Beautiful Spring! Temperance, but no third party, is the sentiment in this community.

Mr. Chas. McNeely is now occupying the country residence of J. A. Hedrick, Esq.

The heads of Salisbury's policemen are now adorned with new hats of regulation pattern.

The Salisbury bar is represented at the Federal Court held at Statesville this week.

A bank on the Southwest corner of Main and Innis streets is one of the future probabilities.

Fishing parties are being organized for Easter Monday. Its the safest day in the year for the fish.

It will bear repeating, that a first class tailor, one in whom there is no guile, is badly needed in this town.

Rev. Mr. Blair, in charge of the Rowan circuit, occupied the pulpit at the Methodist church on last Sunday night.

The confirmation of Mr. Boyden as Postmaster at this place gives satisfaction to his fellow citizens. Mr. B. is a good officer.

Justice Bringle committed a man for contempt of court this week—the dignity of the Squire's Court must be maintained.

W. A. Morgan has opened a blacksmith shop in rear of the Farmers' Tobacco Warehouse. He is prepared to do all kinds of smithing.

The soda and mineral water fountains have begun to sizz, and the bees to hum. Both evidences that Jack Frost has gone north for the summer.

A sale of the personal property of the late Benjamin F. Fraley, will take place at the residence of his widow on next Saturday, the 24th, inst.

The hum of the planing-mills is heard on the rising of the sun to the going down of the same. Salisbury needs no moon to boom for her now.

Read Kluttz and Rendleman's advertisement. They keep all standard goods and bargain in all lines. Go see them when you come to Salisbury.

Under the present management, the Lyden House is undergoing many improvements. New carpets, new table-cloth, new furniture, and a better table.

The Rowan County Teachers Institute will be opened on the 26 of July, and continue for two weeks. Rev. F. J. Murdoch and Prof. G. R. McNeill, are the tutors.

The painting fraternity say that the prospect for a general "painting up" in Salisbury, this spring, is fine. Let it come! Salisbury needs a great deal of this kind of work.

Mr. Gwinn, senior member of the firm Gwinn & Chatam, of Wexley Mills, N. C., was in town a few days ago. Could not be induced to remove the renowned Gwinn Mills to Salisbury?

Several wagon loads of splendid pine lumber brought in from Stanley county, offered for sale on the square last day. Lumber is one thing that goes with a begging on this market.

J. L. Holtshouser was arrested on the charge of burning out Tobias Lyster last week. The evidence was only circumstantial, and was based on the blood hound's run, which it seems was not completed. He waved an examination and by agreement of counsel gave bond, which was fixed at $500.

Two members of the town council were overheard discussing the cemetery question. Whenever six others become as thoroughly convinced of the need of a new cemetery as these two, then we may expect to have it. The town needs a cemetery very much. Both the old ones have all the available space taken up.

The spring term of Rowan court has a large docket, much larger than usual. There is a case of barn burning; two cases of attempts to burn the town; one case under the new law for seduction under promise of marriage; three or four cases of larceny; one capital case for rape and a large number of cases for petty offenses.

There are a great many nice lots, lying in the very best part of the town and convenient to business, which, if sold, would result in greatly improving the town. There are many citizens anxious to build, but are forced to abandon their plans because suitable lots cannot be bought. These citizens desire to build handsome, ornamental houses, but cannot do so for the reason stated.

The WATCHMAN begins this week, issuing more than two thousand copies. A great many papers are sent out, not indiscriminately, but to good, reliable citizens in this and adjoining counties, who are invited to become subscribers. Now is the time to advertise. Make yourself and your business known. No matter what your business is, you cannot afford not to advertise.

Steele and Logan, two sable citizens mixed in mortal combat last Tuesday evening. They had had some words and the matter was considered as settled when Logan was heard to soliloquize thusly: "I am de nephew of de Logan what run fer President, en ef he had'er got 'lected, I would'er bin in Congress er makin' laws stidder bein' here cussed by dat nigger," and fired by this imaginary insult, he sought Steele and pitched in, but a rock flung with unerring aim laid the unfortunate Logan out for awhile.

