Senate and House.
Both Branches still Pegging Away at the Tariff.

Haskell, of Kansas, moved to strike out the word eleven, and in all cases of doubt as to the classification for the duty of the imported article, such article shall be classified at the highest rate of duty. Agreed to.

This provision was put in the bill through a clerical error.

On motion of Morrison, of Illinois, the clause repealing sections 2,907 and 2,908 revised statutes, was inserted in this part of the bill instead of in the concluding sections as proposed by the committee. (These are the sections for duties on commissions and charges.)

White, of Kentucky, offered an amendment providing that upon the re-importation of articles, the growth, product or manufacture of the United States, upon which no internal tax has been assessed or paid, there shall be levied, collected and paid a duty double instead of equal as provided by the bill to the tax imposed by internal revenue laws upon such articles. He said that the provision of the bill was an attempt which went far to convince him of the truth of the statement made on the floor last year that there seemed to be an understanding between some special tariff men and some special whiskey men, which was doing no benefit to this country and a good deal to the Republican party. He challenged a denial of his assertion that it was an attempt to do by indirection what could not be done in a straight forward way. The bonded extension bill had slipped through the House in a method which was infamous. Then the discussion branched off from the question of the tariff and was addressed to the question of the whiskey tax.

White's amendment was lost 15 to 136, and the consideration of this paragraph was passed from.

Cox of New York, offered an amendment for the importation of ships under a duty of 20 per cent, ad valorem, pending which the committee rose, and the House then, at 5:20 p. m. adjourned.

THREE RUNAWAY HUSBANDS.—The Steel Creek settlement, this county, has been exercised the past few days over the unaccountable disappearance of three men of that township, all of whom left families behind them, besides a lot of unpaid debts. Messrs. E. M. Crowell, Samuel Crowell and Anderson Brown are the men and they all left last week without giving a word of warning or stating their intentions. The first named wrote a letter home from Pulaski, Florida, but since then nothing is known of his movements. The other two men have not been heard from at all. All three were most respectably connected and were in good standing with their fellowmen. What motive they could have had for thus decamping is not known. Their wives and families are in great distress about them, and in the meantime their property has been levied upon to secure their debts.—Char. Observer.

Long visits, long stories, long essays, long exhortations and long prayers seldom profit those who have to do with them. Life is short. Moments are precious. Learn to condense, abridge and intensify. We can bear things that are dull if they are only short. We can endure many an ache and ill if it is over soon, while even pleasures grow insipid and pain intolerable if they are protracted beyond the limits of reason and convenience. Learn to be short. Lop off branches; stick to the main facts in your case. If you pray ask for what you would receive and get through. If you speak, tell your message and hold your peace; boil down two words into one, and three into two. Always learn to be short.

A little incident, illustrative of the attachment that formerly existed and still exists between the old Southern servant and his master, was witnessed on the levee yesterday. On the arrival of one of the packets from Baton Rouge, Gov. S. D. McEnery was seen descending the stage-plank leading an aged negro with one hand and carrying his carpet sack in the other. The incident attracted the attention of a reporter, who discovered that the old man had formerly belonged to the McEnery family and was blind. The Governor was leading the faithful old servant, who had probably directed his young master's footsteps in early childhood.—New Orleans Times-Democrat.

THE TOY PISTOL.—The toy pistol killed four boys in Tennessee. It generally costs from $200 to $3,000 to raise a boy to the toy-pistol age, and the chances are that if this infernal plaything is continued in use the investment will turn out a dead loss, to say nothing of the undertaker's bill. One of them ought not to be allowed in the country and every man who sells one of them should be indicted for assault with intent to murder and made to answer before the court. In several States bills have been introduced excluding both the manufacture and the sale. It would be wise if such a law was enforced throughout every State in the Union.

The Coinage of Silver.

The letter of Secretary Folger, laid before the House of Representatives yesterday, in reference to the immense accumulation of silver coin, which the government is helpless to put in circulation ought to be sufficient to convince the most obtuse that it is time to discontinue the coinage of silver. In the last four years it has cost the government over $105,000 merely to build vaults to store its surplus silver; $8,208 of this amount was expended to build a vault in the sub-treasury at Baltimore, and this vault and the others which have been built at New York, San Francisco and Philadelphia are filled to their utmost capacity. Thirty-five hundred tons of silver, more than $120,000,000 is now on hand, and it does not seem that any method can be devised to get rid of it, unless the plan pointed out in a petition which was presented in the Senate some years since by Mr. Howe, now the post-master general, be followed. The petition, which came from Iowa, asked that there be paid out from the treasury a dollar a week to every man woman and child in the country. The adoption of this plan would empty the treasury of all its silver in about three weeks, and it would be just as sensible as to continue silver coinage.—Wash. Cor. Baltimore Sun.

