Messrs. Bruner & McCubbins, Real Estate Agents.
David M. Cooper, Administrator's notice.

The Graded School now has an attendance of 270.

Big Signs.—The furniture dealers are indulging in large signs.

The day train on the Western N. C. Railroad has been discontinued.

Prof. Wilson has a vocal class here. He taught singing here fourteen years ago.

Mr. Krauss, the sign painter has done for Klutz & Co. a very handsome piece of work.

A rope walker amused the small boy yesterday, and repeats the performance today.

Charlotte wants telephonic communication with all the surrounding towns including Salisbury.

Mr. Sidney Helwig has gone to Salem, Va., where he will enter Roanoke College.

Mr. J. S. Hall is on the market this week with very good tobacco of this year's crop.

Tobacco sales for this week have been light, but prices have been stiff for all grades.

Mrs. and Miss Ruple's music school has opened the fall session with good attendance.

How They Feed.—It requires 116 bushels of oats and six thousand pounds of hay to feed the circus stock one day.

There are six secret organizations in Salisbury, but no "kuklux," and no "regulators" of merit, in the absence of a recognized head.

Get Your License.—The authorities are looking strictly after drummers who are selling here without the proper license.

Col. W. A. Andrews, President of the Western N. C. Railroad, has appointed Maj. Peyton Randolph, assistant general manager of that road.

Auctioneer Shepherd says that the old veteran tobacco curer, Mr. Sam Colley, has just cured most successfully his second barn of this year's crop.

We're the 4th, a thorough bred Jersey, the property of Messrs. Whitehead and Barker, lay down in their pasture one day last week and quit breathing. Loss $500.00.

The Town Commissioners have done a splendid piece of macadamizing on Lee street, in front of the old Lutheran Cemetery. All the streets of the town should be treated in a like manner.

LEMBER.—There is a demand for lumber in this market that the local mills cannot fill. The planing mills are kept busy, which is an encouraging sign, so far as building is concerned.

A DAVIDSON COUNTY NEGRO was in Salisbury a few days ago soliciting donations for a country church. Besides being a little too far from base, his name—Bankum—was too suggestive.

THE FEDERAL CEMETERY is kept in beautiful order. Mr. Burke does well what is entrusted to him. It is a pleasant season for visiting there just now while the grass is in such beautiful condition.

SELECT SCHOOL.—Miss Caldwell, now in Washington City, will return for the purpose of opening her select school for young ladies and children early next week. See advertisement in this paper for dates, &c.

THE MOST frequent visitors at the Postoffice are negroes. The clerks say that they come several times a day and enquire for everybody in their neighborhood, and that everybody in the neighborhood comes.

THE YOUNG MEN of the town gave a very pleasant ball to visiting ladies on last Friday night, in the rooms of the Pleasure Club.

Another ball was given at the same place on last night.

Hox. C. B. Watson, of Winston, was in town this week. He is not pleased with the arrangement of the dates for holding of court under the new regime. The sittings in this county conflict with those of Surry and prevent the Lawyers of Forsyth from attending here.

ORINATION.—On Sunday, Aug. 30th, J. F. Cotton and Wm. Kirk, were ordained as elders of the new Presbyterian church at Palmersville, Stanly county, N. C. Prof. O. C. Hamilton was ordained as deacon. The ceremonies were conducted by Rev. Mr. Arrowood, assisted by Dr. Ruple, of this place.

BEFORE THE MAYOR.—Three young men were before Mayor Neave on Monday for disorderly conduct on Sunday night. They were very properly fined to the extent of the law. If proper evidence can be obtained, other and more serious charges will be preferred which may be punishable by something more than a fine.

GIVE THEM A BRIDGE.—The people who pass over the bridge spanning Grant's creek, just beyond Mr. Achenbach's farm complain of its condition. The Bridge Commissioner will doubtless look into the matter at once.