It is to be hoped that the women of Salisbury, always noted for their practical good sense, will not be carried away by the new temperance craze. Reports come from some of our neighboring towns to the effect that the ladies are in great excitement; that they abuse all ladies who do not think as they do; that they may go to the polls to exercise an influence at approaching elections, and that the excitement has entered the churches. Now there is no denying that woman's influence is the most potent in the world; but when it takes a fanciful form and tries to extend beyond family or personal application, grave doubts are entertained as to the efficacy. We hope the ladies of Salisbury will keep cool, under the circumstances. They will have abundant work to do, which can be done in their own and most natural way. Don't go on the streets and into houses trying to force conviction—no, no, woman's is a persuasive influence.

1853--54--55. Some one who borrowed from this office the files of the "Watchman," for the years beginning with the first Thursday of June, 1853 and ending with the last Thursday in May, 1855, has failed to return them. It is two years in one bound book. If this notice shall meet the eye of the borrower, he will please return the book before he forgets to whom it belongs. Also, a large Type Specimen Book of Johnson's Foundry, Phila. Please return them.

Reply to the Poet. A correspondent who sends ten verses of poetry, says: "Find enclosed a little piece of nonsense, which if you think of interest you can publish—Please drop me a hint in your paper if you think I had better quit off." This last clause intimates that the writer had his doubts; this is intended to crystallize those shadowy elements into conviction. Nonsense must be very good of its kind to be appreciated. Boil down what you have to say. Crowd the fun of those ten verses into two or three and the busy world will take time to read it.

Salisbury Thieves and Blood Hounds. On last Friday evening, between six and seven o'clock, while Mr. Julius Peeler was at supper, some one broke a glass in the rear window of his grocery store, and entered, taking from the money drawer about $30 in cash. He sent to Concord for a blood hound, which arrived next morning, but owing to his thoughtlessness in allowing boys to crawl through the hole where the thief entered, the owner of the hound refused to put the dog on the track. Had he closed that part of his store and kept others away from the spot, there would have been no difficulty in the way of the dog's tracing out the thief.

Mr. R. M. Barringer, one of the town police force, has bought a pair of these very useful dogs. In future but little trouble will be required to catch thieves, where proper precaution is exercised in keeping the ground clear until the dogs get a start.

Dr. Reynolds' Lectures. Dr. Reynolds, the representative of the Woman's Temperance Union, spoke here, according to appointment, on last Thursday and Friday nights. There was a fairly good audience on the first evening, and nothing like so many the next. He was laboring for the Union and for personal abstinence, and not for the new third party—Prohibition. He openly denials being associated with that faction, and advised that no one connected with that party be elected to office in the "Men's Reform Club," which he organized on Friday night, after the lecture. In the afternoon of the same day, a Woman's Temperance Union was also organized. Dr. Reynolds would have accomplished much more had not the people been in doubt as to his relations with the third party movement. The followers of that party are directly to blame for all that Mr. Reynolds failed to do here. He knew full well where to put the blame.

Salisbury Confederate Prison. Mr. C. A. Kraus, has just finished a large painting which will be greatly sought when lithographed, as he intends that it shall be. It is a birds eye view of the old Federal prison, or Salisbury garrison, as it was sometimes called, as it looked in 1861. The stockade, dead line, tents, pits, old factory building, dead house, headquarters, etc., are distinctly shown. The lithograph will probably be 24x36 inches, and it is expected that it will find its way into many a family north of "Mason's and Dickson's" line. There were a great many prisoners in that prison during the last three years of the war, and the picture is sure to find a place in the homes of those who have spent so much time there during those dark days of civil war.

Letter from the Colporteur. Messrs. Editors—I take this opportunity of thanking the people of Salisbury through the columns of your excellent paper for the kindness shown me during my stay in that place. The people were very kind to me and fed me well. I gained several pounds in weight while there, and of course, I think it a healthy place. I thank Rev. S. Rumples, Smith and Tuttle for announcements from their pulpits coming, it made my work comparatively easy. There were two places in Rowan county that I dreaded; Salisbury was one and Morgan township was the other. They were represented to me as being bad places yes, the worst in the county; but I am glad from my heart to say that I found it to be a mistake. I saw but one person under the influence of liquor while in Salisbury. I think the secret of this was owing to the busy season; there was but very few people in from the country. The people of Morgan township treated me well. I have been treated with great kindness the county over, with one or two exceptions, for which I feel very thankful. I shall soon close the work. I have visited over two thousand families in this county: 471 of that number, in the town of Salisbury; whites as follows: 62 Presbyterians; 34 Lutherans; 77 Methodists; 22 Baptists; 43 Episcopalians; one Jew, and 12 Roman Catholics. Only 15 white families belong to no church, and 5 destitute of the Bible. Colored: 8 Presbyterians; 68 Baptist; 70 Methodist; 33 families belonging to no church, and 50 families destitute of the Bible.

