

A Wreched Village.
I write this from a country village containing about 1,000 inhabitants. It is a lovely little town, nestled on a side hill to break off the raw winds of winter and the hurricanes of summer. When I arrived this morning it seemed to me as if there could not be a bad man or a scolding woman in the village, but four hours have passed, and I am a wiser man. I came here to see old Mrs. Brown about a pension she wants from the government, and when we had finished our business, I said:
'I see you have churches here.'
'Yes, but we never have any sermons worth listening to.'
'The men look intelligent and smart.'
'Humph! They are regular pokes! There is not a man in Farmville who knows enough to even ask boot in a horse trade.'
'But the women look happy,' I protested.
'Then they look what they ain't,' she answered. 'I don't believe there is a happy woman in the whole village. If you only knew of the awful carryings on here you would not look for very happy wives.'
'What awful things do the men do?'
'You'd better ask what they don't do. It is a wonder to me that Farmville hasn't shared the fate of Sodom and Gomorrah.'
'Do they drink?'
'Do they? Didn't I see even old Deacon Harris weaving this way and that as he climbed the hill last evening? It's a slippery path, of course, but sober men don't climb a hill sideways.'
'Do they gamble?'
'Gamble! What did Mrs. Potts tell me that her brother's wife told Mrs. Davis not a month ago? Four of the leading men in the place were caught playing checkers for soda water. That's a nice example, isn't it?'
'Is Mrs. Potts nice?'
'Nice! Why, she's the worst gossip in town! It's a wonder the men don't duck her in the mill-pond.'
'And Mrs. Davis?'
'She's a hypocrite! She'll talk sweet to your face, and abuse you behind your back.'
'Mrs. George is well spoken of.'
'By whom? I've known her fifteen years, and I never heard a human being speak well of her! She eats opium and lies like a trollop!'
'Isn't Mrs. Henry all right?'
'All right? Why, no one can live in the house next to her.'
'The postmaster seems a good man.'
'I ventured to remark.
'Good man! Why, my husband always believed he was the very man who threw a yaller dog down our well. I do not say that he steals letters, but I know that when I sent two three cent stamps in a letter to my daughter in Illinois, she never got it.'
'But there must be one good man in town?'
'There must, eh! Well, I wish you'd pint him out to me. I'd like to polish up my spectacles and take a good look at him.'
'And is not there one faultless woman?'
'Well, I don't want to seem vain and conceited, because none of us are long for this world, but I expect I'm the faultless one you are inquiring after.'
'I think I shall go out on the evening train. Mrs. Brown says that every business man is ready to 'bust,' and every family has at least one scandal about them. On my way over to the post office an hour ago I asked a grocer if he knew old Mrs. Brown.'
'Know her! Why she's a gossip, a liar, a hypocrite and a dead-beat, and too lazy to change her stockings more than twice a year.'—M. Quad.

people have been in part removed to this place. No lives were lost there, but the village is completely washed away. Water and ice to the depth of twelve feet lie across the village site. The ice probably choked up the channel of the river a short distance below Yankton, turning the great volume of water across the lowlands on the Dakota side and causing it to flow eastward thirty miles before it re-enters the old channel at Vermillion, a point on the river bank which is reported carried away with the loss of thirty lives. This report needs confirmation. The river at this point is about six miles in width. Its surface is covered with broken ice. Further east a few miles the water broadens to fifteen miles retaining this width without exception for forty-five miles.

A Dissolute Earl.
The Earl of Lonsdale, who recently arrived at New York in his yacht, is characterized by the Times of that city as a nobleman of that class which brings no credit on his order. Ever since succeeding to a princely heritage, at an early age, he began to run a riotous course, taking no part as a legislator or any interest in the estates from which he derived his income.—He married a daughter of the late Admiral Lord Herbert—a professional beauty—in spite of the opposition of her brother Lord Pembroke, who refused to attend the wedding. The married pair entered on a course of extravagant dissipation, and between them they found an income of four hundred dollars insufficient for their needs, and were forced to sacrifice some of their effects to settle up their debts.

The W. N. C. Railroad Injunction Suit.
The Charlotte Observer of the 7th, says: The restraining order granted to W. J. Best by Judge Eure, preventing the meeting of the stockholders of the Western North Carolina Railroad at Salisbury on the 24th of March, was made returnable before Judge Seymour at Wilkesboro to day, when it is expected that the argument for a permanent injunction would be heard. Maj. C. Dowd, one of Best's attorneys, stated yesterday, however, that the case would not be argued, and that Mr. Henderson had gone to Wilkesboro simply to make a motion for a postponement.
'Then you will not insist on the permanent injunction?' asked the reporter.
'Well, we are ready to argue the case, and the whole matter will come up at the Rowan court. We succeeded in preventing the meeting of the stockholders, which answered our purpose for the present.'
'Well, but can't another meeting be called? There is no injunction at-to-day to prevent it, is there?'
'No injunction; but the law requires thirty days' notice for a stockholders' meeting, and before that time expires we can prepare ourselves.'

