Remple of this city, is to deliver a lecture, a couple of his lectures his recent tour in Europe, at David College, on Tuesday and Wednesday evenings, the 11th and 12th inst.

We invite attention to an article on subject of public roads to be found on first page of this paper. Now that the have done with the political question of the day for a while, at least, we of nothing better to engage their attention than the improvement of our roads. It is next in importance to good and good government.

RESIDENCES.—T. C. Lind, Esq., completing a handsome residence between Inniss and Fisher streets.

John M. Coffin will have finished by the 15th, a pretty cottage on Ellis, between Fisher and Inniss streets. Mr. A. Fisher has built four cottages in East this year, and Mrs. Ed. Marsh has two handsome residences nearly completed on Fulton between Inniss and Court streets.

ELECTION DAY passed here without the least disturbance. No drunkenness, no shouting, no loud talking, even to disturb any one. With the precaution of a ample police force and convenient arrangements at the polls for voting, everything passed off smoothly and to the satisfaction of all observers. Indeed, some who have been accustomed to hear noise and see disturbances at election, complained that it looked more like a funeral than an election day. Without intending it they hit it exactly, for it was in truth a great funeral day to the departed party. We buried a lot of noisy, self-important, government-spoiled rascals, who behaved with decent propriety while the ceremony of the election was being performed.

The pastor, Rev. Wm. Stouenmire, being absent attending the South Carolina synod, convening at his home, Orangeburg, S. C., this week, will not preach on Sabbath, the 9th inst. The Lutheran Sunday School will meet in the Young Men's Christian Association Hall at 2:30 P. M. There will be a congregational meeting of the St. John's Lutheran congregation, on Sunday a week, Nov. 16th, at Y. M. C. A. Hall after morning services. Important business will be before the church, and all are requested to stand.

The Diet will convene on Wednesday, Nov. 12th, at 10 o'clock, in the Court House. Services and preaching in both the Presbyterian and Methodist churches on evening of the week, and also on Sabbath by members of the Diet. The public, of all denominations, are invited to attend the Diet and the evening and Sunday services.

JAMES W. RUMPLE, Esq.
A. H. BOYDEN, Esq.

The Democrats of Rowan were exceedingly fortunate in the selection of these two young gentlemen to head their organizations in this county. Mr. Rumble as President of the Cleveland and Ohio in Salisbury, and Mr. Boyden, Chairman of the County Executive Committee, have acquitted themselves with marked ability. If sleepless watchfulness, quick perception and prompt, vigorous and persevering action are worth anything in waging a political contest, as we have just passed through, then these gentlemen displayed them all, and won for themselves the hearty thanks of their brother Democrats throughout the county. They were always on hand at the right place at the right time and ready to stand by and defend Democratic interests with a zeal altogether equal to occasion. Let the Democrats of Rowan make a good score for James W. Rumble and A. H. Boyden, for they have earned it.

If there was a Democrat in the county who wanted to vote for Mills for Sheriff, and of Kridler, he had a right to do it. It is believed that some Democrats were probably cheated into voting for Mills by a trick practiced by himself or his friends in having the Democratic ticket printed with Mills' name at the top, and the tickets so pinned together to conceal Mills' name. If fraud was intended and actually perpetrated in this way, all such tickets ought to be thrown out; but it is hardly possible to decide the question whether or not fraud was intended and actually perpetrated. They who fixed up the ticket if put on the stand might be made to answer. Only a few such tickets have been found (three in Salisbury box) and there is no fear of its affecting the election of Kridler. It may cause contention between those who had bets against Mills receiving a certain number of legal votes.

MINING.

T. K. BRUNER, MANAGER.

RIMER MINE.—Work at sinking the shaft continues, and a lot of fine sulphur ore is being taken out.

HUNNICUT.—Preparations are being made to start up. A Knowles shaft pump is being used to fork the water and work will be resumed in the old works, where a lot of fine ore was left years ago. A Howland mill is being put in place to work the ore.

ROWAN MINE.—Work under ground has been resumed and the mill has been going this past week on some test runs.

Benefit of Small Farms.

A State whose area is held by large land-owners makes progress backward. The history of California shows this. Land monopoly fostered railroad monopoly until to-day these two giants hold a firm grip on the Pacific slope. Manufacturing industries are crushed out and the monopoly of land places agricultural interests under the control of a few large proprietors. Texas suffers in a similar manner. A few men hold vast tracts of the soil to the detriment of general interests. The land question has paperized nearly one-third the population of Ireland, and is a great drawback to the domestic interests of England and Scotland. So crying is the evil of this landed system that indications of an upheaval are already discovered in those countries.

