Mining Editor Watchman:---I notice an article in your paper of the 9th, referring to the Marion Bullion Company. In the article you state that the Company "are just now in a state of inaction," &c. Permit me to say that the mines are not in a state of inaction, and have not been for over a year. On the contrary, we are

Mr. Flemming and wife, have moved doing more just now than we have been for some time; and the returns are as satisfactory as at any time during the past six months.

We did expend during the last year nearly three thousad dollars more than receipts, on account of extraordinary developments. Within the past twelve months we have constructed one or two large reservoirs, have run a tunnel through a good sized hill for the purpose of carrying water, have doubled the capacity of one of our ditch lines for more