A GOOD PLACE FOR THE RIGHT MAN.—A real first class Tailor—a good artistic cutter—with energy and tact could find remunerative employment here. Thousands of dollars go out of Salisbury every year to merchant tailors in Baltimore and New York, that should be left at home. There is no room for medium workmen, and they need not apply.

NIGHT UNTO DEATH.—Mrs. Wm. Roucher took a teaspoonful (one hundred and twenty drops) of Norwoods Tincture of Veratrum Viridi, through mistake for another preparation in a similar bottle. Fortunately the services of a physician were secured at once and her life saved. From three to five drops of this poisonous medicine is a dose.

IF YOU WANT A PIANO, it will be greatly to the advantage of purchasers to deal with Prof. W. H. Neave. He is not an Agent in the general acceptance of that term, but owing to his professional standing in the north, has inside advantages given to him which the trade cannot enjoy. These advantages he wishes to share with the public, giving the public the big end. See his advertisement in this paper.

REV. DR. RUMPLE has been notified to attend a meeting of the board of Trustees of the Union Theological Seminary of Va., on the 24th inst., for the purpose of electing a Secretary and Treasurer to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Judge F. N. Watkins. Judge Watkins has been for a long time filling this responsible position and his death is lamented by all who knew him. The Seminary sustains the loss of a most valuable and efficient officer.

STATELY RELIC—that is, a relic worn on state occasions, by Joe Ballard, one of the old time negroes. It is a coat, of the "claw-hammer" style, with the tails padded and quilted; is of white broad cloth, and was made in 1842 by Wm. Rowlett for our townsman, Capt. Wms. Brown, when he was a very young man. Joe appears at the zenith of all mortal glory when his sable form is enveloped in this white coat, and his head decorated with a "white beaver" to match.

DISORDERLY CONDUCT.—On last Sunday night, not long after the congregations of the several denominations had been dismissed from evening service, there was loud talking, hollering and firing of pistols on several streets. Salisbury has a small police force, and it is not expected that they can patrol the whole town, except at long intervals, and it therefore becomes the duty of every good citizen to report such disorderly and dangerous conduct to the authorities. It is the only means for safety.

THE NEGRO LUNCH SHANTY GOES.—In order to erect the "Ironfoules" Tobacco Warehouse on the site selected, it will be necessary first, to remove the imposing structure which has served main street so long as an ornament, and which has of sheltered the truly loyal—(alias) the G. O. P.; from the vicissitudes and inclemencies of seasons, that occur between midnight and day—the time when the adherents were wont to meet. The participants in these secret meetings, in the days that tried men's souls, should arrange to keep this thing intact, and preserve it in some way as a reminder that they were therein initiated.

THE MAIL ROBBER, GEO. EAGLE ESCAPES.—Post Master Boyden gives this account of it: "The inspectors had caught Eagle, as stated last week, and were en route to Salisbury with him, when an accident to a freight train, near Chattanooga, Tenn., caused a delay of three hours. Both of the inspectors fell asleep—it was night—and Eagle slipped out into the darkness and disappeared. Mr. Boyden has again gotten on his track and telegraphed authorities at Washington to send a man at once. It seems that the Postmaster has been a most efficient detective in this instance, as Eagle would never have been caught but for him."

HYMENEAL.—Quite a pleasant little party gathered at the residence of J. J. Stewart, Esq., last evening, to witness the marriage of his lovely daughter, Miss Beulah Stewart, to Mr. J. P. Moore, of Greenville, S. C. The following was the order of the ceremony: Mr. W. B. Moore with Miss Sallie E. Bruner; Mr. C. Y. Cheatham with Miss Josephine Baker; the groom with Capt. Lee Winn, and the bride with her father. The ceremony was conducted by Rev. F. J. Murdoch, of St. Luke's Church. The newly made "one" thus happily launched on the bosom of matrimonial waters, took the night train for Round Knob, and they will spend some time before going to South Carolina. A number of beautiful and useful presents were received by the bride during the day.

