The community is to be visited by a Humpty Dumpty show.

Rumor says we are to have another Tobacco Warehouse—three in all—good.

A number of our merchants have returned from the northern markets, and are displaying their spring and summer goods.

Miss Annie Brown having resigned her place as a teacher in the Graded School, Miss Minnie Halyburton was, on Saturday, elected to fill the vacancy.

PLYMOUTH ROCK.—Some thief entered the premises of Mr. R. M. Davis and stole four of his fall-bird Plymouth Rock chickens. The chickens were 8 months old and weighed 10 lbs each.

Preparations are being made for big tobacco day on the 4th of April. The Fisher Street Warehouse will open on that day, and Klutz's Warehouse will have a full floor. A number of buyers will be here. Good prices will prevail.

The business prospects of Salisbury seem to be improving in a steady and permanent manner. Some gentlemen are contemplating erecting a large tobacco factory—this is only one of the contemplated enterprises.

New Firm—McCubbins & Murphy—Mr. J. S. McCubbins and Mr. Thomas Murphy—have formed a business copartnership and will conduct the mercantile business at the old Murphy Corner. Mr. D. K. Julian has sold out his store in Jones Street and will do business with this new firm.

Dr. J. F. Griffith has begun work on a new residence and Dental offices on the corner of Jones and Church Streets. He will have the most handsome and convenient Dental rooms in the State. Mr. James D. Smith, late of Winston, is the contractor. He has lately removed his family to this place. Mr. L. H. Clement has secured him to erect a residence for him on Ellis Street.

EASTER BALL.—The third annual Easter Ball, given by the young men of Salisbury, has passed and is a pleasure to be remembered. The affair was the most brilliant ever in Salisbury for many a day; a large number took part. The dresses were very handsome and rich, presenting a most pleasing effect to the eye of the looker on. The large dining hall of the Boyden House afforded ample room for three sets at a time. Quite a number of visiting ladies and gentlemen present. Mr. W. S. Blackmer's Orchestra furnished the music.

From the Charlotte News and Courier: "Rob. A. Hewlette's Humpty Dumpty, at the Academy of Music last night, attracted a large audience, and the entertainment was voted on all sides as a grand one. A number of new features were introduced, including songs and dances, feats on the horizontal bar, wire walking, etc., the whole forming a fanciful melange which brought forth frequent and hearty applause."

A CHARMING PARTY.—Last evening, Mrs. F. E. Shober gave at her residence an elegant party to Miss Fanny Shober, her youngest daughter. The occasion being Miss Shober's sixteenth birthday. A very large assembly of the young people of Salisbury, and some visiting ladies and gentlemen, were gathered to celebrate the occasion, and the fair Debutante reigned with a sweet and simple grace.

The table was a rare artistic beauty: in the center a large plate mirror formed a lake, on which toy ships trembled, and toy swans were swimming, the banks were most grown, on which toy boys and girls were lolling; some fishing with toy rods, and some imitating mother Eve, by gazing into the lake at their own shadows. It was a miniature picnic scene, beautifully wrought, and was much admired, while the more substantial part of the feast was being served.

The fiddle and banjo in Caffey's hands furnished music for the dancing in the hall, which did not interfere with conversation in the parlors and "on the stairs."

For the Watchman.
MR. EDITOR:—The time for the town election is near at hand, and as questions vital to the future progress and prosperity of Salisbury, are to be decided and if the people consider them favorably, to be carried out under the administration of the town officers who shall be elected on the first Monday in May, it seems important that we should begin to look about us for a suitable man to fill the office of Mayor for the coming year. Should a majority of the voters of the town be in favor of the bonds, their sale, and the management of the funds derived therefrom will devolve upon the next Mayor and Board of Commissioners. It is important therefore that we select men of integrity and business capacity.

We need a Mayor who understands the laws and has the firmness and backbone to enforce them in every instance no matter who may be the violator. In view of the facts stated it seems to me that the most suitable name that can be mentioned for the office of Mayor is Lee S. Overman, Esq. As a legislator he has made a name of which his friends feel proud, and I feel sure that he has such talent, energy and determination as will enable him to fill the office, if elected, in such a way as to bring credit to himself, and give satisfaction to all concerned. MINING.

