A Song and a Prayer.

A song for the girl we love-

God love her! A song for the eyes with their tender wile, And the fragrant mouth with its melting smile The rich brown tresses uncontrolled. That clasp her neck with their tenderest hold; And the blossom lips, and the dainty chin, And the lilly hand that we try to win. The girl we love-God love her.

A prayer for the girl we loved-God loved her! A prayer for the eyes of faded light, And the cheek whose red rose waned to white, And the quiet brow with its shadow and gleam, And the lashes drooped in a long deep dream, And the small hands crossed for the churchyard

And the flowers dead in her sweet dead breast, The girl we loved-God loved her!

The Disappointed.

There are songs enough for the hero Who dwells on the heights of fame: I sing for the disappointed, For those who missed their aim.

I sing with a tearful cadence For one who stands in the dark, And knows that his last best arrow Has bounded back from the mark.

I sing for the breathless runner, The eager, anxious soul Who falls with his strength exhausted Almost in sight of the goal!

For the hearts that break in silence With a sorrow all unknown: For those who need companions, Yet walk their ways alone.

There are songs enough for the lovers Who share love's tender pain : I sing for the one whose passion Is given and in vain. For those whose spirit comrades

Have missed them on the way, I sing with a heart o'erflowing This minor strain to-day. And I know the solar system

Must somewhere keep in space A prize for that spent runner

For the plan would be imperfect Unless it held some sphere That paid for the toil and talent And love that are wasted here.
