Strict good middling 11. Court next week and a big docket. Judge Shipp presiding.

Mrs. J. P. Caldwell, of Statesville, is visiting Mrs. Theo Klutz.

It is very foolish to think that by contracting debts you lessen them.

Chicken pox has made its appearance in certain neighborhoods in town.

Miss King Lindsay, of South River, was visiting friends here this week.

You can tell the age of a tree by its rings but it is different with a woman.

St. Valentine's day to-morrow. Don't get mad if the boys send you a picture.

Candidates for Sheriff and Legislature are bobbing up already over the county.

Rev. J. F. Tuttle left last Tuesday, for his new charge at Plymouth, North Carolina.

Breaks at the tobacco warehouse have been good during the past week and prices very high.

Mr. Theo. Gowan, one of Salisbury's model young men, employed as telegraph operator at Concord, was visiting his home on Sunday.

Mr. James P. Cook, of Concord, won the prize offered by the State Fair association for the best descriptive article of a North Carolina county.

The St. Cecilia society will meet at the residence of Mr. I. H. Foust to-morrow night where an entertaining program will be carried out.

Capt. J. A. Fisher has developed, into an Alliance orator of the first water, and is enthusing audiences in every part of the county by his eloquence.

A gentleman from Philadelphia spent a few days here this week with Dr. Griffith, with the view, partly, of establishing a dental supply depot in Salisbury.

Dr. Rumble, who is a member of the board of Regents of the Presbyterian Orphan Asylum, located at Charlotte, attended a meeting of the Board there this week.

Attention is called to the advertisement of E. M. Andrews in another column. Persons wishing to buy any thing in the furniture line will do well to write to him.

Every body nearly is in favor of improving the roads except the young man who drives with one hand while he keeps his best girl from jolting out of the buggy with the other.

There were no services at the Baptist, Presbyterian, and Episcopal (St. Luke's) churches on Sunday night. The other churches were filled to overflowing in consequence.

Mr. Henderson says there is no foundation for the report which went the rounds of the State papers, that Col. Billy Cowles, shucked his coat and wanted to fight speaker Reed. The Colonel is such a plucky fellow that we were inclined to believe the report.

Those who have tried the peaches canned by J. B. Laffier's cannery here, are more than pleased. The fruit is firm and sweet, and retains more of the natural fruit flavor, than is usually found in preserved fruit of any kind. They are equal, if not superior to Thurbers' celebrated goods.

Winston's city fathers have agreed in council, not to receive and keep up any new streets of the town of less width than forty feet. A wise thing, and should be adopted by the authorities in all the new towns. As a rule the older towns of the State have wide streets, the principal ones in Salisbury being from ninety to one hundred feet.

Hon. John S. Henderson returned from Washington Saturday night and remained at home a few days. Debate upon the adoption of the rules being the order this week, several Congressmen, Mr. Henderson in the number, who are not well took advantage of the speech-making season, to absent themselves for the purpose of recuperating their health.

The opera house business seems to be spaying investment for the proprietor of such buildings in other towns of the State. We learn from the columns of the Chronicle that the Charlotte opera house will be occupied every night this week. A commodious and well equipped opera house, is sure to call respectable companies during the dramatic season, which by the way, lasts the year around down in this country. An institution of this kind has become, in this age, a necessity in all well regulated towns and cities. Salisbury should add to her numerous attractions a first class opera house, without delay.

The suggestion made by Miss Rumble of hearty co-operation in the June Musical Festival, to be held in Charlotte, is certainly well timed, and we trust that the whole talent of Salisbury will organize and take a hand. To this end, we suggest that as soon as the organization is perfected, that arrangements be made with the Y. M. C. A. for the use of their hall once a week, and that chorus and orchestra meet regularly for practice. Under such circumstances, only active membership would be desirable, and the public should be excluded. The hall could be fitted with piano, and is just the place for conducting large rehearsals. Now go in for real work.

Col. Allen Dead.

Many of our citizens will be pained to hear of the death of Col. Julian Allen, which occurred at his home near Statesville, last Saturday evening. He was a genial, wholesome man, with many virtues and few faults. His loss will be felt in the community where he lived; as he was generous and public spirited.

