

LOCAL.

Several gentlemen have formed a string band in this city, of half dozen instruments.

Dr. M. Whitehead has gone on a pleasant trip to Western North Carolina. He will be absent about three weeks.

The United States Consul to Venezuela was accidentally left here drunk last week. A lovely representative. He looked like a tramp.

The Baptist has started a missionary Sunday School in the public school house here. We hope they may do a deal of good.

Excursion.—D. R. Julian and Capt. John Lowery, will run an excursion car to Henry on the 21st inst., to return Saturday 23d, at $1 the round trip.

Mr. C. R. Barker is still manufacturing, at Trantham's Drug Store, Morgan's horse and Cattle Powders. He has been shipping these powders in large quantities. They are said to be the best in the market.

A Mr. Mankins has been working at the shoe trade here for some time past. He left rather unexpectedly one night this week. One of the negro workmen here put it thus: "Yes sar boss, Mr. Mankins done come up abinsk, dat de fr shore's dis niger's name Milus."

A lot of small boys have had made a set of tin horns and formed a band, which they call "band No. 3." They make a delightfully discordant noise—know of nothing—not even wild geese, bulls, bullfrogs, squanduns and that tender whistle on the X. C. R. R., that can compare favorably with this band.

We now boast of a dog law—this is the lesser evil. Let us have a hog and cow law and dog law. While we are thankful for the dog law, we want more. There is not a day hardly but one sees things in our public streets that ought to be done away with. This can be done by a hog and cow law. These things are very obnoxious to most of our citizens and for the best reasons ought to be removed.

The police officers had to arrest a colored woman a day or two ago and carry her before the Mayor for some misdemeanor. When they called for her at her house she took very sick and had to be hauled on a tray—she declared she could not walk. After the trial they took her home on the wagon, when they got to the gate, however, she jumped off and ran in the house as well as ever. This was only a pleasure-ride at the expense of the public.

It was our pleasure to go with a small party last Monday to see the natural wall. This was our (the Junior's) first trip to see this curiosity. It had been exposed some ten or twelve feet. It looked more like a wall than anything else to our eye—an old brick wall. We 'fess up at once, we know nothing about it, and as "ignorance is bliss," we had it down to a fine point in this instance. We tackled a plum patch near by, in which matter we were thoroughly conversant. The party had a pleasant day and are indebted to Mr. H. H. for ice water and fine luscious peaches.

"BAND NO. 2."—The entertainment mentioned in our last will come off Friday night, the 13th inst. The programme is good. Original and sentimental songs, negro melodies and plantation songs, with banjo accompaniments. If all the fat men in town wish to enjoy themselves and have a good laugh, let them not fail to be present. There is also a lot of fun ahead for the girls—and the young men also. Happy hits on the fun loving portion of the young folks. The selections from Hamlet will be taken from Act 1st, 2d, 4th and 5th scenes. In fact the entertainment will not fail to please those who attend. Come out and enjoy yourselves once more.

A Beautiful Garden.—L. BLACKMER, Esq., has the most beautifully adorned garden and premises in this place if not in Western N. C. His fruit and ornamental trees, flowers, shrubs, vines, creepers and vegetables, meet you at every turn in such varying forms that interest and curiosity are constantly excited. The novice in gardening can't take a step without asking "what is this?" "What is that?" for he here meets with many a silent stranger, whose form, or grace, beauty, or odor halts him by a power more potent than words. The arrangement without seeming stiff and precise is orderly and convenient. Few visitors will dare to criticize the taste which directed the location of plant or tree; for the harmony of the whole is exquisite, and the charm simply captivating.

Night Blooming Cereus.—Mrs. M. L. Holmes had many visitors Monday and Tuesday night to see the opening of the beautiful flower of this name. There were five blooms on one plant, one opening Monday night and the other four Tuesday night. There are several varieties of the Cereus: The flowers of this one are white, exceedingly delicate and wax-like, and when fully open are about six inches in diameter. They commence opening in the evening and reach their widest expansion about midnight; after which time they begin to close. Their delicate beauties shun the light of day, so that they would see them in their glory must watch them through the night.

Mrs. H. has many rare plants, all of which are highly interesting, especially to those who have a taste for the wonderful beauties of the floral kingdom.

Town Commissioners.—This body met on last Friday at the Mayor's office. The Mayor and all the Commissioners were present. The following is a summary of the business of public interest which was furnished us by the clerk: ORDAINED, That the Chief of Police shall have badges prepared, which must be placed upon the collars of all dogs running upon the streets; that the owners of all dogs shall register the same with the clerk, and upon payment to the clerk of $1 for each dog, $2 for each bitch, shall be furnished with a properly numbered badge. That after the 15th day of August, 1877 all dogs or bitches found running at large without the proper badge, shall be killed, and any bitch in heat, or any vicious dog found running at large at any time, shall be killed. The time for listing town taxes, was extended to July 25th. The city attorney gave it as his legal opinion that stocks in Railroad companies were liable to taxation and must be listed or the penalty of double tax incurred. Barber Shops were allowed to keep open on Sunday mornings until 9 o'clock. Mayor Stewart, and Commissioners Craige and Holmes were appointed a committee to have the town boundaries surveyed in accordance with amended charter. The Mayor was instructed to ascertain cost of printing Charter and Ordinances. The rates for special taxes were also agreed upon and fixed.

