MR. CADE RETIRES.
In this week's issue of the Progressive Farmer, Rev. Baylus Cade announces his resignation. Maj. P. F. Duffy, of the Wilmington Star, will succeed him. Mr. Cade gives his reasons as follows:

"After a careful and patient study of the Sub-Treasury bill, I am convinced that its enactment into law would be disastrous to the country, and especially to the agricultural interests of the country. Holding this view, I cannot write one word in favor of that bill. The dominant sentiment in the Alliance upon this measure is in irreconcilable conflict with my views; and the only manly and honorable course left open for me is to retire, and let another editor take charge of the paper whose views are in harmony with those of the friends of the Sub-Treasury."

We have no quarrel with those who think that the sub-Treasury is not the best thing, but the man who can see nothing good in it certainly deserves the prayers of the people.

THE anti-Alliance papers, with a few exceptions, seem to be getting ready for the battle. Instead of antagonizing the organization we think the proper course for the papers of both parties to pursue would be to advise wisdom and discretion. They should say to their readers that owing to the fact that such a large number of people are dissatisfied and seem determined to have a change, the best thing to do is to give these measures the consideration they should have instead of crying "nonsense," "demagoguery," etc. That would be honest politics.

SOME wide-awake southern business men have invited Mr. Harrison and Mr. Cleveland to attend the industrial exhibitions which are to be held in several southern towns this fall. If both of them should accept and visit the exhibitions at the same time what a royal advertisement it would make for the South. Gov. Hill has, we think, already partially promised to attend the Augusta exposition. Could a platform be built wide enough and strong enough to hold all three of them at one time?

THE Baltimore Sun figures it out that all of the defaulting treasurers, State, county and municipal, of both political parties, have owed their downfall to being what is popularly known as "practical politicians." We don't like to dispute with such an eminent authority, but we have always been under the impression that being "practical thieves" was the cause of every defaulter's downfall, whether the stolen money was private or public.

THE devil is trying very hard through various agencies, to trip up Bill Fife. He attacked him at Charlotte and was defeated, but followed him to Greensboro where he began a meeting last Sunday, and the devil got a black eye. The evangelist was a good and willing worker for the old boy for many years and he is loth to give him up.

It is said that Charles Emory Smith, editor of the Philadelphia Press and United States Minister to Russia, who is now on his way home on leave of absence, will not return to St. Petersburg. Mr. Harrison seems to be waking up to the fact that he needs the services of his editorial friends at home just now.

In the absence of any definite statement from the gentleman himself, it is just as well not to pin too much faith upon the rumor that Mr. Blaine now favors the free coinage of silver. We have no reasons for saying that he doesn't, and we think those who say that he does are just about in the same predicament.

It is not believed that the numerous cases of ice cream poisoning published this season has had the slightest effect upon the consumption of that delicious compound. Young men pay about as much attention to these stories as they do to the physicians' warnings of the dangers attendant upon kissing.

THE Belting agreement between Great Britain and this country is that seal pouches "may" be seized, but it's a good deal like telling a man without gun or dog that he "may" have rabbit for dinner. Oh, humbug, diplomacy is one of thy many aliases.

NEW JERSEY has a woman who isn't waiting for the adoption of a constitutional amendment to obtain her rights; she knows them and to prove her ability to take them, she recently whipped three Jersey City policemen.

It is said that Mr. Cleveland has placed his presidential fortune in the hands of Senator Gorman and others. He might as well have committed political suicide at once. It is like leaving a hungry man to watch your dinner.

SHOULD the Prince of Wales ever become the King of England, which his recent action has made somewhat doubtful, his official title would be Albert VIII, but to most people he will always be known as Albert the Gambler.

WHETHER the recent anti-Harrison republican conference at Indianapolis represented a large constituency or not it has given the Harrison men something to think about for awhile.

REV. BAYLUS CADE, editor of the Progressive Farmer, and Rev. Dr. Carter, pastor of the First Baptist church, Raleigh, delivered addresses at the commencement of the A. and M. college at Raleigh last week.

