The sister of the Emperor of Russia, is dead.

The 22d Feb. was observed by Congress as a holiday.

Miss Charlotte Cushman is dead. Funeral exercises at Boston on the 21, very imposing.

The breach between Grant and Bristow, Secretary of the Treasury, is regarded as a fixed fact.

The West Point appropriation bill passed the Senate on the 20th, with slight amendments.

Big Fire on Long Island.—Petitions pressing in asking Congress to repeal the Bankrupt law.

Bowen and Moulton are writing denunciatory letters to the Advisory Council at Plymouth Church against Beecher, re-iterating charges of adultery, false-swearing and hypocrisy.

The war in Spain seems to be drawing to a close, the Carlists having sustained a disastrous defeat above Vera, on the 18th. Don Carlos reported to have fled into France.

Dr. W. A. Hammond of New York says brain diseases are attributable to Emotion, and that there is nothing more injurious than too much anxiety.

ANOTHER DISTINGUISHED MAN GONE.—Hon. A. W. VENABLE, who has been in declining health for some time, died at the residence of his son, in Oxford, Saturday evening last, aged 77 years.

"The Compression Engine" is the name of a new motor of small power which runs without steam, but by alternate compression and expansion of air, something on the style of the calorific engine, only less expensive.

Large delegations from St. Louis and other Western cities in Washington for the purpose of securing the holding of the National Democratic Convention at their places. These delegates have axes to grind, or they would hardly be at so much trouble.

Gold, on the 21st, N. Y. $1.14.—Cotton, 12 1/2 a 12 15 16. Flour dull at $5 to $6 per barrel.

Cotton, at Wilmington, all the way from 8 1/2 to 12 1/2. Low Middling, 11 1/2; Middling 12.

The authorities of Wilmington practice severe penalties on offenders, and we don't blame them, for they have many to deal with. $25 fines or 30 days work on the streets is the usual fare, and it is handed out to men and women alike. Go there, tramps, if you want to get into business.

It is believed that President Grant will leave no effort untried to shield his private Secretary, Babcock. It is a disgraceful fact that the whiskey frauds of the West have been long known and winked at by high authorities in Washington, and that the tracks of the offenders lead even into the White House. The truth must out, sooner or later. The outraged and indignant people of this land, where every man is as good as the President or any body else, will not rest until they have exposed and punished rascals in high places. The petty thief who steals a chicken is sent to the penitentiary for his crime. Let the course of the people fall on those who aid the escape of the greater thieves who rob the government. The bad example of men in high places is frightful in its influences on the morals of the country, and their wickedness should never be allowed to go unpunished.

"CONFIDENTIAL"

We have a circular from Glasgow, Howard county, Missouri, marked "confidential," informing us that we had been "recommended to them as a suitable person to sell tickets for a Grand Gift Concert," and thereupon they proceeded to set before us the inducements for going in with them. They say we must jump at the offer quick, as they have sent similar circulars to other persons in our city.

Two or three years ago a fellow in N. Y. applied through the mails to sell us counterfeit money. It stung us like the mischief, for a moment or two, and we sent the letter right on to the Secretary of the Treasury, at Washington. But in less than a week we found that similar letters had been received by several other persons here, among the rest, one of our pastors. The manufacturer of counterfeit money, came to grief not long after, but we don't know how better to get at this Gift Concert Fellow than to send a life insurance agent after him.

A Pleasant Entertainment—was given at McNeely's Hall, Tuesday evening, in which a large part of the young people took part. A Martha Washington tea party had been advertised for that evening, but owing to unfavorable weather &c., it was postponed to a future day, of which due notice will be given. Some of the young people, however, unwilling to forego a social gathering, adopted a new programme and made a very pleasant social party. A nice supper was provided, and the proceeds were generously donated to the Silver Cornets, who graced the occasion with their unsurpassed music.

The solicitor in Wake county District has stirred up the merchants of Raleigh with a sharp stick. About 300 of them failed to return a list of receipts and sales on the 1st January for the preceding six months, as the law requires, and the Solicitor got after them. It does not appear that any notice was required or given, to come forward and make the returns, and there was therefore a plain road open for the Solicitor to make about $1,200 in fees and be went for it. Ah! but didn't the merchants smile a blessing on the fellow's head. Truly, the love of money is the root of all evil. Seriously, it would have been neighborly in that Solicitor to notify delinquents to make their returns, and failing to do so, then put them to cost.