PERSONALS.—Miss Sodie Murphy has returned from Virginia.

Rev. Jos. Wheeler and wife have returned from the mountains.

Rev. Frank Shober has joined his congregation at Barrytown, N. Y.

Miss Carrie Holmes has entered the Female College at Hagerstown, Md.

Capt. R. R. Crawford of Winston, formerly of this town spent part of last week here.

Master Wood Krider has entered the Fort Mills, S. C. school for the winter session.

Mr. Hardy Hicks, of Morgantown was here this week.

THEO. F. KLUTZ & CO.
MANUFACTURING PHARMACEUTISTS FOR THE WHOLESALE TRADE.

Mr. Barker tell me what you do with those boxes piled up there? We pack all the standard drugs, oils, extracts and essences in those boxes for your wholesale trade.

But do you do a wholesale business?

O, yes, it is not generally known here in Salisbury, but we do a large wholesale business, and there is no reason why we should not, for we can duplicate prices for any of the goods named, and can save the merchant freight.

Do you manufacture anything here of your own get up?

Yes, we make a cough and worm syrup, that is splendid, and has proven highly satisfactory where used, and we make a quick cure that is far superior to the average quick cures on the market. We also make an essence of ginger that is very popular.

Is that all?

O no, those are only the small things. We are kept busy in the manufacture of Klutz's Chill Cure, and we are still turning it out by the hundreds of dozens. In fact, it has become a standard remedy, and notwithstanding the fact that it has not been advertised in several years, orders are coming in every day. The business is growing so that we are now preparing to go into its manufacture on a more extensive scale; and there is Morgan's Cattle Powders, we manufacture this famous cattle powder from our own formula, and the sales are ten times greater than for any other powder on the market. It is really effective as an alternative medicine for horses and cattle.

Now Mr. Barker, tell me about this new Tobacco Liniment; I see you have a very attractive sign on the side of your store with a good picture of the weed as it appears in the field.

Its a pretty sign, everybody likes it, but the liniment is the best thing for sprains, bruises, burns and rheumatic complaints, in man and beast, that you ever saw. It is wonderful how the testimonials come in. No, no, we can't save the testimonials, don't need them in—the first place, and it would require a book to print them in.

I presume this manufacturing and wholesale trade must bring you much other general business.

Yes, we are obliged to carry a heavy stock of general drugs; for instance, we have now in the house between sixteen and seventeen hundred ounces of quinine.

Just then Mr. Barker was called away to fill a prescription, and the reporter got out of the packing room without breaking any bottles.

A Woman's Appeal.

The following communication is without the name of the writer, but is given place for the good it may do:

SALISBURY, Sept. 7th 1885.

Dear Watchman:

I ask through your paper the prayers of all who feel interested in the town of Salisbury, that Almighty God would pour out his Holy Spirit, that there may be a great revival and turning to the Lord of that portion who are living in open sin and drunkenness; for it makes one's heart bleed to see, as it were, the blessed Jesus holding the crown of life right down upon their heads. Nothing but the agonizing, faithful prayer is needed to bring it to pass. "The prayers of a righteous man availeth much," and much more the whole Church of God.

From yours truly,
A SINNER SAVED BY GRACE.

Mrs. Chapin's Lectures.

I attended the State Convention of the W. C. T. U. at High Point on the 11th. When I went into the Convention Mrs. Sallie F. Chapin, of Charleston, S. C., was talking to the children, and O, how beautifully she was speaking to them. She plead with them as a tender and loving mother would plead with her children to shun the many snares which the enemy of all good has set for the unwary feet of the young and to choose the right way. Her narration of incidents in her own experience was deeply interesting and very affecting so that tears filled many eyes as she told of those whom she had helped to save from the drink habit. She spoke at Winston that night to a large audience and on next day we had the privilege of hearing her at this place, and nearly every one in the audience signed the pledge after she was through speaking. She spoke twice in Greensboro yesterday and again there tonight. I hope the good people of Salisbury will have the pleasure of hearing this gifted daughter of our own loved South, who is giving her energies to the grand cause of temperance, having entered the field from a conviction of duty. To hear her once is to be convinced of this fact.

