Face to Face with a Lion.

Diedrich Muller, of his hunting time in South Africa, presented upon one occasion to come very suddenly upon a lion. The lion did not attack him, but stood still, as though he would have said: "Well, what do you want in my country?" Muller alighted from his horse, and took deliberate aim at the animal's forehead; but just as he drew trigger the horse gave a terrified start, and the hunter missed his aim. The lion sprang forward, but finding that the man stood still—he had no time either to remount or take to his heels—the lion stopped within a few paces, and stood still also confronting him. They stood looking at each other thus for some minutes. The man never moved, and at last the lion slowly turned and walked away. Muller hastily began to reload his gun. The lion looked back over his shoulder, gave a deep growl and instantly returned. Could words have spoken plainer. Muller, of course, held his hand, and remained motionless. The lion again snuffed warily, as before. The hunter began softly to ram down his breech. Again the lion looked back and gave a threatening growl. This was repeated between them until the lion had retired to some distance, when he bounded into a thicket and disappeared.

Allen Pinkerton's Joke.

A Story of the Detective that Recalls an Episode in the Career of Mulberry Sellers.

Chicago Herald.

The late Allen Pinkerton had a company of gentlemen at his country seat, near Chicago, one cold winter day a few years ago. For an hour he took them about his place, showing them this, that and the other, and when at last they arrived at the house they were thoroughly chilled.

"Now, gentlemen, I want you to try some of this old Scotch whiskey," and his guests partook quite freely of his hospitality. Then he invited them into the library, where there was a large stove, of the type known as the gas burner, apparently glowing hot, and the party seated themselves about it holding out their benumbed hands to catch the warmth. Here they chatted for a time when suddenly Mr. Pinkerton remarked:

"It strikes me that stove doesn't send out much heat. How do you feel?"

And each and every one replied that he felt delightfully warm, too warm in fact, and suggested that the stove door be opened. Mr. Pinkerton acted on the suggestion, and to the astonishment of his guests, revealed two lighted candles resting on a huge block of ice as the only contents.

"See, gentlemen," said he, "what a vivid imagination and a little Scotch whiskey will do."

DEATH OF REV. DR. DRURY LACY, D. D.—It will, we are sure, give a shock of pain and sorrow to many a heart here to know that Dr. Lacy is dead. A noble man, a true Christian, a shining example of all the virtues which mark the perfect and upright man, has gone to his long home.

Dr. Lacy was at Jonesboro, at the home of his son, Rev. William S. Lacy, yesterday evening at 6 o'clock. Dr. Lacy was walking about in the yard, apparently in his usual health. At 7 o'clock some one went to his room to call him to supper and found him lying on the bed, with a fan in his hand, dead. Rev. W. S. Lacy who was on the train on his way home, and at Sanford learned of his father's death.—News-Observer.

RELIGIOUS DOGS.—The famous St. Bernard dogs are very carefully trained.

A traveler who visited some of the monasteries of the monks of St. Bernard, a few years ago, found the monks teaching their dogs from the earliest stages of puppyhood. Not only is physical and mental training included in this teaching, but spiritual culture is by no means neglected. At mealtime the dogs sit in a row, each with a tin dish before him containing his repast. Grace is said by one of the monks, the dogs sitting motionless with bowed heads. Not one of them stirs until the "amen" is spoken. If a frisky puppy attempts to sample his meal before grace is over one of the older dogs growls and gently tugs his ear. The intelligence displayed by these animals in rescuing unfortunate travelers among the mountains is absolutely wonderful. Many a man who lies down in a snow drift to sleep owes his life to the sagacity of the St. Bernard dogs.—Atlanta Constitution.

TO REMOVE A FINGER RING.—A tight ring may be removed from the finger by the following process:

Thread a needle flat in the eye with strong thread; pass the eye of the needle with care under the ring, and pull the thread through a few inches toward the hand; wrap the long end of the thread tightly around the finger, regularly, all down to the nail, to reduce its size. Then lay hold of the short end of the thread, and unwind it. The thread, pressing against the ring, will gradually remove the tightest ring without difficulty, however much swollen the finger may be.

MELON BRANDY.—The newest addition to our already long list of intoxicating drinks is melon brandy.

M. Levat, a French chemist, is said to have succeeded in causing that watery fruit to yield a potent spirit. He took the juice of six pounds of watermelon pulp, and, having added a certain quantity of free sulphuric acid, he warmed the mixture, upon which the sugar became transformed into a mixture of glucose and levulose. The product, which ferments directly, yielded ten quarts of perfectly normal alcohol.

NEW YORK, August 5.—Wm. Hayes Ward, editor of the Independent, together with several independent Republicans, lately visited Buffalo to formally investigate the charges of immorality against Gov. Cleveland.

They spent several days at the work, going to the bottom of the matter, and to-night they say that the charges are monstrous calumnies. They are preparing a full report, which will be ready by Thursday, when it will be given to the press.

