Book reception, Friday night.

Hon. W. M. Robbins is here attending court.

Mr. Walter Murphy is spending a short while at home.

Gold Hill is speaking of building a piano factory.

The usual large crowd was here this week attending court.

Brother Ramsey was in town Monday and Tuesday of this week.

Try to make some one happy to-day; our national Thanksgiving day.

J. K. Graham, Esq., of Miranda, was among the visitors to court this week.

The new schedule has been received and will be corrected in our next issue.

Many old gas pipes are being taken out this week and new ones inserted in their stead.

All kinds of job printing done at this office. Legal blanks on hand at all times.

We come out on Wednesday this week in order that our crew may observe Thanksgiving.

The book reception to-morrow night (Friday) will be a grand affair. Don't miss it. Send a book.

Do you want to post your land? If so you can get printed posters at the WATCHMAN office cheap.

The vicinity of the Salisbury Cotton Mills is a very busy place. New houses are being built rapidly.

There will be service at St. Mary's church Sunday evening at 3 o'clock by Rev. B. S. McKenzie.

Wood is to have another hotel. Mr. Montgomery, of Gold Hill, will run it. He will open up next week.

Commencing this week we will publish the cotton market. They will be given as nearly correct as possible.

Mr. J. Frank McCubbin left Tuesday night for Norfolk to look up a cotton buyer. He has stocked our cotton mills.

Mr. J. T. Barber, of Cleveland, called in Monday and renewed for the WATCHMAN. He says it must continue to come.

Less than 1,600 bales of cotton have been sold in this market this fall. Not half as much as this time of season last year.

Jim Cook last week had another page of prominent portraits, and among them was the probable female editor of that paper. She is a dandy.

From this time on we will run a "want" column. If you have anything to sell or wish to buy anything call and see us. Special, satisfactory prices.

The lady who lost a fawn colored shawl at the Alliance Fair last month can have the same restored by writing to Mr. Owen Bishop, Salisbury.

Miss Minnie Watson, daughter of Clerk Watson, left for Heilig's Mill last Saturday, where she will teach a winter term at Oak Grove school house.

Our town frequently gets favorable comments from strangers since the trees are gone and would always bat for one single reason—that one is clear to us all.

Judge Armfield is of the opinion, though he did not express himself in the courthouse this week, that all who owe anything in this office ought to pay up or go to jail.

The court house was fully repaired last week and was dedicated last Monday with one of the dirtiest cases ever held here. We hope the white walls will not be polluted.

Two Mormon missionaries have for some time been trying to get admission into some of our school houses in the country to preach, but so far as we learn their efforts have been in vain.

Mr. Alex Shaver, of Gold Hill, was in the city this week. He decided to have the WATCHMAN for a weekly visitor to his home for a while. He is one of the substantial citizens of his section.

Yes, times are hard, but unless you aid the reform movement and read the reform papers and post yourself and then act accordingly, you will wake up some morning and find yourself a slave.

Miss Lucy Burleyson, a very successful teacher of Cabarrus county, passed through this city on her way to Asheville, where she accepts a position in the faculty of Asheville Female College.

There came very near being a collision of the passenger and vestibule trains at China Grove, Wednesday morning. Had the vestibule not stopped when it did there would have been a wreck. Either the vestibule was ahead of time or the passenger was behind. The engineers of the two trains being awake and throwing on breaks prevented a collision.

An appeal was made for help last Sunday at the Presbyterian church for the orphans who were stranded out of a home and many of them clothes, at Barham Springs, last week. The consequence was that the good people promptly responded and a box of provisions and clothes was sent up Tuesday. We know of a church in the country that is likewise going to send an orphan's home a box of good things Thanksgiving day.

Sam Jones Thanksgiving Night.

Sam Jones will lecture in Meroney's Hall Thanksgiving night. This will give the people of Salisbury a chance to hear this far famed man. The admission to hear him is 50 and 75 cents. He will speak on his favorite subject, "Get There." This will be his first appearance before a Salisbury audience.

Mashed in a Jelly.

Last Saturday morning Crowell Shankle was caught between two cars, in Charlotte, and was mashed in a jelly. He had been working on the railroad more than a year. He was trying to make a coupling when a car broke loose and ran back on him, the coupling pin running through his thighs. He died in a few hours afterwards. He was brought to Salisbury Sunday morning and a special train carried his body down the Yadkin road to his home one mile from New London.

The Storm.