A PAIR of lovers caught kissing each other in the street in Philadelphia were arrested, charged with "assault and battery." That isn't what they used to call it when we were young.

THE address by Dr. Dewitt Talmage at Morehead last Thursday night is said to have been a little worse than was expected of the man.

It's a loss up as to whether a crooked Philadelphia banker, or a cheating English nobleman occupies the highest social position.

WE are all prone to think it easy to reform the vices of some other fellow, but what of our own?

STATE NEWS.

Items Boiled Down to Save Space—From Mountains to Seashore.

Greensboro Workman: The Horticultural Society of North Carolina will hold its Ninth Annual Fair in this city on the 4th and 5th days of August.

Durham Sun: Crops along the Lynchburg and Durham railroad appear to be in good condition, with the exception of corn, which looks somewhat backward.

Goldboro Headlight: We regret to learn that Mr. Joel Plmore, of Newhope township, was so severely kicked in the side by a mule Saturday that he is hope is entertained for his recovery.

Raleigh News and Observer: The meeting of the North Carolina Board of Pharmacy, was announced to be held June 1st and 2nd at Morehead, will be held at that place on July 8th and 9th instead of on the first date mentioned.

Winston Sentinel: While at Walnut Cove Saturday the reporter learned from gentlemen who are interested that the coal mines there promise to turn our handsomely. The company now has several hands at work and they are getting out coal in large quantities. They expect to commence shipping in a few weeks.

Oxford Day: Rev. Dr. Black, Superintendent of the Orphan Asylum, was returned home from Greenville court and brought with him the orphan boy, Hudson who was so cruelly whipped by a man named Carr. The little fellow had some ugly bruises on his body. The court fined Carr $500 and required him to pay the boy $150 and the Orphan Asylum $300.

Concord Standard: Laura Polk, wife of Hard Polk, an enterprising colored gentleman living on C. M. Bost's place in No. 10, gave birth to triplets on June 12th. The young fellows, at first the terror of the family, are still living now the pride of the home. They are named Benj. Harrison Polk, Matt Quay Polk and James Blaine Polk.

Raleigh Chronicle: Col. A. B. Andrews, so we see it stated in the papers, will shortly become first Vice-President of the Richmond & Danville railroad. It was thought the would decline the office owing to the necessity of removing his office to New York, but this objection has been overcome and he will be permitted to hold the position and reside in North Carolina.

Winston Sentinel: Rev. Samuel Rothrock, D. D., of Gold Hill, Rowan county and who is visiting relatives in the city, tells us a few incidents in his life time that are interesting. He has been in the Lutheran ministry for 50 years, and with the exception of one 12 months he has served the same charge in Rowan county. He has reached his 81st year but is still active.

Mr. C. F. King has been nearly to little Rock, Ark., and tells the Charlotte News that Sam Jones performed miracles. At that place, he converted fifty-four saloon keepers, and broke up a circus that was running in opposition to him. A wind storm wrecked Sam's auditorium, but he bought the circus tent and continued his meeting under its shelter.

OUR WASHINGTON LETTER

The Financial Situation—The Speech—Campaign in Ohio—Begin—Other Items.

Correspondence of the Watchman.

WASHINGTON, June 22, 1891.—The condition of the United States Treasury has been much talked of during the last few days, and among the politicians of both parties it has been the fruitful source of misstatements not to give the hundred and one stories that have been told on both sides a worse name. The democrats have declared that the much prophesied deficit was an actual fact, while the republicans have been just as emphatic in stating that the treasury had plenty of available cash on hand. Neither of them have stated the facts just as they existed, without exaggeration, because they were on both sides trying to make political capital out of what should really have nothing to do with partisan politics.