The New York Sun of day before yesterday very plainly intimates that some of the Northern Senators got drunk during the tariff debate on Monday evening. The Sun, in a double-headed paragraph, says:

If night sessions of the Senate are to be adopted at Washington for the remainder of this Congress, they should be opened with a proper exhortation on the Maine law. The first experiment on Monday evening last had at least one cheerful sign in proving that sectionalism had gone out from this body, and that chivalry was national. If anything our Southern brethren were quite outshone on that occasion by Northern professors of temperance and reform.

Legislation on whiskey is apt to mix things at times, but it is not usual for the duties on wire fencing and rods to upset brains in the land of steady habits.

Salisbury Cor. Charlotte Journal.

Everybody get ready to grossly insult everybody else. Valentine's day is close at hand, and those vulgar, witless, idiotic libels that give evidence of your own skulking, skunky disposition may be had. However, those of us who desire to conduct ourselves with becoming decency, and preserve our self-respect, and who wish to send graceful compliments to friends, can find them ranging in price, from those that would forever ruin a ten-dollar bill, to easy reach of the impecunious copper cent, at the usual places.

Three times three, and one time more for our Mayor and the Palras Conservati, for they have taken the charter fully in hand and our bonds will be placed on the market. Henceforth the blue crane will pass over on his way to Raleigh, and the mournful cry of the lonely bittern will no longer swell in dolorous echoes thro' our streets. And that old Dodo, the water works, will possibly have a recumbent Neptune in bronze placed over its cavernous mouth. In other words, the spirit of public improvement has struck us, instead of the dog-fennel, and we are going in for a spring clean.

Richard Skahan, sometime answering to the sobriquet of John Kelly, has moved his family to Asheville, where he will take charge of the business establishment of Hallyburton & Co. We will miss Dick at the approaching Mayor's election, as he knew more about the registration books than any other living man, and at the polls if there was a weak spot about the ballot, his challenge was a certainty. We can recommend him to the Democrats in his new home as the best worker we ever saw.

A woman named Catherine Bernerson, shot and killed a little girl named Maggie Carlette, aged 12 years, in Philadelphia, on Wednesday evening, because she annoyed her by playing in the street near her house. According to Stalwart logic this makes all the people of Philadelphia lawless semi-barbarians, whose wives and daughters use the pistol upon any poor little child who happens to annoy them by unpleasant noises.—Charlotte Journal.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 1.—The secretary of the treasury to-day issued a call for the redemption bonds of the five per cent, funded loan of 1881 continued at 3 1/2 per cent. The call is for $15,000,000 and notice is given that the principal and accrued interest will be paid at the treasury on the first of May next and interest cease that day.

A snow-storm prevailed in Minnesota Tuesday which at the latest advices, had not abated. All freight trains on the Northwestern lines were blocked. No passenger trains arrived at St. Paul yesterday, and but a few sent out.

A Bride For a Night.

A dispatch from Halifax Court House, Va., dated January 27, says: "Last night Mr. James Guthrie, a prosperous young farmer, was married to Miss Hulda Martin. A large company was present at the wedding, which was solemnized at the residence of the bride's father. Owing to bad weather the guests remained at the mansion all night. This morning, when they had assembled at the breakfast table, it was remarked that the bride and groom were late in coming. Suddenly the shrieks of a woman were heard, and the startled guests hastened into the hall, where they met the bride of a night, who cried: 'My husband! Oh, my husband!' When she awoke this morning she found her husband dead by her side. She is almost insane from grief.

SELECTING A WIFE.—Who marries for love takes a wife; who marries for fortune takes a mistress; who marries for position takes a lady. You are loved by your wife regarded by your mistress, tolerated by your lady. You have a wife for yourself, a mistress for your house and friends, a lady for the world and society. Your wife will agree with you, your mistress will rule you, your lady will manage you. Your wife will take care of your household, your mistress of your house, your lady of appearances. If you are sick your wife will nurse you, your mistress will visit you, your lady will inquire after your health. You take a walk with your wife, a ride with your mistress, and go to a party with your lady. Your wife will share your grief, your mistress your money, your lady your debts. If you are dead your wife will weep, your mistress will lament, and your lady wear mourning. Which will you have.