Last Monday morning a rain and wind storm prevailed. The wind was cold and piercing. It blew down trees, broke window glass and did other damage. In Charlotte and vicinity several houses were blown down and near Davidson a saw mill house was demolished and several barns unroofed. In Greensboro it blew the roof off a tobacco factory. A half mile of telegraph wire was blown down near the same place. The storm extended over into Virginia, and from a private letter we learn that one room of Marion Female Seminary was unroofed.

Proceedings of Court.

Going to press so early we are unable to give much of the proceedings. The following are the cases disposed up to time of going to press: State vs. Sam Meinus, for disturbing a congregation, not guilty; State vs. Z. W. Roseman, assault with intent to rape, fine $25 and costs; State vs. Calvin Mingus, assault and battery, guilty, six months in jail with privilege of hiring out. Several other small cases were disposed of to this time. The docket is large and court is likely to hold more than this week.

Postponed.

Unknown to many, the services of Sam Jones has been secured for Thursday night. This arrangement conflicted with the book reception, and after due consideration the managers of the reception decided that it would be better not to have the reception until Friday night. All will note this change and act accordingly. Those ladies preparing refreshments are requested to bring them to the hall by four o'clock Friday evening; those who prepare ice cream will have it brought to the hall by seven o'clock the same night. A book is the admission, so be sure that you are on hand. Short speeches will be made by all the ministers of the town.

Marriages.

Dr. L. N. Burleyson, of Gold Hill, was married last Sunday morning to Miss Ella Parker, daughter of Mr. Love Parker, of Wadesboro.

Last Sunday at Bethel church, in Franklin township, by Rev. C. A. Rose, Mr. Charles Cuttrel and Miss Fannie Weant were united in wedlock.

In this county, November 22d, 1891, by Rev. Samuel Rothrock, D. D., at his residence, Dr. L. N. Burleyson and Miss Ella M., daughter of Mr. D. L. Barker.

Mr. Samuel L. Kennerly and Miss Emily L. Osborne were married by J. K. Graham, Esq., at Miranda, on the 5th inst. They are in favor of the Ocala platform and equal rights to all and special privileges to none.

To all of them we wish success.

Bethany Academy.

Some of our boys have gone to hunting in real earnest.

Our farmers are about all through with their wheat, and the most of them have sown a late crop of wheat.

Mr. W. M. Linker, who came from Salisbury into our midst several months ago, will move to his farm this week.

Mr. Bobt. Smith will get through cutting hickory wood in about one more week. He will then go to another point, but will still continue the business.

Rev. Dr. S. Rothrock killed two fine hogs last week which netted him five hundred and eighty pounds of meat. Each of which was just one year old.

Messrs. John D. Brown and J. A. Linn have just finished a new house for Mr. Henry Lively near Trading Ford. They will erect a large dwelling for Mr. Rufus Fisher, of Heilig's Mill, during the winter season.

Mr. Adolphus Heilig is repairing his mill and will be ready to make some excellent flour by the first of next month. We learn from one who is an expert that he has the best set of bulks in Rowan county. Those who patronize him, we know, will get nothing but the best.

Rev. C. E. Heller will preach his farewell sermon at Grace Reformed church on the first Sunday in next month. Owing to bad health he will go to Virginia.

Work on the stamp mill at Gold Hill is moving on right lively and Capt. Eames counts on having it ready to be gin milling ore by the first of January.

The train on the Yadkin road is several hours earlier since the recent change in the schedule, and those who want to take a ride to town must get up before dawn in order to meet the train.

The school at Bethany Academy opened last Monday morning with a large number of scholars present. ELEVE.

Mr. J. L. Smith, of Milford, this county, spent two days in Salisbury this week. He is one of the best farmers in southwest Rowan and the sort of a young man that will make the future of this country brighter than some of the past.

Good mending.

Low mending.

NOTES FROM HARMONY.

Schools, Marriages, Deaths, Court, &c.

All the public schools in this community are in session and all the teachers are employed for a while. Now let the parents send all their children, visit the schools themselves, see that the rooms are fit to teach in; that the teachers have wood, and look after the interests of the schools generally. It encourages a teacher very much for parents to visit him.

Some matrimonial alliances have been prophesied in this community for some time, but now they are being fulfilled in the marriage of Miss Mary Laugenour, of Footville, Yadkin county, to Mr. Hall, of Rowan, on last Thursday evening. We do not know the names of the young man and the bride and know that he has selected well. Miss Mary has taught in your county for two winters and doubtless many of your readers know her.

Also, last Monday morning, Mr. J. A. Gailther and Miss Alice Gailther, daughter of Mrs. Bettie Gailther, both living near here, were married.