MINING DEPARTMENT.

T. K. BRUNER, EDITOR.

Phoenix Closed Down.

The Phoenix mine, which has been running successfully for several years, has closed down temporarily for want of water. They will resume in a short time. They are working the Meares chlorination process successfully there.

Altan Mine.

Work at the Altan mine, (formerly the "Bell") in Union county, will be resumed at an early day. Preparations are now being made to that end. There is also a prospect for other mines being opened this winter. Union County has some valuable deposits, and with good producing records. The "Crump" is among them.

Rocky River Mine Sold.

On last Monday, in the town of Concord, the Rocky River mine was sold at public sale to justify judgment of court in the hands of R. J. Holmes and others against J. J. Newman, Judge Hughes and others. The property was sold in three tracts, respectively for two, five and eight thousand dollars—$15,000 for the whole property—including two engines and a five stamp mill. R. J. Holmes, Esq., of this town was the purchaser.

North State Mine.

At the North State Gold and Copper Mine, in Guilford County, considerable activity is manifested. The main shaft has reached a depth of 320 feet, and an old shaft sunk before the war, is being rehafted. They are hoisting a complex sulphide ore—iron and copper—which carries a fair percentage of gold. They have a twenty stamp mill.

Besides this shaft mining, they are washing the surface of a gulch near the main shaft. It is said to be amply rich to pay for hydraulicizing, but there is not fall enough to enable the present plant to accomplish the work in a very satisfactory manner.

Important Enterprise.

Mr. John Jacobs, the representative of the Yadkin Mining and Milling Company, has determined to treat, at the works of the Company near Salisbury, the sulphide ores of this section. He proposes to use the Davis chlorination process, which has been doing satisfactory work in the treatment of the "Reimer" ores, and he proposed to buy ores of standard grade for this purpose. The ores will be sampled and assayed by Prof. Geo. B. Hanna, of the Charlotte mint, or any other thoroughly reliable assayer, that the vendor of ores may select. This is designed to satisfy the miner. A reliable assayer will be connected with the company.

Mr. Jacobs has no process for sale, or to advertise, but simply means to engage in a legitimate business, buying sulphure ores, delivered at the works, paying cash for them, and at a rate determined by the assayed value of the ore. He does not propose to buy the lower grades of ore, but is anxious to have a constant supply of uniform sulphure ores. Those interested should communicate with him at once. His address is Salisbury.

Improve Your Opportunities.

Just now there are conditions which, if improved and nourished, would tend to the rapid upbuilding of all the interests of the town. Some interests are flourishing, and some individuals are reaping the rewards of their industry but the fact remains plainly demonstrable to the careful observer, that there is no united or concerted action among the citizens of the town, looking to the general good. In truth there is a want of public spiritedness among the citizens—that kind of public spirit which takes hold of matters from which no pecuniary gain is expected, but which will have a tendency to help all alike. There is a great difference between an energetic business man and a public spirited man. In the one instance he has every personal motive as an incentive; that spirit which looks out for number one regardless of the existence and comfort of the rest of mankind. To put in an old fashioned way: to get in front and stay in front with a view of allowing the devil to take the hindmost. That is your business man, looking out solely for himself and his own. But on the other hand, the public spirited man in his dealings puts part of his gainings into public works; strives to improve the whole tone of the community—morally and financially—and exemplifies that tripe old motto: "live and let live." Public spirit is that which directs money into legitimate schemes for the improvement, development, comfort and convenience of all the people in their various conditions; is unselfish in trying to make all prosperous alike.