Latest from Montgomery.

We learn from the Greensboro Patriot that Mr. John Kirk, the original purchaser of the Tebe Saunders mine, has sold a one-half interest in it to a northern syndicate for $100,000.

We also learn from the same source that Mr. I. E. Saunders, the Sheriff of Montgomery county, has discovered on his property on the Uwharrie river, and about one mile from the Saunders mine, a very rich find of gold, on which he gave an option for ninety days for $25,000.

Other finds in this wonderfully rich neighborhood are reported.

Many Thanks.

We have received a poem, of sixteen stanzas, on the weather from a Salisbury writer. It begins with—"The warm sunshine and the gentle zephyr," and was accompanied by the following note:

Editor Watchman—I enclose a poem, written by myself, which I have decided to let you publish, but would prefer that you would not publish my name, as it might cause unpleasantness between me and the other editors in town on account of my giving it to you to publish in preference to them. Respectfully,

We would be very sorry to be the cause of any unpleasantness between the writer of this poem and the other editors in town and so have decided to magnanimously step to one side and let another publish it. We take this method of assuring the writer that we appreciate his feelings towards us and we will take pleasure in delivering the manuscript, without malice, to any one the writer may name.

Statesville has a Town Clock.

Our neighbor is to be congratulated—perhaps. The Board of County Commissioners of Iredell has put its foot into it this time—time was the occasion. They agreed to help pay for a public clock, and it seems that the convenience of the general public would be best served by placing the clock on a bank building—private property. The brethren in the country round about—Alliance men and all—raised a merry shout, and straightway proceeded to be puffed with time. They waste their precious time in preparing resolutions and passing them; in demanding the time of the public to read them, and they gobble up the time of every body in general to talk about it—

Hark! Hark! What is that we hear Pealing forth the hours so near? It is the ding, dong, ding, dong, Of Statesville's cathedral gong.

List! list! what falls on the ear— Time is precious, clocks are dear; For money goes—tax, tax, tax, O where? to the office ear.

See! see! crossing the deep foard, Each phalanx against the Board Is striving to vote, to vote— Fact, or this had never been wrote.

Porter's Census Blanks.

We have received several packages of census blanks with a request that we fill them out and forward to Washington. It would take two weeks or more hard work to hunt up these statistics, covering ten years, and nothing is said about compensation. The Charlotte News has also received blanks and says they cover all sorts of questions about the expenses of municipal management and construction, divided into such sub-heads as education, fire, police, penal institutions and reformatories, poor, hospitals, public baths, public music, wharves, streets and bridges, sewer, public buildings, constructions for commercial undertakings, constructions not already specified, parks and spaces, salaries, judicial expenses, and so on to lizzard.

Mr. Porter addressed these blanks to editors asking them to fill up and return to him, without saying a word about compensation. We do not know what other editors will do in the premises, but as for us, we have never yet been appointed census agent, and wouldn't accept under Harrison's administration anyhow. If Mr. Porter relies upon the News to get up his census statistics for him, while a lot of paid loafers of Harrison are lounging around, he has mistaken the quality of the oil finish of these editorial rooms. If you can't get men in your own party to do it, we can give you names of good competent Democrats who might volunteer if paid.

Gardens and Gardening.

It is a notable fact that far more attention is paid of late years to the production of vegetables, usually classed as garden vegetables, than was a few years ago. Our market from early spring to fall and winter, is now pretty well stocked with a variety of such vegetables; but it is yet quite true that the farmers who contribute to the market supply are few in number as compared with the whole. The great majority of farmers pay very little attention to the production of such crops. Indeed, it may be said that they practically ignore their value in the support of the family, directing their exclusive attention to field crops—cotton, tobacco, corn, wheat and oats. They seem to grudge the little time and labor required to break up the soil of the garden, and then leave the rest of the work of planting and tilling to the female members of the family; and these, on whom falls the responsibility of providing the meals, know from sad experience how difficult, not to say impossible, it is to set a table without vegetables, are driven to labors to provide them, which the abler hands should perform. A good garden furnishes at least half the living of a family, and to neglect it entails the expenditure of money which might be saved, and not only deprives the family of comforts, but invites diseases which the use of vegetables might prevent. The first care of every housekeeper or farmer should be his garden, much of the work of preparation coming in in the fall and winter, when field crops are not in the way. A bountiful supply of vegetables should be aimed at, any surplus over the needs of the family going to supplement the feed of the live stock on the farm, or to be sent to the nearest market and sold for cash or merchandise.

