"We All Like Sheep."

The verses that follow are passing current and are amusing enough to reproduce; "We all like sheep," the tenors shrill Begin, and then the church is still, While back and forth across the aisle Is seen to pass the "catching" smile.

"We all like sheep," the altos moan In low and rich and mellow tone, While broader grows the merry grin And nose gets further off from chin.

Till all the echoes wake and ring; The young folks titter, and the rest Suppress the laugh in bursting chest. "We all like sheep," the bassos growl, The titter grows into a howl,

"We all like sheep," the sopranos sing

With wonder at the singers' taste "We all like sheep," runs the refrain, And then, to make the meaning plain, The singers all together say: We all, like sheep, have gone astray.

Probably no concern in the country has adhered more strictly to the determination to achieve success by the liberal use of printer's ink than has the Brown Chemical Company of Baltimore, Md. Starting business about five years ago, they have expended over $1,500,000 in the preparation and circulation of printed matter, more than half of which has been paid for newspaper advertising. All this has been done to make known the virtues of their celebrated Brown's Iron Bitters.

As might be expected, very large sales have resulted from this enormous outlay. In fact, Brown's Iron Bitters is about as staple in many drug stores as is flour at the corner grocery. Like all good things, Brown's Iron Bitters has been largely imitated. There are Sal-Muscatelle is nature's own product.
