

INDUSTRIAL ISSUE!

10,000 COPIES OF THE WATCHMAN

To be Given to Home-Seekers!

WE HAVE DETERMINED TO ISSUE AT AN EARLY DAY TEN THOUSAND COPIES OF THE CAROLINA WATCHMAN, ILLUSTRATED, SETTING FORTH THE ADVANTAGES OF THE SITUATION, CLIMATE, NATURAL RESOURCES, RAILWAY FACILITIES AND THE ADAPTATION OF OUR ROWAN SOIL TO THE CULTIVATION OF ALL CROPS AND FRUITS.

SALISBURY TO THE FRONT! THE TIME HAS COME TO INVITE ATTENTION TO OUR ADVANTAGES, AND WE PROPOSE TO DO IT TO THE BEST OF OUR ABILITY. MR. JOHN T. PATRICK, STATE AGENT OF IMMIGRATION HAS BEEN INVITED TO AID IN THE WORK, AND HAS AGREED TO PUT HIS SHOULDER TO THE WHEEL. LET THOSE WHO HAVE THE INTEREST OF THE TOWN AND COUNTY AT HEART AID THIS UNDERTAKING.

"The Daily News," of Wilmington, has been suspended, at least for the present.

Is it a fact that there is more coughing in a church than in a theater? If so, why is it?

The Maryland Democratic Convention will be held in Baltimore, commencing May 12th.

The New York Assembly has passed by a vote of 86 to 8 a bill which substitutes electricity for hanging.

Mr. P. M. Fagart, of Concord boasts of a hen which has laid eight eggs in four days, so says the Standard.

John J. Hazzard, teller in the Fort Pitt National Bank, of Pittsburg, Pa., shipped over into Canada with a portion of the funds of the bank, Saturday last.

The new town of Dann, in Harnet county, is represented as growing very rapidly, and her business men are boldly competing with those of older towns in the neighborhood.

A shad sold in the Wilmington market, when it came to be cleaned, was found to contain in its entrails a five cent and a fifty cent piece of silver money. The pieces were very much blackened by corrosion.

The annual meeting of the State Medical Society will be held in Fayetteville, this year commencing the 8th of May.

It is proposed to make this the time and place for organizing a Microscopic Society, and persons interested in the subject are requested to meet there.

The Mills tariff bill has at last been reported for the consideration of the House. Mr. Mills presented it with a speech in its favor, and was followed by Mr. Kelly in a two hours speech in opposition to it. Mr. Kelly argues that the reduction proposed by the bill will ruin the country. He is one of the men who regards a protective tariff as a great blessing, concerning which read Senator Vance's letter in this paper.

Mr. Thomas Fletcher, gas engineer of Washington, England, at a demonstration at a meeting of the Liverpool section of the Society of Chemical Industry, recently, of a new gas heating appliance devised by himself, which astonished all who saw it. It is a small machine which may be carried in a grip sack, but its power of fusing iron or steel, or skillets iron, was shown to be almost miraculous. A flame from a blow pipe cuts its way through the hardest metal with the ease and in the time a carpenter with his tools can make a hole through wood. Bankers and treasurers have taken the alarm at the fact that the most secure safes are no longer safe.

A great engineering feat was recently most successfully performed, on Coney Island, N. Y., in moving the Brighton Beach Hotel, a building 465 feet long, one hundred and fifty feet deep, and three stories high, with five or six towers. It was first jacked up high enough to run 112 railroad platform cars under it, resting on 24 carefully constructed railroad trucks. The cars were all linked together so as to insure uniform and simultaneous action. Six locomotives were employed to draw the building, and they started it with ease. After seeing that everything was working according to design, four engines moved off with it at the rate of a fast walk, a distance of 100 yards, near the new location designed for the hotel.

Who Shall it Be?