The present winter has been peculiarly favorable for a winter garden, but it is not probable that one householder in a thousand was prepared to profit by it, by planting in the fall such crops as would stand the winter season, with the single exception of turnips. Almost every farmer has his turnip patch from which his family is supplied with "greens" in the early spring, but that ends the list of his green vegetables. Indeed, we know of but one man in the county who exceeds this, (Dr. J. J. Summerell), and his success should be an example by which all should profit. What would one of our inattentive sort of farmers think if they were to sit at his table one of these days in February, and find before them, leeks, onions, lettuce, (ready to head), Scotch kale, turnip greens, cress, spinach, celery, &c., all fresh cut from his garden! Perhaps they might think it a dream, and that somehow they had fallen into Florida, or southern Georgia, where such results are common. But this example referred to merely as showing what can be done, and how much may be gained by a little forethought and properly directed attention to the garden, which wisely managed is capable of contributing so largely to the comfort of the family.

It is not too late now to provide for a good garden for the present year, and if this reference to the subject shall induce even one of our readers to bestow extra attention to the subject, the writer will not regret his effort to promote a too much neglected subject.

Vick's Floral Guide.

We have received from James Vick, Rochester, N. Y., his Floral Guide, which in beauty of appearance and convenience of arrangement surpasses anything in this line which we have ever had the privilege of seeing before. It is a pamphlet eight by ten inches in size, and the covers, which are by no means the least important part of it, contains an even one hundred pages. Although called a "floral guide," it is devoted to vegetables as well, and includes as full a list and description of both flowers, vegetables and also small fruits as could be brought within the compass of a book of the size.

In all that the Vicks have undertaken their aims seem to have been to attain as near to absolute perfection as possible, and probably no one ever did so much towards bringing the cultivation of flowers to the high standard which it has now attained as did the head of this firm.

The firm takes the same pride in raising choice vegetables as in developing attractive varieties of flowers, and after using their seeds for a number of years we are able to recommend them in the highest terms.

We advise all our readers to send 10 cents for the Guide (which can be deducted from first order); and if there are any of our lady friends who can succeed in growing a natural rose which will compare in beauty with the New Striped Rose shown in the illustration, we should like to receive an invitation to call and see it.

Allen Cruse Dead.

Mr. Allen Cruse died at his home on College street, in this city, at 12 o'clock last night from an attack of pneumonia, following a seizure of the grip. Mr. Cruse was 78 years of age. His wife survives him, as does also his two married daughters, Mrs. John T. Butler and Mrs. S. E. Todd. Mr. Cruse was a native of Rowan county, but had lived in Charlotte since 1840. He drove a stage between Charlotte and Salisbury, until the completion of the Charlotte, Columbia and Augusta road, and then he turned his attention to draying in Charlotte, an occupation which he pursued until the day of his fatal illness. At the commencement of the war, he had amassed a handsome fortune, but by his kindness of heart and his readiness to assist all who applied to him, he eventually lost it all. Since then his life has been one of unremitting toil and honest endeavor. A more upright man than Allen Cruse never lived in Charlotte. He goes to his grave respected by all who knew him.—Charlotte News.

The Synodical Orphanage.

The Board of Regency of the Presbyterian Synodical Orphanage met in this city yesterday. A site for the orphanage was selected, and a committee appointed to purchase the land, which will cost $4,000. A soliciting committee for each of the Presbyteries of the State was appointed. The Board is of the opinion that $20,000 will be needed.

The Board met in the Young Men's Christian Association hall, and was opened by prayer by Rev. J. Rumble, D. D. The following were present: Rev. J. Rumble, D. D., Rev. D. D. McBryde, George E. Wilson, Jno. E. Oates, and Rev. Wm. E. Mellwain. There were also present Col. John L. Brown and R. B. Alexander, of the executive committee.