T. K. BRUNER, MANAGER.

DEVELOPMENT AT THE NEW DISCOVERY.—They are down 85 feet on the main lode. In the bottom they have a flesh colored quartzite in slate binding which pans free gold. The vein lying on the hanging wall is heavily sulphuretted. They have a 50 ft. level driven 242 on vein. A win in the centre of this level 16 feet deep, shows exceeding rich ore. They have two rises or back stopes from this same level, about 27 feet. Mr. Jas. C. McCandless the Supt. has shipped 42 tons to the Desiguello Plant, with results varying from 22 to 45 dollars.

They have begun the erection of an improved Desiguello Plant, which they hope to complete in 40 days.

The outlook in mining circles is brightening up as spring opens. We notice on the streets and at the Boyden House quite a number of capitalists and gentlemen interested in mining. Among them are: W. A. Campbell, Colorado, S. S. Houston, New York, Judge F. W. Hughes, Pa., Dr. H. R. Rogers, Rocky River, Hon. Benj. Wilson, West Va., Col. D. R. Davidson, Pa., Col. Thos. Anderson, Thomasville, Geo. Richards, England, J. J. Newman, Dutch Creek, H. B. Meach, New York, Rob't. Linn, Ohio, F. H. McDowell, New York, (firm of Becket & McDowell), Wm. B. Sylvester New York, (gathering miners to go to Honduras). A party of gentlemen from Boston, who are interested in the "Southern Belle" and who contemplate purchasing other property in this country: Jerome Prince, M. E., Dr. A. P. Lightell, Gov. C. W. Wellington, Hon. H. F. Haskins, Gen. A. F. Sinker and Com. J. M. Brown.

GOLD HILL.—Forking the water from the Randolph shaft is the absorbing work. They hope to have it dry by next month. Lifting the water from a 750 ft. shaft with 900 feet of drift and stoping ground open, is no child's play.

The 20 stamp mill is going at full capacity, stamping ore from the Old Field mine. This portion of the Gold Hill property is opening in full accordance with the anticipations of the company; and contains some marvelously rich ore. Assays of samples taken by Col. Cochran to London, ran from 2 to 900 oz. per ton. The latter being from one of the rich streaks which occur frequently in the lode. In the deepest point, the lode is 3 feet wide.

They have struck rich ore in several other places near the surface.

A GOLD MINE SOLD FOR $40,000.—The Barringer gold mine, located five miles from Gold Hill, in Rowan county, was yesterday sold to Messrs. H. B. Meach, of New York, and Rob't. Lynn, of Cincinnati. The price paid was $40,000 and the cash was plunked up by the new owners in this city yesterday. The Barringer is said to be one of the richest mines in Rowan county, and that it is, or is supposed to be, a valuable piece of property, is evidenced by the amount of money it took to buy it.—Char. Journal-Observer.

This announcement is a little "too precious."

For the Watchman.

Suggestions.
As many of the public school teachers of the county will not be engaged for some time, in the actual duties of the school-room, a little thought in the way of suggestions, we trust, will not be improper. There are some who are not subscribers to an educational paper. Allow me to say to such teachers, that you must by all means have an eye to the future. If you would be wise, act not the part of the sluggard in educational matters, but subscribe for an educational journal. There is no neutral ground for the teacher. Do you desire to enter the school-room next fall? We advise you to be wide awake. You can not give life to others unless you first live yourself. You must continue to drink from the pure fountains of intellectual light and knowledge. We say most emphatically, that the teacher, more than any other person, cannot afford to be without an educational journal. Avail yourself of every opportunity to secure the highest mental development. Once every month, every 2d Saturday, attend the County Teachers' Association. Many of our teachers do not fully consider the importance of this work. Come forward at the next meeting as it will be an important one. Be willing to assist others and at the same time be benefited likewise. Here we become acquainted with each other. Here we concert and enact measures which will enable us to grapple with and overcome many of the difficulties that beset the pathway of the teacher. Words of sympathy and encouragement are spoken and there springs up "a fellow-feeling that makes us wondrous kind."