MUSKETS AND MOONSHINE. [Louisville Courier-Journal.] Is it not pitiful that so many of the poor, ignorant mountaineers should be shot down and killed while resisting, as we are told, the efforts that are made to break up their illicit distilleries? It is bad enough, in all conscience, to carry them, when arrested, hundreds of miles from their homes and friends to be tried, but it is far worse to provoke them into a conflict and shoot them down. Almost every day we hear of one or more of them being killed by officers engaged in attempts to arrest them and break up their "moonshine" establishments. It is not to be presumed that the officers are always to be blamed for the killing, for such a presumption would be very unjust to them and contrary to the truth; but there is scarcely a doubt that the mountaineer is sometimes killed where a few precautionary steps taken in advance would have rendered the act unnecessary to a proper execution of the law, and would have prevented it. Of course, the officer must enforce the law, as he is sworn to do, and we, as conservators of the public peace, can demand that he shall discharge the disagreeable duty imposed upon him in a manner less calculated to drive the mountaineer to his gun to kill or to be killed—to be killed in point of fact, for in such circumstances he almost invariably gets the worst of it. The number of these little one-house still-houses away off among the mountains of Kentucky, Tennessee, Alabama, Georgia and the Carolinas must be immense, for often as many as ten, fifteen or twenty are broken up and destroyed during a single raid. And this work of destruction is too often accompanied with loss of life among the ignorant, untamed mountaineers, who cannot be persuaded that it is wrong to defraud the government on a small scale, while so many are defrauding it on a very large scale, the Government standing idly by the while winking at the fraud. This press dispatch came from Nashville the other day, and you find just such in the newspapers nearly every week or two: "During the past week the revenue officers raided on illicit distillers in Putnam, Jackson, White and others mountain counties. They broke up fourteen. They got into a fight and killed an illicit distiller named Sam Johnson and badly wounded two named Morgan. They captured twelve prisoners. "They got into a fight and killed an illicit distiller named Sam Johnson and badly wounded two named Morgan." Why could not this thing have been managed without getting into a fight? Of course the illicit distillers are always alone to blame, or they would not always get the worst of the fight. You don't suppose, we hope, that a just and all-wise Providence would always let them be killed or badly wounded, while everybody else escapes unhurt, if they were not alone to blame. Of course these little wildcat concerns, dispensing "distilled damnation" untaunted to the unsophisticated children of the mountains, ought to be broken up, but the men to whose hands the work of breaking them up is assigned should content to carry death among them less frequently. There is perhaps a fond, loving, though may be unlettered, woman, who calls the moonshiner "husband"; there are perhaps affectionate little children who call him "father"; and for the sake of the fond, loving wife, and— "His young barbarians all at play," if for nothing else, the minister of the law, whose duty it is to bring that moonshiner to justice, should take every precaution to execute their mission without making his life the forfeit of his violation of law. The fear is that among those to whom is assigned the work of ferreting out and breaking up these mischievous little still-houses of the mountain wilds, the life of the moonshiner is held too cheaply. True, the loss here and there of a life or so of that sort can hardly be called an irreparable calamity to the Commonwealth; but, then, to the woman who is made a friendless widow by the sacrifice of that life, and to the children who are made helpless orphans thereby, the calamity is irreparable, and he will have a dread reckoning to confront in the hereafter who inflicts it upon them save in an honest execution of the law—not the law made by Congress for the punishment of illicit distillers, but the law made by a higher power—the God-given law of self-defense. Let the United States marshals and their deputies use their deadly weapons in the vindication of the law, only and on opening the morning paper our eyes will less frequently be greeted with the glaring head-line, "Another Moonshiner Shot!"

THE CITY OF CHARLOTTE AND THE A. T. & O. RAILROAD. The following is the portion of the report of the President of the Atlantic, Tennessee & Ohio Railroad Company, made at Statesville on Thursday, to which Messrs Brown, Moore and Dowd entered their protests, as members of the Board of Aldermen of the city of Charlotte: "At the last meeting of the stockholders of this company, a resolution was passed appointing a committee to meet a similar committee from the mayor and aldermen of the city of Charlotte, looking to a compromise of the original subscription of this company, as well as arranging for the payment of the above-mentioned bonds. The committee on the part of the stockholders having reported to the board of directors a hopeless disagreement, as to a settlement of said subscription or any part thereof, your board of directors instructed your President to institute legal proceedings against the city of Charlotte to compel its compliance to the full payment of all claims due this company; and to that end a suit was commenced by Jones & Johnston, of this city, returnable to the May term of Mecklenburg Superior Court. This suit is very much to be regretted. But others have been required to pay, corporation and individuals, and none deriving as much benefit as the city of Charlotte, why, it is asked on the part of stockholders, should she seek to evade payment? To a large extent, and I will add, to the full extent of the troubles of this road, is to be attributed the unjust withholding of the payment of this subscription; and your President unabatingly says that to the bad faith of the city of Charlotte is justly traceable all the financial woes of your company. Charlotte is a rich corporation; she has fattened and grown commercially great, in part, by your hard earnings. You, in the meantime, have become poor by her injustice. She has perpetrated, or is now attempting to perpetrate a fraud on the stockholders of this company, by withholding the payment of a subscription made in open day, and upon every principal of right she should be required to pay the last farthing. Is there any reason why she should repudiate this subscription and the liquidation of these bonds, that will not equally apply to the town of Statesville, the C. C. & A. Railway, or to you individually? We think not."