More of this spirit is needed in Salisbury. It must come, or the people need not look for any great improvement over the present status of trade and prosperity. If the people will link together, husband their resources and all pull in the same direction, then there will be a revival of business and industry that will astonish even our own people. Idle mechanics, carpenters, masons and smiths will have plenty to do; idle workshops will resound with the hum of machinery, and prosperity will brood over the town.

There are railroads, bridges and macadam roads to be built; there are industries and trades to encourage and foster; there is great need of public works for the town, and there is great need to utilize all home institutions. Send out for nothing that can be had at home. Try it for one year and if it is not a success, return to the present methods and prove this theory for improvement a fallacy.

Washington Letter.

[From Our Regular Correspondent.]

WASHINGTON, Sept. 11, 1885.

The two handsome bay horses behind which the President rides were at the depot a little before eight o'clock on Monday last, attached to the President's carriage. There was nothing struck up or distinguished in the appearance of the brutes, and I believe they would be just as happy if they were the property of a butcher. The sable coachman who has driven Grant, Hayes, Garfield and Arthur, got down, pulled out his gold watch, and looked like a man with an appointment. It was five minutes after eight when the New York train glided almost noiselessly into the station. The railroad employes were evidently expecting somebody and turned their eyes to a sleeping car which was closed. It was not long, however, until a stout gentleman with a bronzed face descended the steps followed by a smaller and more slightly-built gentleman. They were the President and the United States and his private Secretary Col. Lamont. The President bowed pleasantly to the salutations of the few who witnessed his arrival and entering the carriage with Col. Lamont was driven to the White House where breakfast awaited them.

The President's vacation has been less than thirty days the time allowed to other employes, and he appears to be much improved in health. He has not been indisposed a single day and the recent reports relative to his illness were wholly without foundation. He has had his holiday in his own fashion and comes back to his duties improved and invigorated. He has not spent the time in the hardest of all work, society service at a fashionable resort, but has taken the relaxation he needed. These weeks in the open air, the fishing, gunning, boating, the setting aside of all restraint and anxiety, the robust exercise—every ingredient in the situation has been auspicious. The President is greatly improved by his outing, every hour has brought him strength and rejuvenation; he returns to his work in every respect better qualified to prosecute it with vigor and success.

Since the President's return he has been in consultation with Secretaries Manning, Whitney, Bayard and Lamar. It has been definitely settled that there is a necessity for a thorough investigation of the Coast Survey Bureau. Some additional facts have recently been brought out. About a year ago when the new Coast Survey Steamer "Carlisle Patterson" was launched Prof. Hilgard and a party of ladies went to New York to celebrate the event. This of course was useless, but it would have been more innocuous if they had paid for their fun. Several hundred dollars were expended on this trip out of the contingent fund for a luncheon at which much wine was spilled. When the rouch was put in the Bureau the wine lanch was put in the bill of items and called by its proper name. This, Mr. Parsons informed Prof. Hilgard, would never do, as the account would not be allowed at the Treasury Department. He suggested that a blank voucher be signed by some contractor for the work of the Bureau and accordingly Julius Bien & Co., engravers, of New York, were used for this purpose. They were induced to sign the blank voucher, the amount of which was $220, and then the body of the instrument was filled in by Mr. Parsons as drawing plans for the United States Steamer "Carlisle Patterson." Under this change the voucher was put through, and nothing more was thought about it. First Auditor Chenoweth and Second Comptroller Maynard were acquainted with this circumstance in the course of the investigation and they took pains to lay it before Secretary Manning. The Secretary talked with the President on this subject Monday of this week, when the conclusion was reached that the present Coast Survey officials had better be removed. It is probable that within ten days the Secretary of the Treasury will rid himself of the present crowd now in the Coast Survey Bureau and fill their places with more competent and less corruptible persons.

A Novel Exhibition.

