

The Carolina Watchman.

VOL. XX.—THIRD SERIES.

SALISBURY, N. C., THURSDAY, MARCH 28, 1889.

NO. 23.

ROYAL BAKING POWDER

Absolutely Pure.

This powder never varies. A marvel of purity, strength and wholesomeness. More economical than the ordinary kinds, and cannot be sold in competition with the multitude of low test, short weight, alum or phosphate powders. Sold only in cans. ROYAL BAKING POWDER CO., 100 Wall St. N. Y.

ELLY'S CATARRH CREAM BALM

Cleanses the Nasal Passages, Alleviates Pain and Inflammation. Heals the Sores, Restores the Senses of Taste and Smell.

CATARRH

is a disease of the mucous membrane, generally originating in the nasal passages and maintaining its stronghold in the head. From this point it sends forth a poisonous virus into the stomach and through the digestive organs, corrupting the blood and producing other troublesome and dangerous symptoms.

THIS AGE

is full of humbugs, and that remedy that dispenses this charge is Godsend to humanity. B. B. B. has never failed and that ought to count for something to him who wants to be cured of what B. B. B. sets itself up to cure.

UTTERLY SURPRISED!

For a number of years I have suffered untold agony from the effects of blood poisoning. I had my case treated by several prominent physicians, but received but little, if any, relief. I resorted to all sorts of patent medicines, spending a large amount of money, but yet getting no better.

AFTER TWENTY YEARS.

BALTIMORE, April 20, 1887.—For over twenty years I have been troubled with ulcerated sores and bleeding piles, and grew very weak and thin from constant loss of blood. I have used bottles of B. B. B., and have by mail, 15 pounds in weight, and feel better in general health than I have for ten years.

AN OLD MAN RESTORED.

DAWSON, Ga., June 30, 1887.—Being an old man and suffering from general debility and rheumatism of the joints of the shoulders, I found difficulty in attending to my business, that of a lawyer, until I bought and used five bottles of B. B. B., Botanic Blood Balm, of Mr. T. C. Jones, or J. R. Irwin & Son, and my general health is improved and the rheumatism left me. I believe it to be a good medicine.

All who desire full information about the cause and cure of Rheumatism, Sciatica and Scrofulous Swellings, Ulcers, Sores, Rheumatism, Kidney Complaints, Catarrh, can receive by mail, free, a copy of our 32-page illustrated Book of Wonders, filled with the most wonderful and startling proof ever before known.

For sale by JNO. H. ENNISS, Druggist.

CRAIG & CLEMENT

Attorneys at Law
SALISBURY, N. C.

D. J. C. McCUBBINS

Surgeon Dentist
Salisbury, N. C.

"Only a Private."

CAPT. F. W. DAWSON.

I.
Only a private his jacket of gray
Is stained by the smoke and the dust;
As Bayard, he's brave; as Lupert, he's gay;
Reckless as Mars in heat of the fray,
But God is his only trust.

II.
Only a private to march and to fight,
To suffer and starve and be strong;
With knowledge enough to know that the night
Of justice and truth, and freedom of right,
In the end must crush out the wrong.

III.
Only a private no ribbon or star
Shall glid with false glory his name!
No honor for him in braid or in bar,
His Legion of Honor is only a scar,
And his wounds are his roll of fame!

IV.
Only a private one more here slain
On the field lies silent and still!
And in the far South a wife prays in vain
One clasp of the hand she may never clasp
Again.

V.
Only a private there let him sleep!
He will need no tablet or stone;
For the mosses and vines o'er his grave will Crawl,
And at night the stars through the clouds will Peep,
And watch him who lies there alone.

VI.
Only a martyr who fought and who fell
Unknown and unmarked in the strife!
But still as he lies in his lonely cell
Angel and Seraph the legend shall tell—
Such death is eternal life!

Carnegie's Advice to Young Men.

Youth's Companion: You are about to start in life and it is well that young men should begin at the beginning and occupy the most subordinate positions. Many of the business men of Pittsburgh had a serious responsibility thrust upon them at the very threshold of their career.

