

LOCAL.

October goes out without a killing frost. The gardens are yet green.

The Stone Force Pump man is in town canvassing for the sale of his pump.

Megney has put new and comfortable seats in the Opera Hall. Clever.

Mr. V. Wallace has been north for fall goods—returned looking well with a new suit of clothes, &c.

H. M. Holzinger is running 3 grades of cigars: the "Hero," "Rivals" and "Sweet 15," worth per M. respectively, $70, $50 and $45.

Sheriff Waggoner has advertised to make his last round for collecting the taxes, beginning at Franklin, Tuesday, November 13th.

Dr. Bessent is still in town, but will leave in a few days. Those wishing his services will find him at the National Hotel, if they will call soon.

Five of our medium sized men happened to meet in one of our stores last week, and determined to ascertain their weight—they drew 1200 pounds—small men.

Rev. Wm. Davis Billee, and very acceptably, the Rev. Mr. Rumpke's pulpit in the Presbyterian Church, last Sunday. His plain earnest speaking compels, as it were, the attention of his hearers.

Dr. J. J. Sumnerell was summoned by telegraph Wednesday, to hasten to the bedside of his father, at Weldon, N. C., who is believed to be approaching death. The venerable man is in his ninety-second year, and has been in failing health for some time past.

We are pleased to announce the return of Miss Lillian Warner. She has been north teaching and perfecting herself in music. She was organist in the Presbyterian Church of this city before she left; and delighted the congregation with her fine music on Sunday since her return.

Among the visiting lawyers attending this court are: Gen. R. Barringer, of Charlotte, Gen. J. M. Leach, of Lexington, Judge Thos. J. Wilson, of Winston, W. H. Bailey, of Charlotte, Jno. M. Long, of Concord, M. H. Pinnix and Frank Robbins of Lexington, J. A. Williamson, of Davie.

Our Court House.—Few counties in the State have a better Court House than Rowan. Externally it is a fine building. The original defects of the Court Room in consequence of which it was almost impossible to hear a speaker, have been overcome by recent improvements which, while they greatly add to the convenience of juries, the Court and the public, also improve its appearance. Well done for the County Commissioners.

Runaway.—We learn that Mr. Bingham Coleman, who was so dreadfully cut with a knife in the hands of his father, George Coleman, some months ago, and who was under bond for his appearance at the present term of the Superior Court, has run away and will not appear. He left money to pay the forfeiture of his bond. His motive, as stated to some of his neighbors, was to get beyond the knowledge and reach of his father who he feared would renew his assault upon him. He has been hiding from his father ever since the release of the latter from prison.

KNIGHTS OF HONOR.—A Lodge of this order was instituted in this place on the 10th Oct., by Rev. T. J. Allison, D. S. D.

OFFICERS ELECT: D. A. Atwell, Past Dictator. T. F. Klutz, Dictator. J. Sam'l. McCubbins, Vice Dictator. Jno. Y. Barber, Act. Dictator. T. B. Heall, Reporter. J. D. McNeely, Financial Reporter. A. Parker, Treasurer. Dr. E. Rose Dorsett, Chaplain. J. G. McConaghey, Guide. Trustees.—T. F. Klutz, D. A. Atwell and J. Sam'l. McCubbins.

Prof. W. H. Neave has returned from Newark, N. C., where he has been teaching a band. Their Second Grand Concert came off on Thursday evening, Oct. 25th. Prof. Neave was the musical director, and was assisted by a corps of young ladies. He says in all his travels he has never found in any place young ladies, vocalists, equal to those in Salisbury, though generally, he has been fortunate in this respect. Prof. Neave's name appears as composer in six pieces on the programme of the above named concert.

The Irish Potato.—This excellent is doubling itself this year. Mr. H. G. Miller has left at our office as fine a lot of Irish potatoes, grown from seed raised this spring as we have ever seen from spring planting. They grew from seed accidentally left in the ground when the spring crop was dug. Nor is this an isolated case. We know of several instances of the same kind, and it is probably general throughout this section. We advise gardeners to try the "volunteers" which have sprung up where the early potatoes were planted. In our own garden they are splendid.