Next, and none the less important, is our Teachers' Institute. Here a wide field is opened, and you have an opportunity to express an opinion in the decision of all questions pertaining to the management and discipline of the schools. You can have the satisfaction of imparting knowledge to others, should you be so fortunate as to have it, and you never will have it fully outside of the institute; and you can bear your humble testimony to the truth of the scripture, that "it is more blessed to give than to receive." We would forewarn you in this matter, in case the County Board make the usual appropriation. Full notice will be given in due time, and you should be ready. Normal instruction will be your next desire, and the ball thus set in motion will continue to roll until the schools open in the fall, when your pupils can "drink from a fresh fountain and not from a stagnant pool." L. H. R.

Notes & Observer: Anything under the name of culture touches Boston in a tender spot, and any kind of a "professor" is sure to be a lion there. Hence when Sullivan, the prize fighter, announced a benefit under the higher sounding name of an "Exhibition of Physical Culture," the city turned out to see him 20,000 strong, and the bruiser raked in about $25,000 as the financial result of his happy thought.

CAMALOTE CARR, CAMALOTE MINES, REP. HONDURAS, CENTRAL AMERICA, March 13th, 1883.

My Dear Thomas K.:
It is night. The mellow twilight has deepened. Night from her shadowy door has thrown her sable mantle round, and pinned it with a star.
After supper—we sup early—I threw my gun over my shoulder and walked over to the mine, thence up along the banks of a beautiful little river to a small lake, where the light of the dying day was glistening the water as it murmured musically over a lovely fall of some 32 feet. Here dwells an Alligator—æsthetic, you observe in his choice of a home—who generally shows himself at this quiet hour. I stood for some moments watching the aboriginal on the water, but the beauty and calm serenity of the hour and place induced other thoughts. I gave up Mr. Alligator, and returned to the cabin, singing on my way, "Home Sweet Home," the "Big Snuffbox" and "Empty is the Cradle." I only sing when I am sad. Arriving at the cabin I found a bag of poetic humor, I took from a bag (nailed to the cabin wall for the purpose) my writing machine, and proceeded to answer yours of February 10th, and also to thank you for other favors. Thomas! you do not know the beauty of a tropical night. It beggars my descriptive powers. It is so intense. It sends through me an awful feeling of solitude, and forces the full realization that home and friends are many miles away. One looks from nature to nature's God, and seems almost in communion with the brighter world, so strong is the feeling of reverential awe. But in the midst of all these beautiful thoughts, as you begin to go into your reminiscences of Quinine is $8.00 per oz. and one by one these beautiful things vanish, and you feel for your pocket book just as if some one had yelled "pick-pocket!"

On my arrival, a flock of parrots cascaded over the little river, and I shot at them; now I feel them. They are just a little tough, but their great fun to gnaw at them and think they are worth $5.00 each in the States. You know I am no hunter; but here it seems to be perfectly natural. The birds and animals are always under my feet tempting me. I assure you I never have a gun, and as it comes every day in sight of our cabin. The parrot, indian rabbit, (about four times the size of our hare) and a bird which resembles our partridge very much; and numerous other birds that I cannot call by name. Dear are plenty and frequently seen passing on the hills near our workings. Cattle are often killed by tigers in the neighborhood, tho' I have not seen one.
Ticks, fleas, mosquitoes, scorpions and the like, "do well," even here. Speaking of scorpions, our cook killed 15 in the kitchen day before yesterday. That night after I had retired, something fell from above into my hammock, without light it was a scorpion, and before you could have counted the ships in the U. S. Navy, I was out of that bunch of strings. Getting a light I found it was only one of those buzz-z bugs that plays around a pulpit light to distract attention when the preacher is in the best part of his sermon.

On Saturday we started a native boy off on a mule, with a load of drills, picks, &c. When he reached the top of Camalote Mountain, the animal slipped and down came mule and tools, a distance of 200 feet or more. How that boy did yell! And how those tools distributed themselves over the mountain! When we found the mule back, feet beating this air and wedged between two trees and a large stone. When extracted he shook himself up as if examining for broken bones. He seemed pleased with the result of the shake, and walked off bating his ears and trying to knock the moss off his back with his left hind foot. If that mule were in the States he'd get an appropriation from the pension fund, but here he is allowed to do and die for his country without hope of reward.

