

THURSDAY, AUGUST 23, 1888. County Democratic Ticket. FOR HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES, J. S. McCUBBINS, SR. NOR SHERIFF, C. C. KRIDER. FOR REGISTER OF DEEDS, H. N. WOODSON. FOR TREASURER, J. S. McCUBBINS, JR. FOR SURVEYOR, B. C. AREY. FOR CORONER, D. A. ATWELL.

Garden truck is about played out. Grapes, grapes, grapes!—where do they come from? Hon. J. C. Baxton, of Winston, spent Sunday here. Miss Anna Holmes is visiting friends at Morganton. Salisbury is now the Fountain city of North Carolina. For a splendid fit, gentlemen should go to Kelly, the tailor. The Presbyterian Chapel on Lee street is nearing completion. There are more petty cases for trial this Court than usual. Waldell is the man for Governor, when we get our term expires. (G) to J. Blumenthal & Bro. for good and cheap goods. Buis, building. Mrs. J. F. Murdoch and children returned from Asheville on Tuesday. Secretary is well represented at the meeting held at Mocksville to-day. The Western rains are crowded with people returning from the mountains. Misses Nettie Holmes and Ida McCreary went to Connelly Springs Tuesday. Miss Jesse Wyatt of Providence township picked out a son nicely on the 15th inst. Rev. L. P. Scherer, of Hagerstown, Md. will preach in the Lutheran church next Sunday. There is some complaint about boys, who are mischief, wet passers by when sprinkling the streets. The Republican orators are afraid of Col. Waldell. He cannot get one of them to canvass with him. The following visiting lawyers are in attendance at court: Brown, of Stanley; Robbins, of Irredell; and Lach, of Davidson. Hon. A. M. Waddell spent Sunday here and left Monday morning for Concord where he addressed a large audience. The rains descend, the floods come, and the winds blow, but the Mocksville Express (Sanford's) makes its regular trips all the same. The largest and finest watermelons and cantaloupes we have ever seen in this neighborhood are being brought to town by our farmers. Gallagher Bros., our photographers, finding Lenoir and Blowing Rock occupied, have returned to Salisbury to open up for the fall trade. We wonder if either of our reel companies are going to take part in the first man's tournament and celebration in Greensboro next month. Mrs. Small, mother of Mrs. J. D. Small, contractor and builder of this place, died of consumption Monday morning and was buried from the Catholic church Tuesday. Speaking of yellow fever reminds us that a gentleman from Florida was taken ill, stopped over here, and died during the war. The Doctors said he died of yellow fever. No cases followed. Baldy Caldwell, son of Dr. J. A. Caldwell, will enter college at the University next week and take the full course. His father and grand-father were both graduated from that time-honored institution. There is more government business transacted at Salisbury than any other place in Western North Carolina. Occurs to us that we are entitled to a government building if other places of less importance are. The Trinity College district Conference convenes at Lexington to-day, and will continue over Sunday. Bishop, Duncan, of South Carolina. Some of our Methodist friends here will go over on Sunday to hear the Bishop's sermon. Salisbury, unlike many other county seats, never has a very large crowd on her streets during Court weeks, and traffic is not increased much; but this week has proven an exception, as there has been a good business, for the merchants especially. Quite a collision occurred at the depot last Saturday morning. The north-bound train crashed into the locomotive of the Western train, causing a damage estimated at about $3,000. All the train men have been summoned to a court of inquiry at Richmond. Wheat Fertilizers. Received for fall sales, a car load each of Soluble Pacific, Dissolved Bones for composting, or drilling soil. Will also receive other high grade goods. J. ALLEN BROWN.

We wish to say to any of our citizens who are contemplating a visit to Asheville that Oakland Inn is one of the prettiest Hotels there. Although not as large as Battery Park it is equal in every respect to that famous resort and has the advantage of being just out side of the city and beautifully located and is a strictly temperance hotel. We say this not as an advertisement but for the benefit of any of our citizens who may go to Asheville.

Hurrah for Salisbury. The game of base ball played yesterday afternoon between the Statesville and Salisbury clubs resulted in a victory for Salisbury, the score standing 11 to 7. The game was very interesting from the start, our boys virtually winning in the 3d inning, scoring 5 runs. The feature of the game was Beard's running catch in centre field. The game was well contested by both sides and the Statesville boys were empty outplayed. We would like to see the same team return the Concord game and we believe they would come off with flying colors.

Major Robbins. This gentleman stopped in this place Tuesday last, and at the solicitation of the young men's Democratic club, agreed to address them in the evening. The meeting was held in Meroney's Hall, and though he had no expectation of making a speech here, the Major made one of his best, to an audience which always expects a good thing from him. His theme was—"why I am a democrat?" It will be seen at a glance that with this as a base he had before him the whole field of politics. He went over it well, and no doubt assisted many of his auditors to a more perfect understanding of some of the questions now at issue between the two great parties. The Major is looking well, and will doubtless make himself felt in the present canvass. He is one of the sort that can't sit still when there is a chance to do good work, and he is not afraid to tackle any of the advocates of Harrison and Morton.