The Irish potato is a wonderful vegetable any way: We have known it to sprout, bear small leaves and potatoes as large as marbles, in the crack of an old house 3 feet above the ground, with no earth to help it, but with the sun beaming upon it each day from 3 o'clock until night. We leave it for others to discover the utility of facts like this, but there is no doubt they are worth something.

We have tried Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup in our family, and can assert that it is the best remedy for a cough or cold ever introduced. Price 25 cents.

A young but enthusiastic democrat of this place went to Washington two weeks ago, to try the office market. He was sure the best thing in the government was waiting for him there, and all he had to do was to go and say I'm ready to take it. A surging crowd of eager, anxious men was rushing past his hotel door next morning after his arrival. He watched them for a few moments, and followed with his eye, the long string up and down the street, then turning to his friend at his side exclaimed, "Major, who in thunder are these excited men?" "Office-seekers," was the calm reply. "Well by thunder I'm going back to my butchering pen—good-bye." And thus it happens we have an active, energetic man filling a useful place at home again. Who will go next?

Sol. Smith Russell and his musical stars, gave an entertainment in Meroney's Opera Hall last Tuesday night. We are sure that the entertainment was what it was represented to be, if not more so. For Russell we can say what Rogers said: "There is nothing the matter with the boy—the boy is all right." The singing was of the higher order—really artistic. There was no putting on of airs, frisking about, and cavorting around with the arms, and more, every word could be distinctly heard, no mumbling in that respect, and they did not try to sing loud enough to knock the far end of the hall out. We have heard singers who were evidently trying to shake the foundations of the building in which they were singing.

Our people were pleased with the company and would greet them in greater strength should they come again. They had a good house—raining as it was.

NOTICE TO DRUGGISTS and STORE-keepers. I guarantee Shriver's Indian Vermifuge to destroy and expel worms from the human body, where they exist, if used according to directions. You are authorized to sell it on the above conditions. David E. Foutz, Proprietor, Baltimore, Md.

PERSONAL POINTS.

The Leading Men of the Synod of North Carolina—Who They are and How They Appeared at the Meeting in Charlotte.

Aside from the importance which attaches to every step taken by so influential a body as the Synod of North Carolina, whose meeting has just adjourned, and apart from the interest which the members of the Presbyterian Church feel in all that's said and done, an outsider, so to speak, can find much to entertain him in the proceedings. The personnel of an assembly of many of the most distinguished scholars, deepest thinkers and best and wisest men of the State, cannot fail to interest, and will fully repay study. Among the prominent members of the body might be mentioned

REV. JACOB DOLL, the stated clerk of synod. Of benignant countenance and portly mould, with a thorough knowledge of parliamentary usage and precedents in ecclesiastical bodies, there is hardly any one more prominent and useful in the meetings of synod, his position as the stated clerk giving him official duties requiring his presence and attention.

REV. JOHN DOUGLAS, of Steel Creek, in this county, was chosen moderator. He is doubtless well known to our readers, as one beloved and useful. Of dignified deportment and commanding presence, the type of the old fashioned gentleman, with staidness of manner and decision, he was well suited for the honor to which he was elevated.

REV. JOS. R. WILSON, D. D., the honored pastor of the First Presbyterian church in Wilmington, was a member of the synod. He was always heard with interest, and seemed to have an un-failing fund of humor. Dr. Wilson is a man of distinguished appearance and courtly mien, with finely chiselled features, and a face quite English. His sermon on Sunday morning, and his speeches in synod, were characterized by felicity of diction and ease of manner. He has occupied many prominent positions in the Church, as professor in various colleges and in Columbia Seminary, and as pastor of large and influential city churches. He is now the stated clerk of the General Assembly.

