

THURSDAY, AUGUST 8, 1889.

The city tax of Asheville on the $100 worth of real and personal property is 90 cents.

More than forty democrats were discharged from the Government printing office last week.

The first bale of cotton in the Montgomery market was received there on the 2d of August.

There was frost on the low lands near Galena, Ill., Aug. 1st, which did considerable damage.

The President and members of his Cabinet are out on a summer jaunt for business and pleasure.

Fines in the Mayor's court at Winston for all the various offenses foot up $419.00 for the month of July.

The great celebration of the four hundredth anniversary of the discovery of America will be held in New York.

A 12 year old girl at Randolph, Mass., died of hydrophobia, Aug. 2, from the bite of a dog on the 10th of June.

Heavy and destructive rains are reported at Danville and Petersburg, Virginia, and at Washington city, July 31st.

The Cape Fear and Yadkin Valley Railroad has sustained a damage estimated at $100,000 by the flood in Town Fork Creek, at Walnut Grove.

A recent election for members of the Cherokee Legislature resulted in the choice of members who are opposed to selling a strip of their lands to the United States.

Ex-Postmaster General Hatton, editor of the Post, and Civil Service Commissioner Roosevelt have been indulging in a wordy warfare in the columns of the newspapers.

A new republican Postmaster at Atlanta has raised indignation against himself by introducing a negro in the place of a white man, resigned into the service of his office.

The Gentiles in Salt Lake, Utah, have recently carried a city election by a majority of 41, and are rejoicing over the prospect of a Gentile city government. Mormonism fading.

The rainy weather has operated very seriously against summer visitors and the proprietors of watering places, who have made extensive preparations for a large company and have not had it.

Gov. Fowle was especially felicitous in a speech before the Baptist Orphanage Association at Thomasville, recently; and when a collection for the Association was called for $200 were raised.

Watkins Glen, N. Y., was completely swept of bridges, staircases and paths, Aug. 1st, by a terrible storm. The wreck destroyed an iron bridge lower down, and the waters flooded half the village.

A delegation of Ohio republicans told Mr. Harrison that unless he places certain patronage at their disposal they might as well give up hope of carrying the legislature. It is not known what answer they got.

A report from Little Rock, Dakota, Aug. 6, says the Sioux treaty has been accepted and signed by the Blackfeet and Yanktonian Indians, by which 11,000,000 acres of land have been acquired for white settlers.

Deep borings are to be made in the coal fields of Stokes county, not only to test the extent of the coal, but also to ascertain whether there is not also oil and gas, the indications favoring the belief that both exist there.

The Times-Register, of Marion, N. C., Col. Roger J. Page's paper, virtually consigns the dead man to a dishonored grave, and then turns up column rules in mourning for him. But sin and sorrow are very close relations.

The railroad companies are heavy losers by the heavy rains of the last few weeks. Washouts, loss of bridges, damage to embankments, fills, and loss of business with no abatement of regular expenses, amount to enormous sums.

A negro in Georgia, claiming to be Christ, has been sent to the insane asylum. An old negro woman in the same neighborhood claims to be the Virgin Mary. No one has yet announced himself as Peter, Paul, or St. John. That will be a little later on.

The Interior department has sent a commissioner to France to learn as much as possible about the irrigation methods in use over there in order that the knowledge obtained may be used to devise some way of irrigating the enormous tracts of arid lands in the west.

A. W. Dyman, for years the Washington correspondent of the New York Sun, has purchased the Helena, Montana, Daily Independent. Mr. Lyman will make the paper follow the Sun in its political course. He will support Hall for the next presidential nomination.

We wonder if the railroads pay nothing to the agents employed in stirring up the negroes in the eastern part of the State to emigrate to the Southwest, and if there are no such agents in the Southwest to tell the negroes that they have been fooled, and that they had better go back to their old home?

A complimentary ball was given Governor Fowle at the Atlantic Hotel, Morehead City, August 1st, which was graced by many of North Carolina's distinguished citizens and charming ladies. Ex-Governor Jarvis, Senator Vance, Judge Shepherd and Judge Brown, were among the notables present and participating.