P. S. NEY.

Mr. THOS. F. HOUSTON of Mo., one of the former pupils of the old and rather singular school teacher remembered by many in this county as PETER S. NEY, has revived the question as to his identity with the renowned Marshal NEY, of Bonaparte's army. Mr. Houston presents some facts new to us going to establish the hypothesis that P. S. Ney was the veritable French Marshal. But this, if it be a fact, necessarily implies the commitment in open day, and in the presence of many interested witnesses, one of the most remarkable frauds ever perpetrated in France or any other country. French historians have never yet, we believe, admitted that there was any doubt about the execution of Marshal Ney. It is recorded by them as a well known and admitted fact, and, if we are not mistaken, those in this section who were acquainted with P. S. Ney, the school teacher, and had good opportunities to gather information from him, while they admit the old man from some cause shrouded himself with mystery, do not believe that he was the historical Marshal Ney of France, though he was a Frenchman, and a man of rather remarkable personal presence.

A HISTORY OF THE WHISKY RING?

A correspondent of the New York World states that the original "crooked whisky" ring of St. Louis was started in 1872, ostensibly for campaign purposes in the interest of Grant. Its leading spirits were McDonald, supervisor; Joyce, revenue agent; Nevis and Fraser, distillers; and C. G. Megree, cashier and paymaster. Instead of using their funds to promote the cause of the Republican party, money was divided among them. This arrangement continued till after the Presidential election, the government being defrauded of from $5,000 to $15,000 per week by the officials. After the election was over McDonald and Joyce wanted to "freeze out" certain members of the conspiracy, and accomplished their object by having all crooked operations stopped for a while. As soon as the obnoxious persons were got rid of, including Megree, operations were resumed more boldly and upon a larger scale than at first. All the distillers, with unimportant exceptions, the supervisor, the revenue agents, gangers and storekeepers were in the ring.

In 1874, Peter Curran, having been prosecuted by the government (his case was subsequently settled), desired to get out of his trouble, and the ex-members of the original ring, suspecting the trick which had been played upon them, and having suspicions that the crooked operations had been resumed, opened a correspondence with Commissioner Douglas, informing him of the existence of the ring. Then Brashear, a secret detective, was sent to St. Louis to investigate. The ring was forwarded by Avery, chief clerk of Douglas, and Brashear was conquered by a bribe of $5,000. He was returned to Washington with a clean bill. After that, Hoag, another secret service man, was sent here, and the ring paid him $10,000 for the satisfactory report which he turned in at Washington. Then Brashear and Yarran came. Their investigation cost the ring another $10,000, which Brashear took promising to divide with Yarran. The former returned to Washington and made out the regulation report, showing every thing all right, certifying that Yarran coincided in the opinion. The latter went to New Orleans from St. Louis, where he passed the winter. On returning to Washington in the spring of 1875 he discovered the report made by Brashear, and denied that he coincided in the report.

The ring continued its operations till April last when information was received that Yarran was in town, ostensibly working up a railroad case, but in fact secretly engaged in looking after the revenue frauds. When the ring learned what was being done, McDonald raised $10,000 from its members for the purpose, as he said, of stopping investigation. Bevis had gone to California, but was called home by a telegram, reaching St. Louis three or four days before the seizures were made. The descent was early in May last, and impartially included all distillers and rectifiers in St. Louis. McDonald still continued to tell the ring "things are all right; that he knew who had that $10,000; that all was straight, and they would be released." To their sorrow McDonald proved a false prophet. The grand jury was in session for six weeks. At the end of that time it brought in true bills against McDonald, supervisor; Joyce, revenue agent; all the gangers and storekeepers; all the distillers and rectifiers, except one who died just in the nick of time to save himself; Fitzroy, deputy collector and financial agent of the ring, and Avery, chief clerk in the Revenue Department at Washington.

The ring continued in good spirits, still relying on McDonald's promises, and those of Joyce, that "all would blow over;" but in October, having lost all faith in him, the distillers and rectifiers all came into the United States Court and pleaded guilty; Fitzroy, deputy collector, together with the gangers and storekeepers, made the same plea. At the November term of the same Court McDonald and Avery were found guilty. Joyce, under indictment of the Western District of the State, had previously been tried and found guilty. Sentence was suspended on all who pleaded guilty and were used as State's evidence. Sentence was also suspended on all found guilty by trial in the Eastern District. At the November term of the grand jury, Constantine Maguire, Collector of the District; William McKee, of the Globe-Democrat, and General O. E. Babcock, were indicted on several counts each. The three last named were certified to the United States Circuit Court, a special session of which met on the 20th of January for the trial of these three cases. To the surprise of everybody McKee was found guilty; Maguire made a compromise, pleading guilty on five counts to dereliction of duty, the government entering a nolo pro as to the charge of conspiracy to defraud. The trial of Grant's military secretary, General O. E. Babcock, the third and last, commenced on Monday last. The trouble in this case is that it requires very different testimony to convict him from that used to convict his accomplices. General Grant's removal of Mr. Henderson, who had thoroughly mastered the case, will also add to Babcock's chances of escape. The whole influence of the administration is being exerted in his behalf, and his conviction will be a wonderful triumph over the President as well as over the ring.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 22.—St. Louis is selected as the place for the National Democratic Convention. She beat Chicago two votes.