However, it is hardly fair to saddle all of the blame upon the politicians, when much of it is chargeable to the style in which the treasury statements are made up. For two days this statement made it appear that the United States Treasury had given checks for nearly a million dollars more than the amount of available cash in the treasury—hence the democratic stories of the treasury deficit—when as a matter of fact the treasurer had $26,000,000 on deposit with national banks, which was certainly just as much available cash as is a private individual's bank deposits, besides there was in the treasury more than $20,000,000 in fractional silver—hence the republican cry of plenty of money.

There is no deficit, and there is no plenty of money; the real situation is midway between those statements, but as all the big payments that will be due for three months have now been paid it is fair to infer that the treasury surplus will increase very rapidly during the next ninety days. Among the questions to be considered at the cabinet meeting which Mr. Harrison called before going to Cape May Point with Mrs. Harrison and the children, for next Friday, it is understood, will be the form of treasury statement to be used, and it is hoped that it may be decided to change it to a plainer form, so that neither side can take advantage of it for political purposes. Every patriotic citizen, no matter what his political prejudices are, should be in favor of divulging our financial system from partisan politics.

As was expected the North American Commercial Company which is the exclusive lessee of the sealing privileges in Alaskan waters, has filed notice of intention to put in a claim against the government for the amount of its losses by reason of not being allowed to take the stipulated number of seals during the season of 1890, when it only took 2,000, while its contract allowed it to take 6,000. For that it claims $400,000. This season when it is to be only allowed to take 7,500 it will probably claim a larger amount. It is believed that the administration is favorably inclined to paying this company back the money that it had actually paid out—Mr. Blaine is credited with having said as much—but it is hardly probable that it will even entertain the idea of paying the enormous sum asked for, which doubtless includes anticipated profits had the full number of seals been taken.

The National Democrat which has been in financial straits for some time, has suspended publication. It is thought that a very large amount of money has been sunk by its publisher. It has been regarded as a Cleveland organ.

A gentleman high in the councils of the democratic party said to me today that Mr. Cleveland was backing representative McMillin, of Tennessee, in his fight for Speakership of the House. He was of the opinion that Mr. Cleveland's help would not prove very beneficial, because, while he had a very large following it was entirely personal and not of a nature to be transferred.

Ohio politics is exciting the greatest interest here just now, and in several respects it is certainly puzzling. For instance, the democrats seem disposed to concede McKinley's election as governor and to concentrate their efforts upon electing a majority of the legislature, at least that's the way they talk. The republicans are in much doubt as to the actual relations between Senator Sherman and Ex-Governor Foraker, and they are very chary of expressing opinions on the merits of either man. Secretary Foster, who is to return in time to attend the Friday cabinet meeting is relied upon by his party associates to straighten out the tangle when he gets back.

There is much speculation as to the effect of the new European silver pool upon the purchasers of silver bullion by the treasury department.

MINING DEPARTMENT.

Mining News Gathered in This and Other States.

[Items and articles for this department are earnestly solicited.]

No Disturbance Can Possibly Arise from Our Silver Colage.

We call upon our bankers and business men to look at and consider this matter under the light of the monetary history of the epoch, which does not warrant or justify the present ignorant clamor from certain insensate quarters against the use of silver concurrently with gold here in the United States as the basis of our paper currency.

The first historical fact we have to ask of them to weigh and remember is, that should our mints keep on coining standard dollars until the 30th June, 1897, to their utmost capacity of $4,500,000 per month, they will not have supplied the country with more legal-tender silver money than exists in France at this present moment, to wit: $700,000,000; but held in France at a valuation concurrent with gold which, if given to the 41 1/2 grains of silver in our silver dollar, would make the same worth 103.96 cents!

Certainly with such an expressional silver circulation of fully $18,000,000,000, the French people have not been overtaken and are not even regarded at home or abroad as menaced in the least by a financial catastrophe such as we hear so much about in the mischievous, sensational newspapers here in the Eastern Atlantic States as the result of impending consequences of a silver colage in the United States at the present time of less than $6.50 per head of our people.