In behalf of the hosts of friends they have, we extend all the contracting parties our best wishes.

Last Monday morning Aunt Lizzie Current, an aged lady who lived alone near here, was found sitting on a log by the roadside on her way home from Mr. Jas. E. Tharp's, Sr., where she had spent the night. She told the parties she was tired and thought she would rest. They being in a wagon and going to her place to divide some corn they had raised on it, took her into the wagon. When they reached the house she said: "I am getting mighty blind," and by the time they could get her in the house she was dead.

Last August W. G. Woolen was brutally murdered here in our village in a drunken brawl between himself and Joe Case. Case ran away and last week the sheriff went to the Tennessee line and received him from the hands of some parties who had captured him. This being court week his case was brought up and as usual everybody was summoned to attend. Yesterday they finished examining the witnesses, and eyes on both sides compromised without any pleading and the judge rendered the verdict without giving it to the jury at all. A case of manslaughter was proved and he goes to the penitentiary for fifteen years. Another job credited to whiskey's account.

Last Tuesday night we had a good rain; next day was fair as it has been since and now wheat is looking much improved. Farmers had grown very uneasy about it.

Last evening our WATCHMAN did not come to hand and now we are disappointed again. Something is wrong somewhere.

Most of the protracted meetings are over but not with very flattering results. If we can't see much result, may they be as broad cast upon the waters.

Harmony, N. C., Nov. 14.

An Appeal for Aid.

WINSTON, N. C., Nov. 16, 1891.

Wm. E. Nading, an active member of Oak Ridge Alliance No. 1457, Forsyth county, N. C., on the 31st of August had his barn, together with all his farming implements, consisting of mowing machines, reapers, hay rakes, plows, wagons and all his tools, burned up. The above loss falls heavy on brother Nading, being at least $2,000. We have contributed for such misfortunes but have never before asked any aid, therefore we ask the brothers to help our brother as liberally as possible, for by such aid, we can be closer together. All contributions should be sent to J. F. Griffith, our county agent, at Winston, N. C. Any aid however small will be thankfully received and properly applied. This action, done in open Alliance October 1891.

J. F. GRIFFITH, Committee.

Rock Items.

We note the fact that quite a number of our people are moving to Salisbury to add to their already vast fortunes, or other words to make money sufficient to pay their debts (we mean a fortune of debts). The cotton crop is short and the low prices have caused a general state of depression everywhere and we feel the effect just as other communities feel it. We feel inclined to ask our question: The Alliance was organized for the protection of the farmer. Cannot the Alliance devise some means for handling our cotton crop and securing better prices? We would like to know. We have a State Agency and a State agency fund. Can't it beat prices two to one in the game, and help the farmer? If it can the farmers we feel sure will raise the fund to almost any desired amount to aid in the good work.

In our preparations a few days since we took in China Grove. The little village bustles with life and activity. The village is run by municipal government, and only a short time since the authorities found it necessary to build a "caldhouse," owing to the fact that two merchants in the place had become agents for the sale of "Jacob's Tonic." The tonic is highly recommended, and four bottles of it is said to keep a man warm for four days. Patterson & Corriher run the largest dry goods and grocery store in the place and purchase most of the country produce. Winecoff & Eddleman, D. J. Carpenter & Co., J. L. Rendleman and F. W. Best are all running stores of more or less variety. The place dealing chiefly in chickens and rabbits. M. P. Cline, east of the railroad is also in the dry goods and game trade. Uncle Johnny Winecoff on the southern and Rudy Sechler on the northern extremes of the town furnish all the cider and cheese that is wanted. It is said that Frantz Yost keeps a boarding house where anyone can get all they will eat for a nickel. Prof. Geo. D. Brown runs a successful school at the Academy and also edits the Dart which gives all the neighborhood news. Bolen & Sechler carry on a general blacksmithing business, while Rev. V. Carter does up the general woodwork and repairs shoes. The R. & D. R. runs through the centre of the place and its future upbuilding is only a question of time.

We hope that the sad experience of the past few months, the reckless purchase of fertilizers and the short cotton crops and still shorter prices will learn our people a lesson not soon to be forgotten and that they will economize for themselves more closely in the future and depend upon home supplies for necessary uses. Key their eyes at a man, school their children and live happy. Haven't we made the fertilizer companies rich long enough? Let's try and help ourselves.

You want a picture of the national officers of the Alliance. Send $1.00 and get the Progressive Farmer and the Watchman and picture.