The Radicals do not know what to do with Bruce. He is a colored brother who "fights nobly" against the Grant and Morton groups.

Change, the Chinese giant, has been received into the Baptist Church at Shanghai. His height is seven feet eight inches.

WESTERN N. C. RAILROAD.—The Commissioners were in session at Old Fort on Thursday and Friday last. During their stay they ran the first passenger train thro' Point Tunnel and entirely up to Malone's Store. We learn the Depot and the Hotel, at the latter point, are being rapidly put up for the accommodation of freight and passengers, when regular traffic will be opened. Mr. Rice, of Wilmington, has begun operation on the tunnels which he was to complete, and Maj. Wilson is driving ahead in the Swannanoa or main one. The Burgin tunnel is about completed, and the work goes bravely on.—Blue Ridge Blade.

We have been informed that some person threw a rock into the window of the Mail Car just beyond Salisbury, filling the face of the Mail agent, Mr. Turrentine with glass, but we are glad to learn that he was not injured. There have been several occurrences of this kind in that vicinity, and it is hoped that the guilty parties will be caught, and justice meted out to them.—Lexington Central.

For this identical offense we once knew a train stopped and all hands aboard got off and went in pursuit of the offender, and having caught him, slip his head through the crack of a rail fence, found his naked hide and laid on him about 100 lashes.

FIRE.—Mr. R. T. Earnhard's store house and contents were consumed by fire, on last Thursday morning. About half past 1 o'clock the alarm of fire was made, but having no facilities for extinguishing fire, there could be nothing done towards saving the building.

About $200.00 worth of goods were saved.—Insured for about $7000.—The store-house was an ornament to the town, being the finest and largest business house in the place. Mr. E. is one of the most energetic men we have, and he has the sympathies of the entire community.—Lexington Central.

WANTS A JUDGE'S PLACE AT THE CENTENNIAL.—Mr. S. Worthen of Shelby writes to Gov. Brogden and wishes to represent North Carolina as one of her judges on machinery. Mr. Worthen is now running a sewing machine factory at Shelby which can turn out eight machines a day. He has been a judge on machinery some fifteen years at yearly exhibitions in Canada and the United States. He also can show the medal of honor from all the provinces and refers the Governor to some of the most distinguished references. He has made, and can show the receipts for his work, ten thousand sewing machines and fifty-seven thousand rifles. Mr. Worthen has lived in this State eight years.

What will Morton try next? The committee sent to investigate outrages in Pike and Amite counties, Miss., which were welcomed by the rads as a fresh store of ammunition to their battery, and which led to a call upon the President for troops, report that after diligent inquiry they find no obstruction to the performance of collector's duties; that no resistance was offered to the authority of Federal officials; that United States Collector Redmond was advised on the eve of election to leave the county, but the hostility to him was personal, and not by reason of his office, and that there was no pursuit; that Mayor Summit was drunk when he signed the dispatch for troops, and that the charge was false, and there was no occasion for troops.

BURNED.—On Sunday, the 6th instant, Clarence, son of Mr. James P. Sawyer, was severely burned while standing in his night clothes near the fire. The little fellow, who is only seven years of age, had just arisen from bed, and turning his back to the fire, dropped his night-gown around his feet. The sleeve of the garment fell in the fire, and soon the whole of it was ablaze. His grand-mother, who was in the room, extinguished the flames, but not before the child was severely burned. In the midst of his sufferings, his father rushed in, and having heard that raw eggs were good for burns he plastered him with them until he looked like a marble image striped with ochre. The effect was almost magical. It relieved the sufferer in five minutes, and shortly thereafter he ate a hearty breakfast.—Asheville Pioneer.

A Bloody Day in an Iowa Town. INDIANOLA IOWA, Feb. 22.—Returning from Church two families quarrelled. Two brothers, their father and a friend were killed. The attacking party, numbering six, are in jail. It was an old feud.

FOREIGN ITEMS. The Carlist cause is considered in Paris as hopelessly lost.

Don Carlos was in the Baztan Valley yesterday.

Gen. Martinez Campos' army is marching on Hernani.

Disastrous floods in the provinces of upper Austria and Moravia; 120 houses destroyed.

King Alfonso entered Tobosa yesterday evening. The Royalists had previously carried all the heights near the town.

It is not yet known to whom President MacMahon will entrust the formation of a new cabinet. A Paris paper says that the Buffet Cabinet will have to render an account to the public of its administration of public affairs, and that any revision of the constitution, except in a republican sense, is impossible.

THE ASYLUM.—The Commissioners adjourned their meeting in Morganton to meet on the 15th instant at Greensboro. Col. Walton reports from the meeting at the latter place, that all bids for laying brick were rejected, and that the work will be done under the supervision of the master-builder, Mr. Walker. The lowest bid for laying brick and furnishing lime and sand was about five dollars per thousand. The Commissioners think that by utilizing convict labor Mr. Walker can have it done at much lower rates.—Blue Ridge Blade.

