The sounds of the tumult have ceased to ring. And the battle's sun has set, And here in peace of the new-born spring, We would fain forgive and forget.

In the midnight of grief-held fast; And yet, O brothers be loyal still To the sacred and stainless past!

She is glancing now from the vapor and cloud, From the waning mansion of Mars, And the pride of her beauty is wanly bowed, And her eyes are misted stars! And she speaks in a voice that is as sad as death. "There is duty still to be done, Tho the trumpet of onset has spent its breath And the battle been lost and won;"

And she points with a tremulous hand below, To the wasted and worn array Of the heroes who strove in the morning glow Or the grandeur that crowned "the Gray."

O, God! they come not as once they came In the magical years of yore; For the trenchant sword and the soul of flame Shall quiver and flash no more :-

Alas! for the broken and battered hosts; Frail wrecks from a gory sea, Tho' pale as a band from the realm of ghosts, Salute them ! they fought with Lee. And gloried when dauntiess Stonewall marched Salute them! Their voices so faint to-day, Were once the thunder of strife, In the storm of the nottest and wildest fray That ever has mocked at life!

Not vanquished, but crushed by a mystic fate Blind nations against them hurled, By the seifish might, and the causeless Hate, Of the banded and ruthless world :

Enough; all Fates are the servants of God; And follows ilis gui ling hand We shall rise some day from the chastener Shall waken, and-understand!

But hark, to the Past as she murmurs "Come. There is duty still to be done, The' mute is the drum, and the bugle dumb, And the battle is lost and won !"

No palace is here for the heroes' needs, With its shining portals apart; Shall they find the peace of their "Invalides." O, South! in your grateful-heart?

A Refuge of welcome, with living halls; And Love for its radiant dome, Till the music of deaths reveille calls The souls of the warrior's-home!

The Northern System.

News Observer. The river and harbor bill which was in the old days regarded by the democratic leaders as unconstitutional legislation, even when the appropriations were limited to works of general importance to commerce, is now made to embrace every little creek in the country, and the House has just passed by a log-rolling scheme a tremendous bil dollars for these purposes. It is supposed that in the Senate the amount of the bill will be increased to twenty mil-
