Our merchants have generally returned from the cities and their stores are being filled up with goods.

The autumnal equinox set in on Saturday last—a cool, misting spell, sometimes as dark as to require the lamps to be light.

The graded school continues to grow, having now reached the number of 260 pupils—the largest ever yet enrolled.

The finance committee of the Knights of Honor, of this place, have now in their hands $2,000, ready to be paid over to the proper parties, for the benefit of the heirs of the late Capt. T. W. Lowrey, who was a member of this order.

Our young friend, Master Elliott Keith, recently in business in Lynchburg, Va., now on a visit to his sister, Mrs. W. H. Overman, of this city, we learn, has accepted a position in the great tobacco house of Mr. Blackwell in Durham, N. C.

Mr. J. H. West brought down from Bridgewater, Burke county, last week, the largest watermelon seen in this market this year. It weighed 62 1/2 lbs. It will probably be sent either to the Boston or Louisville Exposition.

We learn that the patent Portable Saw Mill which our enterprising friend, Mr. J. D. Stewart, of Dunn's Mountain Mine, promised to bring forward for the public benefit, has arrived; and that he will put it to work very soon, to fill orders already received.

The graded school committee have determined to recommend the enlargement of the school building, for the reason, that, early as it is in the school year, there are already eight seats less than enough to seat the whole number of pupils.

Kerr Craig, Esq., has been unanimously recommended to Gov. Jarvis by the Salisbury bar, for the Associate Justiceship on the Supreme Court Bench, rendered vacant by the resignation of Mr. Justice Thomas Ruffin.

Mr. Linn, of Cleveland, Ohio, with his attorney, together with Mr. Klutz and attorneys, are busily engaged in taking the depositions of parties and witnesses at the office of Capt. Price.

EDGEWATER FAIR.—We are in receipt of a ticket of invitation and circular of 3d Annual Agricultural and Mechanical Fair at Roneyhede, Tarboro, commencing on the 30th of Sept. and continuing to the 2d of October.

SELLERS BROTHERS SHOW.—This famous traveling exhibition, or rather series of exhibitions will exhibit at Salisbury on Thursday, Oct. 11th. It is known far and wide as the most extensive in the country, and wherever it has been it has secured the golden opinions of all sorts of people.

A GIRL'S FAMILY.—Of twenty-seven children under 15 years old belonging to the Cook family, in this county, twenty-three of them are girls.—Chatham Record.

All lands owned by Pejer W. Hairston in the counties of Rowan, Davie and Wilkes, are posted, and parties are warned not to hunt fish, cut timber or make roads or trails across said lands.

MINING.

T. K. BRUNER, MANAGER.

HOOVER HILL MINE, Sept. 25, 1883. Mr. T. K. Bruner, Dear Sir:—You will doubtless be interested to learn the result of our mill run for July, which was as follows: 378 tons ore crushed yielding 176 ounces of gold.

Our Exhibit.

BOSTON, Mass., Sept. 21, 1883.

The most welcome change here this week is the marked improvement in attendance. It is more than double that of last week. The indications are that when the great system of excursions, which is so arranged as to not only accommodate all New England, but sections more remote, shall pour in their thousands, the attendance will amount to a throng.

Next we come to the copper ores, some twenty-five bright specimens, varying from lean ores to the highest grades of prill and gray copper.

Next we look at the marbles—a table full of nicely polished specimens—all colors; black, white, dove, rose and variegated, very attractive for all ornamental work.

Piedmont Press: The most gratifying revival of religion ever known in Hickory is now in progress at the Methodist church. The meeting will probably continue some time and result in great good.

The protracted meeting at Henson's Chapel on Cove Creek, is still in progress and has continued for nearly three weeks.

An unpleasant reminder. That good Democrat, Capt. Theo. C. Evans, one of the bravest men who handled a musket or a sabre during the war, has this to say in his paper, the Milton Chronicle, about Pat Winston, Jr.:

In 1874—'75 Pat Winston beat us for Reading Clerk of the Senate. The patriots of the Democratic party thought us much injured with Republicanism. We don't know what they thought of Jim Hill of Stokes, who also ran, except that he fought through the war as a private, plowed a stub-tail ball at home, and had a wife and six small children to scuffle for.

Mr. S. G. Worth is back from Cape Lookout, where he has been for some weeks collecting specimens of our fish. He reports seeing a curiosity in the shape of a catfish in the net failed. Had it been caught he would have taken it to Boston. It was apparently about ninety feet long.
