRST PRESBYTERIAN Church, Rev. J. Rumpel, preached from the text, "Not by works of righteousness which we have done, but according to his mercy he saved us" &c. Titus iii, 5.
The grounds of our salvation are not ethical but evangelical. God does not require of us any initial goodness, any preparatory works, as a ground for his mercy and forgiveness, for such would be impossible in the nature of the case. The heart of man is desperately wicked and deceitful above all things, and in it there is no germ or seed of good, out of which the fruits or works of righteousness might be evolved. There is no starting point, and the sinner left to begin or work out his own salvation would inevitably be lost. Good" works are not to be depreciated, but they are evidences of sanctification, rather than instruments of justification. Let every sinner come to Christ just now, without waiting to get ready, without waiting to begin the work of salvation himself, for that is a vain endeavor. Come now, come as you are, and Christ will accept and save you.

AT St. Luke's EPISCOPAL Church, the Rev. F. J. Murdoch, Rector,—after laboring under severe indisposition—held three services during the day, as usual. He preached an excellent sermon, at 11 o'clock A. M. service, taking his text from the I. St. John, 19, 20, 21. "And hereby we know that we are of the truth, and shall assure our hearts before him. For if our heart condemn us, God is greater than our heart, and knoweth all things. Beloved, if our heart condemn us not, then have confidence toward God."

Mr. Murdoch said; St. John here lays down the rule by which alone we can truly judge whether we are the children of God. Conscience is the only true test. We frequently hear persons say, that they receive new light from God in answer to prayers. But this will not do as a rule. We must allow something to the imagination. And even if it be true that this assurance of having received the new light into their hearts was real at the time,—it does not prove that they are still in the same state of favour with God. But St. John knew only one rule—That mentioned in the text. In the sacraments of Baptism, the Lord's supper and Absolution it is commonly—and truly—said that the people receive the forgiveness of sins. But we all know, that it is only the penitent faithful, who receive any grace or benefit. Impenitents coming to the sacraments receive the greater condemnation. The priest cannot look into a man's heart—no man can read the heart—and if the priest declares to a sinner that his sins are forgiven, it is upon the assumption, that the sinner is truly penitent. In order for a man to be assured that his life is right before God, there must be a thorough examination of himself before his conscience. An off-hand verdict will not do. And one question we must always ask ourselves is: Do we unfeignedly repent and believe now? Some of the signs of faith and repentance are these:—(1) Godly sorrow (2) Carefulness to avoid temptation (3) Clearing of ourselves (4) Confession (5) Fear of the Lord (6) Change of ways—and of mind—which is the greatest sign of all. "An evil tree cannot bring forth good fruit, neither can a good tree bring forth corrupt fruit."

It will be noticed, that the text does not say that even after a thorough trial of ourselves at the bar of conscience, we shall infallibly know that we are in the path of safety—but that then we shall have a "confidence toward God"—As a general rule it is safe for a Christian to trust the voice of conscience—which is the messenger and candle of the Lord.

AT THE METHODIST EPISCOPAL Church, Rev. Leo W. Crawford preached from Matthew 18th chapter 27th and 28th verses.—"Then answered Peter and said unto Him, Behold we have forsaken all and followed thee, what shall we have therefore?" In the 28th and 29th verses will be found the reply of Jesus.

The circumstances under which this equity was made by Peter, is set forth in the context.

The young Peter had come to Jesus with the enquiry "what shall I do to inherit eternal life?" He professed to have kept all the commandments, when Christ commanded him to sell all that he had, give up everything, and come and follow him. "Peter heard this, and came and followed him." "Peter received an hundred fold, and shall inherit eternal life," answered the Master. Not that we shall receive an hundred fold, literally, for one gives to God, but an hundred fold in real, genuine happiness in this life, and joy and bliss in the world to come. Worldly possessions are transitory and unsatisfactory, hence our Saviour offers heavenly possessions and pleasures which are permanent, perfect and glorious. The follower of Christ shall be abundantly rewarded, and his reward will be such as only an omnipotent God can bestow. For "it hath not entered into the mind of man to conceive what things God hath in store for them that love Him."

COMMUNICATED.

EDITORS WATCHMAN.—So far as I have been able to gather the public sentiment of the county, your article of last week is somewhat in error, as in connection with the probable nominations for the Convention you failed to mention the name of one gentleman who has paramount claims for the position, and for whom I feel assured a majority if not all of the townships will cast their vote on the first ballot. I need hardly say that I allude to JOHN S. HENDERSON, Esq., than whom Rowan boasts no more worthy or capable citizen. Four years ago Mr. Henderson was one of the nominees for Convention, and the able and victorious canvass which he then made against the greatest odds, is still fresh in the minds of our people, and entitles him, I think, to some honorable recognition at their hands. Aside from this, Mr. H. is a gentleman of a high order of talent, working habits, and irreproachable integrity,—just the kind of men we want in the Convention. These remarks are intended in no unkind or disparaging spirit towards other gentlemen whose names have been mentioned in this connection, but only to correct an erroneous impression which seems to have gotten abroad.

I need not add that this hasty article is written without Mr. Henderson's knowledge or consent. T. F. K.

Our Living and Our Dead

On the 1st of July this valuable periodical will enter upon a new volume, and with the addition of 16 pages. We regard this as substantial evidence of a support which the people of the State would be false to themselves if they did not make good. There is a steady progressive improvement in the Journal, and as the organ of the Historical Society of North Carolina, recently organized, it holds out additional inducements to encouragement. The recent awakening on historical subjects, and the knowledge of how much has been irretrievably lost by the want of some permanent form of record, should give the above named periodical additional value as a safe place of entry and deposit of what can be gathered from the wrecks of the past, and treasured up from the current history of the day.—News.

We fully endorse what is said in the above by the News. The Magazine should be well sustained.