The reasons for the absence of Rev. D. S. Craig, Hon. A. M. Scales and George Cladbourne were sustained, and the letter of Gov. Fowle, tendering his resignation on account of inability to attend upon the meetings of the Board, caused by the press of executive business, was read. The Secretary was instructed to inform Gov. Fowle that the Board cannot act on his resignation, as the Board have no authority in the matter, and to request him to continue to meet with the Board as often as possible until the next meeting of the Synod, when his term of office expires. The committee appointed to prepare a constitution and by-laws made its report, which was received, amended and adopted. The Board adjourned to meet at the same place at 3 p. m.

A SITE SELECTED.

The Board met again at 3 p. m. Present, the same as in the morning session, with the addition of G. M. Love, of Concord.

The Board, by motion, decided to accept the offer of a certain tract of land owned by E. M. Andrews, price $4,000. Geo. F. Wilson, Col. John L. Brown and R. B. Alexander were requested to purchase the tract at the price of $4,000, and to convey the same to the Trustees of the Synod, or the Board of Regency, as the case may be, upon the payment of the purchase money.

COMMITTEES APPOINTED.

Messrs. Wilson, Brown, Oates and Alexander were appointed to canvass the city of Charlotte for funds to purchase land and erect necessary buildings, and Revs. Bryan and Mellwain were appointed to canvass the other churches of Mecklenburg Presbytery.

Revs. D. D. McBryde and Jos. Evans were appointed for Forsyth Presbytery; Rev. Dr. Rumble and Rev. C. M. Payne for Concord Presbytery; Rev. Dr. Watkins and Rev. Alexander Sprunt for Albemarle Presbytery; Revs. D. I. Craig and E. P. Davis for Orange Presbytery, and Revs. Dr. Hodge and J. W. Primrose for Washington Presbytery.

The Board also elected Rev. W. E. Mellwain the financial agent of the Board for three months, and instructed the Executive Committee to arrange with him for the payment of his expenses and a reasonable compensation.

$20,000 NEEDED.

It was moved and adopted, that the Board is of the opinion that it is necessary to raise the sum of $20,000 for the successful prosecution of the work before the Board.

The Board also directed the Secretary to prepare and send to the churches a petition setting forth the "History, Condition, Aims and Needs of the Home." The Board adjourned to meet at the call of the chairman.—Charlotte Chronicle Feb. 12.

Nipped in the Bud.

PARIS, Feb. 7.—By prompt action the government to-day nipped in the bud what was apparently intended to be a royalist coup d'etat modeled on Louis Napoleon's mode of descent upon Boulogne, and the only consequence is that the Duke of Orleans, the eldest son of the Count of Paris, is to-night in custody. The duke arrived in Paris to-day, bearing a letter written and signed by Count de Paris announcing to the faithful and to all others the count's abdication. He has also with him a manifesto addressed to the people of France. Nominally, and according to the theory of pretenders, a pretender is always king, and therefore the Count of Paris abdicates a throne he never possessed. He consequently abdicates his claim as pretender, and in virtue of this abdication, all his claims, rights and titles descend to his eldest son, the young gentleman now in the hands of the authorities—Phillippe Louis Robert, Duke d'Orleans. This gentleman is therefore not merely one of the many vagrant princes, but the actual pretender to the throne in virtue of his claims as heir of the old Bourbon line. His coming into the country in violation of the law banishing all heads and direct heirs of the reigning families, is a rash escapade if it stands alone.

LATER.—He was arraigned before the Tribunal of the Seine on the 12th, found guilty and sentenced to two years in prison.

For a Postal Telegraph.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 11.—Postmaster General Wanamaker appeared before the House Committee on Postoffice and Post Roads to-day, and read an elaborate statement in favor of a system of postal telegraphs.

Mr. Wanamaker submitted to the Committee a draft of a bill providing for the establishment of a postal telegraph, and a free delivery office in the country. Under the bill it is provided that the telegraph tolls in any one State shall not exceed ten cents for messages of 20 words or less, counting address and signature, nor over 25 cents for any distance under 150 miles, nor over 50 cents for any greater distance; the rates and rules to be prescribed by the Postmaster General.

