The hands at work at Gold Hill were paid off, including back pay, last week, and the boys broke the commandments on Sunday.

The wind blew a regular gale here on last Saturday, but no damage was done either in town or county, as is reported south of us.

Last Monday evening some thirty of the young people of Salisbury enjoyed a moonlight picnic at St. John's Mill on the Yadkin river.

Tuesday morning found some of the moonlight picnickers with bad colds and headaches. The cases last mentioned submitted a majority report.

There are a great many handsome "turn outs" in Salisbury this season, and the luxury of afternoon driving is enjoyed by a larger number than usual.

Several carpenters with their families have moved here—from other places—and find employment. We want native workmen. No foreigners need apply.

The sign painted on the blacksmith shop, in the rear of the Farmers' Warehouse, puts to shame any effort at drawing contained in Mark Twain's "Innocence Abroad."

The annual meeting of the Rich Knob Copper Co. is called to be held at No. 146 Broadway, New York City, on Wednesday, the 2d of June, for the election of trustees.

Mr. John Heilig has added some new and very stylish buggies and phaetons to his stock, as well as some horses which carry high heads. He has found it necessary to do this in order to keep up with the demands of his growing trade.

The South River Reading Club will give their annual picnic, at South River Academy, on Friday, May 28th. They issue invitations; the occasion being the "winding up" of both the club and the very prosperous school, until fall.

Postmaster Boyden says that no horse mails could leave Salisbury on Wednesday on account of high water. The creeks in all directions are past flooding. He thinks it will be several days before the country mails will run regularly.

The season has again arrived when the fact that the Court-house green could be made an attractive place ought to be impressed upon the board of Commissioners. Make the place not only an ornament to the town, but a credit to the county.

The sanitary condition of the town should receive consideration early, before evil influences germinate, and diseases develop. Nip them in the bud. A man with a scythe and rake could do much good in clearing fence and ditch lines of the rank growth of weeds now so luxuriant.

The members of the "Children's Mission Band," of the First Presbyterian Church, Salisbury, will serve ice cream and cake, on the lawn in rear of S. H. Wiley's residence, at 5 p. m., Friday, May 21st. The proceeds to be applied for the benefit of foreign missions.

The old soldiers are slow to forget things that have any connection with the war. There are certain dates indelibly fixed in their memories, for instance, one was heard to remark on Tuesday, the 18th inst., "This is the 22d anniversary of the fight at Drury's Bluff where Gov. Jarvis, (then a Captain) was wounded."

Mr. Natl. Atkinson, of Asheville, called on the WATCHMAN, last Tuesday evening. He is on his way to Washington city, where he will be a delegate to the "Grape Growers' Association" now in convention in that city. Mr. Atkinson is an active man and has long been identified with the fruit interests of the west.

Take it all in all, last Tuesday was perhaps the most inactive in business circles, that Salisbury has known in years. Rain began falling before day and continued to come down in torrents almost without intermission all day. Country people could not get to town and town folks staid securely in doors. Hence the lag in every department of business, except tobacco factories. Remember that.

The WATCHMAN is requested by several persons who were members of the Circulating Library to remind the Directors, that, as the Young Men's Christian Association to meet and keep up the order, the books loaned them by the Library Association, be recalled and collected, as a basis for a new association, or divided among the members. Five or six valuable books in the collection, and the Directors should look after the matter.

The Hamburg—Brennan Fire Insurance Co. of Hamburg, Germany—through its Agents, J. Allen Brown, have just paid Messrs. T. & L. Wright damages on the frame tenant dwelling caused by lightning, which occurred on the 1st of May. This Company was not really liable for damages under their policy as no fire ensued, but through the recommendation of Mr. Brown, their Agent here, it has been paid. This is an example of the equitable and liberal spirit of the Hamburg—Brennan towards claimants.

