THE FACES IN THE CASE.

The writer attended the meeting the National Alliance at Memphis las week. We have often read the absur eports sent out by Associated Procorrespondents, and was prepared for repetition of the same. Of cours some of the reports were true, bu much of it was manufactured.

It was charged, among other things that the managers of the People's Pa y run the meeting. This is entirely ncorrect. Some of the delegates vot d that ticket this year, but many of them were Democrats and Republicans and several of them were Prohibitionsts. Again in the election of officer no attention was given to party lines nor section. - Every party and section is represented in the list of officers and committees.

There was no political significance ittached to the defeat of Dr Macunfor President. He has been a standing candidate every year, and that alone was enough to defeat him. Aside from that President Loucks had just been in the office a few months, and a good many thought it unwise and unfair to put in a new man, especially as Bro Loucks had shown himself to be honest earnest and capable.

As the meeting was held only one week after the election, it was natura that the delegates would talk about from every standpoint while together but if anything was said or done in the neeting that would show what party any delegate belonged to we failed t see it. The business and welfare of the Alliance was the only topic discussed or acted upon.