There is a body of moon shiners in Patrick county, Virginia, near the North Carolina boundary line, who have been making trouble, and last Sunday they killed a man who was sent to arrest one of them for disturbing a religious meeting. Gov. Lee has been informed of the disturbers and will take such action as the case may require.

The Christians in Albania have for years been subjected to the most cruel persecutions inflicted upon them by Turkish officials, and a cry from them comes recently, which it is said will be reported to the British parliament, with the hope that some kindly office in their behalf may bring them relief. The Turks greatly need some liberalizing influence to take the kinks out of them. A Turkish official has been known to bribe a Christian and ride him through the streets of the capitol, and tie him up to a post at an inn door, as if he were a horse or an ass. There is no end to the cruelty and reproaches heaped upon them either with or without cause.

Wm. A. Guthrie, of Durham, writes the Charlotte Chronicle a long letter setting forth the reasons why the N. C. Insane Asylum is an unsuited place for a nervous patient. He writes from personal experience of about four weeks, while suffering from a nervous disorder. The change in the buildings of the institution, says the writer, should secure opportunities and conditions for rest and sleep to nervous patients, which under present arrangements is impossible. Night and day the violently insane are either cursing or praying, groaning or screaming, or making other noises which constantly disturb nervous patients and prevent them from sleeping—"nature's great restorer" is practically excluded.

The Emperor of Germany is visiting his friends and relations in England. The Prince of Wales went out in his yacht to meet the royal visitor, his nephew, last Friday and escorted his squadron into the harbor. There were great demonstrations of joyful welcome made by ship's crews huzzing and firing of cannon, as the visitor and his friends passed between the lines of warships drawn up to receive them.

These kindly and princely visits and grand demonstrations in honor of them have seen their best days. The public sentiment of the people long accustomed to them is undergoing a change, and the time is coming when they will refuse to pay the price of kings and princes. The Prince of Wales for instance taxes the English people to the amount of $250,000 a year for his support, while the President of the United States is paid but $50,000 a year. But Harrison is trying hard to get even with the British prince: He has given a fat office to nearly all his kin, a thing the prince is not accused of doing.

Grapes. The Raleigh correspondent of the Wilmington Messenger says:

The grape shipments are very heavy now. Yesterday they amounted to 4,000 baskets and to-day were as large. It requires two cars to transport this mass of grapes, and the scene at the Raleigh and Gaston depot is a busy one. The big wagons drive up with the neatly packed grapes, which are rapidly placed in the cars, and then go north by express freight. The return this season is very satisfactory.

Washington Letter. (From our regular correspondent.) WASHINGTON, Aug. 5, 1889.

Mr. Blaine must not be as vindictive in punishing his enemies, large and small, when he gets an opportunity, as he has been credited with being or else he has lately allowed that eternal vigilance which is the price of keeping track of your small fry enemies to go into innoxious desuetude. A man who was dismissed by General Black was reinstated in a clerkship in the Pension office a few days ago. He is one of the bitterest men against Blaine that I ever met. Just before the meeting of the last republican National Convention this man was for a short time the editor of a weekly republican paper in this city, and wrote and printed in the editorial columns of that paper the following paragraph:

"Mr. Blaine has not said he would not accept if nominated. He just said he was not a candidate, and then winked to henchmen who boost him up the tree. Isn't it strange Mr. Blaine's friends are such warm friends? Can you recall one of his ardent admirers who has not stolen something or has not placed the republican party in an embarrassing position at some time?"

If Mr. Blaine allows the writer of that paragraph to remain in office I shall hereafter always defend him from the charge of being vindictive.

Mr. Harrison has been treated to a revival of his experience during the early days of his administration since his return to the White House Thursday. The office seekers have made a grand rush knowing that this would be their last chance until fall, and the President is really to be pitied. He has appointed a large number of postmasters, and three Louisiana men have captured good prizes—Ex. War-mouth, Collector at New Orleans, Jno. F. Patty (a negro), Naval Officer at New Orleans, and the notorious J. R. G. Pitkin, Minister to the Argentine Republic—and more appointments are expected before he leaves to-morrow for Bar Harbor.

