If you have anything to sell, rent or swap, or if you want to buy anything or rent anything, try the WATCHMAN'S advertising columns.

When writing to advertisers you will confer a favor on the WATCHMAN by saying that you see their advertisement in this paper.

The Organ church congregation did a nice thing when they presented a handsome purse to their pastor, Rev. W. R. Brown, on Christmas day.

Mr. E. P. Bassinger, of Hannersville, Davidson county, lost his barn and all his feed and a buggy by fire a few days ago.

A few days ago Mr. Irvin Blum, a well known citizen of Winston, was run over by a street car and had both legs and one arm cut off.

We learn from the Lexington Dispatch that a son of Mr. Geo. W. Hughes, of Old postoffice, accidentally shot himself in the leg during the holidays.

Hon. A. F. Hileman, member of the House from Cabarrus, has tendered his resignation as chairman of the board of county commissioners in that county.

The Concord Standard reports mid dogs—at least it says one was killed on the farm of Mr. James White, near White Hall, that appeared to be mad.

The residence of Mr. T. J. Shins, near Georgeville, Cabarrus county, caught fire one day this week, but was extinguished before serious damage was done.

Mr. Nick Sherill, formerly of Iredell county, traveling for a Richmond house, and one of the most popular boys on the road, was here this week.

Plain Jim Cook says it takes two people to see the vestibule train—it runs so fast. Concord is a dry town. One Salisbury man can generally see two trains up here.

Mr. Paul C. Cameron, the wealthiest citizen in this State died at Hillsboro Tuesday, aged 82. He had held many important positions in this and other States.

Mr. E. K. P. Osborne, long considered one of the best business men in Charlotte, made an assignment Monday. He was connected with a number of enterprises, among them the Alpa cotton mills.

The people of this section seem to be enjoying very good health just now with the exception of pneumonia. There is a good many cases, some of them bad ones.

Mr. George A. Frieze, a native of this county, but who has been in California since 1849, came to Salisbury Wednesday morning on his way to visit friends in the western part of the county.

We regret to learn that the health of Mr. T. B. Winecoff, of Cabarrus county, but a student at Vanderbilt University, has failed, and at present he cannot pursue his studies any farther.

The Piedmont Fair Association met here this week and elected a good set of officers. The County Alliance will meet here to-morrow. We hope the attendance will be large.

Messrs. D. R. Julian & Co. have gotten things fixed up at their new place of business, opposite their old stand on Fisher street. They have a good stock of goods and one of the coziest business places in the city.

The Charlotte News of the 22nd inst. has this to say of one of our popular young citizens: "Mr. M. S. Brown, one of the enterprising young business men of Salisbury, is at the Buford Hotel today."

The WATCHMAN is still without a fighting editor, but the red-headed devil and the editor are still in the ring. However, if you want to leave your family in good circumstances you should call at the insurance office on the same floor and take out a large policy before you raise a row.

The WATCHMAN has moved into its new home in the Hedrick building, corner of Main and Fisher streets, over Baker & Neave's hardware store. The entrance is on Main street, and you will find an excellent pair of stairs leading up to the office. Those wanting to subscribe and those in arrears will find an easy way to get in.

A Good Paper

Mr. J. L. Ramsey, formerly associate editor of the Progressive Farmer, has become the editor and proprietor of the Carolina WATCHMAN at Salisbury. He gets out a good paper.—Winston Republican.

From Mulberry.

A member of Mulberry Alliance writes that a large crowd met at their hall on Christmas day to give and receive presents. Rev. A. L. Coburn opened the meeting with prayer. All had a nice and profitable time.

Newspaper Notes.

The Thomasville News will hereafter be edited by Prof. Frank H. Curtis, President of the Thomasville Female College.

Mr. T. B. Eldridge, formerly editor of the Lexington Dispatch has taken charge of the Durham Recorder.

Incendiarism in Montgomery.

On last Saturday night the store of Sheriff L. M. Lassiter, at Mt. Gilead, and his saw and planing mills at Candor, were both burned by incendiaries. The loss is considerable. It is thought that the burning was done by political enemies of the Sheriff. The insurance is not sufficient to cover the loss.

Roll of Honor.

The following friends have done the handsome thing by sending in clubs since our last issue, as follows: W. A. McConnell, Guss, N. C., club of five; C. A. Sloop, Mirandi, eleven; Maj. J. F. Stansell, Blackner, ten; J. R. Julian, Salisbury, ten; Mr. M. G. M. Fisher, of Faith postoffice, this county, capped the climax with a club of nineteen.

A Noted Physician Banqueted.

Dr. H. C. Wood, of Philadelphia, has been here for several days. He is one of the editors of the United States Dispensary and professor of materia medica and therapeutics in the University of Pennsylvania. The medical fraternity of this city banqueted him at the Mt. Vernon Friday night. Dr. Wood is one of the most eminent medical authorities in this country. He has put in most of his time hunting while here.

Officers of A. F. & A. M.

The following recently elected officers of Fulton Lodge, No. 99 A. F. & A. M., were duly installed at the last regular communication, viz:

The Vestibule Train Got It.