We beg of the intelligent business men of this country to look squarely in the face the further historical fact that the greatest barrier in the world—the Bank of France—and the metallic reserve of that country—had a specie reserve in its vaults a week ago of the enormous sum of $487,870,000, of which no less than $243,355,000 was silver; and held at a valuation 3.06 per cent. higher than is given to the same weight of the metal in our standard dollar and consisting of silver basis of 50 per cent. of the paper money of the Bank at this time. And yet the shares of the Bank of France of the par value of $193.3, each, are selling at this time at $56.

Though by the 30th June, 1897, we should possess in this country $700,000,000 in silver money, nevertheless, that would not give us a greater circulation per head of our people than $9.16; that is to say, $9.20 less than the French have per head at this time, without having been subjected to or threatened by any financial cyclone.

We ask all business men, whether bankers or merchants, to also bear in mind that while France, under her bimetallic monetary system, has acquired so prodigious an amount of silver, that country has also attracted and kept the exceptional sum of $23.53 per head of the French people in gold, and the Bank of France now has in her vaults fully $218,000,000 of that metal—showing in the most practical manner that the possession of silver has not driven gold from France or from the Bank of France; a bank that was easily able very recently to spare the Bank of England $15,000,000 of the yellow metal at the rate of 3 per cent. per annum.

Upon these grounds, we may claim, business men should dismiss from their minds, as equally wanting in veracity as the ogre stories told them in their childhood—this sheer in fancy that the coinage and current use of silver in the United States with gold, would have the effect to drive gold from our shores.

If there is any country in Europe in a condition to venture the adoption of a mono-metallic monetary system based on gold, assuredly, it should be France. This hardly admits of honest doubt, many less distant from it may be deemed that there is a gold circulation in that Republic, at the present writing, of at least $900,000,000 or $23.53 per head, for every man, woman and child in it, while so distinguished a Minister of Finance as Leon Say, asserted ten years ago, that there were between $967,000,000 and $1,158,000,000 of gold in France at that time the meaning of which would be $1,061,500. It were therefore, safe to claim that France might venture upon the experiment of a single gold based monetary currency, with at least $26 per head of that species of money, together with, say, as much subsidiary silver as $100,000,000 or as the British and German people, respectively, possess at this time, and coupled, also, with as much "uncovered" paper money ($100,000,000) as the latter people have in their circulations. In that case the French people would still have for the sustenance of their business, at least $25 per head of gold, $2.53 in subsidiary silver and $5.20 in "uncovered" paper money, or in all, $31.81 per capita, or $13.21 more than the English have at present and fully $7 per head more than our people have—Mining Record.

Weekly crop Bulletin.

RALEIGH, N. C., June 1891.

The reports of correspondents of the Weekly weather crop Bulletin issued by the North Carolina Experiment Station and State Weather Service for the week ending Friday, June 19th, 1891, show that our weather has been considerably in excess, sun shine abundant, and towards the latter part of the week occasional showers have prevailed generally. In consequence crops have made marked improvement. Grass is getting under control somewhat, though still very abundant. The wheat harvest now progressing has prevented farmers from devoting much time to the cultivation of crops. Farm labor is reported difficult to obtain. Of crops generally, cotton shows the least improvement; it is not all chopped yet, and stand continues poor. Tobacco has made in state. The wheat harvest will probably be completed next week; the yield will be a good average and of excellent quality. Another favorable week will enable farmers to bring their work nearly up to date, and will give a better outlook to the crop prospects. The condition averages about the same now in all districts.

Grand Alliance Mass-Meeting.

A grand Alliance mass-meeting will be held at Gold-Sboro on Saturday, the 27th of this month. Senator Peffer, of Kansas, President Polk and other prominent speakers, will be present. The meeting is in the eastern section of our State. Another one will be held in Charlotte on Wednesday, the 25th day of August. Let everybody turn out.—Progressive Farmer.

The Races of the Fourth of July.

Correspondence of the Watchman.

