WE invite attention to the letter of Dr. Wilmington Star on the Western N. C. speeches are highly commended. Railroad, and the internal improvement policy of the State. No one doubts the wisdom of building up a seaport town in Dr. Hawks, as Mr. Foard writes, was the author of the idea of a central road from East to West, with latteral branches at suitable points, pouring down the trade of the whole State into a city on the sea. It was a capital idea, and had it been commenced even at the time the State realized by the State. Wilmington, had gia. it been the eastern terminus, (or Beaufort), would by this time have been commervery little doubt of this, but is it now practicable? Our present system of roads bill. is certainly not tending to build up a seaport of our own. They were laid out with reference to accommodating stockhelders, reaching the best markets, and carrying passengers, and stand in the way of the system of improvements originally conceived but never fairly commenced, unless the Western N. C. Railroad, the road from Fayetteville to the Coal Fields and the road from Goldsboro to Beaufort may be considered as forming parts of that scheme. The road from Wilmington to Charlotte does not answer to it, because it is not sufficiently central. If the original idea is yet practicable, the easiest and quickest and cheapest way to realize it would be by a road from Salisbury to the Coal Fields in Chatham, and thence via Fayettville to Wilmington, or directly to Goldsboro, and thence to Beaufort. And as it is never too late to orn terminus most likely to realize the best | Railroad, the grand trunk road from the nity to contribute to it. East to the extreme West, and realize, not only the ancient conception in regard travel than our fathers ever dreamed of. Passing by the most direct route and connecting with the railroad system of Tennessee, it will be the shortest distance from Memphis to Baltimore and the Northern cities, and will present to passengers the most attractive mountain scenery of any road in the Atlantic States.

And yet, it must be observed that Wilmingfon is already in railroad connection with the Western N. C. Railroad, by means of the N. Carolina to Goldsboro' and thence by the Wilmington and Weldon; and by the Carolina Central via Charlotte to Statesville, which latter is very direct. If Wilmington derives no benefit from these connections with the W. N. C. Railroad, would she be benefited by a connection from Salisbury via the Coal Fields and Fayetteville? If not a pound of freight reaches her from the W. N. C. Railroad, which her people have generously helped to build, must not the cause be sought in the usual law of trade? Produce will seek the best market, and there is no way to coerce it into channels against this governing principle. How can the W. N. C. Railroad be made tribntary to any point on our sea coast, nuless that point attracts the produce passing over it by superior prices, or unless the low rates of freights shall give it the advantage over other markets?

Taxes, State Debt and Public Schools .-All these subjects are of high interest to the people; and just now as the General Assembly will soon meet, it is a good time to talk about them. The taxes are high enough-just about as high as they can be borne. If no way can be found to compromise the State debt and put it within the power of the poople to keep down the interest, it will have to go on increasing from year to year until "times get better," or the debt be forgotten, or the State becomes hopelessly insolvent. More money is demanded for public schools, and the State has not another claim upon her of greater importance. Here is an opening for the introduction of the "bell punch." Several hundred thousand dollars might be gathered by this means without distressing the hard work-
