

PARIS, France, has contributed $12,000 for the relief of the yellow fever sufferers in the U. S.

Capt. Crawford thinks the Landmark is better at "drawing a long bow" than fair inference. His card contains no "bid" for any nomination.

The Democrats of Nevada have, in Convention, adopted the hard money platform and demand the removal of all restrictions on silver.

The Charlotte Observer is out in a new and very attractive dress. It is one of the best newspapers in the State and deserves to prosper, and we are glad to witness this evidence of its success.

The President of the Howard Association at Memphis, has sent to Mr. J. Allen Brown a formal acknowledgement of the $300 raised here last week for the relief of the yellow fever sufferers in that afflicted city.

The canvass in this District is progressing quietly, or at least we have seen nothing to the contrary. The candidates are at Pine Creek, in Yadkin or Wilkes county to-day, and will be at Chesnut Hill to-morrow.

Gen. J. M. Leach, of this State, was at York, South Carolina, Monday, and addressed an audience of 2,000 persons. The occasion was a county convention for nominating candidates, and the General was there on invitation.

SECRET, the cold-blooded wife and child murderer on trial in McDowell Court last week, has been found guilty, and was sentenced by Judge Gaudin to be hanged on Friday, the 15th November, proximo. His counsel took an appeal to the Supreme Court.

The Republicans of Connecticut, in Convention at Hartford, Sept. 24th, adopted the hard money platform, demanding that the legal tenders be paid in the standard money of the world, and all currency be redeemable in coin at the will of the holder, and that coin and currency be kept at par with the gold standard of the world.

The New Hampshire Republicans are in great fear of losing the State in the Fall elections. They are waiting for funds. The Republicans can't do anything in elections without money.

Iowa is also announced as doubtful. The loss of Maine has taken the starch out of the Republican party all over the country, and wailing is the best relief they have.

The white republicans of the second District have set to work to take down O'Hara, the negro candidate for Congress, and they are likely to succeed. The fact is the white republicans are the devoted friends of their colored allies only so far as the latter will vote to put one of them in office. Col. Lot Humphrey it is said wants the candidacy and the seat in Congress. If we are not misinformed the democrats of the District intend to make a hot fight against these republican wog-ties.

The Massachusetts Democrats who were unwilling to accept the nomination of Benj. Butler as accomplished at Worcester, heretofore described in this paper, held their adjourned meeting in Faneuil Hall, Boston, yesterday, and nominated Judge Abbott for Governor and adopted the hard money platform. There seems, however, to have been much disorder and dissension to some of the proceedings of the convention, so that on the whole it may be said that the Democrats of Massachusetts are in a rather bad way.

THE YELLOW FEVER continues its ravages in all the cities and towns along the Mississippi river—at New Orleans, Port Gibson, Vicksburg, Water Valley, Holly Springs, Grand Junction, Memphis, Canton, &c. There were hopes a few days ago, that there was some abatement of the disease, but subsequent reports of deaths do not sustain it. The terrible scourge continues, covering all with the deepest gloom. In some instances it has spread into the country, which is rather an unusual occurrence. There should be no relaxation of efforts to relieve these stricken communities.

Desperate and lying efforts are being made by the radicals at Washington to accomplish the defeat of Mr. Scates in the fifth District. It is to be hoped his democratic constituents will see in these vile attempts to deprive them of a noble representative, renewed cause to increase their efforts to secure his election. They have accused him of encouraging illicit distillers to violate the laws. The charge has been denounced as a lie, and any man of common sense must know that Mr. Scates could not be guilty of such folly. He may be opposed to the internal revenue laws and desire their repeal, and he may have denounced some of the practices of the revenue officials; but no man of sense will believe that he counselled resistance to the law, or in any wise encouraged men to attempt such resistance.

The largest cotton mills in the world are those at Naryn in Russia, on the Gulf of Finland, eighty-one miles from St. Petersburg. One company there owns 400,000 spindles. The "Harmony" Mills of Ohio, N. Y. having 275,000 spindles, are the largest in the United States.

DEATH OF A CAROLINIAN IN MISSISSIPPI.—The news reaches us from Statesville that Mr. Frank B. Stockton, a native of that town, but for ten years past a citizen of Memphis, has fallen a victim to the yellow plague in that afflicted city. This is a mournful intelligence. Mr. Stockton was a gentleman in the prime of life, aged perhaps about 38 years. He was endowed with unusual talents and graduated with distinction at our State University. After the war he read law with the late Judge (then Col.) Mitchell, and shortly after receiving his license married a daughter of the late Hon. Landin C. Haynes, of Memphis, and moving to that city, formed a law partnership with his father-in-law. He continued the practice of his profession after the death of Col. Haynes, about six years ago, acquired prominence at the Memphis bar and enjoyed a lucrative practice.—Char. Observer.

WHICH OF THE TWO?