Miss Studie Murphy gave a progressive euchre party on last Friday evening which is spoken of as perfect in its details. There were ten couples engaged in the game, and the scene as it progressed was characterized as spirited and enjoyable. The prize was an elegant gold pin with stone setting, and the "booby" prize was a tooth brush. The party was in evening dress, and partook of a lunch after the game.

Mr. H. A. Klueppelberg, drummer for Messrs Wittkowsky & Baruch, Mr. W. being with him at the time, came very near being drowned yesterday in crossing the creek near Whitson Miller's, 19 miles east of this place. The horses, wagon, and the two men in it, were washed down stream some distance, but the horses fortunately struck the bank at a favorable point and drew out all safe and sound, except the drummer lost his sample trunks and baggage.

The WATCHMAN acknowledges invitations to a number of school commencements. It would be both pleasant and profitable to be able to attend them. Wake Forest sends out a very handsome card. Their exercises take place June 8, 9 and 10. Fork Academy, in Davie county, celebrates their 6th commencement on the 26th inst. Maj. S. M. Finger delivers the address.

Victor H. Boyden has our thanks for a card to the commencement party at the Jamestown High School, which takes place on the 3d of June.

Personal. Miss Fannie Neely has returned from a visit to friends in Charlotte.

Mr. Hinton Helper, of Asheville was here last week. He is "Guy Cyril."

Mrs. Dr. W. B. Council, mother of Mrs. Stephen Boyden of this place, who has been very low with pneumonia, is much better, says the Lenoir Topic.

Miss Helen McCormick is the new telegraph operator here. Mr. Robt. Gill and wife have gone to Charlotte to live. Mr. Gill goes into the Western Union office there.

A Compliment. Mr. J. Allen Brown, has been presented with a pair of elegant woolen blankets, the best make of the Salisbury Woolen Mills, and it was accompanied with the following note:

SALISBURY, N. C., May 13. Dear Sir:—As an evidence of the appreciation I wish to express in behalf of the Salisbury Woolen Mills, for your zeal and honest effort in effecting a fair and equitable adjustment of our insurance, you will please accept the accompanying package. Yours very truly, C. A. Rice, Secy., Salisbury Woolen Mills.

Yadkin River Bridge Impassable.

As we go to press, the rain is still falling. Reports from all directions indicate that the flood is almost unprecedented in this section. The railroad bridge over the Yadkin river has been made impassable by the loss of trestles, which have been swept away by the swelling flood. The bridge is undergoing a change, iron being substituted for wood, and the old wooden portion was supported between the piers by trestles, these have been carried under the bridge. It is thought that the structure will not be damaged unless the water reaches the body of the bridge—which is not unlikely, from present indications.

There is no communication north or south of this point. The Coddle creek bridge between Concord and Charlotte is impassable, and the Atlantic Tenn. & Ohio road, from Charlotte to Statesville, is blocked. The Western road is open.

Leaky Roofs.

The rain this week has tested every roof, and many have been found defective. Tenants of rented property have a right to expect dry rooms for their business, and ought not to be subjected to loss of property and discomfort by leakages. And yet, as a matter of fact, there is scarcely a roof in town that is not defective—some of them seriously so. And the strangest thing of all is, that metal roofs are not exceptions to the rule. We do not know of a single metal roof in town that is without fault in this respect. With few exceptions it may be, they all leak; so that the chief advantage of a tin covering is the protection it affords against fire. It is a subject which should engage the attention of roofing men not less than those who build houses to rent. A leaky roof, a smoking chimney and a grumbler in the family are three things from which all wish to be delivered.

Lost out to 100 Eight Horses.

The team of four grey horses which drew the odd band wagon loaded with fifteen merry moonlight picnickers, on last Monday evening took fright as the party started homeward. The lead horses turned suddenly and broke the tongue just as the wagon collided with a tree beside the road. It was overthrown and twelve of the fifteen occupants thrown to the ground, among them six or more ladies. It seems almost a providential intervention that none of them were seriously hurt. Miss Addie White and Mrs. Steere were the greatest sufferers among the ladies, and they only had bruises, while Miss Alexander, (of Charlotte) received a slight scratch in the face. The scene is described as very lively and exciting, and for a considerable time it was impossible to know the extent of damages. The party were late getting in on account of the accident. Several of the young men were bruised up a little and it is said as much as four bottles of Kluttz's Tobacco Liniment was used during the evening, after the accident.