In France the situation is different, and vastly to the benefit of the people. There are 5,000,000 land owners in France with the average size of the farms about ten acres. The best land outside of the vineyards is worth on an average $400 per acre. This system of small farms is conducive to the wealth and prosperity of the people. The peasant farmers of that country have about $200,000,000 on deposit at Government savings banks upon which they are paid 4 per cent. interest.

France is the richest nation in Europe in proportion to population, the cause for which can be attributed to such a large body of land owners. The rapid payment of the war indemnity to Germany was chiefly due to the farmers coming forward with their money and loaning it to the Government. A landed monopoly is a curse to any neighborhood, State or country. It is a form of oppression cruel and exacting. It builds up an aristocracy inimical to republican institutions, and arrogant. When once established it holds on with a death grip, letting go only through revolution.—American Grocer, N. Y.

An Interesting Career.

The Life of the Most Energetic Man in the South.

NEW ORLEANS, LA., Nov. 1.—[Special.]—The most interesting thing about any great enterprise is the mind which conceived it and built it up. The man who has carried the almost infinite burdens of the Exposition upon his shoulders, and has done most of the thinking and managing for it, is the Director General, Maj. Edward A. Burke. It is he who first started the movement in New Orleans, it was he who put his name down the first one on the list for fifteen thousand dollars when he was by no means a wealthy man. He is the man now ever present, familiar with every detail, and working tirelessly for it in a hundred different directions.

Maj. Burke spent his early life in Galveston, Texas. He was a poor boy and had to work through different mechanical occupations into the law, which was the profession he elected. The war found him after a long and difficult contest just starting upward in his calling. He did good service as a General in his southernmost campaign, and became major in a Texas regiment. His early life had given him intimate knowledge of the mechanical professions, and he was detailed to organize a Bureau of Construction and Supplies. He made his first reputation and exhibited his wonderful ability in organizing and controlling men first in this capacity.

He had shops and factories all over the southwest, and made nearly everything an army could want from clothes and arms to wagons and boats. The war over, he returned to Galveston a poor man, and undertook the law again. The whole South was in a state of great depression in 1871 and 1872, and finding nothing in Galveston to gratify his ambition, which had greatly expanded during the war, he came to New Orleans in 1872, a stranger, but resolved to make a career here. Everything was in a horrible condition. Negro and carpetbag rule had utterly bankrupted everybody. Taxation amounted to confiscation. Business was entirely stagnant, and while there was legal work enough, there was no money anywhere except for the legalized thieves.

So it came about that just ten years ago the stranger who had just come here, found himself penniless, as well as friendless, and went out to seek a common laborer's job, that he might have bread. Most of the bosses declined to have anything to do with the slender, pale, soft-handed man, but he at last found a stone-cutter who agreed to give him a trial. So Burke went to work with his mallet and plug; and he thought while he worked, and in three weeks he had made so many labor-saving devices and contrivances which promoted the work, that his boss took him into partnership. In eight months he had made enough to start him at law again.

The great work of redemption and reconstruction came soon. Maj. Burke entered public life in the fight against the political cultures and with brilliant success. The salvation of Louisiana in '76 was due to his management. But Maj. Burke's tastes were more in the direction of industries than of politics. His State and city saved, he has sought no political honors, though he has always continued the chief counsel of the Democratic party of Louisiana.

His first paper, the Democrat. He built up a great journal, which two years ago bought out the New Orleans Times and became the greatest paper in the South. His paper has always been progressive and enterprising. It stood by Grant when all the world ridiculed his jetties. To-day New Orleans has the second harbor in America. He fought for the thorough sanitary laws and strict quarantine which have saved New Orleans from a yellow fever epidemic for five years, and will probably keep it out entirely in the future. He has established great printing and lithographing houses, factories and mills. And last of all, he has created the world's Exposition, which will be greater than any man now dare prophesy. Suppose every city in the South had a Burke? The answer need not be expressed. C.

Woman's Work at New Orleans.

One of the lady commissioners of the Exposition appeals to the pride and patriotism of her countrywomen for such a display of specimens of all the various products of women's hands and brains as will do justice to the sex and reflect credit on the country. She says:

I urge you to send anything that you or your neighbors have done, or are doing, not only in the line of decorative and artistic work of all kinds, but we particularly desire a full and complete exhibition of all the inventions of women; of their skilled labor in every direction; of everything out of the ordinary line of work that tends to open up new avenues for the employment of women.

We hope for a fine display of drawings and paintings, on canvass, velvet, plush, china, wood or glass, wood, ivory and other carvings and engravings, etching on any suitable materials; embroidery, fancy needlework; pottery, and all other examples of art work.

