THURSDAY, NOV. 27, 1884.

Congress will meet on Monday. Members of the House Committee on Appropriations met in Washington yesterday, to map out their work for the next session. They agreed on a sub-division of the Committee, and assigned to each the consideration of the various subjects requiring to be reported on.

The Western Union Telegraph Commany, now that the excitement of the blacks out-numbered the whites, and divide at the same time and become a Presidential contest is over, undertakes to clear itself of damaging newspaper charges made against it in connection with reporting the results of the election, &c. Nortis Green, the president, denies emphatically all the charges made against the company.

Judging from the tone of the Northern press, irrespective of party bias, the general effect of Blaine's Augusta speech will be entirely the reverse of what the speaker desired. So you will have to come again Jeems!

Capt. W. A. Darden, of Green county; Col. D. Worthington, of Martin; Col Thos. M. Holt, of Alamance; Mr. Augustue Leazer, of Iredell; Mr. Thos. Dixon, of Shelby, and Mr. Overman, of Rowan, are some of the gentlemen who have been proposed by their friends for the Speakership in the next General Assembly.

Vice President-elect Hendricks has ability and knows how to speak. He is not reserved or cautious. Hear him at

Origin of the "Rooster."

"Why, who and where was the rooster adopt as the emblem of Democracy?" The question quoted above and addressed to the editor of the Enquirer, has been asked a thousand times in the last week. It has been suggested, no doubt, by the great popularity of the bird since the 4th day of November. The question has been answered before, but for the benefit of those who do not understand the situation it can be answered again. In 1844, after the Harrison campaign, there was doubt as to how Indiana had cast her sat down to write their autographs in vote. The situation was similar to that books handed to them by young ladies, proposed to the last Congress by Conin New York to-day in every respect. # A Postal Telegraph.

In view of the power shown by Jay Gould over the Western Union Telegraph Company and the Associated Press, and the manifest disposition on his part to use it in behalf of his favorite Presidential candidate, the following utterance of Senator Windom, of Minnesota, just before his appointment to be Secretary of the Treasury, is exceedingly apropos:

WASHINGTON LETTER.

AVERAGE CITIZEN.

From our Regular Correspondent.

Washington, Nov. 25, 1884. Everybody and her husband in Washngton realize that are volution is at hand. It is in the heart and in the mind's eye. Soon it will be felt, and seen in every avenue and channe, of official, social and political life. Washington and the country will know that the election of a Dem ocratic President means something.

Until the last week the Republican officeholders here hoped even in despair that by some miracle Cleveland would be counted out. Now that they realize that the end has come, some of them are pre paring to march forth on March the 4th.

During the last week there has been an astonishing conversion of office holders to the doctrine of Civil Service reform, their argument, Mr. Cleveland is the great apostle of this doctrine, and has been elected by the independent republicans to carry it out. By this interpre-"As Mr. Blaine omitted these interest- tation of Civil Service reform, many of campaign and stumped their States for Blaine, or worked for him, circulating ny more who spent the time that belonged to the public service in writing mendacions political letters for malignant republican journals, hope to be continued in office. They are men who have been leaders of the Blaine, Chandler, Dorsey and Dudley type, for their efficiency in this class of work, and to continue them in office would be as negation of Nov. 4th, men have stolen their salaries from the public treasury, because they have given their time and energy not to the public service of the United States, their legitimate employer, but to the private service of the Republican organization, or to draw it tiner, they have been drawing the people's money but working for themselves. > Some utterances of Mr. Cleveland have strange and terriple sound to the clerks in the Government offices here. He has said that clerks should be retained only during good behavior, and that his desire was to manage the affairs of the country on business-like principles. He believes they should be retained only for competency and honesty, like the clerks in private business houses, and also that they should work just as long and faithfully as those clerks do. To carry out these ideas will produce a greater revolution in the Government offices here than the partizans of either party hope or fear. It will result in the wholesale discharge of ornamental drones and idle sinccurists, male and female, who come to office at nine o'clock in the morning and leave at four in the afternoon, but who actually and truly do not average three hours of legitimate work per day. It seems incredible that clerks should be paid at the rate of from $1200 to $1800 per year for this playing at work that I am half afraid the reader will not believe me. But I speak as an ex-clerk about which I know, and any candid Government clerk here will tell you that I have been more thru careful not to exaggerate.

The president elect has secured rooms at Willard's hotel, and will occupy them about the first of March. A large number of Democratic clubs have secured rooms at the different hotels and there is prospect of the largest crowd that has been seen in Washington at an inaugural ceremony. It is customary for the President elect,
