Falsehood Rampant.

Wilmington Star.

The effort of the New York Times to belittle ex-President Davis, and to represent through its correspondent at Savannah that he had fairly disgusted the people is below contempt. It heads the letter, "Davis Cheered no more—The boom for the Confederate Chief Collapsed—The Southern people grieving at the tone of his speeches, and only the women supporting him." This is flatly contradicted by the visitors, by the Southern press, and by known facts. Why the Northern Republic press should exhaust itself in slanders and lies against the most illustrious of all living Southerners is beyond comprehension unless they are incapable of appreciating the highest qualities of manhood. Mr. Davis has a tender place in the hearts of the Southern people today—except a few sycophants and panderers to Northern prejudice—than any man living or who has lived since Robert E. Lee passed to his reward. Every lie, every jibe, every false report aimed at Mr. Davis but makes him dearer to the great Southern heart.

Items from the State Immigration Department.

P. C. Orpin, of Mass., writes Commissioner Patrick from Asheville, as follows: "I am in Asheville and am well pleased with the people, climate and country. I like it very much indeed and am writing my friends North to come to North Carolina." Mr. Orpin adds a paragraph saying: "It may be satisfactory to you to know that I have purchased a lot and will build a home. I arrived here on the 25th of March." Mr. Orpin visited a number of Southern States before he made a selection as to location.

Mr. J. Gangshorn, a nursery man and fruit grower of Ann Arbor, Mich., desires to locate in North Carolina and establish a fruit tree nursery. Persons interested in having a fruit tree nursery in their locality should correspond with Mr. Gangshorn.

Dr. M. F. McGarggart, the eminent specialist in chronic diseases, from Pennsylvania, will make his home at Southern Pines, N. C. The press of Scranton, Pa., the home of the Dr. speaks in the highest terms of his skill. The Dr. expects to visit the larger towns in North Carolina and his visits will be announced through the press of the respective towns.

Maj. W. R. Duntan, a retired officer of the U. S. Army is to build a neat cottage in the Pine Section of North Carolina where he will spend his winters.

The Old Soldier's Wooden Joke.

Milwaukee Sentinel.

On one of the out-going trains, an old soldier with a wooden leg, employed in the government offices in this city, came in contact with an upish sort of porter—a brother to the insufferable swell who sings out, "Last call for dinner in the dining-cab!"

The man with the wooden leg made up his mind that he would "wake that nigger up" before he "chipped in" his quarter. He told a couple of men in the car his purpose, and they joined in with him. He wears his shoe firmly fastened to the wooden leg, having no need to remove it, and having once fallen from a loose shoe. After his berth had been made up, he went to the dressing-room and unstrapped his leg, keeping hold of the strap, and then got to his berth. Then he called the porter:

"I have the rheumatism and can't bend over," he said; "I wish you would pull off that shoe."

The porter untied the shoe and tried to pull it off, but it wouldn't come. "Pull hard!" said the passenger.

The darkey gave another pull.

"Oh, brace against the berth and pull!" said the passenger.

The porter had blood in his eye. He put his foot against the berth and pulled like a dentist. The passenger let go the strap, and the darkey fell back with the shoe and the leg.

"Great Lord!" shrieked the passenger; "you've pulled off my leg!"

The porter dropped it and with eyes bulging and teeth chattering he broke from the car. He concealed himself in a corner of the baggage car, and pretty soon the two other conspirators entered; pretending that they did not know where he was, they sat down on a trunk and talked about the awful condition of the man whose leg had been pulled off, and the penalty the darkey would have to suffer, if caught. The porter was of no service to anybody that night, even after the joke was explained.

Truth.

Tax payers declare their taxes unbearable. To gratify the long list of wants, pension all the soldiers and their attaches, school all the children, build all the monuments and give fortunes to all the widows of the great dead, constitute a few of the wants. Every scheme of plunder has its advocates, and by a system of what is called log-rolling each one may get his logs rolled at double the cost of rolling them himself. Politicians are not lacking in fact; they calculate closely how much taffy the old fools at home will swallow, and when they return they are prepared for them. When they get on the stump a poor fellow repents of every hard thought he ever had of the great man. By their works ye shall know him. It is clear to even a careless observer that we are nearing a crisis in our history, one that is likely to strain the cords of our form of government. We think the surplus fund had better be applied to the payment of the public debt.—Baltimore Head-light.