He will stop over night at Plattsburg and proceed to his destination, the Prospect House, Upper Saratoga, at Bloomingdale, Essex county, to-morrow. There was an unusual crowd at the depot. The length of his stay in the woods is not determined, but it is likely he will remain at least a fortnight. His letter of acceptance will probably not be issued until his return.

When a driver comes to a difficult place in the road he begins to inspire his team so that it may not fail in crossing.

The team soon gets to understand it, and a slight rise or sharp hill exert their energy. We are all meeting these sharp points in life, and, however quietly we have gone along on the levels, we need to do our best if we carry ourselves across the lift in safety. A sharp, quick pull is a frequent necessity.—United Presbyterian.

Troy, N. Y., Aug. 7.—Wm. J. Lansing, a lawyer at Cohoes, was arraigned in the police court of that city to-day charged with drunkenness.

He tried to kill himself in the court room with a large stone paper weight, cutting his head badly. When he was returned to the station house he seized a kerosene oil can and drank a quantity of oil. Lansing was once a brilliant lawyer. It is thought that he is insane.

EASILY RECOGNIZED DIFFERENCE.—The people are not slow to recognize the difference between the professional office seeker and the man who neither seeks nor shuns the duties of public service.

Mr. Blaine is as distinctly the type of the former as Gov. Cleveland is of the latter, and it is no insignificant augury of Gov. Cleveland's success that all of the Presidents who have been elected since the time of Buchanan have been found among those who were not distinctively known as candidates for the office, and anglers for the nomination, while all those who have taken great pains to secure it have been disappointed.

Ten acres properly cultivated are worth fifty half done.—This was wisely said by the retiring President of the New York State Agricultural Society at the last annual meeting.

A countryman was sowing his ground, when two smart fellows came riding by, one of whom called out with an insolent air, "Well, my good man, 'tis your business to sow, but we reap the fruits of your labor."

The rustic replied, "Tis very likely you may, for just now I am sowing hemp."

BUFFALO, Aug. 7.—The stopping of pool selling at the Buffalo trotting park to-day was accomplished by means of warrants sworn out by the law and order association against the track authorities.

It created considerable excitement among the fraternity, but is generally approved of by the people.

"If I were in California," said a young fog in company the other evening, "I would wade some miner with a bag of gold, knock out his brains, gather up his gold and run." "I think you would do better to gather up the brains," quietly responded a young lady.

We remember reading in a newspaper some time ago that chestnut trees are getting scarce in the United States.

They are not scarce here in Ashe and several adjoining counties. "The woods is full of them."—Jefferson Philosopher.

Having thrashed out the Peruvians, the Chilean government has now declared war against the condor, and offers five dollars reward for every one killed or captured.

ROME, Aug. 7.—Some earthquake shocks were felt early this morning at Trascatti, Albano and Costelli Rowani, a few miles Southeast of Rome.

Recent statistics give the number of flouring mills in the United States and Canada as 25,050.

The dentist deserves well of his party. He is always ready to take the stump.

Dr. Mott Writes a Letter.

Mr. R. H. Battle, chairman of the Democratic State executive committee, has addressed a letter to Dr. J. J. Mott, chairman of the Republican State committee, advising him of Gen. Seales' appointments as far as made out, and saying that he would be pleased to consult with him (Dr. Mott) with reference to further appointments if the Republicans desire to have a joint canvass. To this letter Dr. Mott responded in a very spirited style, informing Mr. Battle that he (Dr. Mott) is not the person to consult in the premises; that Dr. York being a Liberal Democrat, Mr. Devereux, of Raleigh, chairman of the Liberal State committee, is the person to be consulted with about the matter. Now the fact that everybody has long seen through this Liberal business, and that this pretense no longer deceives even wayfarers men and fools, was sufficient justification, it seems to us, for Mr. Battle, in piercing the shell and going straight to the kernel in brushing Mr. Devereux, the lieutenant, aside and addressing himself to Dr. Mott, the head and front of the opposition to Gen. Seales. But a more potent reason still exists in the fact that the Republican party is the organization which nominated Dr. York, and that the "Liberal" party was the one which endorsed him. Two years ago, if we remember aright, the case was exactly reversed. The Liberal side show nominated Mr. Dockery, and the Republicans endorsed him. At that time, Mr. Coke, the Democratic chairman, corresponded very properly with Mr. Cooke, the Liberal chairman. This year the chairman of the party which nominated Gen. Seales, addresses the chairman of the party which nominated Dr. York. Even if the Liberal and Republican parties were not merely different divisions of the same organization, as everybody now knows they are, Mr. Battle, it seems to us, has the advantage of Dr. Mott on the technicality which the latter has raised.