I don't know that I have written you about the dress of these people, at any rate, I shall say but little; for there's but little to speak of. In brief, it is mostly cheap and very flimsy. The better classes wear fond of large spurs and and bright buttons. A Palumn Car Conductor would pass for a Governor here. The poor working people generally wear pants, (if it is not too hot,) straw hats and leather sandals. The children don't wear at all. They always appear as beautiful unclad and free of nature. My modesty has often been shocked by the recklessness of the attire of country women—they wear low necked dresses, sometimes cut as low as the waist. Do you know, that notwithstanding the heavy burdens they carry on their heads, that they are really graceful in their carriage, always straight and erect. They have some queer customs—I was told the other day—this is how it was: An old woman, 60 or 70 years old called at the cabin and before I thought, or had time to get out of her way, she had embraced me! Think of it! But it is a custom here, and in some parts of Honduras, they tell me the young women do the same thing. I think of going into this section for a week or so, that is one of the interesting and novel experiences of this country.

I have discovered an ancient mound of rock and cement near the mine. The natives tell me it contains some kind of treasure. I have begun its exploration: have found some broken pottery and indications of its being an old grave. You shall know in my next what it contains. Can this not be a relic of the "mound builders" of the States? If so they have left marks so numerous, and at such distances as to indicate that they inhabited a very large area of country.

Fruit and vegetables grow the year through here, and are never out of season. I was struck with a garden in San Pedro, belonging to an accomplished German, who resides there with his family. His house is a typical, tropical bower. In front of the house, and in fact all around, are palm trees and a great many other trees, the names of which I cannot remember. A pet monkey plays in the garden, and with three or four beautiful birds. In the garden you find oranges, bananas, lemons, pineapples, coconuts and many other fruits that you would not know should I name them. Coffee, green corn, tomatoes, and all other garden vegetables were served at his Xmas dinner, to which the host, Mr. Kraft, had kindly invited me. (I made a full hand.) His plantation has on it 15,000 plantain and banana trees, also some 10,000 rubber trees, which will yield one dollar per tree per annum, when they are fully matured.

I have received an order from the Judge of Quimistan, to appear before the Judge of San Pedro, in regard to the goods stolen from me at my arrival. They caught the thief about a week after he had taken the goods, and recovered the goods at the same time, but I find it impossible to get possession, as they claim that a process of law must relieve them. Very truly yours, R. E. J.

Nothing New.

Mr. Factandancy has noticed—That the boy who is most afraid of the girls is the first to be courted into matrimony.
That the little boys prefer boys to girls.
That they soon change, never to go back to their early love.
That the little girls love the girls best.
That they don't get over their preference so soon as the boys do—some of them never.

That women love the men because they love everything they have to take care of.
That men love women because they can't help it.
That the wife loves her husband so well that she has no thoughts for other men.
That the husband so loves his wife that he loves all women for her sake.
That the married man is apt to think himself all killing among the fair sex simply because he has found one woman fool enough to marry him.
That homely husbands are the best.
They never forget the compliment paid them by their wives in accepting them.
That homely wives are the truest.
They know how to make the most of what they have.
That the man who marries late in life does well.
That the man who marries young does better.
That the man who never marries is to be pitied.
That the woman who marries does well.
That the woman who does not marry does better nine times out of ten.

OSIER WILLOWS.—The demand for basket willows in this country appears to be unlimited. We import a large quantity from Europe, and peeled willow is worth 10 cents a pound in New York. We have taken occasion several times, speaking of diversified industries, to call the attention of our people owning river and creek lands, or wet land, to the great value of planting osiers. We doubt whether at this time any orchard or crop will pay so well, leaving out the fact that lands too wet for cultivation can be used and made profitable. There are in New York little townships that produce over 1,000 tons of willows. Frequently this crop is sold green as cut and brings about $30 per ton, and this would clear $500 per acre or more. Now, we have another idea: What are called the false banks on James river are very rich and would produce osiers as thick as wheat, and of the best quality. This crop beside its money value, would protect the banks and thus prove doubly valuable. As soon as we produce willows and broom corn we shall have springing up in the villages basket and broom factories, just as sheep walks and cotton fields are insuring woolen mills and cotton factories.—The Nelson Examiner.