I was a sweeper myself, and who do you suppose my fellow sweepers were? David McCargo, now superintendent of the Allegheny Valley railroad; Robert Pitcairn, superintendent of the Pennsylvania railroad; and Mr. Moreland, city attorney of Pittsburgh.

Begin at the beginning, but aim high. I would not give a fig for the young man who does not already see himself the partner or head of some important firm.

There are three dangers in your path. The first is the drinking liquor. The second is speculation, the third is "indorsing."

When I was a telegraph operator in Pittsburgh I knew all the men who speculated. They were not our citizens of first repute. They were regarded with suspicion. I have lived to see all of them ruined, bankrupt in money and character.

Nothing is more essential to young business men than untarnished credit and nothing kills credit sooner than the knowledge in any bank board than a man who engages in speculation.

The third danger is the perilous habit of endorsing notes. It appears to your generous instincts and you say, "How can I refuse to lend my name only to assist a friend?"

A shipping clerk may do so by discovering in an invoice an error with which he had nothing to do and which has escaped the attention of the proper person.

Not one who is content to give so many hours of work for so many dollars in return, but one who devotes his spare hours and constant thought to the business.

Our young partners in Carnegie Brothers' have won their spurs by showing that we did not know half as well what was wanted as they did.

There is one sure mark of the coming millionaire: his revenues always exceed his expenditures. He begins to save as soon as he begins to earn.

It is not capital that your seniors require, it is the man that has proven he has the business habits that make capital. Begin at once to lay up something.

The Protection We Want.

We are for protection, but it is protection for agriculture, the leading industry of the South and West, the fundamental industry of the whole country.

Legislation has been steadily away from the interests of agriculture ever since the republican party secured the direction of public affairs.

We long for the day when the great West will join with the South in the work of freeing agriculture from the shackles that bind it.

And we do not think the day is distant. We believe the alliance referred to is rapidly taking shape already.

We copy the above because it is well for us all to keep this subject of tax reduction in mind. It is the biggest political topic we can think or talk about.

Clark's Extract of Flax Cough Cure.

It is a sure cure for Whooping Cough. It stops the whoop, and permits the child to catch its breath. It is entirely harmless.

"Give Him a Cheer."

"Give him a cheer." The hearty words came from the lips of some one in the crowd gathered round a building enveloped in flames, and were prompted by the momentary faltering of a brave fireman at the final effort that was needed to save a human life.

"Give him a cheer," said a voice in the audience, as the young aspirant for academic honors began to hesitate in the midst of his well-prepared oration.

"Give him a cheer," who? Why, that young Christian who has come out from the world, and in the midst of temptation is trying to live a consecrated life.

"Give him a cheer"—the stranger within your gates. No matter how brief a tarrying he may make, bid him welcome. Do not let him go away feeling that no one feels an interest in his welfare.

I have in mind a young girl who went through life under a cloud. She had many things to discourage her. She was misrepresented and misunderstood.

A Brave Man and a Bold Captain.

Is Mr. Flagler the proprietor of the Ponce de Leon Hotel, of St. Augustine, Fla., if we may judge from the following taken from the Baltimore Sun:

"Give them a cheer." A host of weary, toiling men and women are today calling loudly for cheering words and helpful ministries.

"Give them a cheer." No matter where, or when, or how you come in contact with poor struggling souls, lend them a hand—give them a hand—give them a cheer that will help them to live better, nobler lives.

Carp Culture.

Persons interested in this branch of industry will find many valuable suggestions in the "American Carp Culture," published at Alliance, Ohio.

Bucklen's Arnica Salve.

THE BEST SALVE in the world for Cuts, Bruises, Sores, Ulcers, Salt Rheum, Fever Sores, Tetter, Chapped Hands, Chittlains, Corns, and all Skin Eruptions, and positively cures Piles, or no pay required. It is guaranteed to give perfect satisfaction, or money refunded. Price 25 cents per box.

The Negro Emigration.

The present indications point to a pretty general exodus of the negroes of this State. There are three forces—all mighty forces with the negro—at work to make this movement a general one.