The Board of Medical Examiners.

Raleigh News and Observer.

The State Board of Medical Examiners meets in New Bern on May 18th. Every practitioner graduating since 1880 has to pass an examination before this board, which is composed of Dr. Wm. R. Wood, of Scotland Neck, president; Dr. P. L. Murphy, Morgan; Dr. Frank Duffy, New Bern; Dr. J. A. Reagan, Weathersville; Dr. Willis Alston, Littleton, and Dr. W. J. H. Bellamy, Wilmington.

To Destroy Bugs.

The burning of rubbish heaps, which always occurs after spring cleaning, should be done at night and when warm weather has enticed the May bugs to venture out. Many of these will be attracted by the light and destroyed. Few like the May bug in any State, but before he assumed the present active condition he was one of the different families of white and black grubs so destructive to strawberries, corn and cabbage.

Life.

If life be a battle, how mad must be he who fails to arm himself for the content. If life be a storm, how infatuated is he who sleeps while his bark is driven amid unknown waters. If life be a pilgrimage, how unwise is he who strays from his right road, nor seeks to return until the twilight shadows gather round his pathway. Men's lives should be like day—more beautiful in the evening; or like summer—aglow with promise; or like autumn—rich, golden sheaves—where good deeds have ripened in the field.—Greensboro Patriot.

How They Take Advice.

The Augusta Chronicle says: "For 20 years or more we have written an annual article about this time, advising farmers to go slow on cotton, plant food crops, live within themselves, raise live stock, take care of their implements, save the grass, etc., etc. All other Southern editors have written about the same way. But the majority of farmers who read and—in words—approve this counsel, go right along in the opposite direction. Such is life!" This is but too true, and our farmers as a rule in consequence remain in the depths of poverty.—Raleigh News-Observer.

Gen. Longstreet in Grey.

At the reception of Mr. Davis at Atlanta the other day one of the sensations of the day, while Mr. Black was delivering his incommensurate oration was the appearance of General Longstreet, who came riding through the crowd, dressed in the full uniform of a Confederate Lieut. General, with sword, sash and stars, spurs and boots. Arriving at the grand stand, he dismounted. But few who saw this old hero recognized him at the moment. He ascended the platform, and going up to Mr. Davis embraced him heartily. The cordiality was mutual. Then it was that the crowd poured forth another deafening "rebel yell," which was taken up all along the line.

"Trundle-bed of Recuperation."

Is the suggestive and original title of Hinton Helper's new Guide Book of Western North Carolina. It is brimful of valuable information, statistical figures, embracing the Indian nomenclature of the State, with a goodly number of fine engravings of mountain scenery, together with a most excellent and correct map of the mountain division of the Western North Carolina Railroad.

This book is just what has been needed for a long time. Every tourist pleasure seeker, invalid, capitalist, and prospective settler should have a copy.

Damage Suit.

Reidsville Weekly.

A railroad suit for damages has been brought by Mr. Jesse M. Scott of Goldsboro against the Western North Carolina Road for injuries he received last summer in the accident near Asheville. It was left to be decided by arbitration and as references Mr. Scott selected Hon. Thomas Ruffin: the Railroad Company named Chas. Price, Esq., and these two chose Mr. George F. Fason. These gentlemen held sessions on Friday and Saturday last and heard the testimony in behalf of Mr. Scott. The court will meet again, on the 10th of May in Greensboro, to receive the evidence on behalf of the railroad. Messrs. Strong, Aycock and Daniels appear for Mr. Scott and Messrs. F. H. Busbee and I. F. Dorch for the railroad.

Cluverius to be Hanged.

RICHMOND, VA. May 6.—The Supreme Court of Appeals of Virginia to-day rendered a decision in the case of T. J. Cluverius, convicted in Hastings Court, this city, of the murder on March 18, 1885, of Fannie Lillian Madison, the case notoriously known as the reservoir murder mystery. The judgment of the lower court was fully sustained. Eight bills of exception were filed by the prisoner's counsel, being elaborately overruled.

The opinion was delivered by Judge Fauntleroy, the court standing four to one in favor of sustaining the judgment of the lower court. Judge Hinton dissented, being in favor of a new trial. Cluverius will surely hang unless executive clemency interposes. The time first fixed for his execution having long since passed by, he will have to be brought before the Hastings Court for re-sentence.

