A Lost Art Recovered.
 Scientists in Quebec say that one of the most wonderful discoveries of recent years is that just made by a blacksmith of that city. It is the long-lost art, known to the pyramid builder of Egypt of hardening copper. Axes and other edged tools, made of hardened copper have been exhibited by him, which in edge and temper rival the best of steel of the present day. He presented a sheet of this hardened copper one and three-quarters of an inch in thickness and had it used at the government rifle range in Quebec. At the first shot fired from forty yards distance, the bullet was shattered into a thousand fragments; on the second shot, the missile striking the copper more fully, was completely flattened, but remained embedded in the plate, which it merely dented slightly, without cracking in any way. This is claimed by experts to be vastly superior to anything the best steel could do under like circumstances, and the matter is soon to be brought under the immediate notice of the British Lord of the Admiralty.

Rev. Pink Plunk's Wisdom.
 A cranky man is a good deal like a stubborn mule, dead breddern; he's nebbel so happy as when he's makin' people miserable by his continual kickin'.

"Man wants but little here below, deah breddern, but some men's idea is what a 'little' would make de biggest hog in de world blush at his own abstemiousness."

De man dat spends de best part of his life in "raisin' de devil," deah breddern, 'll fine on de las' day Satan 'll play de game of tit for tat, an' git squar' by raisin' him."

It's all well enuff to "gib de debil his due," deah breddern, but de safest plan is not to open no accounts wid him; den wen de day of final settlement comes dere won't be nuffin due him."

De man dat can't sing an' insists on singin', deah breddern, is nearly as much ob a nuisance as de man dat knows how to sing, but has to be conxel like a balky mule before he'll open his mouf."

"Money is de root ob all eevil," deah breddern, but dat's no reason wy a man should turn his back on God as soon as he gets rich enuff to move into a better house an' keep a boss 'n carriage."

A homely face an' offen a blessin' in disguise, deah breddern. Dere's a good many people in hell dat ud be in hebbeln if it hadn't been for dere good looks an' de use dey make ob dem in this wale ob tears."

The Sultan has 300 wives; the King of Dahomey, 250; the Shah of Persia, 400; the King of Siam, 600; the King of Ashantee, 3,000; and the Emperor of Morocco, about 6,000. Some men have queer notions as to what constitutes a quiet life. --New York World.

It is said at the Treasury Department that every possible effort is being made to satisfy the steadily increasing demand for all parts of the country for our two dollar notes. Acting Treasurer Whipple says the heavy demand for notes of small denomination indicates unusual activity in anticipation of an increased trade during the coming holidays.