The people of Raleigh and the people of the State generally will have been fully informed by posters and the press, that the Fourth of July will be celebrated here by the finest races ever held on the Raleigh track. These races are gotten up by gentlemen interested in the turf, not as much from devotion to fast racing as from a spirit and purpose to improve the breed of horses so as to prove that the stock in North Carolina is inferior in speed and endurance to that of no other State. This has had proof already in the performance of Mr. Batchelor's horse Pamlico and other fine stock of Capt. B. P. Williamson, and other gentlemen here and elsewhere in the State give promise that Pamlico will not wear his laurels with uncontested rivalry.

Entries will be made from Wilmington, Winston, Tarboro, Oxford and perhaps other places and such numbers and of such excellence as to give promise of a race of unusual animation and excitement for owing to the number of horses, the probability of racing in each direction will be little delay as possible. They will be conducted also on a high principle, so that fairness will rule, exact determination of qualities be reached, and spectators spared the humiliating tricks of the professional jockey. The race is to be a renewal of racing in its best days in North Carolina the object being the same, to present an occasion of animating sport, with the ultimate object of proving what perfection can be obtained the aim being to improve the breed of the horse, the boldest and most useful of all animals.

WAR!

Salisbury has long been in need of another first-class CLOTHING AND GENTS' FURNISHING STORE, and we are glad to see H. & L. WRIGHT coming forward to fill the long-felt want with a fine stock of Clothing, Hats, Shoes, Shirts, Collars, Cuffs, Ties, Cravats, Handkerchiefs and Gents' Furnishing Goods at lower prices than ever before offered in Salisbury.

They have opened their well-selected stock in the store room formerly occupied by G. W. Wright as a furniture store, on North Main street. Their business will be strictly first class—no "Cheap John"—and up with the latest styles. Their prices will astonish you.

Many people are anxious to learn how they are selling so low. For their benefit we will say that they bought their entire stock directly from headquarters of manufacturers. They paid the cash and got the discount, and with the assistance of a friend of thirty years experience in the clothing trade were able to purchase their stock at lower prices than formerly sold. Of course they will give their customers the benefit of their bargains, and will enable the citizens of Salisbury to buy goods cheaper at home than they can abroad.

Just think for one moment what money will do, and then hear some of their prices: You can buy of them $30 to $40 suits at $25; $25 to $30 suits at $18 to $20; $20 suits at $15 to $16, and so on all the way down.

They can open your eyes on prices of Wool and Straw Hats, all of the latest styles.

Their stock of Boys' Clothing is complete, and way under the regular prices.

They also carry a well-assorted line of ladies', misses', men's and boys' Shoes from 75 cents up.

Fine linen Collars only 10 cents. Latest styles. Linen Cuffs only 15 cents.

A handsome line of underwear at prices never before offered in the city.

The battle has begun against high prices, so go and examine their stock, whether you want to buy or not, and be convinced that the above prices and qualities are correct. If you do you will be the best pleased soul in the land.

W.

Look at This!

We are now receiving the largest and best assorted stock we have ever carried.

The unprecedented trade of the past 10 days made it necessary to buy largely to fill the gap in a great many new goods this week. Ever since the inauguration of our great cut price sale in the clothing that department has been filled with ready buyers. No sale like it ever held in Charlotte. When we advertised cut prices we cut. Every body understands that now. We never advertise what we have not got, nor name prices we do not take. When the work of the Racket is done there will be no more mortal who can say truthfully we ever failed to keep faith with the public.

If the man Douglas, the man from Brockton, had known us as well as we know here he would surely have known that when we advertise his shoes that we had the shoes, and saved him the ridiculous position of making or promising in the statement which everybody knew was untrue. In the onward march of our business we cannot afford to stop to save him from any other retailer which falls in our way.

Carpets and Mattings have had a due share of patronage in the great cut price sale of goods. Never sold so many as this spring. Not many days now until we reach the Butler building and shall inaugurate a special sale of Crockery and Glassware to run for 30 days. A large stock of these goods will be closed during this sale for the lack of room.