The time is approaching when the inquiry of who shall be our representative, will be raised. We have several times heard the suggestion that he ought to be a farmer, or some one to a large extent identified with the farming part of the community. This no doubt results from the fact that much the larger part of the voters of the county are farmers, who naturally feel that their interest in public affairs would be more faithfully attended to in the State Council by one of their own calling, as being in more exact sympathy with themselves. It is a plausible, not to say rational, view of the subject; and if the farmers will bring out a man of suitable qualifications who is willing to accept the highly responsible duties an election would impose upon him, we feel confident the voters of this town will join most heartily in his support. We have for several years been ably represented by Lee S. Overman, Esq., and without knowing his views and feelings on a reelection, we are free to say it is doubtful whether the county can send a man better equipped for the service than he. Nevertheless, if it be the will of the farmers to select a man of their own family, so to speak, we are sure it will not only not be resisted, but heartily sustained by their fellow citizens here. Perhaps our country friends would not object to a compromise, since it is a case in which a compromise would do violence to no great principle. If so, we would ask them to think of Mr. J. S. McCubbins, Sr. We take the liberty of mentioning his name without consulting him; for we hold that if the people think him worthy of the trust, they have a right to confer it on him, unless he can present very strong reasons why he cannot serve them. Mr. McCubbins has been a farmer for years, and a very good one at that; and although he has also, in the meantime, been engaged in other pursuits, there is no question as to the lean of his sympathies. He is a practical business man of acknowledged merit, and has had some experience in legislation. In running over the list of prominent farmers in the county, we know of only two (T. J. Sumner & J. A. Hedrick) the equal of Mr. McCubbins, or who would come so near filling the requirement. Doubtless there are some unknown to us, but if there are, they are also unknown to a very large part of the voters of the county, who, as a rule would prefer to vote for men whom they have known and tried.

We would in conclusion, remind our Democratic friends of the county, and especially the Committee men in each township, that the time for primary meetings is at hand, and the people are expected to commence holding them. Call meetings and talk over the public affairs in which all are so much interested. A comparison of views among those whose interests are identical, is apt to lead to harmonious and efficient action.

Robbing the Farmers.

With malice prepened and aforethought, every capitalist who goes into a trust, a combine or a plot to keep down prices by simply manufacturing such a quantity of goods as the demand may make necessary, is a conspirator against the agricultural classes of the country, and will, soon or later, have such an ending as most conspirators generally deserve. Take for example, the Plow Trust. As soon as it was perfected the price of plows went up 100 per cent. This increase was mainly brought about by the Steel Trust, of course, in perfect harmony with the Plow Trust. The combine includes all the great plow manufacturers of the country, and it is safe to say that plows are at least 100 per cent higher than they would be if the duties on them and the steel manufacturers who go with them were abolished. Now, who suffers, and suffers alone, this combining of trusts? Who indeed, but the farmers? He has to plow his land, stand the raise, pay the juggled advance, only made possible through the war tariff, and struggle along the best he can under the additional load. There is no combine to put up the price of his wheat and his corn, his sheep, horses, hogs, and mules. Competition is killed, and whether the plow is worth $11 or $40 he has to have it or quit the agriculture. Only so many are manufactured at home, and none can run from abroad, because the war tariff acts as an absolute prohibition. — Kansas City Times.

News Items.

BY THIS MORNING'S MAIL. Hon. Roscoe Conkling died at his home in New York, yesterday, morning at 1:50 o'clock. Another great man gone. The discussion on the question of admitting Dakota into the Union yesterday brought up a discussion of the legality of Hayes' election to the Presidency, in which Senators Vest and Sherman locked horns. There was a big fire in Wadesboro, yesterday morning before day in which a three story Hotel, two stores, a dwelling and other property was destroyed.

Washington Letter.

(From our regular correspondent)

WASHINGTON, April 16 1888.

What is the legislative outlook from a democratic standpoint? Was asked of a gentleman who is known to stand very close to Mr. Cleveland. He replied as follows: Well, it is by no means as bad as it was a week ago. The dead lock cost us ten days of valuable time, but there's no use wasting time now in talking about that. It is over, thank Heaven. The main question that Congress has to deal with this session is the tariff. The fight on that will begin tomorrow in the House when the Mills tariff bill is called up for consideration, and will continue until the bill is passed or defeated, though I don't think the last is likely to occur. No other legislation, with the exception of the regular appropriation bills, will be considered by the House until the tariff question is settled; and I understand that at the proper time the leaders of the party will call a House caucus, which will compel all democrats in the House to vote for the bill. All that will of course take time, but the intention is, if possible, to bring the bill to vote before the date set for the meeting of the St. Louis convention.

In my opinion, he continued, it is extremely doubtful whether this programme can be carried out; there is not time enough left. There will probably be a hundred or more set speeches delivered on the bill, some 75 or 80 members having already filed notice with the Speaker of their intention to speak on the subject. From tomorrow to the meeting of the St. Louis convention there are just 42 days exclusive of Sundays. In all probability the speeches to be made on this bill will take up more time than that, to say nothing of the days that it will be absolutely necessary to devote to consideration of the regular appropriation bills which must be passed before the 30th of June, or some of the wheels of government will become clogged.