Very Respectfully, A. L. COBURN. China Grove, April 20, '86. Mrs. J. N. Plaster has been lying quite low for several days with pulmonary troubles. Her recovery is thought to be doubtful. Rev. T. C. Smith, of M. E. church, has been trying to awaken an interest in Religion at Old Bethpage. The tobacco raised in this neighborhood has been marketed but not with good results. The farmers find that cotton and tobacco do not pay as well as corn and wheat and hence all are busy planting their crop of corn. The Presbyterian congregation at New Bethpage is getting out lumber for a parsonage. They propose to have preaching every Sunday. The school at this place will close the 23rd inst. The closing exercises will begin Thursday at 6:30 P. M. Our friend, Mr. T. C. Linn, of Salisbury, and Mr. W. A. Deaton of Mt. Pleasant will address the audience. The public generally is invited to attend. The E. L. Synod of N. C. will convene in Union church May 8th, 1886. W.

Punishing a Regiment in Persia. The shah was driving along the high-road one day when some soldiers approached him with a petition setting forth their grievances. They had not been paid for nine months. The son of the minister of war, who accompanied the shah on horseback, galloped up among them and lashed them across their faces with his whip. Some stones thrown, and one of them broke a window of the shah's carriage. The aide-de-camp shouted to the coachman to start the horses at full speed, crying out that an attempt was being made to assassinate his majesty. The following morning the regiment of Isfahan, to which the mutineers belonged, paraded in the courtyard of the palace. The shah appeared at a window, and at his order every tenth man was shot. Through his conduct was severely criticized, Europeans think him as excusable as Peter for his severity to the Strelitz regiment, and this firmness prevented a massacre of Europeans by the turbulent troops.—Persia Cor. New York Herald.

LIST OF LETTERS. List of letters remaining in post office at Salisbury, N. C., for the week ending April 17, 1886. Mary Bramang, Isaac Holmes, E. O. Boyle, Ida Malanes, W. H. MINING DEPARTMENT. T. K. BRUNER, EDITOR. Gold Hill Mines. A contract has been let for sinking the main, or Randolph shaft 60 feet deeper. The present depth of this shaft is 740 feet. This work is being done under the auspices of the new English management. Other small contracts have been let, and the mining village of Gold Hill wears a business air of activity. Mike Isehour Mine. Mr. Frank Williams has returned from the north bringing with him a lot of capitalists seeking investment. The Isehour mine, which is situated in Cabarrus county, but which belongs to the Gold Hill group, has, so it is said, changed hands, and is now under the control of this party. The mine is favorably located and has a bold ore body. The ore is in part free milling, but carries a good percentage of pyrites, which is highly auriferous. The vein matter is quartz and talco-slate, in a matrix of the prevailing—Huronian—formation of the region.

Duan's Mountain. Supt. McCandless informs us that he has been ordered by Mr. Backley, the New York owner of the mine, to resume operations at this locality. He will begin as soon as it is practical. The extensive farm operations have all the stock engaged at the plow just now. Burns Mine. The Burns mine, in Moore county, is reported as going on the English market soon. It has been worked with some success recently, with old fashioned chilian mills. After all this slow process seems the most reliable in North Carolina. Some of the largest mines in the State have not paid so well since their exchange for faster processes. The chilian mill and arasta drag are slow but effective and inexpensive. Should the Burns mine fall into the hands of English capital, it may suffer from a change of plant and plan. Such is not infrequently the case, and often the most disastrous results follow.

