

"Jersey Justice" is not a mere name. We rejoice that there is one State that has acquired a reputation for administering law to criminals without fear or favor, and we take pleasure in noting that it maintains its reputation. Justice has some noble representatives in other States, not even excepting our own, but the courts of New Jersey alone appear to have an atmosphere that is habitually unwholesome to the violators of law. All honor to the judges and juries and prosecuting officers of a State who are willing to do their outy, and who do not have that mawkish sympathy for rogues of any kind or degree that allows them to go unwhipt of justice.

We have another instance to record. -Several weeks since a brutal prize fight took place at Penn's Grove, in the southern part of New Jersey, near the Delaware river. The principals and the crowd of roughs that attended were chiefly from Pennsylvania. They had gone by boat from Philadelphia in order to avoid the liability to arrests, not supposing that the officers of the law would pursue them of the pugilists, beaten almost to death, was taken to Philadelphia in a small boat, and some time in the course of the of this class of brutes)

Senator Bayard and the Duty of the People to the Constitution and the Laws of the Country.

[N. Y. Herald.]

Mr. Bayard's position in the Demoratic party and before the country render his words especially significant during this critical situation, and they will be impressed upon the public mind by the force of their moderation and their firmness. It is with great satisfaction that we recognize this spirit which animates the Democratic leaders, and which has found expression in an interview printed in yesterday's World. It is to be noticed that the Senator is unwilling to be present at the session of the Returning Board of Louisiana, since, in his opinion,

"no matter what may be the issue of the returns or the conduct of the Returning Board, either set of such delegates would be totally without power to arrest the wrong in fieri or to remedy it when accomplished. Neither the prevention not the cure lies with them nor with the President, but both do exist elsewhere, ample and well defined."

Upon the duty of the people and the across the line. The whole scene was as Democratic party he is very positive that brutal as such fights usually are.