What's become of the Salisbury WATCHMAN? We must be boycotted by Brother Ramsey. If that paper don't soon appear our fighting editor will be sent up to "thrash out" the red-headed son of toil.—Concord Standard. Yes, and you will soon be hunting a new man. Just wait until the vestibule train lets up on our nerves and you will get the WATCHMAN if we have to carry it to you ourselves. John Wannamaker shall not interfere again.

New Advertisements.

Mr. David M. Parks, administrator of Hugh Parks, deceased, with will annexed, has a notice in the paper, this week.

Mr. A. S. Heilig, a worthy young lawyer, put in his professional card. He will practice in Courts of this and adjoining counties. Give him a trial.

The South Farm, a most excellent agricultural journal, has an add in this issue. It is a splendid paper.

Read the advertisement of the Atlanta Constitution, one of the great papers of this country.

Demand for Paper.

There are two things in this country that are hard to get just now. Printers and good paper are hard to come by. We promised our readers better paper for this issue. The paper mills have failed to furnish it. They say they are away behind with orders. Consequently we had to steal paper for this issue and it is sorry, too. We will make no more definite promises now but if the paper men don't do better they will have a big lot of suits for breach of promise on their hands soon.

A Chance for Salisbury and Charlotte.

The Charlotte News is in high spirits over the prospect of getting the Roanoke & Southern Railroad via Salisbury. It says that all Salisbury and Charlotte has to do is to hump themselves and the prize is ours. We think that Salisbury will do her duty and hope that Charlotte will move promptly.

The Twin-City Daily says that the Roanoke and Southern Railroad having located at Winston, the engineers are running their surveys to the objective point, Lancaster, S. C. One survey will be made by way of Salisbury through Charlotte; another by way of Lexington and Mt. Pleasant through Monroe. We want about double the present railroad mileage in this State for the convenience of our people.

Rich Strike at Gold Hill.

It is not often that our native tarheel mining experts and operators buy stock in a foreign mining company, but during the last week several blocks of stock of the Gold Hill Mining Company have been bought by Salisbury parties by cable-grain from London. The cause of this is the recent new strike in the company's mine in this county and some of our home mining folks, quick to catch on to a good thing, have invested quite heavily.

This new find, we learn from parties who have investigated it, is really a big thing. The newly discovered vein was cut from the one hundred and sixty foot level of the Bernhard shaft, three hundred feet south of any of the old workings and is four feet wide, assaying from $100 to $500 per ton.

When it is remembered that this mine has a record of several million dollars at the mint and that this vein is the largest and richest that has ever been seen on the property, it will be seen at once what a big thing it is both for the English company who own it and for the mining interests of this whole section.

That Vestibule Train.

IT IS ALL THAT WAS PROMISED.

Never before, perhaps in the history of this country has anything created so much comment as the new vestibule train on the R. & D. main line. Even Dr. Caldwell's story about the Santer failed to get up similar excitement. Old men, boys and ladies had been going to the Salisbury depot for weeks expecting the thing to pass. It has come and gone. The first run was made last Sunday. It is a daisy. Nothing as fine ever ran through this State on wheels before. It starts from Washington at 11:15, a. m., arrives at Salisbury at from ten to eleven, p. m., and returns the next day. The run is made from Washington to Atlanta in twelve hours and 45 minutes. It only stops at Greensboro, Salisbury and Charlotte in this State, and looks as if it were ashamed of it after doing so. The cars are models of excellence, convenience and comfort. It has dining, smoking and drinking compartments. You can ride from Washington to Atlanta and never put your feet on the ground. You will pay $1 for each meal and $3 extra is added to your fare. If you are an elitior you can leave your pass at home. The conductor on this train is too polite to even ask an editor if he has his pass along. The train was gotten up especially for editors and other very rich people who can afford to be tony. In the language of the Durham Globe, "it is a winner."

A Rich Treat Next Week.

We understand that next week Salisbury is to have a musical treat. The Choral Union is to give its second grand concert under the leadership of Miss Rumpel.

Salisbury has home talent of which any city may be justly proud and this has been most carefully trained for the coming event. There will be an unusually good variety in the programme. Besides the usual solo and mixed quartet singing we are to hear how well the ladies can manage four part songs without any masculine aid. The gentlemen had better look to their laurels if the work at rehearsal is any indication of the good things to come. The Choral Union is doing a good work in showing the public that Salisbury is able, not only to look after her temporal prosperity, but to provide for her spiritual entertainment, and that from vocal talent alone, which will be a treat to all who will be so fortunate to attend.

Salisbury is to be congratulated upon the success of this movement and the Choral Union should receive the most hearty co-operation and all thanks or the public for their persevering and successful efforts.

Thanks!

The Salisbury WATCHMAN, for a long period of years edited and published by the late lamented J. J. Bruner, whose energetic industry made it one of the best and most reliable journals in the State, has been purchased by Mr. J. L. Ramsey, whose experience and ability will doubtless keep it up to its former high position as one of the foremost weeklies of the State.—Troy Vidette.
