The Sub-Treasury. The Richmond Dispatch, one of the ablest and most conservative papers in the country, had the following about the sub-Treasury scheme Tuesday:

The sub-Treasury scheme which has received the endorsement of so many of the Farmers' Alliances is a thing well calculated to excite the hopes of the agricultural classes and cause them to expect as the result of the formation of those alliances a condition of prosperity hitherto unknown to the farmers and planters.

But these hopes are not all that the new organization will experience. The members will soon desire to take charge of the politics of the country and make the support of their sub-treasury scheme the condition upon which they will cast their votes for candidates for public office—candidates belonging to either of the existing parties.

The above is a fair criticism. Every "good democrat" and "good republican" should "make haste slowly."

The action of the legislature in regard to the income tax has excited a good deal of unnecessary comment.

Our Condition. The situation of affairs is quite peculiar at this time, but not alarming.

The Effect of Inflation. The sub-Treasury plan is opposed by some who fear the effects of inflation, says the National Economist.

Mr. Ingalls thinks the Alliance is a coming power and that it is going to get in some political work in the future.

flation that brought disaster, but the contraction which was forced upon the people. Inflation gave this country its greatest prosperity, it inaugurated an era of good times, good prices, plenty of labor and no debts, while contraction brought about by scheming manipulators has produced the present distressing condition seen on every hand, filled the land with tramps and the nation with bankrupts.

Does It Mean War? Since the New Orleans lynching there has been much excitement among the Italians in Italy and America.

The action of the Bagon has caused much comment in Washington. The government of Italy is impatient and unreasonable. What the outcome will be is hard to foretell.

Prejudice. A few days ago a citizen of Raleigh remarked to the writer that the recent legislature was the meanest, nonsensical body of men that ever assembled.

The Latest. Some weeks ago the Statesville Landmark stated that Alliance papers were becoming too numerous.

The New Secretary. Since his election on the railroad commission, Mr. E. C. Beddingfield has resigned as State secretary of the Alliance.

OPPOSITION papers stated a week or two ago that the Alliance in Texas was badly split up, and that some of the members there wanted to lynch Dr. Macneue.

EVERYTHING is quiet in Alliance circles in North Carolina. Our members are as earnest and unyielding as they ever were.

GOVERNOR NORTHERN stirred up a hornet nest in Georgia a few weeks ago. Perhaps he will hold his lip in the future.

Chas. A. Dana, The Alliance Slanderer. The editor of the New York Sun—who has recently achieved fresh notoriety by slandering the Farmers' Alliance movement—is known throughout the country as "Ananias Dana."

Mr. Ingalls thinks the Alliance is a coming power and that it is going to get in some political work in the future.

The Alliance Growing.

From all sections of the country we hear nothing but "great interest and activity in organizing Farmers' Alliances." In California, Illinois, Indiana and Michigan the work is unparalleled.

A plain, square, common-sense statement of the national finances from the Treasury Department would be hailed with delight by every one interested in keeping the run of the monetary affairs. The February statement shows that the national debt has increased $2,994,750.68.
