The usual belief is that the passion flower: derived its name because of the resemblance, or faucied remblance, of the parts of the plant to the instruments of the Savior's passion and crucfixion. Thus, the three nails through the hands and feet on the cross are represented by the stigmas, five antlers represent the five wounds the rays of glory or (as others say) the crown of thorns are represented by the rays of the corona, the ten parts of the perianth represent ten of the Savior, and Judas, his betrayor, being absent). The hands of the per ecutors are supposed to be indicated by the finger like leaves of the plant, and the scourges in the tendrils.
