In closing these sketches of the Rowan churches, it may be remarked that there are a few small Protestant Methodist churches in the county and perhaps a Northern Methodist church or two, but the writer has no facts in posession concerning them. There are no Roman Catholics that we know of in the county outside of Salisbury.

Since their emancipation the colored people of Rowan have formed themselves into churches in all parts of the GERMAN REFORMED.

The German Reformed church was established in Rowan county about the same time as that of the Lutheran.

It was formed by immigrants from Germany and Switzerland who came to this country along with the Lutherans about 1750 and their desendants may still be found on or near the old homesteads.

According to the custom of their early days, the settlers united in building a joint or Union church. Owing to some cause a separation took place and the Reformed built Lower Stone or Grace Church which is the parent of all the German Reformed churches in Rowan county.

MANUFACTURING FACILITIES.

All the necessary conditions for suc cessful and profitable manufacturing exist in Rowan county.

The Yadkin river measured at the river six miles from Salisbury discharges 155,000 cabic feet per minute, which gives two hundred and ninety-four horse power per foot, and there are scores of excellent mill sites along the river within the borders of our county. For cotton factories, woolen mills, grist mills and factories of nearly every by many as being better than clover kind we have the cheap power to run to build up exhausted soils. crude material to keep them running.