THE CHEROKEE INDIANS.—William P. Ross, the present chief of the Cherokee Indians, is a graduate of an Eastern college, remarkable for intelligence and culture, and a fine orator. The tribe occupies a reservation of 4,000,000 acres bounded on the north and east by Kansas, Missouri and Arkansas. The Cherokees of pure and mixed blood number 20,336, about one half of whom speak the English language, which is the only one taught in the school. In the entire male population there are but sixteen whose occupation is given in the last census as hunters and five fishermen, the great majority being farmers. There are 107 schools supported by the nation, a male and female seminary for advanced pupils and an orphan asylum. There is a regularly constituted government and an adequate administration of justice. In short, the Cherokee nation is not to be distinguished from a frontier State, except in the character of its inhabitants, their relations to the general Government, and their system of holding the land in common, which affords an interesting example of practical communism.

Judge Black has been interviewed by the Philadelphia Times on the Presidential and other questions. He was asked about Blaine. Here is his opinion of him and others.

"He has not the standing among political men he had a few years ago. Those who were his strong supporters then will not give him their strength. Edmunds has not a ghost of a show. The man who looks to me as the most prominent Republican Presidential candidate is Senator Conger, of Michigan. I have heard his name mentioned in a quiet way among prominent men. He has the elements of a leader. He is not an eloquent or brilliant man, but he has the stuff in him more than had Blaine and Garfield combined. Conger has no enemies. His party, both private and public, is clear. Are you a Republican? Then tie to Conger. Among the Democrats Hedricks is not a candidate. McDonald, a warm friend of mine, will, if he receives the nomination, be elected. But Hancock is my man. He has been honest, his life has been given to his country."

DEATH OF POSTMASTER GENERAL HOWE.—Kenosha, Wis., March 26.—Postmaster General Howe's illness was the result of a severe cold, contracted by walking half a mile through a bad storm at Green Bay Sunday before last. On his arrival at Kenosha, Monday the cold developed, into pneumonia. Dr. Isham, of Chicago, was called in, and under his care the patient improved, but on Saturday night a change for worse ensued, and the absent members of the family were sent for, his daughter arriving from Washington at 11 o'clock, Saturday night. Up to that hour he was conscious but his mind wandered after that, and at 2:30 p. m. yesterday, he passed away without a struggle. No arrangement have yet been made for the funeral, which will take place at Green Bay.

SUBMERGING PLANTATIONS.—New Orleans, March 26.—Noon—Officers of the steamboat Alexandria report that the water is pouring over the levee at Saucy plantation, covering the fields. This indicates that the flood levee below Bonnet Carré has been raised.

In the spring the trees will start a branch business.—N. Y. News.

NEW ORLEANS, March 26.—A Picayune Thibodaux special says the Urevasas have been closed and the town will soon be free of water. But little damage has been done.

Then fact that the Agricultural Department has done nothing to enlighten farmers on the important subject of trichine in hogs, as noted by our Washington correspondent yesterday, is the more remarkable because an alleged expert, Dr. D. E. Salmon, has been for several years employed by the Department to conduct investigations into the diseases of swine and poultry. No doubt he has drawn his pay regularly. Where are the results of his investigation?—Cincinnati Times Star.

CINCINNATI has been crushed again. One of our enterprising citizens attempted to run a little mint of his own, and was turning out half dollars and quarter dollars rather handsome appearance when the officers of the Government abruptly closed the concern and confiscated his crucibles. We venture that if they had given him half a chance, he would have improved on the new five cent piece.—Id.

SCIENTIFIC AND MECHANICAL.—A process by which plants can be manufactured from straw has been developed in America; and in Chicago a building six stories high and occupying an entire block, is being erected for the new industry. The board is manufactured by converting straw pulp into thin paper-like sheets, which are passed through a bath containing certain chemicals in solution. They are subjected to enormous pressure, and finally to a thorough drying process.

They think they have discovered in Portland, Oregon, the meanest man on the Pacific coast. Some benevolent ladies contributed money to buy a stove for a poor widow, and placed it in his hands. He made the purchase, but kept the new stove himself and gave the poor widow his old one. The ladies threaten to roast him on it.

