A gentleman of this place who heard the discussion in Lexington, last Thursday, says it was perfectly awful for York. Gov. Vance was at the stand some little while before the arrival of Dr. York, and improved the time by stating to the crowd, which was very large, how it came to pass he was there, and declined to speak until Dr. York should arrive, as he might prefer to lead off. The Doctor soon afterwards arrived, and gave the first speech to Gov. Vance, who made an able talk on State and national politics. The fun commenced when it came to the Governor's turn to make a rejoinder to York. The scene that ensued was beyond description. Old men in the crowd could not restrain their tears, especially when the Governor told what had been done for schools, and young men could not sit or stand still when he would make a pass at York. When he had finished the crowd broke up in a lull, and the Governor called to them to come back and hear York, who had risen to speak; but they would not listen to it, but left under the excitement of the most fearful castigation ever administered to a candidate for Governor.

At no time since the war has the Republican party put forth a Presidential candidate who had a spotless record. But that party has reached its climax of shame and impotence when it asks patriotic and honest men of the United States to put the reins of power in the hands of Blaine. Never before have they asked us to vote for such a liar as Blaine, for such a thief as Blaine, such a South-hater as Blaine—for such a man skilled as he is in all the arts and accomplishments of the perfect villain. These are grave charges. But they are not made in a loose general way, as they sometimes are in a heated political campaign. That the Republican candidate for President is—we mean exactly what we say—a liar, a thief, a traitor of his friends and a corruptionist, is susceptible of the clearest, most convincing proof. Blaine's letters to Fisher make him all this. The evidence is so plain that a mere school boy can comprehend it. How, then, can any man, of the most ordinary self-respect, vote for Blaine? How?

"The Republican party is in favor of educating the people." Well, way down in their hearts the Radicals may believe that popular education is a good thing. But we must contrast what they have done under this head, with the performances of the Democratic party. In 1869, when the Republicans were all-powerful in North Carolina, and had lots of money, they did not spend one dollar on the public schools. In 1883, the Democrats spent for this purpose nearly three-quarters of a million dollars. What Machiavelian effort in Radicals and Liberals talking about educating the people.

Our thanks are due Mr. Rufus Bingham, of the Bingham School, for a copy of his address "in the interest of National Aid to Education," delivered in Washington last February.

For the Watchman.
SALISBURY, N. C., Sept. 29, 1884.
Editor Watchman:
Your China Grove correspondent, in the last issue of your paper, says that Mrs. Henderson "submitted the question of stock law to the people to be decided by the people of each township at the ballot box. That was right. Ramsay was a stock law man, too; but he wanted and advised Henderson to make his statement in an unqualifiedly false, and no evidence can be produced to substantiate it. Mr. Henderson has no evidence of any kind to support such a statement. On the contrary all of Dr. Ramsay's public and private acts go to show that he has always favored a submission of the stock law to the voters of every locality for its adoption or rejection."
J. H. RAMSAY.

If the quoted sentence in the above communication be false, Dr. Ramsay is certainly entitled to a denial of it through this paper, in which it first appeared. We assume the responsibility in so far as our China Grove correspondent is concerned. The charge denounced was based on a report current on our streets for several days; and even up to this time it is believed by some to be substantially true. The report runs thus: That Mr. John S. Henderson, while in the Legislature, received a letter from Dr. Ramsay, urging him to have the stock law passed without qualification or reference to a vote of the people. It has been freely and frequently spoken of in this community by persons who usually know what they are talking about; but if it is untrue this paper will do itself the justice to correct it. Nevertheless, the question must hang in suspense until Mr. Henderson can be heard from.

Whenever you hear a Radical or a Traitor saying he is in favor of abolishing the Internal Revenue, be sure it is a monstrous falsehood. They are in favor of no such suicidal action. But they pretend to be in order to get your vote. They know this system is hateful to the great majority of the people, hence their contemptible but patent demagogues. The Radicals, Traitors and revenue system will all go into a common grave after November.

"Our party is after money just as much as the other." This may be true, but the figures show that the Radical party has been the successful party in taking care of No. 1. For instance, the Radical Legislature of 1863 cost the tax-payers of North Carolina the enormous sum of $430,058. Now look at the other side: The Democratic Legislature of 1883 cost $57,475—a difference of just $373,480. Which party made the successful raid on the pockets of the people in this instance?

"There is no difference, after all, between the two parties." We sometimes hear such remarks as this. Let's see if there is not some difference. In 1869, under Radical rule, you paid 80 cents tax on the $100 valuation of property. In 1883, under Democratic administration, you paid 25 cents on the $100 valuation. If your property was valued at $1,000 in 1869, you paid $80.00 tax on it; in 1883, you paid $25.00 tax on it—a difference of $55.00. Is there not some difference between the parties?