At Rest!

"Asleep in Jesus"—Nora Lentz. At the home of her grand-parents, on the afternoon of February 6th, 1890, little Nora, the only child of Augustus Lentz, passed away in death, aged 3 years, 6 months and 5 days. The little darlings tenderly entwined themselves about our hearts; but we can give them up. It is a blessed task that the Lord spirit has given to the home of "Many Mansions." The Lord gave and the Lord hath taken away, blessed be the name of the Lord. Like David, we can say, we shall go to her. No more does she gladden our home. The sweet child is now with her sainted mother, and that Savior who tenderly took the little ones in his arms, when on earth and blessed them. We are chastened, but the Lord loveth whom He chasteneth. Woodleaf, Feb. 11, 1890.

State News.

Raleigh News-Observer: Mr. Julian S. Cary has sent the Students' Aid Society at Wake Forest his check for $1,000.

John Berry has been found guilty of manslaughter at Asheville, and was sentenced by Judge Moore to 17 years in the penitentiary. He was tried for killing G. W. Bell last year.

Statesville Landmark: A farmer who was in town Monday closing up last year's affairs, placed in the bank $575 to run his farm with this year, and has 40 sacks of flour and other produce for sale yet. He proposes to put 100 acres in cotton this year and says he intends to pay cash as he goes so that what he has at the end of the year will be his. That's farming.

Concord Standard: Some little boys on Ed Johnston's plantation in No. 3, went to look at their rabbit box lately, and found in it a half grown catamount. They were afraid to turn it out, concluding to scald it. After treating it to a hot bath till nearly all the hair was off, they let it out, and after a lively chase with the boys and dogs, it was killed. Its tusks were an inch long, and the body was about two feet in length.

Milton Advertiser: In a former issue we stated that the Dukes had ordered five of their cigarette machines, now in use at their factory in Durham, to be sent to their New York factory. We are glad to learn that that statement, for which we thought we had the very best authority, was not exactly the case, that no machines will be moved. This means that their Durham factory will continue to be as it has for some time heretofore been, the largest cigarette producing factory in the world.

LaGrange Spectator: It is with profound regret that we are called upon to announce the temporary suspension of the Davis Military School. The news fell like a thunderclap from a clear sky, upon the citizens of the town on Tuesday morning, the 4th inst. It seems that several of the cadets have been suffering from La Grippe, and on Tuesday, the 4th inst., Cadet Ward, a son of Dr. Ward, of Onslow county, died of what was considered by the physicians present as meningitis, and a citizen of the town having died the day before with like symptoms. At the meeting of the faculty on Tuesday evening it was decided to suspend the school indefinitely. The suspension of Davis school means a calamity to our town and a calamity to the State.

Delaware clings stoutly to the old-fashioned whipping post. As a result of last week's sitting of the court of Oyer and Terminer, six men were publicly whipped in the midst of a driving rain storm. Three were white; the rest were negroes.

It is not yet revealed with any certainty how the fire in Secretary Tracy's house originated. It may always be mysterious how it was that the butler and the head servant should be deliberately going about their morning duties in one part of the house, while in another, certainly not far off, the fire was raging to an extent to cut off the escape of the other inmates.

Among a parcel of hoodlums gathered in a candy shop in New York the other day, it was asserted by one of them that if one dared another to stab, strike or shoot another, the one taking up the dare was not criminally liable. The group, one boy named Wall, deliberately bared his breast, and dared another to stab him. Coleman, a boy of 14, deliberately drew a knife, and struck Wall a deadly blow, and ran off laughing.

Everybody remembers the terrible fate of Mrs. Hayes and her two little girls at Birmingham, Ala., more than a year ago. Hayes, the husband and father, was charged with the unnatural crime, tried and convicted, and after an appeal, the verdict was confirmed, and is now under sentence of death, to be hung on the 28th inst. In the presence of a cruel death he makes a confession, admits his complicity in the crime, but charges its actual commission upon John Wiley, a Brotherhood engineer, who has been arrested.