The latest we have seen about the tariff reduction not reported in our telegraphic columns, is the following from the Richmond State's letter from Washington. It says:

"Mr. Beck and the other opponents of the Finance Committee's Tariff bill, were jubilant yesterday over the action of the Senate on the metals schedule. Aided by Ingalls, Van Wyck and McDill they beat the extreme protectionists on the general result of the struggle. Vance tried, but failed, to reduce the duty on railway bars. He succeeded, however, in carrying the reduction on steel rails from $17.92 to $15.68 per ton and this result makes an ugly break in the Morrill bill. The iron and steel men are discouraged at the turn things have taken, and unless they can restore the situation, say they will try to beat the bill."

The Democrats are making a good record at Washington. They are standing together admirably for a lower tariff and vote right—centre shot every time. Neither of the two tariff bills now undergoing discussion can give satisfaction to the country. They are in some particulars much worse than the existing law which has been absurd from a toizzard as the most villainous compound ever prepared for the lips of a free people. We cannot credit that the Republican leaders are in earnest in their protestations of reform when they offer such unacceptable measures for Congressional action.—News and Observer.

Six years ago the Empress of Germany announced that she would thenceforth decorate with a golden cross every female servant who had passed forty years of her life in the same family. An official list, published with the beginning of the present year, shows that the receipts of this royal favor number for 893. This is a result such as perhaps no other country in the world could show. In the United States instances of such relations existing for ten years are almost phenomenal.

The Raleigh News & Observer makes the following sensible suggestion: "The drug-gists, we think, ought to move on the Legislature to require that certain dangerous and poisonous drugs should be kept only in triangular bottles. If anything is to be done in this matter, now is the time." We are sure that any well drawn bill on this subject, meeting the approbation of the drug-gists, would receive the favorable consideration of the Legislature.

The Republicans are trying to work up some excitement on the stock-law question in adjoining counties. They have failed on some of their hobbies in the past, and as a last resort the attempt to prejudice people against a decisive step of progress is made simple for political effect.—Daily Journal.

Richmond State: Secretary Folger deserves the thanks of the public for his new nickel. It's so near the size of a "quarter" and looks so bright and silvery, that the keenest-eyed deacon, and they are generally near-sighted, fails to detect it when carefully placed in the collection plate.

A dispatch from Matamoros, Mex., says a party of bandits, led by Jesus Banacar, were attacked Sunday near Juan, Jalisco, by rural soldiers under Captain Lemon. The bandits were defeated, losing eleven killed. Six soldiers were killed, including a brother of Captain Lemon.

SUNSET COX made some very smooth remarks in a running debate on the castor-oil tariff a day or two ago, which seemed to operate well on the House.—Charlotte Journal.

It is hoped that the work of the Tariff Commission is viewed with pride by the honorable commissioners themselves. No body else has a good word for it.—Wash. Post, Dem.

A snow-slide started from the summit of Ruby Peak, Colorado, on Monday night, and rushed down with fearful velocity to the bottom of the gulch, carrying with it all the buildings connected with Ruby Chief, the Howard Extension, the Hakes and the Durango mines. Eight men were carried down, buried in the snow. One was dead when taken out, and two others are not expected to recover.

It is announced as though it was a great hardship, that the Star Route defendants, Brady, Dorsey and Valle have had to pay out more than $75,000 each in the course of the trial but that is only a small percentage of what they got out of the Treasury, and according to the present outlook they would be glad to refund it all to keep out of the penitentiary.—Wtl. Star.

Philadelphia Record: Senator Vest, of Missouri, is also one of the advocates of tariff reform in the abstract. When it comes to zinc, which is an "infant" industry in his State, he wants the largest protective duty he can get. The Senate is full of his kind of tariff reformers, and that is the reason why the prospect of a substantial reduction of duties in the interest of taxpayers is so small.

The failures in the United States are steadily increasing. For the week ending November 11, 1882, the number of failures was 149. They had even fallen to some 118 in another week. Last week they had risen to 274. Of these 73 were in the South. If something is not "rotten in Denmark" then failures are no sign.—Wtl. Star.

That a very large Asbestos mine has been opened in Burke county by a Northern company.—That another company of Northern men have opened a productive mineral mine, from which they draw and ship to Northern markets one ton of garnets per day. Burke is on a boom.—Daily Journal.

A number of persons in this county have tried the experiment this season going West to get relief from financial embarrassment. In every case it has proved an unfortunate step for the debtor and a good one for the creditor, as all their property left behind has been swept by executions in attachment.

The Wilmington Star, in a well considered article on the reclamation of our swamp lands, concludes thus:

"In no other State but North Carolina would 250,000 acres of the richest lands on the continent have remained so long unreclaimed."

The committee on agriculture of the Massachusetts Legislature has under consideration the offer of a bounty for the destruction of the English sparrow. It is asserted that nearly half of last year's apple crop in Massachusetts was destroyed by sparrows.

