Save The Fruit.

Few of us understand the immense value of the fruit crop of a great fruit growing State like North Carolina. The present crop, carefully handled, would add tens if not hundreds of thousands of dollars to the wealth of our people. The dried fruit of East Tennessee last year was estimated as high as a million of dollars. Our territory is much larger, and our fruit is said to be more abundant and better. In order to induce our people to care for it, we quote the present New York prices for dried and evaporated fruits. North Carolina dried apples and peaches command a higher price than those of any other state quoted:

Dried apples from 6 to 8 cents per pound; dried peaches, choice, peeled, 19 to 20 cents per pound; dried plums, Southern, 11 to 12 cents per pound; dried cherries, Southern, 17 to 18 cents per pound; dried raspberries 29 to 30 cents per pound; dried blackberries 14 cents per pound; evaporated apples, peeled, 10 to 13 cents per pound; evaporated peaches, peeled, 33 to 35 cents per pound.

Owing to abundant crops prices may be lower, still it will pay to save every pound of our immense crop. It will sell well peeled and carefully dried, better nicely evaporated and still better canned by the new process, valuable information in regard to which will be given at the meeting of the Fruit and Vine Growers' Association to-day. It is a significant fact that North Carolina fruit commands the highest prices in the market.

Mr. William H. Oliver, of Newbern, in a communication to us estimates the cost of starting a canning establishing, outside the use of an ordinary steamer boiler, not to exceed $500. He says the boiler of any cotton gin or saw mill can be used and suggests, that a few of those persons interested in each neighborhood, take the necessary steps at once to start a cannery. We are informed that a small establishment of this kind, in a neighboring State, last year made $8,000 in as many weeks.

Mr. Oliver says that single counties in Maryland have over three hundred of these canneries. Let our people investigate the different modes of saving their fruit at once and adopt that which they think will be best under all the circumstances. In some way let each save all the fruit or berries under their control.

It may be that small canneries will prove more remunerative than small distilleries. Let us have the figures.—News-Observer.

A LARGE VEIN DEVELOPED.

Mr. J. C. Wiswell, the recent purchaser of Sheriff Alexander's gold mine, has been at work developing the mine and has come to the conclusion that he has met up with a bonanza. At no place is the vein less than four feet in width, while its greatest width yet developed is twelve feet. Three assays of the ores have been made. The first lot showed $11.37 per ton; the second $97.14, and the third 113.68, making an average yield of $74.06 per ton. The mine has been christened the "Arlington Gaurantee," as its owner guarantees a certain return to each stockholder. The vein is one of the largest known in this country and as the assay shows, is worth working. This mine is located near the old Capps mine, about six miles from the city.—Char. Obs.

Haywood White Sulphur Springs,

one mile from Waynesville, N. C., has natural attractions equal, if not superior, to any in the South. It has an altitude of 2,716 feet, and is in the midst of the great Balsam Mountains, ranging from 5,000 to 6,425, all of which are of easy access and from two to ten miles distant.

The hotel is situated on the banks of Richland creek, a beautiful, dashing trout stream, in a most charming valley, as free from malaria as the Rocky Mountains. It is surrounded with extensive grounds of shade and lawns. The scenery from the hills on the premises is extensive and beautiful, with shady walks and pleasant drives, while the whole surrounding country is most inviting to those in search of health or pleasure.

The medical properties of the waters are of remarkable value in chronic diarrhoea, dyspepsia, and diseases of the liver and kidneys and cases of general debility.

Mr. Joseph D. Rhen, of Newbern, has cleared $20,000 already this season on his truck farm, and others are similarly happy.

No outbreak has occurred in Egypt

although the situation is exceedingly critical. England suspects the good faith of the Porte. Four additional English war vessels have been ordered to Alexandria. Arabi Bey claims that the Khedive is already deposed, and that Prince Halim will succeed him. The bankers at Alexandria are reported to be sending away their specie and valuables.

William Penn said that the true end of life is to know it never ends.