First Catch the Earache.

For earache fold and dip a small towel in hot water, wring and lay on the ear; then cover with two or three folds of flannel; repeat until relieved.

Mr. Davis in N. C.

Hon. Jefferson Davis will be formally invited to Wilmington, North Carolina. If he accepts the invitation there will be such a crowd in the old city as it never held before. The people of North Carolina, as well as elsewhere in the South, esteem and love their old President and his welcome will not be less cordial in our borders than it was in Montgomery and Atlanta. He has borne the sufferings of us all and has a warm place in the hearts of the old soldiers and their children.—State Chronicle.

Advice to Young Men.

Young man, it is a good thing to keep on the right side of your dollar. It makes a great difference in your comfort and prosperity whether you spend 95 per cent, or 100 per cent. of it, but it is a positive insult to the dollar to spend 105 per cent. of it. You will be sorry enough for it when the dollars get a fair grip upon you. A dollar resents a mortgage upon itself. It will never serve you cheerfully if you dispose of it before you get it.

Raspberry Suckers.

Both red and black raspberries are inclined to grow too many canes, and will bear better if part are removed. The side shoots of red raspberries may be used for new plantations, but with the black caps new plants are better derived from roots which form the tips inserted in the grass ground the previous season.

The pea crop will grow better in the shade than any other grain, and many farmers are learning that it is just what is needed to sow in their apple orchard. Let pigs harvest the crop, and with this and fallen apples a large amount of the very best pork may be fattened before cold weather.

Minister's wife (looking over the paper): "You are referred to in this morning's paper, my dear, as a 'distinguished clergyman.'" Minister: "H'm. I thought that my sermon yesterday would attract attention. Is it published in full, or only a synopsis given?" Wife: "Neither. You are spoken of as a 'distinguished clergyman' in connection with that patent medicine testimonial you sent Dr. Quack."

It was a Chicago lawyer who, in his capacity of justice of the peace, was called upon to marry a couple in haste. Absent-mindedly he began with the groom: "You do solemnly swear that you will faithfully perform all the duties devolving upon you as husband of this woman, during your term of office, and until your successor shall be chosen and qualified in your stead." Then he remembered himself and began again, after the manner appropriate to the occasion.

The Alps are pierced by three remarkably long tunnels, entering Italy from France, Switzerland, and the Austrian Tyrol. They are the Mont Cenis, 73 miles long; the St. Gothard, 64 miles long; and the Arlberg tunnel, only 64 miles long. The projected Simplon tunnel, by which the railroad from Geneva to Martigny will be carried through the mountains to Domo d'Ossola, will be 124 miles long; and the estimated cost $20,000,000.

A Maine lady being advised to take an ocean voyage for her health, hired staterooms for herself and maid on one of the steamers which ply between Portland and Boston, took along all the necessary conveniences and many luxuries, and made 40 trips without quitting the vessel. She was much benefited by the voyage.

The Washington Star says that it is fortunate for society that the 8-hour movement has not extended to all fields of labor. If the physicians, for example, should limit their activities by a set rule, it would be hard on the people who fall sick at unseasonable hours. As for the journalists, if they were to cease their practice of working all the time when they were not asleep, no one of the various eight hour combinations would find out what the others were doing.

The word salary comes from the Latin salarium, literally salt money, from sal, salt, which was part of the pay of Roman soldiers. This will probably explain why certain young ladies regard young men who receive meagre salaries as being entirely "too fresh."

It is said that the spray of the great Yellowstone falls in the National Park built up at its foot a mountain of ice, scarcely yet affected by the spring warmth, and almost as high as the fall itself, which in midwinter was magnificent in form and color.

If President CLEVELAND only had time to put in one solid week's reading in the various daily and weekly Democratic journals in the United States, he would, perhaps, be surprised to ascertain how few of them are fond of his civil service notions or patient with the administration's delay in giving the offices to the Democrats.

Teacher—"Miss Sinnico, please parse the sentence, 'Adolphus married Caroline.'" Miss S.—"Well, 'Adolphus' is a noun, because it is the name of a thing; 'married' is a conjunction, because it joins Adolphus and Caroline, and 'Caroline' is a verb, 'cause it governs the noun."