Greensboro Patriot: An Iredell farmer, assisted by two mules and one hand made last year 21 bales of cotton, averaging 450 pounds to the bale, 375 bushels of corn, a fine crop of oats and a plenty of wheat to do him.

Advice to a Young Man.

I think my boy, that just about your age is the time for you to learn what you are good for. And when you have found out what it is, go at it. I want to see you at work.

"I have no secret," said Turner, the great painter, "but hard work."

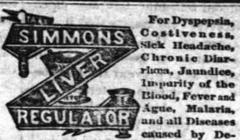

"Nothing," said Mirabeau, "is impossible to man who can will. This is the only law of success."

"There is but one method," says Sydney Smith, "and that is hard work."

"The difference between one man and another," said Dr. Arnold, "is not so much in talent as in energy."

And do you direct your energy in your work. Don't be diffusive in concentration. A handful of powder scattered on the ground make a great smoke when fired, but nothing more. It is the few ounces compressed in the blast of a gun-barrel that counts for something when it goes off. If you are a lawyer, a physician, or a carpenter, and make up your mind that you will know as much about one particular line or branch or specialty of your profession or trade, you do well. Because, if you know as much on any point as any other man surely as the heavens are above us, you will know much more about it than thousands, and immeasurably more than millions of other men, and this makes you an authority.

Be ambitious as you will, but be ambitious in some particular direction. You can make any sphere of labor honorable. A good honest, earnest man can shovel sand with credit to himself and profit to his employer, and honor to his country. Many a good blacksmith and harness maker have been spoiled by schools of law and medical colleges; and let me tell you, Telemachus, right here, that society, your country, humanity and God need good carpenters and shoemakers and stone cutters and farm hands, more than poor doctors and poor preachers and poor editors. If you have to choose between a poor lawyer and a good deck-hand, be a good deck-hand every time.

SIMMONS' LIVER REGULATOR.
For Dyspepsia, Costiveness, Sick Headache, Chronic Diarrhoea, Jaundice, Impurity of the Blood, Fever and Ague, Malaria, and all Diseases arising from a Disordered Liver, Bowels and Kidneys.

SYMPTOMS OF A DISEASED LIVER.
Bad Breath; Pain in the Side, sometimes the pain is felt under the Shoulder-blade, mistaken for Rheumatism; general loss of appetite; Bowels generally constipated, sometimes alternating with laxity; the head is troubled with pain, is dull and heavy with considerable loss of memory, accompanied with a manifest anxiety of mind, and a nervousness which is sometimes attended with a flushed face is sometimes an attendant, often mistaken for consumption; the patient complains of weariness and debility; nervous, easily startled; feet cold or burning, sometimes a prickly sensation of the skin exists; spirits are low and despondent, and, although satisfied that exercise would be beneficial, yet one can hardly summon up the courage to try it—in fact, distaste every remedy. Several of the above symptoms attend the disease, but cases have occurred when but few of them existed, and yet examination after death has shown the Liver to have been extensively diseased.

It should be used by all persons, old and young, whenever any of the above symptoms appear.

Persons Travelling or Living in Unhealthy Localities, by taking a dose occasionally to keep the Liver in healthy action, will avoid all Malaria, Bilious attacks, Dizziness, Nausea, Headaches, Depression of Spirits, etc. It will improve the quality of wine, but is not intoxicating beverage.

If you have eaten anything hard of digestion, or feel heavy after meals, or sleeplessness at night, take a dose and you will be relieved.

Time and Doctors' Bills will be saved by always keeping the Regulator in the House!

For whatever the ailment be, a thoroughly safe, purgative, alterative and tonic can never be out of place. The remedy is harmless and does not interfere with business or pleasure.

IT IS PURELY VEGETABLE.
And has all the power and efficacy of Calomel or Quinine, without any of the injurious after effects.

A Governor's Testimony.
Simmons' Liver Regulator has been in use in my family for some time, and I am satisfied it is a valuable addition to the medical science.

J. G. S. SIMMONS, Governor of Ala.

Hon. Alexander H. Stephens, of Ga., says: "I have derived some benefit from the use of Simmons' Liver Regulator, and wish to give it a further trial."

"The only thing that never fails to relieve me of my most distressing symptoms, Liver Affection and Debility, but never finds fault with it, and I would send further for such a medicine, and would advise every man similarly affected to give it a trial as it seems the only thing that never fails to relieve me."

M. J. JONES, Minneapolis, Minn.

Dr. T. W. Mason says: "From actual experience in the use of Simmons' Liver Regulator in my practice I have been and am satisfied to use and prescribe it as a purgative medicine."

Take only the Genuine, which always has on the wrapper the red Z Trade-Mark and Signature of J. H. ZIEGLER & CO.
