A WATER TEAM

Drovers' Journal.

Mr. Robert L. Pell, residing near Wes Park on the Hudson, has made an experiment in utilizing a, sturgeon, from which he extracted much entertainment for himself and visitors. Having caught a fish of the kind, nine feet long, it occurred to him that it was sufficiently powerful to draw a boat with at least one man. The fish was therefore secured until leather and rope harness could be attached. to his body in a way which prevented its slipping back of the fins. The fish was placed in an artificial lake, about a quarter of a mile long, on the grounds of Mr.

In order to obtain the services of the stargeon when needed, a pair of rope reins eighteen feet long, were attached to the harness, and these were fastened to a large cork float, which swam upon the water. A boat five and a half feet long and two and a half feet wide was then constructed. It could contain but one man, and in that Mr. Pell took his seat, and attached the chain at the bow to the Of all diseases to which the horse is Hoating cork.