There is little excitement here on account of the seizure of the Canadian sealing vessel "Black Diamond" in Behrings sea by the United States Revenue Cutter "Rush." No serious trouble is likely to grow out of this or any other similar seizure while the idea of our claiming exclusive jurisdiction of Behrings sea is not at all palatable to England, her commercial interests in the sealskin industry are too great to allow her to kick up a row. The fact of the matter is that England is just as much interested in having the illegal taking of seals stopped as is the United States, and the Canadians may howl all they please but her majesty's government will not get excited over this question. The law under this seizure was passed by the last Congress as the result of an investigation made by a committee of the House. It was among the last bills signed by Mr. Cleveland.

Commissioner of Pensions Tanner has answered the charge of favoritism in making applications special by giving out a statement showing the entire number of such cases to have been nine hundred and fifty-two. These applications were represented by 317 attorneys, the largest number represented by a single attorney being ninety-eight. The hotel corridors filled up as if by magic on the day the Preside it returned from Deer Park. After to-morrow, when he starts for Bar Harbor they will resume their usual August quietness.

Ex-Senator Kellogg, of Louisiana, says Harrison by his appointments in that state has thrown away what little chance the republicans had of carrying the third Congressional district. He also intimates rather strongly that the Louisiana delegation in the next republican National Convention will oppose the re-nomination of Harrison. All of which is very interesting, but the fact should not be forgotten that Kellogg has a very sore head.

The age limited for the appointment of letter carriers in non-civil service postoffices has been extended from 35 to 40 years.

We have talked to several parties from Raleigh, who know the undercurrent of the Grissom matter there. The public outside have only seen the surface of the case. It is a stretch at the core and the way the investigation was managed. Many people in Raleigh have had a knowledge of Grissom's immorality for ten years. Then who could wonder that conservative Raleigh would boil with indignation at his acquittal.—Sanford Express.

The Grissom scandal is getting to be old, but the above, reminds us of hearing a similar report from a gentleman who is well acquainted with public sentiment in Raleigh and who has known of the rumors on the streets of the city for some years back.

We copy the following: Ex-Gov. Holden has written a letter to the Raleigh News-Observer saying that Dr. Grissom was one of the best appointments he ever made. Grissom is worthy of the hand that made him.—The public would be glad to know whether Dr. Fuller is yet well enough to testify. A letter from the Doctor would make the world go round at a faster pace.

"Piracy."

A special dispatch from Ottawa, dated Toronto, July 31st, says: "The latest account of piracy by the United States authorities in Behring Sea continues to be much discussed in official circles." This has reference to the seizure of the Black Diamond for the invasion of American fishing waters. It may lead to trouble, but probably to nothing serious.

Oil Mill. The Wilmington Star gives the following description of the Cotton Seed Oil Mill in that city, which conveys a good idea of the process of these new establishments, now springing up all over the Southern States:

One of the most attractive of our new industries is the cotton seed oil mill, near Hilton, which will begin work about the first of October. It is owned by a wealthy syndicate who are proprietors also of a number of mills in the South, among them one at Columbia, S. C., which is said to be the largest mill north of Louisiana. The mill at Hilton is almost ready for use, most of the machinery being in place, and only the seed or storage room, offices and blacksmith shop remain to be finished. The building is about two hundred and fifty feet long by one hundred feet wide, with two stories for half of the building.

The building for restoring seed will be connected with the main building by a number of troughs, through which the seed will be conveyed to screens, where it will be cleaned from sand, etc., and then carried to cotton gins for the removal of the lint; back of the gin room are the cotton presses, for baling the lint. After the seed or thoroughly cleaned lint it is conveyed to the hullers, where the hulls are removed and the seed then passes to a second screen, and thence conveyed to a room where the meat of the seed goes through a cooking process. Thence it passes to the shaping room, where the meats are formed into blocks, some thirteen inches wide by thirty inches long and three inches thick. These blocks or cakes then pass to the presses, of which there are six, holding fifteen cakes each. Here they are subjected to pressure for twenty minutes, and all the oil extracted. They are then carried to the meal room, and here ground into cotton seed meal. This completes the process, except the refining of the oil, which for the present at least, will be done elsewhere.

The mill is provided with a 250-horse power engine that runs to electric dynamos. The factory will run day and night and will be enlarged if the experiment proves successful. The capacity is two thousand gallons of oil every twelve hours.