What then are we to do? That is the question. Of course the negroes have the right to go as they please; we can do nothing to keep them here, nor should we be so inclined if we had the power.

Why just hear a Durham man talk! Anybody would think the streets were paved with gold and the houses built of marble, and that they were about to tear up the pavements because there was some alloy in the precious metal.

Holding the handles of a plow is every bit as honorable as measuring calico, and is decidedly more so than loafing around town doing nothing.

A writer in the Atlanta Constitution asks for further information with respect to the "Melungeons," the supposed Portuguese colony and its descendants who dwell chiefly on the Pee Dee river in North and South Carolina.

Mr. Lewis—"M. Quid," of the Detroit Free Press—is no ordinary man, loquely built and thrown at random on the world.

Everybody would think the streets were paved with gold and the houses built of marble, and that they were about to tear up the pavements because there was some alloy in the precious metal.

Mr. Lewis—"M. Quid," of the Detroit Free Press—is no ordinary man, loquely built and thrown at random on the world.

The use of corrugated iron for dwelling houses is now recommended, it being urged that they would be much cheaper than houses of brick or stone.

A Story With a Moral.

Greensboro Patriot.

For the benefit of the merchants and property-owners of the city of Greensboro we wish to give here the substance of what was said a short time since on a railway train to the writer, by a very intelligent commercial tourist (euphemism) or drummer (good sense vernacular).

"Greensboro is a nice little city and full of nice people," said he; "but, so far from having acquired the art of blowing their own trumpet, they have allowed their useful little instrument to fall into 'innocuous desuetude.'"

"The above needs no comment and is a truthful report of an actual conversation."

Why just hear a Durham man talk! Anybody would think the streets were paved with gold and the houses built of marble, and that they were about to tear up the pavements because there was some alloy in the precious metal.

Why just hear a Durham man talk! Anybody would think the streets were paved with gold and the houses built of marble, and that they were about to tear up the pavements because there was some alloy in the precious metal.

Why just hear a Durham man talk! Anybody would think the streets were paved with gold and the houses built of marble, and that they were about to tear up the pavements because there was some alloy in the precious metal.

Why just hear a Durham man talk! Anybody would think the streets were paved with gold and the houses built of marble, and that they were about to tear up the pavements because there was some alloy in the precious metal.

Why just hear a Durham man talk! Anybody would think the streets were paved with gold and the houses built of marble, and that they were about to tear up the pavements because there was some alloy in the precious metal.

A Curious and Valuable Book.

Perhaps the most singular curiosity in the book world is a volume that belongs to the family of the Prince de Ligne, and is now in France. It is entitled "The Passion of Christ," and is neither written nor printed.

Dead Sea Wonders.

A DESOLATE, GOD-SMITTEN AND MAN-FORSAKEN EASTERN VALLEY.

One of the most interesting lakes or inland seas in the world is the Dead Sea, which has no visible outlet. It is mere fancy that has clothed the Dead Sea in gloom.

It was a strange thing to see those waves, not dancing along and sparkling in the sun, as other waves do, but moving with measured melancholy, and sending to the ear, as they break languidly upon the rocks, only doleful sounds.

That fish cannot live in this strong solution of bitumen and salt is too obvious to need proof, but to say that birds cannot fly over it and live is one of the exaggerations of travelers, who, perhaps, were not like ourselves, so fortunate as to see a flock of ducks reposing on the water in apparently good health.

When a distinguished representative of royalty goes abroad the people whom he honors with his presence extend to him every consideration to which birth, station and character entitle him.

Occasionally town-people get the idea that what is grow on the farm is so easily secured that it makes but little difference whether the farmer gets paid for it or not.

Everybody would think the streets were paved with gold and the houses built of marble, and that they were about to tear up the pavements because there was some alloy in the precious metal.

Occasionally town-people get the idea that what is grow on the farm is so easily secured that it makes but little difference whether the farmer gets paid for it or not.

An English naval officer estimates that there are $900,000,000 in gold and silver under the sea, which could be reached by good luck.