REV. J. HENRY SMITH, D. D., did not occupy much of the time of synod, yet is well known as one of the most faithful and laborious pastors in the synod, and one of the most effective preachers. His charge is in Greensboro, and his church has vastly grown in numbers and influence since he has entered upon the work. Dr. Smith is very genial and entertaining in the social circle, and his society was very much sought.

REV. NEILL MCKAY, D. D., was one of the most effective speakers of the synod. Possessed of a vigorous mind and with earnest and impetuous delivery, he always produced a striking impression.

REV. A. D. HEPBURN, D. D., President of Davidson College, made a most favorable impression, not by speech-making, for only once, and then solicited, did he make any remarks, and that too, concerning Davidson College; but by his courteous demeanor and genial manner. Unassuming and gentle when he appeared before his expectant audience, he seemed of such slight form and youthful appearance, that there was a feeling of surprise and prepossession. But it was soon apparent that his high reputation was well deserved.

There were some venerable ministers present, hoary and honored, who, though not entering into debate, were nevertheless observed. Among them, Rev. T. N. Paxton, Rev. Hector McLean and others. There was some disappointment felt that other aged ministers, widely known and warmly esteemed, were not present. Among the younger ministers present who merit passing mention, were Rev. H. G. Hill, of Fayetteville, Rev. B. F. Marable, of Hillsboro, Rev. L. McKinnon, of Concord, Rev. J. F. Latimer, of Davidson College, Rev. S. H. Chester, and others. We need not say to our readers in this city that our own ministers honored themselves and their homes.

RULING-ELDERS. Among the laymen present, there were many respected and useful citizens in their town or country homes. Chas. G. Yates, Esq., of Greensboro; Prof. J. R. Blake, of Davidson College; R. I. McDowell, Esq., of this city; John B. Burwell, Esq., of Peace Institute, Raleigh; and many from the churches in this and the adjacent counties were present and added to the worth of the assembly, if not by frequent speeches, by their counsel, elsewhere their presence and their votes.

REV. D. M. SMITH, D. D., of Union Theological Seminary, Virginia, was one of the corresponding members. He has a wide reputation for scholarship and varied learning, and made a most entertaining and interesting address on education. He has been for nearly twenty-five years professor of Oriental Literature in a theological seminary, and seems good for many years of service.

REV. JOHN N. WADDELL, D. D., LL. D., was present, and is one of the most distinguished ministers of the Church. For many years he was President of the University of Mississippi, which position he surrendered to serve the church as the Assembly's Secretary of Education. Though below medium weight, he is a man of fine presence and noble countenance, with dignity and impressiveness of manner as well as of thought and made a fine impression by the two speeches he delivered in synod. Dr. Waddell resides in Memphis and is a member of that synod.

We might speak of many others of whose worth and influence we have learned by personal intercourse or by report, but have preferred only to speak of the general impression produced. The meeting of the synod is over, and they have left behind them pleasant memories. We hope they bear away as pleasant recollections.

IMPROVED METHOD OF WINTERING COWS.

Mr. Linus W. Miller, of Stockton N. Y., an experienced dairyman, advocates, in a pamphlet entitled "Meal Feeding and Animal Digestion," a system of feeding cows during winter, which involves the use of but three quarts of meal per day. He asserts that this amount of good Indian meal, fed under proper conditions, is more than the equivalent for all the good hay a cow can be coaxed to eat—that the animal does not need to have its stomach distended with a great bulk of woody fiber, which imposes upon the system a large amount of extra mechanical work both in the processes of digestion and mastication—that, in brief, bulk in food is not advantageous but, the contrary, and that nutriment in food governs the condition and health of the animal, and that condensation of nutriment is true economy. Mr. Miller has conducted physiological investigations into the functions of the four stomachs of the cow, whence it appears that meal follows the same course as herbaceous food, while it also digests more thoroughly than when the energies of the stomach are divided between meal and coarse herbage.