We wish not only art, but artisan work, merchantable articles manufactured by women on machinery or otherwise. We want to show what they have done in silk culture, also the work of female physicians and dentists.

Let us present the evidences of progress in household economy, new methods and devices to render the work of the home less laborious and more efficient; also domestic spinning, weaving, knitting, etc.

It is desirable to show what women have accomplished in professional and intellectual work. We want you to send original poems, essays, editorial articles, stenographic work, music, penmanship, type-writing, book-keeping, statistical compilations, etc. We also wish a sample copy of every book or paper written or published by women.

DIED.

At her residence in this city, Nov. 1st, 1884, Mrs. Sophia Thomas, aged 77 years and 9 days. The deceased was, from early life a consistent and faithful member of Union Lutheran church; was an invalid during the last years of her life, but in all her afflictions beautifully portrayed the child-like faith and patience of the true Christian. She seemed anxiously awaiting the welcome call, "Come ye blessed inherit the kingdom prepared for you." Her end was that of the pure and just. She lived to see all but one of her children depart this life before her.

In this city of consumption, James B. Shaver, on the 1st inst, in the 37th year of his age. The deceased made a profession of religious faith and received the sacrament of baptism before his death.

An Editor's Experience.

After trying numerous remedies for Rheumatism, but without permanent relief, I was advised to use S. S. S., which had given permanent cure secured. This was over a year ago, and since then, even during our most severe weather, with sudden changes, I have suffered a return of the old attacks which disabled me from editorial work.

It is very seldom, indeed, that I recommend any thing to the public in this manner, but I feel it the due to your valuable preparation that has given me such long desired and much needed relief, to state these facts thus publicly. I am sure that but for your Specific, I should have been laid aside from journalistic work, the severest attack was in my right arm and hand.

EASY TO SEE THOUGH.—How can a watch—no matter how costly—be expected to go when the main spring won't operate? How can anyone else well when his stomach, liver or kidneys are out of order? Of course you say, "He cannot." Yet thousands of people drag along miserably in that condition; not sick abed, but not able to work with comfort and energy. How foolish, when a bottle or two of Parker's Tonic would set them all right. Try it, and get back your health and spirits.

ONE BOTTLE INSTEAD OF A DOZEN.—"And it took only one bottle to do it," said a gentleman, speaking of Parker's Hair Balm. I had a run of fever, and when I got well of that my hair began to fall so fast as to alarm me. I really didn't know what to do, until one day a friend said, "Try Parker's Hair Balm." That was some months ago. What surprised me was the fact that one bottle was enough. I expected to use up a dozen. Clean, highly perfumed, not oily, not a dye. Restores original color.

KIDNEY COMPLAINT.

For over six years I have been a terrible sufferer from a troublesome kidney complaint, for the relief of which I have spent over $250 without benefit; the most noted so-called remedies proving failures. The use of one single bottle of B. B. B. has been marvelous, giving more relief than all other treatment combined. It is a quick cure, while others, if they cure at all, are in the distant future.

C. H. ROBERT, Atlanta Water Works.

CATARH.

The China and Queensware House of McBride & Co., Atlanta, is perhaps the largest in the south. Mr. A. J. McBride of this firm has been cured of catarrh of the nose of 16 years standing by the use of B. B. B., after every known remedy and treatment had failed. B. B. B. cures catarrh in a few weeks, after foolish stuff has failed for years. Write to him and learn all the facts.

An Editor.

I have been almost entirely cured of nasal catarrh of several years standing, by 3 bottles of B. B. B. I have tried many other remedies, but none equal B. B. B. It is a quick cure, while others are slow.

GREGORY'S DYSPEPTIC MIXTURE.

CHARLOTTE, N. C., May 24, 1884.

This is to certify that seven years ago I was cured of dyspepsia by using Gregory's Dyspeptic Mixture, and the disease has never returned.

J. E. CATSON.

NEW BERN, N. C., Jan. 25, 1883.

Dr. W. W. Gregory:

Dear Sir—Enclosed please find check for $9.00, for which be good enough to send me six bottles of your dyspeptic medicine such as you sent me sometime back. Thanks for the comfort received by me and my daughter.

Yours truly,
(a copy) R. RANSON.

DR. J. H. MCADEN, DRUGGIST & CHEMIST, No. 1 PARKS BUILDING, CHARLOTTE, N. C.

Dr. Gregory—I certify that I have sold Gregory's Dyspeptic Mixture for several years, and it has given universal satisfaction to those who have given it a fair trial. I know it to be a remedy of very great merit, and have heard it spoken of by those who have used it in the highest terms. From what I know of its composition I can confidently recommend it to those suffering from Dyspepsia or any derangement of the digestive organs. It gives tone to the stomach and vigor to the entire system.