The people of this Congressional District have the right to be represented in Congress—in the House of Representatives, and it is their privilege to choose whom they will have to represent them, and it is their duty to select from those before them the one who will, in their best judgment, most faithfully and capably represent them. Practically, there are only two to choose from. Scates and Tourgee. Col. Winston's chances not being among the possibilities, humanly speaking, it is possible that men who give the subject that calm consideration that will enable them to vote intelligently can hesitate? Is there a man, of whatever politics, who will earnestly contend that Tourgee feels that sympathy, that identity of interest with our people that Tourgee does? Can it be pretended that Tourgee has better judgment and the capacity to be of more service to us than Gen. Scates? Wherein has Gen. Scates ever proven faithless, in peace or war? Take his record as our Representative, scrutinize his votes and point out an error if you can. For the moment let us forget all that Tourgee has in the past said and done against the good name and reputation of the people he now aspires to represent; and let us concede his earnestness and honesty and faithfulness, and what could he do for us? He belongs to that class known as carpet-baggers, who by their acts, have earned the hatred of the Democratic party and the contempt of Republicans. Were he elected should he prove the one exception to the rule, and turn out faithful and honest, (since Joe Turner has become the Republican candidate in the Fourth District, we entertain propositions of the remotest possibility,) he could accomplish nothing. He would have no influence anywhere. But leaving possibilities out of the question and coming down to near probabilities, if not absolute certainties, would not Tourgee, with his opinions and feelings towards our people be an absolute curse to us, as our Representative? Better for our district that we should have no Representative. The evil he would inflict upon us would only be limited by his power to do us harm. He improves every opportunity to complain of the treatment he has met with at the hands of the very people for whose votes he is now asking. His feelings are embittered towards us, and he takes little pains to conceal it. He is not in sympathy with the wants of our people. Upon questions of public policy he holds opinions contrary to what we verily believe to be our interests. In a word we do not believe he has the power or will to be of service to us, as our Representative, in the Congress of the United States, while we know that Gen. Scates has both. It must be one of the two, which shall it be Tourgee or Scates?—Atlantic Gleaser.

SOME FACTS AND FIGURES.

Many people with hearts made sick by deferred hopes of better times are disposed to fret at the delay of promised Democratic reforms. In their impatience they overlook the fact that one branch of the Government is in Democratic possession, and that its efforts to restore prosperity are neutralized by the other two. How this is done will be made plain to impatient people by the citation of a few facts.

In 1874, 1875, and in the short session of 1876, the Republicans had the House. The appropriations for 1877, 1878 and 1879, were made by a Democratic House—though a Republican Senate had to be fought hard and long to yield a cent of retrenchment. The Republican appropriation bills, and the Democratic appropriation bills as passed by the House for the years named, areas follows:

A CHAMPION MARRIER.

NEW YORK, September 18.—A month ago Mrs. Billings, a reputable German woman of this city, answered an advertisement for a housekeeper. Her letter was responded to by a man who gave the name of Franz Eckstein. He said he had much money, and displayed some valuable diamonds and titles to real estate. He hinted that he wanted a wife as much or more than a housekeeper. Mrs. Billings, struck with his appearance and polished manners encouraged his advances, told him she was not without means and asked him to call again next night. He did so, and they were married. Two days afterward he made an excuse to be gone from her, and soon after she received a letter from him saying that he had failed to receive some money he had expected; would she send him some? This she did, sending a large amount. She had previously given him money. He did not return. To-day she was summoned to the District Attorney's office. Going there she was given a seat near five other women, who were also waiting. Soon two Deputy Sheriffs entered. Eckstein was between them. The six women exclaimed: "Why, there's my husband," and all advanced toward him. It turned out that under different names he had victimized the entire six, and a seventh, who was not present, in the same manner. He chose widows who had a little money, and cheated them out of it as quickly as possible.—Philadelphia Times.

"A TIME OF TROUBLE."

We find in one of our exchanges an article that appeared two or three years ago in a journal called the Science of Health. It contains a most alarming prophecy in regard to the raging of famine and pestilence in many portions of the world. Read in the light furnished by the sad events of the last two years, and it is well calculated to make thoughtful men ponder who is said. The famine that have ravaged so fearfully in China, India, and other portions of the world, and the pestilence now developing so many victims in our dear South, give a decided color of probability to what was said three years ago.

We will copy a few paragraphs from the article referred to, and wish men may reflect and draw their own conclusions. The Science of Health said, and mark you more than two years ago:

"There is anything in the science of Astrological Science, we are approaching one of the most pestilential periods in the earth's history. Since the commencement of the Christian era the perihelion of the long great planets of the Solar System—Jupiter, Saturn, Uranus and Neptune—have not been coincident. But this is about to occur, and in the language of the human race, to the perihelion of these planets, there will soon be a heavy shower of meteors, the destruction of crops and fruits, famine in many places and pestilence among human beings and animals."

"Dr. Knapp has collected a mass of statistical data, all going to show that pestilential periods have always been marked by unusual mortality, and that sickness and death have invariably corresponded with the number of planets in perihelion at the same time. 'The revolution of Jupiter around the sun is accomplished in a little less than twelve years; of Saturn, in a little less than thirty years; of Uranus, in about eighty-four years; and of Neptune, in about one hundred and sixty-four years. If it is true, therefore, that the perihelion of these planets occasion atmospheric conditions unfavorable to life, pestilential periods should occur in a dozen years, epidemics at longer intervals. In tracing the history of epidemics for more than two thousand years, Dr. Knapp finds the facts in all cases to validate this theory. Thus, in the sixth, and again in the sixteenth century, three of these planets were coincident in perihelion, and those were the most pestilential times of the Christian era."

Mr. Sam Dickson, the Durham capitalist and engineer, contemplates building an elevated railway between Durham and Chapel Hill. He will build it high so as to get over the hills.

Some one asks why is not the decayed curb around the capitol square replaced by one of granite? It was ordered some two years ago by the Legislature, but the stone curbing is put there and that convicts do the work. The delay seems rather unaccountable.—Observer.

Tornado in Michigan.

CINCINNATI, September 21.—Additional advices from the tornado which visited Michigan yesterday, state that a store at Peatwater was demolished, killing Mrs. Griffin. At Greenville the Baptist church was blown down, killing a workman. A despatch from Chippewa station says every structure in that place was swept away. Many persons were seriously injured.

The New York Sun says it is unwilling to trust Gov. Hampton with a high office because he honestly and conscientiously engaged in the Confederate war against the United States. It prefers men who never honestly engaged in the "rebellion." The Sun is a nice paper for Southern people to patronize while it abuses honest Southern leaders, and is unwilling to trust honest men.—Charlotte Democrat.