Whatever may be the correct theory in this regard, results of actual practice appear to bear out Mr. Miller's views. The report of a committee, appointed to examine into the system by the Western New York Dairyman's Association, shows the following facts: The examination was conducted upon Mr. Miller's herd of Chautauque county native cows, the average live weight of which was 900 lbs. The herd were fed exclusively upon corn meal for seven weeks, each animal, according to its digestive capacity, making an average of about three quarts of meal per day for each cow. The animals did not ruminate, did not manifest so much desire for food as cows fed on hay alone in the usual way, a little less than they will eat, showed no signs of unrest or suffering; and at the time of going back to hay, the cows had neither lost nor gained flesh. After returning to hay, their stomachs filled and ruminating went on normally, healthy calves were dropped, and when turned to grass the animals took on flesh faster than those wintered in the usual way. Their daily yield of milk 29 lbs. 3 ozs., or 1 lb. 11 ozs. in wintered in the usual way. They are comparatively more than that of any other herd sent to the same cheese factory.

As regards the economy of meal feeding, Mr. Miller points out that one bushel of corn, ground and tilled, will last an ordinary sized cow of 900 lbs. weight, 12 days; and is equal to 240 lbs. of hay. Corn at 60 cents per bushel is therefore the equivalent of hay at $5 per ton of 2,000 lbs., and where it can be had at that rate the cost of wintering the animal will range from $7 to $10, according to coldness and length of the foddering season. But hay as a rule costs at least $10 per ton, and frequently more. Hence the estimated saving by meal feeding is placed at from $5 to $20 per animal, according to the respective prices of corn and hay.

Scientific American.

The Cunard Company are constructing a new steamer to run between New York and Liverpool—the Gallia—of 5,000 tons, which will be built on a plan they intend to use on all new transatlantic liners—namely, the carrying of several watertight bulkheads to a deck 5 feet or 6 feet above water line. The Gallia will have seven of these bulkheads, and will consequently be divided into eight watertight sections. It is hoped that the bulkheads will be found really watertight if the emergency should arise.

SLOWLY BUT SURELY.

The mill's of the god's grind slowly but they grind exceedingly fine, when the application is made to the ex-officials of South Carolina. Noble little Carolina has been crushed, her citizens have been oppressed, and her laws have been ignored. The State was one of the last strongholds of Radicalism. Carpet bag rule meant public plunder. Of all the officials who held sway in South Carolina previous to the last election; and during Radical reign, not one but is either a fugitive from justice, or is a condemned criminal. Ex-Treasurer Carlizo is in jail, his own colored surety has surrendered him to prison. Ex-Governor Moses has been in prison and now has turned State's evidence. Ex-Senator Sawyer is a convict; Senator Patterson is hiding from criminal indictments found by his own political party. Ex-Auditor Nagle is a fugitive. Ex-Treasurer Parker is seeking to soften the rigors of the law by confessing against himself and associates. Ex-Governor Chamberlain trembles as the chain is being welded about him. Verily, the way of the transgressor is hard. It is stated by a traveler through the State who had been in the habit of visiting it frequently, that the good feeling which a change has produced in the State affairs is of such a marked character that one would hardly know that it was the same State. The people have regained hope, and have gone to work, and undoubtedly will prosper again as of yore. It is said that even the negroes are happier, and are more disposed to do something for themselves. They begin to realize that they must go to work and depend upon their own industry for a support.—Transcript and Messenger.

THE FORTUNES OF THE OBELISKS. The Egyptian obelisk, whose launch we discussed last week, narrowly escaped total loss while on its voyage to England. So severe a storm was encountered off Cape Finisterre that the towing steamer Olga was obliged to cast off from the obelisk craft, and after removing the crew from the latter, to leave it to its fate. Six men were lost during the transhipment. The deserted needle drifted seaward, and finally was discovered by the English steamer Fitzmaurice, ninety miles north of Ferrol, Spain, and taken in tow again. The Fitzmaurice was bound for Valencia, and hence the travels of the famous stone will probably be prolonged.

