If anybody goes to Davie county expecting to find a backward people groping in larkness they will be mistaken. The county and people will compare favorably with any in North Carolina.

Editor Webster, of Reidsville, was orator of the day. He acquitted himself well. The Lexington band furnished the music and did it well. The dinner was enough to demoralize anybody. It was well prepared and abundant. Al were fed and many baskets full left More than $700 were realized for the Or plians at Oxford. Many people attended from adjoining counties. The crowd was the largest ever seen in Davie county. For intelligence, good behavior, beauty and sobriety the crowd was not to be surpassed anywhere. Many of Salisbury's young people were on hand, and of course they were quite an addition. The number from north Rowan and northeast Iredell-was considerable.

The Parker Mines.

As promised a few weeks ago a representative of the WATCHMAN has been sent to visit this property and give our readers a description of the work going on, as it is the only hydraulic plant in operation in the State.

In the first place, a word in regard to the property itself. The Parker Mines, in Stanly county, 24 miles southeast of Salisbury, at present comprises some 1,50) acres of land, including the mining properties formerly known as the Parker. Biles, Johnny Parker and Flint Spring mines, each, by itself, having a good reputation as a gold producer during the years in which they were worked and before the present company acquired them by purchase, the Parker alone, according to Professor Kerr, State Geologist, having produced over $200,000 in nuggets. This we consider an underestimate, it being the amount on which actual toll or royalty has been paid to the owners; and it would be very strange if in a mixed lot of tributers, with no one to watch them and each-working on his been carried off without any account to $1.53. Dishursements, $1.00. being rendered. The gold found on this property was nearly all coarse gold or nuggets, a great many pieces weighing from one to four and one-half pounds. There is a story among the old people in the neighborhood, which seems to be quite well authenticated, that a large piece, perhaps rivaling the famous 28 pound Cabarrus county nugget, was found and cut up and divided amongst a number of hands who were working together at the time. Most of the larger property bordering on what is known as the Tan Yard branch. The Biles, Johnny Parker and Flint Spring properties each have good records, and on the former, more especially, a number of stringers have been sunk to various depths which were very rich. Nearly all these strings or seams dip towards the main vein, and it seems strange that a shaft has never been sunk on it to such a depth that these seams would form a junction with it. This has been done on a property (the Jin mine) in the same neighborhood during the last month. A small string dipping towards church last Saturday.