Rain—Wheat, &c.

Last Tuesday was a very rainy day. It commenced a little before daylight and rained all day; sometimes very hard—a steady pour—faster than the earth would take it in, even in plowed ground and spaded gardens. Considerable washing away of the soil occurred. Heavy wheat suffered, being brought down to the ground so flat as to leave little room to hope it would ever rise again. Mr. James Crawford of this vicinity had a field which his neighbors estimated would yield fifty bushels to the acre. He had laid out to beat that Buncombe county wheat raiser who published a challenge last fall, for the largest crop per acre. But Tuesday's rain blasted his hopes, and he came to town, through the storm, hoping to see something or somebody, that would make him forget his prostrate crop. C. F. Baker was trying to comfort him, as our reporter passed a group discussing the situation. "It is a wonderful crop, Jimmy—mighty heavy—but a heap of it will rise when the sun comes out." But for all that, "Jimmy" looked like he was whipped—evidently feeling very badly.

Instructions to Congressmen.

Pass the Blair bill. Pension all the Federal soldiers. Pass the river and harbor bill. Refuse to modify or lower the tariff. Build a monument to all the Federal Generals at a cost of two millions each. And the civil service law so as to keep out all Democrats and keep in all Republicans. Degrade silver if you can. Pay the bonds off in Gold and the poor man in degraded silver. Put all the jobs through Congress you can. Squander all the money in the Treasury. Pass the regular appropriation bill. Add fifty per cent. to each. Disintegrate the Democratic party. Draw your salaries punctually every month. Be sure and increase the burdens of the people. Then adjourn and come home and tell the people the glorious work you have done for them and how you have saved the Constitution from the vandals and that you must be returned or the country is ruined.—Scotland Neck Democrat.

To Go Fishing.

Henry George, the writer on political economy from the labor standpoint, says to the workmen: "Why do you merely ask for eight hours for labor—why not six, five, four, even one hour's work per day would be enough! Think of the agency of production! Think of the worth of man's intelligence! Think of that intelligence which sends a message across the ocean! Is it not capable of reducing the labor so that one hour is sufficient for a day's work?" What a glorious time we will all have when the world gets down to the point of doing only one hour's work a day! The United States Fish Commission had better be more active in increasing the supply of fish, for when that good time comes we will all want to go fishing.—Baltimore Manufacturers' Record.

Stopping the Leaks.

Our democratic President has set himself vigorously to work stopping all leaks from the Federal treasury. He is giving the closest scrutiny to all appropriation bills, and while this involves an amount of labor greater probably than any President has ever given to legislation, it is being done without hesitation in the interest of the people. Mr. Cleveland has already distinguished himself for laborious attention to the duties of his office and this additional evidence of faithfulness will by no means be lost upon the people.—News-Observer.

The Presbyterian church at Durham is now lighted by electricity.

MINING DEPARTMENT.

T. K. BRUNER, EDITOR.

Randolph County Notes.

It is reported that Mr. Bartrum, of Englan, Ia, has purchased the Porter gold mine, formerly known as the Johnson, and will put up a ten stamp mill for reducing the quartz.

It is expected that the Poplar Branch mine will be put in active operation early in June.

The Gray mine has been sold. Mr. Bugman of Baltimore, and Mr. J. Reafrey of High Point are the purchasers.

The Uwharrie gold mine, owned and worked by the "Old North State Co.," is just now producing some fine ore of good grade.

Mining Men Coming.

A large number of practical mining men, accompanied by capitalists, will visit this State during the latter part of May. They are looking for investments and have already spied out the land. They come to make final arrangements.