The sister to that above referred to has been presented by the Klievide of Egypt to New York city. As we noted last week, it was proposed to defray the expense of transportation across the Atlantic by public subscription, but this course has since been rendered unnecessary by the magnificent offer of a well known citizen, whose name is as yet withheld, to bear all the expense, amounting to $100,000, himself. This proposal has been accepted, and we understand from the New York World that the contracts for the removal and shipment of the stone have been signed. At present the question is being discussed where the obelisk is to be erected when we get it; and opinion seems to be about equally divided in favor of established it in the center of Madison Square, between 23d and 25th streets, on Fifth Avenue, or in the park into which it is proposed the site of the present distributing reservoir on 42d street and the same avenue shall be converted, after demolition of the now unnecessary reservoir.

In view of the distribution of Egyptian obelisks over the surface of the earth, one being in Rome, another in Paris, another in London, and another in New York, it has been humorously suggested that the archeologist of a dozen centuries hence will be vastly puzzled to account for the wonderfully wide contemporaneous dispersion of the Egyptian race, which will be indicated by the localities of its monuments.—Scientific American.

THE COMING WINTER.

Astronomer Royal Smyth, of the Royal Observatory, Scotland, says that the coming winter is going to be exceedingly cold. From the observations of earth thermometers over a period of thirty-nine years, he finds that between 1837 and 1876 three great heat waves from without struck Great Britain; namely, the first in 1846-5, the second in 1858-9, and the third in 1868-7. The next one will probably come in 1879-5, within limits of half a year each way. The periods of minimum temperature, or greatest cold, are not in the middle time between the crests of these three heat waves, but are comparatively close up to them, on each side, at a distance of about a year and a half. Hence the next cold wave is due at the end of the present year, and very frigid weather may be looked for.—Ib.

BETTER TIMES.

The evidences that the hard times have spent their force and that a steady improvement in all branches of business has begun, are now too plainly to be seen on every hand for the most despondent to doubt their existence. The last bugbear of the farmers, the fear that the corn would be ruined by the frost, has now ceased to alarm, as for the most part this crop is too far advanced to be seriously injured, even if cold weather should set in at once, as is not at all probable. As to the harvests generally, they have perhaps never before been equalled; so that the farmers are ensured a good return for their labors, the working masses are afforded food at moderate prices, and the great avenues of transportation are crowded with the eastward flow of the harvests and return flow of the comforts and luxuries which are sent in exchange. As no small encouragement, we may mention also the fact that our national currency has reached the highest figure it has known—the difference between it and gold having been quoted the other day at less than 3 per cent—so that there is little fear of the terrible results which have been predicted by some in case of specie resumption. One of the very best features of the whole outlook is the fact that the railways have ceased to cut each other's throats, and are all charging reasonably remunerative rates for the immense business which is pouring in upon them. As a consequence, their earnings are showing a marked improvement and afford the cheering hope that the companies will not only be able to pay their employes living wages, but that they will gradually become profitable to their proprietors.—Railway Age.

Now and Then.

It is only now and then that such men as Hon. Alex. H. Stephens, Ex-Gov South and Ex-Gov. Brown of Ga., endorse a medicine for the throat and lungs, and when they do it is with good evidence that the remedy must be good for the cure of coughs, colds and lung affections. They recommend the GLOBE Flower-Corn Syrup, and their testimonials are to be seen round the ten cent sample bottles of the Globe Flower Syrup, for sale by Theo. F. Klutz. A sample bottle relieves the worst cough and will cure sore throat. Regular size bottles, fifty doses, $1.

A Very Good Reason.

The reason why only one sample bottle of MERONEY'S HEPATINE for the Liver will be sold to the same person, for ten cents, by our Druggists, Theo. F. Klutz is because of the enormous expense of importing the Hepatine into this country; but as there are fifty doses in the large size bottles, it seems two cents per dose is cheap enough after all for a medicine that cures dyspepsia and liver complaint. All who have not had a sample bottle are entitled to one for ten cents at Theo. F. Klutz's Drug Store. Three doses relieve any case of dyspepsia, constipation, indigestion or liver complaint, in the world. Regular size bottles, fifty doses, 1.00.