Gem Mining. There are to be several parties organized for the summer to go in search of gem stones, in Alexander and some of the tramontane counties. Emerald, and the brighter shades of beryl, ruby, sapphire, and the finer colored garnets and amethysts will be especially sought. Cabarrus County has more than 65 known mineral localities. Probably only four or five are active just now. The amount of vein matter in the four groups of that county amounts to many miles in length. The average value of the ore is as high as that of any other county in the State. This territory cannot long remain idle. New Gem Stone in North Carolina. Last January the Asheville Citizen reported the finding of oriental spinel by Mr. Sunderland, of Henderson county. On last Monday evening, Dr. C. D. Smith, Mineralogist, of Franklin, N. C., called at the WATCHMAN office and displayed a lot of handsome cut gems. Among them were two ruby spinels—little beauties, of a rich honey-yellow color and very brilliant. These gem spinels are new in this State, and may be added to the list of North Carolina gems. Spinel is isometric; hardness 8, specific gravity 3.5 to 4.9, and is composed of alumina and magnesia. 72 parts of the former to 28 of the latter.

Bolston Mine. The Bolston mine, in Henderson county, to which the WATCHMAN called attention, some time ago, has been stocked by a syndicate at $100,000. They propose to go to work soon and to that end have employed as professional expert, Dr. C. D. Smith, who says that the vein is from 4 to 6 feet wide, and is traceable by the outcrop for more than half a mile. The ore, he also reports as of a good grade, some of it assaying as high as $50 to the ton.

The Eagle Property. Dr. M. A. J. Roseman has left at the WATCHMAN cabinet, some specimens of ferrous quartz, which are highly auriferous, showing free gold to the unaided eye. It was taken from a 24 foot vein, at the depth of 20 feet, from the above named property. Dr. Roseman also owns the Roseman mine. Both properties lay in the southern part of the county. New Hand-Book. The Department of Agriculture has issued a new, very convenient and valuable Hand-Book. It is filled with accurate information relative to the people, government, institutions, climate, soil, products, industries, geography, resources of forests, mines and water powers. It is a volume of 350 pages and will serve as a complete guide to the immigrant, whether he be capitalist or laborer. The services of the Department are indispensable to the growth of the State. To its careful and persistent work in all its branches of service may be traced the impetus which has characterized the material growth of the State during the last five years. Few realize the importance and extent of the work done by the department. They have one work to do and to it they bend all of their energy. They are educating the people to a proper appreciation of their own State advantages, and at the same time are laying before the world the vast advantages North Carolina possesses for the better class of emigrants and to capital seeking legitimate investment. The State has a thoroughly equipped intellectual force always laboring for the common welfare. The Department is a blessing to the State and every possible facility should be given it to enlarge its usefulness.

A Game of Grab. Louisville Courier Journal, Dem. A few gentlemen who have claimed to be Democrats ask a number of others who are willing to abandon all their traditional principles and go in for the old flag and an appropriation to meet with them in Louisville on the 28th of this month, to devise measures for furthering the schemes of the Republicans to gain, first, an influence over, and then the control of, our common school system. These gentlemen name a few well-known Democratic leaders who will countenance them in this folly, but even those named cannot give the scheme of Federal interference any standing in the party. The Blair bill, for which they propose to enter the lists, is a Republican caucus measure, originated by Republicans, and in the Senate perfected by Republicans votes, and then, with an appropriation attached, rammed down the throats of Democrats.

These simple-minded gentlemen, in their hunt for an appropriation, assert that the Blair bill has in it not the slightest trace of Federal interference, which only shows how benighted is their condition. The Blair bill is an open and flagrant usurpation of power. It is a direct and inexcusable interference with local government. It proposes to raise by Federal taxation $79,000,000 to do what every State in the Union taxes itself to do in its own way and methods best suited to its own needs. Moreover, the Edmunds amendment proposes to follow this money and see that the negro gets his share. Still further, the Plumb amendment requires the State to send to Washington for inspection the school books used in the schools supported by this fund. Though there is no penalty imposed for refusal at present, undoubtedly the Republican party is to withhold appropriations when these books do not come up to the Republican standard.

It is simply a game of grab. No Democrat would think of supporting such plans of interference were it for the dollars attached. It is an appeal to our avarice, and our patriotism is to be pushed aside. Let no democrat be deceived by this piece of political strategy. Let no friend of education for a moment suppose any good can come of the unclean thing. Men do not gather figs off thistles.