Holtshouser Mine.

Prof. Tiernan who is opening the Holtshouser mine, near here, has been on a visit to the mine this week. He is the expert of the Southern Improvement Company, and only reaches the mine occasionally. He reports the outlook as favorable.

The Yadkin Chlorination Works near town, is reducing and chlorinating ores from Georgia.

Natl. Atkinson, Esq., reports some indications of activity in mines and minerals in the transmontane counties of the State. He expects the Bolton mine, a splendid gold bearing property, to be worked this summer. He comments some on manganese and corundum deposits which he expects to see worked in the near future.

Blue Wing Copper.

Copper mining is being successfully conducted at Blue Wing, this State. Recent reports say that a Pennsylvania company has been working away in a quiet manner, and but little known to the outside world. Recent developments have greatly encouraged the company. They own a few hundred acres of very valuable mineral lands, which these veins have already been found. The veins are from three to five feet in width, and all parallel, laying within a distance of 60 or 75 feet in width. The deepest shaft is 90 feet, while several smaller shafts have been sunk from 15 to 30 feet, and the drifts on veins amount 65 feet. The ore carries 20 to 30 per cent of copper. A calculation will show the amount of ore in a 3 foot vein of a given length and 90 feet in depth. It figures so well, with an average of say 20 per cent of copper to the ton, that the company proposes to erect at once smelting and refining works. The stock of the company is said to be advancing.

Woodleaf Notes.

Dear Editor:—As Clof Knocker is busy plowing and Job is resting on his oars, I make up for something new to turn up around R. & B's cotton gin. I will endeavor to slip in a squib from Woodleaf. Yesterday Prof. Wetmore's academic school closed for the spring term, and we, the boys, from afar, must bid adieu to the pleasant groves and pretty girls of Unity. It makes us feel sad but if we live we are coming back again. Yesterday evening Mrs. Wetmore gave us an ice cream party, mixed up with cakes and other good things to part upon. It was a pleasant occasion. The Prof. and Miss Mary Rose Wetmore regaled us with sweet music from the piano and violin. We were to near the parsonage, preacher and church, to "trip the light fantastic toe," so we had to remain quiet, save an occasional pat of the foot as the mellow strains floated out upon the balmy air. The ice used was from uncle Clodknocker's patent ice house and there is plenty more left. The old man Clodknocker says Job made a big mistake when he wrote that his ice had thawed out. STEELE.

Coming Home at Last.

The government has gained a verdict of $116,000 against Gen. McArthur, ex-postmaster of Chicago under the republican regime, and his bondsmen. The case was a suit to recover money that Gen. McArthur was short when as postmaster he surrendered his office in 1875. How it recalls the magnificent corruption of the Grant era! Long may it be before such an era recurs to this democratic country!—News Observer.

Can this be True!

We learn from a gentleman from Thomsville that a little girl was feeding a drove of hogs Wednesday morning and one of them bit her hand. The scent of blood made them furious and they attacked the girl and before they could be driven away had torn her to pieces and were absolutely devouring her.—Greensboro Patriot.

MARRIED:

By D. L. Bringle, Esq., Mr. W. H. Kesler to Miss Fannie Long, on the 14th inst., in Salisbury.

DIED.

At his home three miles west of this place on May 17th, Mr. George Earnhardt, of bronchitis aged 76 years.

Allen Brown is prepared to issue policies against losses from such disasters, at rates easily in reach of every property owner. During one year 9 tornadoes occurred in Virginia, 12 in North Carolina; 22 in South Carolina and 38 in Georgia. Insurance is all that can save loss from such causes. Don't wait until the next storm scatters your property to the winds, but procure a policy with J. Allen Brown against tornadoes, cyclones and mud storms. Rates very low, being only one-half per cent. for one year, one per cent. for three years, and one and one-half per cent. for five years, and, if desired, notes for 1/2 of premium on term risks will be accepted.