Col. Morehead met York at Winston on the 26th of September. Morehead opened the debate in a speech embracing all the questions of the day. York replied, and in the course of his speech said, "Settle was very willing to take a rest; that he had run Jarvis, Coke and Vance off the track, and that Morehead could not stand it long." In his rejoinder, Morehead took York's own documents and proved how he had garbled and misrepresented facts in reading them.

The Republicans of South Carolina have had a hard time in their State Convention, which held all night and adjourned at 8 o'clock, Saturday morning. A State ticket was announced which gave great dissatisfaction to a large portion of the party who openly proclaimed on the streets that they would not support it, but vote the Democratic ticket. Two of the nominees, it is said, will not accept.

Dr. Hackett of Wilkesboro', comes forward with a certificate and letter to the Charlotte Observer, sustaining his statement in respect to York's speech when a candidate for First Lieutenant of Captain Barber's company, in Confederate times. The case now stands three good and solid men against Dr. York's denial. Dr. Hackett himself not counted.

Farmers should remember that the present iniquitous tariff laws lower the price of all farm products, while at the same time they increase the price of all farm supplies—iron, leather, woolen goods, etc. Where you pay one dollar as tax into your State Treasury, you pay twenty dollars into the pockets of our "infant industries." The Democratic party asks you to trust them with power, and it promises you to reduce these burdensome tariff taxes.

Under Blaine's leadership the old motto of the Radical party has been revived—"Lie like a— and stick to it." All his banners and streamers shine with it. If there is any captain in that party more deserving of success under the folds of that flag than Blaine, we don't know him. Fit man, fit motto. They shall be forgotten in November.

The political outlook in Michigan just now, is declared to be in favor of the Democratic ticket, State and national.

- PUBLIC SPEAKING.

"Lie like a— and stick to it." This is the old battle-cries of the Radical party. It has been adopted, along with all the other perfections of that party, by the Traitor leaders. And what apt imitators they are! Who would have thought, in the mushroom existence of the Liberal party (!) they would have developed such unbounded capacity to twist, distort, mystify, misstate, and misrepresent everything they touched. But these Traitors are making their last fight, and "Mistrustful, ground their courage on despair. And utter dissolution, as the scope of all their aim, after some dire revenge."

The Republicans of Wake county are in a ruptured condition—one part denouncing the other as having accomplished nominations by "by trickery, purchase and fraud," and adopting a resolution declaring their purpose to vote against the nominees.

Gen. Scales went into the canvass again on Monday. His bruises are not yet well, but he thinks he can stand it.

Oliver Dockery (my son Oliver) is the republican candidate for Congress in the 6th District against Mr. Bennett.

Gen. Scales will commence canvassing in the Eastern counties on the 6th instant and continue in that section until the 24th.

Gen. McLellan says that New Jersey is sure for Cleveland and Hendricks.

Speaker Carlisle, who has been making some speeches in West Virginia, says the Democracy of that State is up and doing, and will carry that State by a rousing majority.

"I DON'T FEEL LIKE WORK."—It makes no difference what business you are engaged in: whether you are a preacher, a mechanic, a lawyer or a common laborer, you can't do your work well while you are half sick. Thousands try to, but all in vain. How much better to keep your organs in good order by taking Parker's Tonic when you feel "a little out of sorts." It would be money in your pocket. One hour of good, rejoicing health is worth half a dozen hours full of languor and pain.

The severe heat of the last few days, seems to have been greatly intensified in the Piedmont section of Virginia, where vegetation is burned up and the ground parched to a great depth. Plowing is impossible, not only there, but in this section also. Our streams are low, and the water in some wells is beginning to fail.

The State Exposition opened yesterday, with thousands of people from all parts of the country. Gov. Hawley, of Connecticut arrived the night before, and at the great stand yesterday, delivered a most eloquent and patriotic address.

The grading of the railroad track between Statesville and Taylorsville is about completed. The next thing is to put down the cross-ties and rails, and then the cars will speedily follow. A railroad to Taylorsville will soon be followed by an extension to Wilkesboro, and thence onward to a mountainous section of the State, unexcelled by any portion yet penetrated by either branch of the Western North Carolina Railroad.

A storm cloud burst 25 miles north of Dayton, Ohio, Saturday, giving a fall of five inches of rain in 45 minutes. Several breaks were made in canal banks, and other damage done.