Court. Court convened here last Monday with Judge Phillips on the bench. Up to the present time the following cases have been disposed of: John Irvin, affray, guilty, $20 and costs. Francis Maxwell, keeping disorderly house, not guilty. Sukeey James, slander, guilty, 2 months in jail and costs. Julius Kirk, larceny, discharged on payment of costs. Adam Trexler, a. and b., guilty, $5 and costs. A. F. Baddy, larceny, guilty, 2 years in penitentiary. John Pearson, a. and b., guilty, 1 penny and costs. M. L. Arey, affray, guilty, $10 and costs. Geo. Mowery, affray, guilty, $20 and costs. Jas. Mowery, aff. g'ty, $20 and costs. Thos. Jenkins and Hiram Jenkins, affray, guilty, costs. M. S. Townsend, a. and b., guilty, 3 years in penitentiary. Harry Craig, aff'y, g'ty, $5 and costs. Wm. Bryant, larceny, guilty, 2 years in penitentiary. J. F. E. Brown, a. and b., guilty, $5 and costs. Jas. Reid, a. and b., guilty, $20 and costs. Lewis Brown, larceny, guilty, 7 years in penitentiary. Lewis Vogler, nuisance, 3 months in county jail.

Mr. Waddell's Speech. These who failed to hear the Presidential Elector, Hon. A. M. Waddell, sustained a loss which is not likely to be made up to them during this Presidential campaign. They lost a fair rehearsal of the political history, State and national, presented in such a clear and impressive manner as to fix itself upon the memory. They lost the best explanation and illustration of the operations of the present burdensome tariff system yet made before the people of this county. They lost, in fine, hearing one of the best, fairest and most able and interesting public speakers in this or any other State. His speech was designed from the first, to bring back to memory the political history of the last twenty-five years, and to inform the people on subjects which many of them have not taken the time to understand; and to show the relation this history and these little-understood subjects have to the questions at issue in the present contest. All this was done most happily, and those who heard it, retired from the Court House with stronger convictions of Democratic faith than ever before. We cannot undertake to report Mr. Waddell's speech, though we heard every word of it. He is not sensational, but eminently practical; and his presentation of facts cannot well fail to convince men open to the reception of the truth. It is to be regretted that every voter in the county did not hear him; for the people of this country must soon cast their votes on subject of the highest importance to them, and this address was aimed to prepare them to do so with a full knowledge of the consequences depending on the performance of this duty.

I hereby announce myself the candidate of the people for a seat in the House of Representatives in the next General Assembly, for all powers is in their hands of our free country, they have the power to make and unmake parties. I shall give credit where credit is due and in no way give when necessary I shall bow to the line not caring on which side the chips fall. In the party I shall acknowledge the solemn warning given by the acknowledged father of this country in his farewell address and well he deserves the name. 4th Jan. D. BARRINGER.

Another Candidate. It will be seen in another part of this paper that Mr. David Barringer announces himself as a candidate for the Legislature. Mr. Barringer was elected to the Legislature in August, 1878. He ran as an independent in opposition to the Democratic nominees, Mr. Giles Fleming and H. C. Bost, and was elected over Mr. Fleming. He acted with the Democrats in the Legislature of 1879, and on the 21st day of January, of that year, voted for Hon. Z. B. Vance for United States Senator, though personally he preferred Hon Mr. Merrimon; but voted in deference to what he believed to be the will of his constituents of Rowan. He is now running as an independent again, against Mr. J. S. McCubbins, who was unanimously declared the choice of the party at the County Convention of the 21st July last. The primaries in all parts of the county had held their meetings and instructed their delegates to the County Convention how to vote. The vote of the county was found to be divided between Mr. McCubbins, Mr. Hobson, and Mr. Overman, the latter not a candidate. On the 7th ballot Mr. McCubbins was nominated. Mr. Kistler, of Steele, who had voted for Mr. Hobson, moved that Mr. McCubbins be declared the unanimous choice of the convention. The motion was seconded by Mr. Hobson, and it passed unanimously. It will be inferred from this statement of facts, that the primaries throughout the county are fully committed to vote for Mr. McCubbins; and as these primary meetings were generally well attended by voters in the several townships, Mr. Barringer's share of the Democratic votes ought to be small. Many of the personal friends of Mr. Barringer will regret to see his name announced in opposition to the regular nominee, especially at a time when the greatest possible harmony should characterize the movements of the Democratic party. Mr. Barringer was in the Legislature at a time when it required all the wisdom of the wisest men in the party to devise ways and means for relieving the State of some of the bad work of the republican party. He is therefore well informed of the character of the legislative errors and dishonest course of that party, and it is to be regretted he has not seen the propriety and importance of concentrating, instead of dividing, the strength of the party which has uniformly sought to protect the interests of the people and promote the general welfare.