However, much time may be saved by holding an early caucus and mapping out the exact course to be followed on the floor of the House, and once mapped out, the leaders should see that there is no going outside the lines by any member of the party. If a vote is reached on the final passage of the Mills bill before the 1st of July, I shall be greatly surprised.

Of the other legislation now before Congress: The River and Harbor bill will pass the House surely and probably the Senate; the Dependent Pension bill is hardly likely to get through the House at this session; the Springer Omnibus bill for the admission of the Territories of Dakota, Montana, Washington and New Mexico, will be passed by the House but not the Senate; the Blair Educational bill is not likely to be reported from the House committee. There now, I have given you my ideas of the democratic legislative prospect: you are welcome to them, but don't use my name, not that I care, but somebody else might you know.

Ex-Senator Wallace, of Pa. says the democrats of that State are unanimous for the renomination of Cleveland. The same news comes here from all sections of the country.

Chauncey Depew has a long head. He says he does not want the republican nomination. He did not give his reasons, but the presumption is that he did not want to be struck by the Cleveland cyclone.

A bill for the relief of soldiers who enlisted and served in the army or navy during the rebellion under assumed names has been favorably reported by the House committee on Military affairs.

The Government Printing Office investigation, which was suspended a short time ago on account of the illness of the Chairman of the House committee on printing, has been resumed.

Mr. Oates, the Ala. Representative who led the filibusters in the recent fight against the direct-tax bill, is understood to be ambitious of representing his State in the Senate. Mr. Allen, of Mississippi, is making quite a reputation in the House as a quick witted and ready debater. He gave a fine example of his talent in that line on Saturday, which was much enjoyed by the members. His victim was Mr. Perkins, of Kansas, who had started to address the House, on the Indian appropriation bill but who floundered around, mixing up the tariff and the slave trade and mistaking the constitution of the Confederate States for the platform of the democratic party. Mr. Allen stood this as long as he could and then proceeded to make the disconnected gentleman from Kansas a laughing stock. He said Mr. Perkins reminded him of the story of two men who when traveling, slept in a room with a cupboard in it. During the night one asked the other to look out of the window and see what kind of a day it was going to be. The latter opened the glass door of the cupboard and exclaimed, "It is dark as hell and smells like cheese. Instead of getting his head out into the daylight of 1888, the gentleman from Kansas had got his head into the cupboard of rebellion, where every thing was dark and smelled like slavery, Mr. Allen invited him to discuss the live issue presented by the democratic party into the open sunshine of to-day.

NEW YORK, April 16.—At 12 o'clock to-day all the breweries in this city blew their noon whistles and formally locked out 5,000 men.

I have been a sufferer from catarrh for the past eight years. Having tried a number of remedies advertised as "sure cures" with out obtaining any relief, I had resolved never to take any other patent medicines, when a friend advised me to try Ely's Cream Balm. I did so with great reluctance, but can now testify with pleasure that after using it for six weeks I believe myself cured. It is a most agreeable remedy—an invaluable Balm.—Joseph Stewart, 624, Grand Ave., Brooklyn.

Shad Fishing.

The catch of shad in the Cape Fear river is unprecedented. Dealers here who handle a large proportion of the product of the fisheries, estimate that so far this season the fisherman engaged in the business have taken 50,000, and that by the first of May the number will reach 70,000. Last year the catch was double that of the previous season, and this year will probably be one-third more than the catch of last year. This is a capital showing for the good work done by the Fish Commission, resulted in increasing by three-fold or more the supply of shad and placing this fine food-fish within the reach of all classes of people. At Front Street market fine shad are selling at thirty-five cents a pair for roe and fifteen cents a pair for buck. There are sixty-five small boats engaged in shad fishing here.—Wilmington Star.

DAKOTA.

The Republicans are very anxious to admit Dakota into the Union as a State, which would give to their party two Senators and a representative in Congress. But they are opposed to the admission of New Mexico, Montana and Washington Territories, because they are probably Democratic in politics.

There is obvious great wrong done the populous States of the Union by admitting territories of almost no population and making them equal in the U. S. Senate; and yet it is sometimes done for purely party purposes.

Unsay Republicans.

Savannah News. It is not to be wondered at that the Republicans in Congress are showing signs of uneasiness with regard to the Mills bill. The prospect of it passing the House is improving every day, and there is not much doubt now that it will go to the Senate with about the same provisions it contained when reported to the House. When it reaches the Senate the Republicans will be confronted with a responsibility of getting it. They won't wait to pass it, and they will hardly dare to defeat it.