There is a humorous side to this correspondence, as there is to almost everything in life. The anxiety which Dr. Mott shows to depreciate the importance of the Republican party, the apparent waiving of his rights as Dr. York's manager, and his giving precedence to the alleged organization which bears the same relation to the Republican party that the knot does to the log it is on, cannot be contemplated without a smile. It is no wonder that, with its record in North Carolina, there should be made an effort to keep the name and fame (if of the Republican party) in the back-ground during this campaign; but when the "Liberal" party is thrust forward to conceal the Republican party, the latter is no more hidden than is the foolish ostrich which sticks its head in the sand and vainly imagines that it is out of sight.—Statesville Landmark.

BAKED MILK FOR CONSUMPTIVES.—Baked milk is an admirable food for consumptive people and most invalids. It is made in this manner: Put a quart of good milk into a stone jar, cover with writing paper, tied down. Leave in a moderately hot oven for eight or ten hours, till it has the consistency of cream. The amount of nourishment to be derived from it is marvellous. It most closely resembles condensed milk, and does not differ much from a milk-cream pudding, the rice being a digestible addition. This reminds us to say to many anxious inquirers that the perfect cure for the most inveterate habit of constipation is simply to live on wheaten groats and any kind of fruit. We have never known a case which this diet failed to cure.—Dr. Nichols.

Tract laying will soon be commenced on the Yadkin valley R. R. between Greensboro and Walnut Cove.

General Taylor's Notification.

The Washington correspondent of the Baltimore Sun writes as follows concerning Gen. Taylor's letter of acceptance, after his nomination for the Presidency at Philadelphia, June, 1848: "The chairman was the Hon. John Morehead of North Carolina. On the 20th of that month Governor Morehead addressed General Taylor a letter officially notifying him of his nomination. On July 22 the post-master at Baton Rouge, where Gen. Taylor lived, addressed the Postmaster General a letter saying that with the report for the current quarter from that office two bundles of letters were forwarded for the dead letter office, they having been declined on account of the non payment of the postage by the senders. It was in 10-cent and non-payment times. Of the 48 letters thus forwarded to the dead letter office, the Baton Rouge postmaster said a majority were addressed to Gen. Taylor, who had declined to pay the postage on them and take them out of the office because his mail expenses had become burdensome. The General had since become aware that some of the letters were of importance and asked for their return. In due course the letters were sent back to Baton Rouge. Among them was Gov. Morehead's letter notifying Gen. Taylor of the action of the Philadelphia convention. Gen. Taylor's response was dated July 15, a month and five days after the letter of notification was written. It had lain in Baton Rouge postoffice four weeks, after Gen. Taylor refused to pay the 10 cents postage. Gen. Taylor's acceptance was couched in respectful terms, in a letter not exceeding 250 words. He expressed his thanks for the nomination, said he did not seek it, and that if he were elected President, for which position he did not think he possessed the requisite qualifications, he would do his best."

Governor Cleveland.

In the few remarks made Gov. Cleveland when replying to the formal notification of his nomination, are to be found some gems of political thought. He said:

"We go forth, not merely to gain a partisan advantage, but pledged to give those who trust us the utmost benefits of a pure and honest administration of National affairs."

"If in the contest upon which we now enter we steadfastly hold to the underlying principles of our party creed, and at all times keep in view the people's good, we shall be strong."

"The party and its representatives which ask to be entrusted at the hands of the people with the keeping of all that concerns their welfare and their safety, should only ask it with the full appreciation of the sacredness of the trust, with a firm resolve to administer it faithfully and well. I am a Democrat because I believe that this truth lies at the foundation of true Democracy. I have kept the faith because I believe, if rightly and fairly administered and applied, Democratic doctrines and measures will insure the happiness, contentment and prosperity of the people."

Self-Support for Our Ladies.

Industrial South.

Since the publication of the premium list of the Virginia State Agricultural Society, Mr. Joseph M. Blair, of this city, has offered a prize of $25, or a gold medal of that value, as a special premium for the best essay on the subject of "Self-supporting employment for ladies in the Southern States." We are requested to state that the award will be made at the Virginia State Fair by a committee consisting of three ladies and three gentlemen, to be appointed by the executive committee of the society.

Contestants will forward their articles to George W. Mayo, secretary, Richmond Va., on or before October 15, 1884, signed with a fictitious name and accompanied by a sealed envelope containing the real name and postoffice address of the writer, which will not be opened until after decision on the merits is made by the committee appointed.

Republican Assessments.

Baltimore Sun.

The circulars of the Republican national committee, calling for assessments, have been received by the officeholders in Baltimore. Unfortunately for the cause he represents, Chairman Jones put at the end of the circular the following:

"The committee calls the attention of every person holding office under the United States, and states that its influence will be exerted in conformity therewith." Many of the officeholders, contrary to civil service law, mean that they are liable to imprisonment should they give any money for campaign purposes and consequently will not subscribe. Others, however, say that they construe the circular of the committee as meaning that they cannot give money to other officeholders for political purposes, nor receive it from any one for the same purpose. There has been a general discussion of the subject, but it is understood that the majority of the clerks in government employ will accept the kind suggestion of the Republican committee and keep their money in their pockets.