INJUNCTION DISSOLVED.—It is learned through private sources that Judge Seymour, at Wilkesboro court, dissolved the injunction against the Richmond and Danville Railroad on a restraining order granted by Judge Eure to W. J. Best. This action was anticipated by Best, as stated yesterday morning in this paper. The case to decide the cost and other matters comes up at Rowan Court.—Charlotte Observer.

TWO COUNTIES.—Says the Raleigh Farmer and Mechanic: A glance at the United States postal report shows many funny things. There is, for instance, an old county, formerly famed as perhaps the most cultured, certainly the wealthiest, county in North Carolina. It has but one postoffice. The county is New Hanover—the postoffice is Wilmington. There is another county, which by nature is the wildest, and in population one of the thinnest of our counties; yet the good people of Wilkes have thirty-seven offices, and we wish they may soon have a dozen more.

REPUBLICAN TAFFY.—Harrisburg, Pa., April 7.—The Republican caucus resolution, endorsing the course of the Republicans in the United States Senate, was passed in the State Senate to-day by a party vote. Senator Gordon, Democrat, moved to amend by inserting a proviso that the resolution should not be construed to endorse the bargain with Mahone, but it was defeated after considerable debate.

ALCOCK'S POROUS PLASTER

A Curative Host in Itself.
Thirty year's experience has firmly rooted Alcock's Porous Plaster in public estimation. Their wonderful adaptability to the various symptoms of disease is a marvel to medical men of all schools. For nervous persons and lunatics, one or more applied to the spine produced sleep when opium, even hydrate of chloral, had been of little service. Now, when one cannot sleep, it is the common practice to apply a Plaster to the back. You scarcely touch the pillow before you are sound asleep. Alcock's Porous Plaster has the curative effect of the Spanish Fly blisters, yet make no sore, and never affect the kidneys; and are convenient for all ages and conditions, usually only producing a "blush" on the skin, and more certainly curative than liniments or blisters, and without prostration or pain of the latter. This is true even in Croup, Quinsy, Pleurisy, Lung and Throat Affections, and the utility of this curative invention has been warmly welcomed. They are largely sold in every part of the world, and it is believed that not less than five hundred thousand persons are well, and attending to the duties of life, free from pain, through the use of Alcock's Porous Plaster, some of whom would otherwise have perished. In fact, Alcock's Plasters supply an atmosphere like that from balsam or pine woods, and no doubt attract ozone. When contagious or infectious diseases are about, they should be worn on the chest or back as prophylactics.

THE ALCOCK'S POROUS PLASTER cures pain, reanimates torpid limbs, seems, in many cases, to revive the powers of life. The great demand proves them to be used as a universal remedy. They are convenient of application, and safe for all, being incapable of producing any inflammation. Dr. Valentine Mott, Dr. Johnson, of Hartford, and Dr. Myers, of Savannah, have spoken of them in the highest terms. The great Mott said: "They were all that could be hoped for in a plaster—simple, clean and adhesive; perfect as artificial supporters of the muscles; and for pains, because of their counter-irritant qualities, usually at once giving ease." Local weakness of the back, breast and side, always benefited, thus curing lumbago in a few hours, sometimes in a few minutes. In serious heart and chest affections their use causes an absorption of evaporating matter, by which dropsy of the heart and hydrothorax have undoubtedly been cured. They appear to have a peculiar effect upon the nervous system, allaying irritability while supplying nutriment. They seem to accumulate electricity and aid in the circulation of the blood through the part where applied, by which healthy actions are induced. The Porous Plasters are flexible, and found of great help to those who have weak backs or pains in the side. Especially are they valuable to those who have neglected colds. They are often preventives of consumption; and they are believed to have loosened the grasp of this terrible affliction, and had been mainly instrumental in effecting a cure. In variable climates they should be worn on the breast, or between the shoulders and over the kidneys, by those who are subject to rheumatism. This simple plan will soon produce constitutional vigor that will enable one to resist extraordinary changes of temperature. Experience has proved the Porous Plaster to be a blessing to the consumptively inclined, invariably producing the most remarkable abatement of the worst symptoms.

A NEW KIND OF WATCH CASE.
Now because it is only within the last few years that the Watch and Jewelry business has reached every one; old in principle because the first invention was made and the first patent taken out nearly twenty years ago, and cases made at that time and worn ever since, are nearly as good as new. Read the following which is only one of many hundreds of your Jewellers can tell of similar ones:

I have a customer who has carried one of these Patent cases fifteen years and I knew it two years before he got it, and it now appears good for ten years longer. C. F. LOWE.
Remember that Jas. Ross is the only patent case made of two plates of solid gold one outside and one inside covering every part exposed to wear or sight, the great advantage of these plates over electroplated cases is every one knows. Ross is the only patent case with which there is given a written warrant, of which the following is a facsimile:
