

Carolina Watchman.

THURSDAY, JUNE 20, 1889.

Prohibition was defeated in Pennsylvania by a large majority.

The business men of Johnstown are opening up as fast as they can.

They are trying to build a cotton factory at Greensboro on what is known as the co-operative plan.

The Philadelphia Times says that the total number of deaths at Johnstown will not exceed 4,000.

The ice merchants of the North have combined and put up the price of ice from $1.50 to $3.00 per ton.

The cotton prospect in Mississippi is reported to be good, though some localities have suffered by too much rain.

A three-year-old baby pianist is attracting much attention in Baltimore. She plays a number of easy pieces by the ear.

A young lady in Davie county found a six foot snake, with a rat in its mouth on a bureau in her room one day last week.

The Newton Enterprise says that the wheat crop of Catawba and of all the Piedmont counties is the best they have had for years.

It is pretty generally admitted on all sides that President Harrison is taking good care of all his kin in appointments to office.

Out of eight medals awarded at Princeton College N. J., says the Wilmington Star, North Carolina boys took five of them.

The Daily News, Charlotte, Wade Harris' paper, has entered its 21 year of existence and is as bright and newsy as ever. It deserves success and is having it.

A castor oil trust has been formed. There are but four factories in the country, and they will now pay themselves a rich reward at the expense of sick people.

The new chairman of the Democratic Executive Committee, Mr. C. Brice, comes into position very much as Cleveland was nominated at St. Louis—unanimously.

Are "strikers" conspirators? The grand jury at Washington city has found a bill against ten strikers for conspiracy to prevent a man from obtaining employment.

The Minnesota Senators—Washington and Davis are engaged in open war over the federal appointments in that State. Washburn is thought to have a little the best of it so far.

The Concord Standard reports wheat so good in that county that the snakes lie on top of the standing grain. It further says that in this case it is only the snakes that are doing the lying.

The Canlria Iron Works which was destroyed by the flood in Pennsylvania, had contracted to furnish the rails for the street railroad in Concord. They telegraphed they could not do it now.

Senator Sabin, of Michigan, is suing for a divorce, alldging that his wife is a drunkard. Her friends deny the charge for her as she is in an insane asylum and ignorant of the proceedings.

Oliver H. Dockery has been appointed Consul General to Rio Janeiro. The position is worth about 8,000 dollars a year, but small pox and yellow fever prevails there nearly all the year.

The party opposed to Prohibition in Pennsylvania claim that they will carry the State by 100,000 majority. Recent contests at the polls on this question have resulted unfavorable to the cause.

The opinion is gaining ground that Harrison fears to call an extra session of Congress. The Republican majority is so slim that he prefers waiting for the hoped for reinforcements from the new States.

Somewhat asked Sam Randall who would be the next democratic nominee for the presidency, and his answer should be taken to heart by those impatient gentlemen that are trying to precipitate the next campaign. He said: "Two years from now will be early enough to begin considering that question, to say nothing of intelligently answering it."

Ex-Representative Horr, of Michigan the funny man, wanted to be Consul at Montreal, but he has been "turned down" very abruptly. He says, Mr. Harrison promised him another consulship.

A band of 400 Chippewa Indians are on the war path in Minnesota. The cause is said to be encroachment of the whites, and a general uprising is feared; a party of laborers were attacked and seven killed.

A large force is still working at Johnstown, Pa., removing wreckage and recovering and burying dead bodies. The burials in some cases were so shallow that dogs have dragged out and torn some of the bodies.

The Mount Airy News speaks of an immense granite deposit (Flat Rock) near that place which will be cut by the Yalchin Valley railroad, and which it is believed will be of great value to that section for building purposes.

Mr. Joseph Maclean, assisted by Mrs. B. L. Dewey and Miss Eva Fulkerson, have charge of the Musical Department of the Charlotte Female Institute. Mr. Maclean is said to rank with the highest in his profession, North and South.

Another triumph in telegraphing is announced as having been demonstrated at Raleigh, on Tuesday, in the presence of competent judges, to wit: Communicating with trains moving at full speed at any and every part of the line. It is the invention of Rev. Baylus Cade, a native of Virginia.

The truckers of eastern North Carolina glutted the bean and potato market last week by enormous shipments, and had to slack up a little. The farmers of this section scarcely have an idea of the magnitude and value of the trucking business of the eastern counties. It is growing larger and larger every year.

Coney Island was crowded on Sunday with visitors—the hotels were full, the restaurants crowded, the stream flowed continuously in the saloons, ice cream stands were thronged, and the great crowd had a free and easy time. The day was very hot and almost everybody in New York was out hunting for a cool place.

The Chicago law officers, policemen, detectives, &c., have exhibited praise-worthy industry in their attempts to discover the murderer of Dr. Cronin, who met a horrid death in that city two or three weeks ago. One of the accused, Woodruff, has made a full confession, implicating several other men, who are now under arrest.

The election of Mr. Calvin S. Brice to be Chairman of the National Democratic committee is very well received. By his conduct of the last campaign he fairly won the honor, and it is not begrudged him by those who if personal preference alone, had been consulted would rather have seen Senator Gorman at the helm.

General Taft, ex-postmaster at Charleston, S. C., a restored insane, has been to Washington in pursuit of the Postmastership of the city, and has returned thence insane again. Rev. It. W. Meminger, son of C. G. Meminger, the Confederate Secretary of the Treasury, is the man who will probably be appointed postmaster.

The story of two Americans being imprisoned for a long term in a prison in Mexico without cause, the American representative having no influence in their behalf with the government, but that they finally obtained release through the British Consul, is too thin for anything. Mexico knows America too well to perpetrate any such folly.

The appalling magnitude of the Johnstown disaster has been greatly reduced by the actual facts as presented in the latest reports from the scene of the horror. The loss of life is now stated at 4,000 large enough to be sure. The newspaper reporters who labored there for the first week or ten days should be classed among the great sufferers, for they certainly told many lies with numerous repetitions, and are weighed down with the burden of them.

The U. S. S. Kearsage has been ordered to Hayti, but it seems impossible to learn the why or wherefore except that is the result of a conference between Secretaries Blaine and Tracy held over a cablegram from Commander Kellogg who was recently ordered to make an investigation and report thereon. Many people argue that it must be something very serious that sends a vessel to Hayti at this the sickly season of the year.

The reports yesterday morning from the proceedings in the Cronin murder case, leave little room to doubt that all the artfully contrived schemes of the murder will be brought out in a day or two more. Another man is expected to make a confession.

The Raleigh News-Observer says the cotton factory for Raleigh is a fixed fact, and that it only remains to select the location and begin the work of building it. The wagon factory is completed except putting in the engine and boilers. It is expected the factory will commence work by the 1st of August. A side track will connect it with the railroad.

A big land suit has been commenced at Anniston, Ala., for property estimated to be worth 5,000,000. The plaintiffs in their suit allege that the defendants some years ago unlawfully entered and took possession of the property, which is now covered by the city of Anniston, and the extensive iron works at that place, and to recover which they now sue.

The U. S. war ship Constellation, has gone ashore one mile below Cape Henry, just inside the capes. She lies broadside to the beach about three hundred yards from the shore. She had on 130 cadets from the Naval Academy who had started from Annapolis, on their summer cruise, and a crew of 175 men. It is thought she may be got off without serious damage.

The Rocky Mountain Phoenix accepts the suggestion of the Roanoke News as to the best disposition to make of the penitentiary convicts so that they can be made self-sustaining, which is that a guano factory be established at the "pen," and that the product of their labors be sold to the farmers at a price a little in excess of cost of manufacturing. We like the suggestion.

Mr. Harrison is falling from grace in an extraordinary rapid manner. He spent Sunday on a Sunday excursion aboard of Wanamaker's yacht, the "Restless," in company with Blaine and Windom, and last week he appointed the notorious Robert Smalls, the negro ex-Congressman from South Carolina, to the Collector of Customs at Beaufort, South Carolina. Two very disreputable things to happen in one week.

Mat Quay and Postmaster General Wanamaker have arrived at an agreement about the Philadelphia federal offices and the appointments are expected daily. The basis of the compromise is understood to be that Mr. Field, to whom Wanamaker tendered the postmastership when he first entered the Cabinet, shall have that position and that Quay be allowed to name the Surveyor of the port and the collector of Customs.

Corporal Tanner is inclined to be personally thrifty with all of his recklessness in wasting the people's money. He has just appointed his daughter, a girl just out of school to be his confidential clerk at a salary of $1800 a year. Quite a snug salary to step into right out of school. Miss Tanner's father is a very prudent man. He proposes to "make hay while the sun shines," for he knows there are breakers and storms ahead.

The Civil Service Commission is proving to be a thorn in the side of the administration, notwithstanding its two republican members. It seems to be starting out with the determination to have the law enforced impartially. Before leaving for the West the Commissioner called Harrison's attention to the fact that under the law all appointments made in the Census Bureau should be taken from its list of eligibles. This question was brought up just before Messrs. Thompson and Roosevelt, were appointed members of the Commission, and the republicans indulged in the hope that it had been finally shelved, but the Commission intended to compel Mr. Harrison to say yes or no as to these Census Bureau appointments. It is believed that he will decide against the Civil Service Commission.

The Chronicle says that contracts for the completion of the Wilkesboro road have been made over the whole line as far as Elkin. The depot at that place has been contracted for. Wade and Chewing, who have large contracts in Wilkes, will shortly move their entire force within the county. Already it is estimated that six miles within the county are graded. That makes nearly one-third of the distance from the Sturry line to Wilkesboro. —Twin-City Daily.

The fact appears to be that the Christian Church in all its sections is attaching less value to mere metaphysical dogma and more to practical religion. From different directions men are coming to ground for fellowship. He cannot be a fatherland Christian who believes in the fatherhood of God and the brotherhood of man as made known in the teaching and work of Jesus, and who shows his faith by his life, by a gentle life, and by beneficent activity. —Washington Post.

Railroad Celebration.

The people of Asheboro and of the county of Randolph will celebrate the completion of the High Point, Randleman, Asheboro and Southern Railroad at Asheboro, on the 4th day of July, 1889. There will be suitable ceremonies, civic and military, including speeches by the Governor and other distinguished speakers from all parts of the State.

Another Lula Hurst.

A Mrs. Abbot, another Georgia lady, has been astounding the good people of Winston by her wonderful mysterious power. One of her feats is to seat herself in a chair, and no number of men are able to lift her from the floor. Miss Hurst reversed this fact: a chair in the hands of one man and her own hand touching a post of the chair, was sufficient to prevent any number of men that could get hold of it from making it touch the floor. They might break the chair in pieces, but they could not make it touch the floor while she touched any part of it. It is well termed a "mysterious power," for it really is such; and the only objection to it that has occurred to us is that we have not heard of its being applied to any useful purpose. A power capable of resisting the physical force of half a dozen strong men, ought, it would seem, be applicable to some of the useful purposes of life.

Disasters.

A dreadful storm and flood is reported as occurring at Uniontown, Kansas, last Sunday, by which part of Uniontown was washed away, several railroad bridges and railroad tracks destroyed, and several lives lost. The exact amount of destruction of lives and property, not yet reported.

There was also a heavy storm of wind, rain and hail at Martinsburg, West Virginia, Saturday night, by which crops and trees were ruined and some live stock killed.

Also, on Sunday night, the upsetting of an oil lamp at Mile End, set fire to the Bushel Oil Refinery at that place, and caused a blaze which spread over fifteen acres of land. Damage, $30,000.

The Merced market roof, City of Mexico, fell in on Saturday, burying nearly fifty persons beneath it. Many were wounded and some were killed.

Heavy and destructive storm in Baltimore county, Md., at Biddford, Me., at Elmira, N. Y., Concord, N. H., and Pittsfield, Mass., all on the 15th.

Southerners in New York.

Southern prosperity is a benefit to the whole country. New York city, as the transient financial and commercial metropolis, obtains its share of the benefit. It holds among its varied permanent population many thousand men of Southern birth, who socially and in a business sense, are among its most desirable citizens. The development of manufactures, of railroads and of general business in the South constantly increases the ties between it and this city.

But at this season of year especially the South becomes of more importance to New York than ever. The month of June usually is marked by the presence among us of an increased number of transient visitors from the States south of Mason and Dixon's line. The growth of commercial and business interests there and the increase of wealth both contribute to the result. Southern men of business naturally seek New York at this time, or a little later, in preparation for fall and winter trade. People of means from the South, it is a pleasure to record, is full of them—come to escape the warm weather in their own section New York to-day entertains ten Southerners, where twenty years ago it had one. And in a month or so the town will be full of them. They are among the most desirable visitors we can have, and as the South continues to grow and become more rich and prosperous, not only will the permanent Southern element in New York become more numerous and influential, but the temporary additions it furnishes to our summer population will be larger and more noticeable.

For those who make and eat ice cream: An investigation has just been conducted by the Connecticut State Board of Health in the matter of the poisoning over one hundred persons last month from eating vanilla ice cream at a church festival in Glastonbury. The poisoning was varied and attributed to the time to impure vanilla extract, to sour milk and to the action of the cream on the corroded sink and lead surface of the freezer. The chemists found that the extract was pure, the corrosion unimportant, and that the real trouble was with six quarts of milk used. This was not cooled after milking, but remained in a warm place in a color-ered pail for two hours. Such treatment as this, the chemists find, is favorable to the generation of tyrotoxin, so named by Prof. Vaughan, of the University of Michigan, who detected the poison while investigating an ice cream poisoning case in his State. —News-Observer.

H. P. Cheatham, North Carolina's negro Congressman, is busy in Washington trying to get offices for republican constituents in his district. Speaking of offices at the Washington Correspondent of the Alexandria Gazette says: "A good deal of surprise was manifested among the large number of white people who were assembled in the ante-room of the Public Printer at the Government Printing Office here a day or two ago and accompanied by a white woman, who came in after them, waited by them, and merely nodding to the doorkeeper entered Mr. Palmer's office. The negro was H. P. Cheatham, a member of Congress from North Carolina, and the woman one for whom he wished to obtain an office." Such action ought to have created surprise, and shows what negro rule and republican supremacy leads to.

A little child, tired of play, had fallen his head on a railroad track and fallen asleep. The train was almost upon him when a passing stranger rushed forward and saved him from a horrible death. Perhaps you are asleep on the track too.