The St. Louis Post-Dispatch compliments Cole's Circus very highly in the following manner: "The performance was, without question, one of the very best ever given here, and demonstrated most perfectly that it is not necessary for enterprising managers to keep in the same streets and tracks in presenting attractions. Cole's Circus is full of new and novel features, not only demonstrating remarkable ingenuity in the selection of the features, but also involving remarkable skill in presenting them. The double ring and elevated stage are occupied continually and give the audience varied and non-conflicting performances, which can be appreciated and enjoyed at the same time. The Bedouin Arabs, the Mexican exhibition, the equestrian pig and monkey, the artistic and grotesque roller skaters, the marvelous "human fly," Mlle. Simeon, the athlete, bare-back riding, the clown and the daring feats of George Conkline, the lion tamer, are but a tithe of the multitude of features offered at this great show. The double menagerie, the museum and wax-work collection, the two headed cow, the herd of performing elephants, headed by the monster Samson, and the equine wonder, Blondie, the tight rope walking horse, may also be mentioned as wonderfully interesting features. In a word, Cole's circus is, beyond a doubt, one of the best ever exhibited in St. Louis, and so far as keeping up with the times is concerned, it may be said to be leading other shows in the matter of novelty and attractiveness. Afternoon and evening performances will be given daily." The people of Salisbury and surrounding country will have an opportunity of seeing this colossal show in its entirety, on Monday Sept. 28th.

CONVULSION, FITS, ETC., are frequently caused by an army of worms gnawing, gnawing night and day, eating the vitals away. Shiner's Indian Vermifuge is a safe and cheap remedy.

Virginia's Next Governor.

Gen. Fitz Lee was received enthusiastically at Staunton. The widow of Gen. Job Stuart presented him with a handsome basket of flowers. Gen. Lee was much touched. The Democrats handed him to the depot in a carriage. — Washington Star.

OBITUARY.

JOHN GILES FLEMING who died at his home in Scotch Irish Township, on the night of the 7th instant, in the 63rd year of his age, was one of the well known and most useful and trusted citizens of Rowan county. His early education was mainly Academic, but partly Collegiate—a session or two having been spent at Davidson College. His life was mainly devoted to practical agriculture; but from the time he attained his majority, until his death he was constantly engaged, either in private or public occupations of a fiduciary character. For forty years he was one of the leading Justices of the Peace, and was still acting as such, at the time of his death; and for twelve years he was one of the Commissioners of the county. For many years, also, he was a Deacon and the Treasurer of Third Creek Presbyterian Church. In these, and in all the relations of life, his character was that of an honest, influential and useful christian gentleman and citizen. Peaceable, quiet, industrious, enterprising and conscientious, he lived a life worthy of imitation and has left a memory that will not soon be forgotten.

The funeral services, on the 9th were conducted by the Rev. A. Walker White and R. W. Boyd—the Deacons of Third Creek and Unity churches acting as pallbearers; and such was the esteem, in which the community held the deceased, that the congregation, both at the house and church, was one of the largest convened, in the community, on a like occasion, for many years. A good man has fallen—one who will be sadly missed by a large and respectable family of fatherless and motherless children, but now happily raised to maturity—by a circle of sorrowing friends and neighbors and the community in general.

COM.

MERCURIAL POISONING.

For 25 years I have suffered from the effects of Mercury and Iodide of Potassium. I was salivated in a most fearful way, and was given up to die. I have had no relief from anything I have taken for it, and I have tried everything, until now, that I have taken a course of Swift's Specific. It has entirely cured me. It also cured me of all other ailments. I also cured me of rheumatism, from which I have suffered for many long years. I am now well of both, and there is no evidence of mercurial poisoning or rheumatism about me.

DR. J. BRADFORD—Dear Sir, I have taken several bottles of your Female Regulator for falling of the womb and other diseases combined, of sixteen years standing, and I really believe I am cured entirely, for which please accept my heartfelt thanks and most profound gratitude.