The President will not take under consideration the question of a successor to Postmaster General Howe until after the funeral. Although the law is mandatory that an acting head of a department cannot act as the chief longer than ten days the President can at the expiration of the ten days, redesignate the same person who has acted to act an additional ten days, and so on.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 23.—A tombstone (Arizona) dispatch says this afternoon a report reached the city of a terrible conflict between cattle men and Mexicans, in which about six men were killed. It occurred at Merriam's ranch, at Barbacambi, thirteen miles from Fort Huachuca.

A courier from Charlestown states that a party, while engaged yesterday evening around some newly discovered coal fields, were attacked by a band of twenty Indians, without warning, and several were killed and the rest wounded. A party from Charlestown left this evening with wagons to bring the bodies in. The corner of this city left at 8 o'clock to hold an inquest.

Those happy days, "Don't you remember me?" "Can't you that I ever saw you before?" "Why don't you remember little Sammy Bamberg, who used to steal your peaches and break your windows twenty years ago, right here in Austin?" "Why, certainly, I remember you now. And I tanned your little hide for when I caught you." "You bet you did. Ah, those happy days will never come again."—Texas Siftings.

A company has been formed in this country to drain the valley in which is situated the City of Mexico. At the head of it is Dr. Loring, the Commissioner of Agriculture, and among the incorporators are several Southern senators. They have a valuable charter, which, among other things, entitles them to all the land they shall reclaim.

Goldsboro Messenger: A committee has been appointed by the Goldsboro Rifles to invite Senator Z. B. Vance to deliver his popular lecture, "The Scattered Nations," at the Opera House in this city during the month of April, for the benefit of the Confederate monument fund.

MARRIED.

At the residence of the bride's mother, in Litcher township, March 22d, 1883, by A. W. Klutz, Esq., Mr. John M. Roseman and Miss Laura Kirk.

DIED.

In Franklin township, of pneumonia, on the 21st inst., Miss Maggie E. Pinkston, aged 14 years.

The purest or fairest of the land Escape not the destroyers hand.

Annual Meeting!

SALISBURY, N. C., March 15th, 1883.

The Annual Meeting of the North State Iron and Transportation Company, will be held at the office of the Company in Salisbury on the 18th day of April, 1883, at 2 o'clock P. M., for the election of three Directors, and such other business as may come before the meeting. EDWIN M. MULFORD, Sec'y.

To Mine Owners and Mining Co's.

The undersigned are prepared to purchase ores of Gold, Silver, Lead, Copper, and Sulphur, in unlimited quantities, to be delivered at nearest rail way station, according to market prices. Cash payments. Contracts entered into for one to fifteen years. RICHARD POWERS & COMPANY, London and Swansea, England.

GOLD MINE

For Sale or Lease By AARON BARNS, 8 miles West of Taylorsville, Alexander co. Of this Mine Prof. KERN, State Geologist, writes: "The package of brown ore sent me contains a very good per centage of free gold. If the vein is of any considerable size it will pay well to work it." As far as developed the ore seems to be abundant. For information apply to A. C. McIntosh, Taylorsville, or on the premises to AARON BARNS, Taylorsville, Feb. 27, 1883. 29-31

FARMERS AND GARDNERS

LOOK TO YOUR INTEREST!

BROWN'S IMPROVED DISTRIBUTOR

IS JUST WHAT YOU WANT! WITH IT you can put out evenly and uniformly

Your Stable Manure, Compost, Muck, &c.,

ON EIGHT OR TEN ACRES PER DAY.

It is the cheapest and most efficient machine of the kind known, and will distribute broadcast, single drill or in two rows at once with and in any desired quantity. The farmer will, in one year, get back many times the price of the farm right and machine in the increased yield of his crop alone, to say nothing of money saved which he has been paying for fertilizers, and the permanent improvement of his land.

Read the following certificates from Louisiana planters, where the machine is invented and has been thoroughly tested for the last four years:

OTACHITA PARISH, LOUISIANA, July 20th, 1881.
This is to certify that we have used Brown's Patent Distributor, and can say EVERYTHING in its praise, as it distributes stable and barnyard manure, cotton seed, etc., evenly and uniformly, in any desired quantity, both in single drill and two rows at once any width. We further recommend it for its cheapness and simplicity, as there is not a piece about it but what can be had on every farm, which enables everyone to be his own repairer.