Salisbury Cotton Factory. This institution is beginning to assume something of its proposed importance to the town and surrounding country. It will be, when finished, an attractive place. The location, just beyond the incorporated limits, south of town, is admirably well chosen on high dry, rolling ground, and by a short branch of the railroad, is put in easy connection with the Richmond & Danville system. This connection has greatly facilitated the work of building, and is now in constant use for bringing in timber, stone, other material and machinery. Three very large tubular boilers and a large part of the iron for furnaces are already on the ground. Masons are busily employed carrying up the walls of the main building, which is 90x188 feet, not including boiler rooms and fuel sheds. Carpenters are preparing the heavy timbers for the places they are to occupy; and other hands are working on tenement houses, 30 in number and nearly all up. Several of these houses are already occupied by families who expect to become operatives in the factory. These houses are roomy and comfortable, having four rooms on the ground floor, and two larger ones on the second story. They will easily accommodate a family of seven or eight persons, giving light and air in abundance; and being coiled, will be comfortable in winter. Sufficient space is allotted to each for garden and truck patch, so that operatives will be well provided for in comfortable homes, conveniently arranged in reference to the community of which they will form a part, and also in reference to the factory where they will find employment. When finished, this institution will constitute a village in itself, and become as we hope, the centre of a large and prosperous business.

MINING DEPARTMENT. T. K. BRUNER EDITOR, RALEIGH, N. C. Mr. Editor—Mining is very dull throughout Mecklenburg county at the present time. Most of our leading mines are under a dark cloud. The Rudisill and St. Catherine mines, two of the most productive, are now on a stand still. The Capps Hill mine, belonging to Capt. J. Wilkes, has the reputation of being one of the best in this county, it has the strongest out-cropping of any one in this middle belt. This one has also ceased battering the auriferous rocks. There must be some cause producing this effects. Now the question is, are all the veins in Mecklenburg too poor to be worked with profit? The assays of Mecklenburg ore show better than that. Well, could the cause be that so few parties make mining successful, effect on others to dishearten them. There are places here (under the names of mines) that is nothing strange to see them stopping. Men putting up machinery on a little streak or small pocket of ore with the expectation of making a mine of it. To sell such a place for mining purposes is a bad principle and a great drawback on good properties. But as long as men will be foolish enough to pay high prices for the like it will learn them a good lesson when too late. And it will be a great impediment to the mining business. In hopes of seeing mining revive throughout the State, I remain, Yours truly, W. LEWIS.

Ed. Watchman, Dear Sir:—Believing that through the columns of your paper every man stands a fair chance to speak to the people of Salisbury, and believing that you are willing to give a correct statement of anything pertaining to the public concern; I beg you to allow me space for a brief reply to the onslaught made upon me in the Herald, Press, and Truth, of last week. I came to Salisbury with the intention of doing good. I tried while there to treat everyone as a Christian and gentleman should. I never had a thought of finding fault with anybody or anything until the day of Voorhees speech. I went to hear him and when I came back I commenced talking with Mr. Swicegood, and said, "If North Carolina owes Levi Morton she ought to pay him, but if not, she ought not to pay him." When I said that a Mr. Powell sprang up and said that I had no business to talk that way, and that if I kept it up I would be horse-whipped, and that he had five men just across the street that would do it. I said to him, "If Powell would be a gentleman, or you would not talk that way." He said he would show me, and took his knife out of his pocket, opened it, and started toward me. I kept my seat, but said once or twice, "Powell, you are beneath my notice," with which he was so enraged he ran across the street and called for the Mayor and some more men to come over and whip me; and he told them I had been abusing the South, and that I said there was no ladies in the South. Every word of it was a downright falsehood. He then went about the town telling stories about me that I do not want a word of truth in, for I did pay my board while there and I behaved as a Christian. I never said one word against the ladies of the South, for I hold them in the highest esteem, and have always been treated as a gentleman by the Southern people until I came to Salisbury, and I am glad to say that I found some gentlemen there that did not condemn me at the first onslaught of a slanderer. And among the other stories he told is the one that I am not married. I just enclose you a little slip taken from the journal at Asbury Park, where I was married. We were plainly wedded when scanning the newspapers of Salisbury to find one (the Watchman) that ranks among the high order. We have great respect for the good Christian people of Salisbury, and shall hold them dear in our memory. CAPT. STILES. [The slip referred to above in respect to the marriage of Capt. Stiles was not sent in this letter, but was exhibited to several persons here before the Captain left.]—WATCHMAN.