WILMINGTON RETAIL MARKET.—The following prices ruled yesterday: Apples, (dried) 12 1/2 cents per pound; dried peaches 25c per pound; walnuts, 25 cents per peck; pickles, 20 cents per dozen; lard, 18 cents per pound; butter, 40c55 cents per pound; grown fowls 50c60 a pair; geese $1.50 per pair; beef 10 a 16c. per pound; beef, (corned) 12 1/2 a 15c. per pound; veal, 12 1/2 a 16c. per pound; mutton, 12 1/2 a 16c. cents per pound; ham, 18a20 cts. per pound; shoulders, 12 1/2 a 14c. cents per pound; tripe, 20 cts. per bunch; clams, 25 cents a peck; open clams; 20a25 cts. a quart; soup bunch, 5 cents; eggs, 15 cents a doz.; sturgeon, 25 cts. a chunk (5lbs); potatoes, New Irish, 40c a peck; new sweet, 20 cents a peck; fish—trout 25c. per bunch; mullets 10a25 cents per bunch; turpins, 10c. a bunch; onions, 50c a peck; cabbages 10a25 cts. a head; bologna 20 cts. a pound; wild ducks 50a75 cts. a pair; parsey, 5 cts. a bunch; carrots, 5c a pound; rice 10 a 20c a quart; erabs, 15c a dozen; apples 50 to 60c per peck; liver pudding, 20c per lb; blood pudding, 25 cts per lb.; oysters (New River) $1.00 per gallon or $1 a bushel; do. THE WESTERN INSANE ASYLUM.—The Commissioners at their meeting in Greensboro this week decided to let out no contract for a builder but to furnish their own hands under the supervision of the superintending architect from Wilmington they have already employed. They will commence laying the brick about May.

Gen. Gideon J. Pillow says that the suit which has compelled him to file a petition in bankruptcy was brought for a seizure of coal in Memphis ordered by him while in command of the Confederate forces of Tennessee. That State has thus far refused to assume the judgment rendered against him, and an entire loss of the little property the General saved from the war will probably be the result.

The black dogwood or the berry-bearing alder make the best charcoal, willow is next, and common alder third in rank. Small wood of about ten years growth is in all cases to be preferred for charcoal for making gunpowder. Alder and willow of this age will be probably 4 or 5 inches in diameter, dogwood about 1 inch.

EATING RATS.—An English contemporary suggests that the health of sailors and the comfort of life on board ship would be promoted if the practice were introduced of eating the rats which swarm in most ships. There is really no reason why rats should not be eaten as well as rabbits and squirrels. They are clean feeders, and extremely particular as to keeping their bodies free from dirt. Rats which have existed in the hold of a grain-carrying ship might be a toothsome delicacy.—Scientific American.

A HUCK CLOCK.—The celebrated clock at Westminster (London, England), has 400 square feet of dial surface. The minute hands are 11 feet long. Although the hands are all counterpoised, and the entire weight of the hands, counterpoises, and wheels which has to be moved at every beat of the pendulum is not less than 1 1/2 tons. The going weight is 1 1/2 cwt., and the clear fall is 170 feet. It takes five hours to wind this clock up by hand. Huge as the great machine is, it shows an error of less than 1 second on $3 per cent days in the year.

A very common reason for the failure of muck, when used as an absorbent or in compost heaps, is that it has already taken up all the water it can hold. It should therefore be thoroughly dried before forming into compost heaps. In building the heap, place muck and manure in thin layers, and use about twice as much muck as manure.

SKILLFUL COOKERY. Americans who dine with the Chinese are surprised at the possession to which they have carried their cooking. During a recent Chinese banquet in San Francisco, an Orange was laid at the plate of each guest. The orange itself seemed like any other orange, but on being opened was found to contain within the rind five kinds of delicate jellies. One was puzzled to explain how the jelly got in, and giving up that train of reflection, was in a worse quandary to know how the pulp part of the orange got out. Colored eggs were also served, in the inside of which were found nuts, jellies, meats and confectionary. When one of the Americans present asked the interpreter to explain this legend of cookery he expanded his mouth in a hearty laugh, and shook his head and said, "Melican man hee smart; why he not fuddee out?"

A GOOD HIT. The Monroe Engineer, in speaking of the progress of the Western North Carolina Railroad, pays the following just compliment to the spirit of the Republican party: "An exchange says that the Radicals told one truth during the Convention campaign, when they declared, 'If the Western Railroad was ever built the Republicans would do it.' That prophecy is now being actually carried out, as some two hundred penitentiary convicts have recently been sent up from Raleigh to work on the road—all negroes and Rads."
